Rear-Admiral H. T. W. Grant said the Navy's preparedness program is being speeded through the acceleration of production of anti-submarine escort vessels, of minesweepers, of radar and in other ways. But the greatest need of all was for men, including young pilots for the fleet air arm. He went on the air with Defence Minister Claxton.

Can Get UN Flags

LAKE SUCCESS, NY, Aug. 23 —(CP) .— You won't have any trouble getting a United Nations flag henceforth. All you have to do is write or go to any one of the manufacturers who handle UN flags and you can buy one. There are four New York firms which manufacture the UN flag, and there will be dozens more as arrangements are completed.

UK Dollar Exports Show Large Gain

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP).— Sir Cecil Weir said Tuesday that in the last few months Britain's exports in dollars have risen "much in excess" of any figures since the end of the war.

The chairman of the British Dollar Export Board said: "The growth of trade for which we've been working is very well under way."

He estimated that in the last three months United Kingdom exports to the United States have been running at the rate of $300,000,000 annually. The Canadian rate was $400,000,000.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

2,000 Pies Will Be Baked By St. James Church Women

Man must eat, even when there is as big an attraction at Peterborough Exhibition. Opening officially tomorrow the Exhibition is already the stamping grounds for farmers, horticulturalists, industrialists and thousands of spectators. While the Exhibition lasts, the crowds will want to eat and the Woman's Association of St. James' United Church has made sure they will not be disappointed.

As in previous years, the association has established a kitchen and restaurant in a large marquee on the Exhibition grounds where breakfast will start at 6 a.m. and full course dinners, prepared on the spot, are being served.

700 Pounds Of Meat

The Woman's Association is planning to cook some 700 lbs. of beef and pork, enormous quantities of potatoes, carrots, beets and other vegetables and 2,000 pies for consumption during the four days exhibition.

For those whose participation in the exhibition makes it necessary for them to spend all day on the grounds, or for those whose enthusiasm keeps them there from sunrise to midnight, there is excellent provision for enjoying a satisfying and even sumptuous cuisine.

Starting at 6 a.m. the Woman's Association kitchen and restaurant provides breakfast of cereal, eggs and bacon, toast and tea or coffee and full course dinners are served at noon and during the evening.

Apart from the restaurant service there is a sandwich and hot-dog booth where lunches are sold continuously until 1 a.m.

The kitchen was established Tuesday and the first meal was midday dinner for some 50 people, mostly officials of the exhibition, who were already hard at work preparing for the opening day.

Three large wood stoves are installed at the back of the marquee. On Tuesday pickles were being made, vegetables were being prepared, there were pots on the stoves containing huge joints of meat and pies were being whipped in and out of the ovens with great efficiency.

Big Job Organizing

It takes a lot of organisation to get things running smoothly, but the women of St. James' seem to be taking it in their stride.

Mrs. G. Harris, the president, has a band of conveners, who in turn, have a number of women working with them. The various jobs are being carried out by the following conveners and their helpers: Pies Mrs. G. Rutherford, meat Mrs. L. Gibson, vegetables Mrs. A. Brumwell, kitchen Mrs. W. Godfrey, sandwiches Mrs. G. Rowe, milk, bread and butter Mrs. R. Moncrief, booth Mrs. L. Ball.

The women also have the support of about 25 men who give them a hand during the evening. Mr. A. E. Prest is looking after the lighting and other electric equipment such as refrigerator and toasters.

ERNO, BOBO AND FIFI — Three clowns who present tomfoolery at its best in the performance before the grandstand at the Peterborough Exhibition. Their comedy antics and clown gags keep the audience in a continual uproar.

MRS. GORDON K. FRASER, wife of Peterborough's federal MP, is one of the directors of the Exhibition board and chairman of the horticulture committee.

Queen Launches Ship

ROTTERDAM, Aug. 23 — (Reuters)—Queen Juliana Tuesday launched the 9,500-ton Dutch cruiser De Zeven Provincien, claimed by designers as "among the most modern in the world." It is the latest addition to Western European naval defence forces. The cruiser carries a crew of 950 and has a speed of 33 knots.

Plan New City Hall

HAMILTON, Aug. 23 (CP). — City Council's City Hall Committee recommended Tuesday that steps be taken as soon as possible to select a site and plan for a new city hall. The committee decided that in view of future population estimates, the city needed a new city hall and not temporary structures.

Hay, Sr., and son Larry have since been recalled to full-time active service.

Better Quality Of Exhibits Says President

Lights blazed late at Morrow Park Tuesday night as exhibitors and midway workers made ready for what exhibition president Hugh Stewart said would be the best fair ever.

Although he felt the entry list was no heavier this year than for 1949's show, Mr. Stewart said he believed the quality was better in all exhibits.

Late Tuesday afternoon, only a few animals were in the barns, and a handful of exhibits in other buildings made it look as though the fair could not be ready by Wednesday.

Children were diving and somersaulting in the hay set out for cattle and horses, running through the barns and familiarizing themselves with the grounds before their day Wednesday.

At night, although the gates were closed to all incoming traffic except exhibitors and officials, the grounds were packed with people eager for a preview of the exhibition.

Exhibits from Regina

Some exhibitors were quietly tearing out their hair, because the railway strike was holding up their prize exhibits. Despite that, entries had come from as far as Regina.

The entry list was packed with names of small towns familiar to most people—Blackwater, Stouffville, Nestleton, Baltimore, and many others.

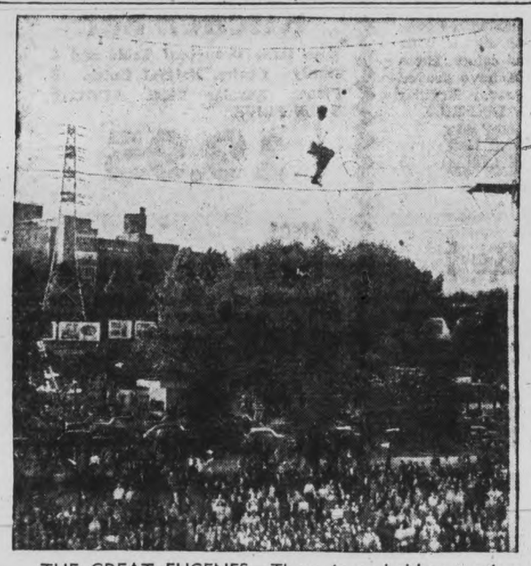
In the manufacturer's building, several booths were only half-completed, and workmen were feverishly putting the last touches to them with paint and hammer and nails.

By 9 o'clock Tuesday night, a good three-quarters of the stalls in the cattle barns were filled, but there were a number of vacant stalls in the sheep and swine buildings. Some horses were in the barns, but most will not be brought in until today.

In the poultry and pet stock barn, there were perhaps five pairs of pigeons, and no rabbits or hares. The other cages were filled with ducks, geese and chickens.

The few refreshment booths open were doing a rousing trade, and small boys perched on tractor seats downing pop in great gulps.

In the secretary's office, exhibition officials were praying for fine weather.



THE GREAT EUGENES—There is probably no other high wire act that works with more daring than the Great Eugenes. There is not a moment when their lives are not in danger while working on this slender strand of wire during the grandstand performance at the Peterborough Exhibition this week.

Three Plants Resume Work

DETROIT, Aug. 23 (CP) — Three of five Chrysler Corporation plants, bled by wildcat strikes, resumed operatoins here late Tuesday after a series of picket line disturbances. Nearly 14,000 Chrysler employees were affected.

Workers walked out in ten plants in the last three days in disputes over job classification and procedure. Workers in one other plant went out in sympathy and the Chrysler Corporation closed down two other plants because the strike caused parts shortages. Three of the plants were reopened today.

Officials of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) branded the strikes as illegal.

One man attempting to enter one of the plants was beaten. Picket lines still barred entrance to two plants. Police were called out at one time to restore order.

Union and company will meet today to seek settlement of the job argument.

Railway Running

HUNTSVILLE, Aug. 23 (CP)— A little railway with a big name is still running despite the strike that has crippled its big brothers. The line — the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Navigation Company Railway—has only 1⅛ miles of track. It conneets Huntsville with the lake.

SPECIAL SILVER MEDAL

As their contribution to the Centennial Year celebrations, the Horticultural Society, will present the largest display of horticultural items ever staged in Eastern Ontario. Special centennial silver medals can be won.

Predict Shortages

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 — (CP).— Ottawa's diet may undergo several changes if the railway strike continues. Wholesalers reported that most lines of imported fruits, fruit juices, canned vegetables and fruits coming from outside sources will go into short supply.

Naval Chiefs Sure Subs Russian

LONDON, Aug. 23 (Wednesday) (Reuters) — The London Daily Herald today says Atlantic Pact naval chiefs "are now certain" that unidentified submarines being reported in waters throughout the world are Russian.

The pro-Labor newspaper, in a front-page news story, says Soviet subs have been instructed "to carry the cold war on to the outer oceans."

Recalling that unidentified submarines have been sighted off the coasts of Canada, the United States, Australia, New Zealand Japan and Korea, the paper says their appearance are part of a four-point Kremlin campaign.

The four objects, says the Herald, are to provoke an ocean war of nerves, to advertize the growth of the Soviet fleet, to train Soviet seamen in long-range operations, and to show Russians that their strength is no longer landlocked.

The Herald predicts that Russian propaganda, which has ignored the sighting reports so far, will shortly review the sub fleet's "summer cruise exercises."

Plant Building Jumps

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP). — Value of proposed new factory, shop and office construction during April May, June and July was $33,975,500, an increase of $14,744,300 from the same period last year, the faactory inspection branch of the Ontario Labor Department announced Tuesday.

A Slight Mistake

TOKYO, Aug. 23 — (AP). — The North Korean Reds broadcast a claim today of sinking a United States destroyer — then identified one which was sunk in the Second World War.

Job Picture Better

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—The employment picture in Ontario brightened during July. The Ontario Bureau of Statistics and Research announced Tuesday there were 40,505 unemployed at the end of July, a drop of 10,000 from the first of the month.

Electrical Appliances Play Big Part In Retail Exhibit

Paint, paper, noise and confusion and a few finished displays were what the Manufacturer's Building had to offer on Tuesday the day before the opening of the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition.

In a last mad rush to get their wares in an attractive display, local retail merchants were dashing around with cans of paint and even brooms doing a general cleaning up job. Unloading of wares was still very much in the forefront.

The railway strike is also playing a part in the exhibition. One merchant was bewailing his fate in having some of the major items of his display frozen at the freight shed.

The public will be greeted with nearly every type of electrical appliance and luxury for the modern home. Radios, television, refrigerators, stoves, washing machines, electric ironers, deep freezes and even air-conditioning furnaces will be on display. Two model kitchens and a model bathroom will be excellent guides for any would be home planners.

The outside of the home is not neglected with paint displays showing how and in what shade it should be done. Builders supplies are also on the premises.

One of the more interesting booths in the building is that set up by the Canadian Institute for the Blind. Products made by blind people and the equipment that they use will be on display. A basket-maker is present to show just how this type of handicraft is done.

Those having displays are: T. Eaton Co., Peterborough Branch; Rehill's Fuel and Builders, W. J. Hickey, Austin, Hudson, Packard, Sales and Service; Deyell's Refrigeration and Appliances, Perma-Stone, Hoover, Ken Dewar, Renfrew Products; Comstock's Furniture Co., Basell's Carpets, Draperies and Floor Coverings, Blackwood and Co., Cherney's Furniture Co., Beaver Lumber Co., CHEX, T. London Surveys Work Of Police LONDON (CP).—A survey has been launched by metropolitan police authorities to determine how a London policeman employs his time while pounding his beat.

The fact-finding teams of uniformed officers have been stopping the bobbies on patrol to ask them such uestions as: "How many doors did you try during the night?"; "How many windows did you find open?"; "Did you encounter any unusual incidents?" They are also being asked to state how many questions by the public they were required to answer during their tour of duty.

Feathered War Vets Get Lease On Life

VANCOUVER (CP). — If they're war veterans they get a break from Mayor Charles Thompson—even though they're pigeons.

Complaints from citizens concerning a pigeon fancier who kept 35 of the birds in his back yard finally wound up before aldermen of Vancouver's civic building and town plan committee.

The aldermen sided with neighbors who wanted the pigeons removed from the city.

But the pigeon fancier said many of the birds he races and trains were carriers—veterans of the Second World War. They would be useful again in the event of another war, he argued.

Mayor Thompson agreed, with the reservation that the pigeons be examined to ensure they do not constitute a health menace.

The aldermen relented and permitted another pigeon fancier with veteran birds to keep his pets at his home.

BRITISH MORMONS

There are 65 churches of the Latter-day Saints (Mormons) in Britain.

STAN LOWE, one of Peterborough's keenest racing fans, is a member of the race horse committee for the 1950 Exhibition. He is also an associate director of the exhibition board.

Handicraft Work A Hobby To Many Peterboro Women

Paintings, china figurines, plaster models, leathercraft, woodwork, needlework, knitting, cooking and many other varieties of handicrafts on display in the Home Department building at the Peterborough Exhibition provide a fascinating insight into pastimes of a large section of the population in the Peterborough district. Nearly all the exhibits are the product of leisure time occupations, mostly by women and are proof that despite the modern attractions of the movies and other not participating entertainments, the productive hobbies are still flourishing in the community.

The Recreation Commission has two stands where handicrafts by children at the city playgrounds during the school holidays and by adults attending evening classes in handicrafts are on display.

In the adult section, in charge of Mrs. J. Wharry, there are some exquisite examples of embossed leatherwork, silver jewellry and brass ornaments which bear no trace of the amateurish touch.

The children have been busy, under the supervision of Mrs. Margaret Freestone, making plaster models of animals, heads of Indians, complete with feathered headwear, moulding and painting ash trays and various articles which serve as ornaments of useful articles in the home. There are felt belts, gloves and wall plaques, dolls dressed in clothes made by the youngsters and a great variety of other exhibits.

There are a great many entries in the quilting, crochet, knitting, embroidery and children's wear classes, which comprise a large home crafts section. And many women have been busy baking and preserving for domestic science contests.

In addition to oil paintings, water colors, pastels, and pen and ink drawing etc., there are sections for fine arts by Collegiate and public school students.

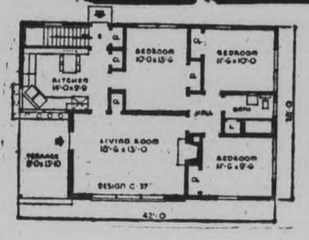
Modelled for Moderns



THE CLINTON

THE CLINTON has a rear bedroom located to give its floor plan a most interesting flexibility. If this room is not needed as a third bedroom it can be used as a den, workroom or nursery, as it is situated between the kitchen and the bathroom. Another possibility is a door in the living room partition. This would convert the rear room into a separate dining room. If the partition between the two rooms were eliminated completely, it would make a beautiful L-shaped combination living room and dining room.

Closet space in The Clinton is plentiful. There are coat closets at both entrances. There is a broom closet in the kitchen and a linen cabinet in the bathroom.

The kitchen sink is placed under the corner windows. This provides a view of the front and side yards.

The exterior walls of The Clinton are faced with stone. However, if desired, the stone can be replaced by brick with good results.

West Germany Expects To Have Foreign Minister By End Of Year

BONN—(Reuters)—West Germany expects to have a foreign minister by the end of this year.

The occupation powers have a "working committee" considering how to modify the occupation statute on the subject of relations between the young republic and Britain, France and the United States.

The committee has already agreed "in principle" to give West Germany control of her foreign policy. Provision is made, however, for the occupation authorities to retain some form of veto for a time.

Confirmation of the committee's plan, so eagerly awaited by the German Government here, should come at the "Big Three" Foreign Ministers' meeting in Washington next month.

Considerable Control

West Germany already has considerable control of her foreign relations. She is allowed—subject to occupation veto—to negotiate treaties. She has consular officials in some countries. She is a member of a growing list of international organizations.

In this respect, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is his own foreign minister. But that does not satisfy Bonn's ambition to have a full-fledged foreign office, especially as Adenauer is disinclined to delegate any of his powers.

For several months, West Germany has had a shadow foreign office. It was set up on a semi-official basis as the "Bureau for Peace Questions" in preparation for the day when a state of war no longer exists between West Germany and the Big Three.

Foreign Office

Several leading officials have visited London and Paris to study foreign office organization, particularly the system of recruitment for foreign service.

Recruitment of senior members will probably revive the complaints made when West Germany's first consular officials were chosen. Some were former Nazis.

As Dr. Wilhelm Haas, one of the men building the foreign service, said at the time, "there are simply not enough persons with the required talent to fill our posts at home and abroad if we do not draw on the former members of the Reich foreign office, who in many cases joined the Nazi party out of practical or moral compulsion."

Likely Candidate

The most likely candidate as foreign minister is Herbert Blankenhorn. It is believed, however, he might prefer to remain a civil servant rather than take political charge of a department.

Blakenhorn, though only 46, is often described as the chancellor's right-hand man. Dr. Adenauer is 74. Blakenhorn is a former regular foreign office official who became known in politics after the war.

He has held the key post of general secretary of Dr. Adenauer's Christian Democratic party. He worked in Athens, Geneva, Washington and Berne as a diplomat, and at the end of the war he was in the protocol department of the foreign minister in Berlin's Wilhelmstrasse.

ACCUSING FINGER.—Lying on a stretcher in the courtyard of a hospital in Taegu, one of five soldiers of a North Korean massacre points to a Red soldier he accuses of taking part in the slaughter of Yanks on Hill 303, near Waegwan. A Russian-built machine gun of the type used in the killing is beside him.

Falls 12 Feet From Scaffold

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 23 — (ENS)—George Atwell, an elderly farmer at Bradley Bay, fell 12 feet from scaffolding Tuesday while preparing to reshingle the roof of his house. He suffered a fractured thigh and is now in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Atwell had built the scaffold to get to the roof. After the fall he shouted for help and some U.S. visitors staying nearby came to his aid and drove him to Campbellford Hospital. From there he was removed to Belleville.

Bradley Bay is three miles south of Campbellford.

Slaughter House Bylaw

NORWOOD, Aug. 23—(ENS)—Councillor James Beamish notified Asphodel township council which met this month in Westwood Town Hall, that he intends to introduce a bylaw at the next meeting regulating the operation of slaughter houses in the municipality of Asphodel.

Enough Water

WINNIPEG (CP). — Winnipeggers apparently had their fill of water during the Red River Flood. Waterworks officials say in the month of June, city residents used 2,600,000 less gallons of water than during the same period last year.

GOLD EXPORTS The principal export of Nicaragua is gold, more than $7,000,000 worth annually.

WATER POWER Canada has the greatest aggregate of water-power of any country in the world.

Horse Racing At Exhibition Attracts Many Entries From Outside Peterborough

Eastern Ontario horses will dominate the four-day racing events, trot and pace, at the Exhibition this week. Horses from stables in Gatineau, Kingston, Arnprior, Smiths Falls, Cobourg and Campbellford will be competing with local, Oshawa, Brooklin, Colborne and Schomberg stables in nearly every race. For the past two weeks entries have been pouring in and race officials can assure the exhibition racing fans of full entries in each event. The favorite race seems to be the 2.30 trot and pace in which 14 horses have been entered, six over the regulation number.

Not wanting to turn down anyone, race officials have decided to run two 2.30 class events. The first race will be Thursday afternoon as planned, for a pot of $200. The second race will take the place of the consolation race which was scheduled for the first event Saturday night. There will be no consolation race.

Merton Storey surprised racing circles here Monday when he entered his Canada Direct in the Saturday night free-for-all event. Canada Direct is one of the most popular horses in the Buffalo area and recently was in on the money several times at the meet held at the Thorncliffe track.

Free-For-All Closed

Nine horses have been entered in the free-for-all for the purse of $400. This is one over the regulation number of entries. H. J. Davis, also of Peterborough, has two horses, Parsons and Redstone, and Stan Blewett of Peterborough has his Victory Hi entered. R. Miville of Gatineau, Quebec, whose stables were represented here last year, will have his Prince Adam in this running.

Still only three horses have been entered in the 2.22 trot event, the last race on Friday night. Officials regretfully said this race may be scratched. They explained that the class might be filled before race time by other horses which are eligible. All the horses entered so far are out-of-town: Grey Von, owned by George McKnight of Millbrook; Calumet Baldwin, owned by John Rogers of Oshawa, and Elmira Boy, owned by the Sharpe Motors of Oshawa.

Peterborough Stables Start

Local stables will open this year's night racing Wednesday, when a special event will be held. Up to Monday noon, only one entry had been made in this event, but officials expect the entries to be over regulation number well before racetime.

Four of the remainder of the events are under the eight regulation starters. These spaces are expected to be filled by racetime.

The first event Thursday night, the 2.15 trot and pace, the fastest race with the exception of the free-for-all, has five entries while the other three races under are on Friday. The first race Friday afternoon, the 2.20 trot and pace has seven horses, and the second race 2.27 trot pace six entries. The 2.17 trot and pace event Friday night has five starters.

Thursday night's 2.23 class race has 10 horses as has Saturday afternoons 2.22 trot and pace class. The other Saturday afternoon event, the 2.28 class, has nine horses.

The entries are:

Model F COMBINE MILKING SYSTEM

'Completely Mechanizes the Milking System'

- Milk enclosed in sealed system.
- No carrying or pouring of milk.
- Operator works erect—no stooping.
- Cows do the walking—not the operator.

With the De Laval Model F Combine you work erect with udders at convenient chest height. You'll have no more tired, aching back caused by stooping and squatting during milking.

The cows bring the milk to the milking room; the De Laval Model F Combine takes the milk from the cow, filters it and puts it right into the milk cans in the milk house. You don't waste valuable time carrying, pouring and straining milk.

By completely mechanizing the milking operation the De Laval Model F makes possible one-man dairy operation. Your cost of producing milk is lowered and profit is increased.

SIMPLE AND INEXPENSIVE TO INSTALL

Installed in a simple, low-cost farm milking room, it enables the dairyman to milk more cows in less time and at lower cost than any other method of milking. One operator can milk 30-35 cows an hour easily.

The sanitary dairy pipe through which the milk is conveyed and the milker vacuum pipe connect directly with the De Laval Model F Combine Automatic Can Fillers in the milk house.

The milk passes through the sanitary dairy pipe, through the Automatic Can Filler into the standard shipping can. When one can is filled the can filler automatically shuts off and the milk starts filling the next can.

Extremely simple installation, operation and maintenance are outstanding and readily apparent features of the De Laval Model F Combine Milker.

Scattered Layoffs In Industry Follow Rail Strike

By The Canadian Press

Scattered industrial layoffs — —have followed immediately in with indications of more to come the wake of the railway strike.

Three thousand Nova Scotia coal miners were among the first to go. Thousands more workers were told they will be jobless temporarily if the strike continues too long.

But the man in the street—unless he wanted to take a trip or send a telegram—probably didn't notice the strike during the first day.

Supplies of most commodities were normal, or nearly so. But that obviously couldn't last if the strike did.

TWO OF THE ACTS that are being seen this week in the show before the grandstand at the Peterborough Exhibition. Zena Cheevers, LEFT, Canada's well known dancer. Her contortionistic and acrobatic dancing is done with grace and rhythm while at RIGHT the Three Troubadors, two men and a girl, present a musical act which is a special treat.

Some areas — small communities in Northern Ontario and Vancouver island especially — were isolated. Some travellers ignored warnings of the impending strike and were stranded. Bus and truck companies, telephone systems and air lines were all but swamped in the rush of new business. Ottawa made emergency plans for an air lift to bring in members for a special session of parliament. On the stock exchange, some industrial issues dipped.

Skeleton Staffs

First to be laid off by the strike of the 125,000 railwaymen were nearly 75,000 other railway workers in trades not represented by the striking unions. Only skeleton staffs were kept on in some buildings maintainance, protective and clerical jobs.

The coal miners in Nova Scotia followed. With no cars to handle the loads from the mines, 3,000 mainland workers were laid off Tuesday. Four hundred more were expected to follow today. Most Cape Breton Island mines still operated, but in Alberta mining officials said 8,000 coal miners will be jobless in a few days.

In Lethbridge, Alta., a flour mill with 100 employees closed down Tuesday night. The Maple Leaf Milling Company mill in Port Colborne with 300 employees, shut down Wednesday. The Robin Hood mill in Port Colborne said it could keep going for from three to four days.

With no livestock coming in by rail, stockyards in Winnipeg and Toronto were idle. The Canada Packers, Ltd., plant in Toronto was expected to lay off about 100 men. A cut in employment in all Swift Canadian Company, Ltd., plants was predicted by company officials.

These factors raised fears of a fresh-meat shortage, especially in areas such as Northern Ontario which are too far from packing houses to get their meat by truck.

General Motors Corporation in Oshawa, with 7,000 workers, faces a shutdown in a few days, spokesmen said. The Studebaker plant in Hamilton, is due to close at the end of the week. But in Windsor, no immediate layoffs were scheduled for the Chrysler and Ford automobile plants there.

At Sudbury, the International Nickel Company refinery was to lay off 2,250 men Wednesday, with more, perhaps, to follow.

Pulp and paper mills also made plans for layoffs. In heavy industries, with products not suitable for truck transportation, other shutdowns are expected.

Government officials said the strike won't mean a coal shortage this winter. But Alberta oil wells and refineries were hit hard.

Production in the Edmonton fields could drop from 68,000 barrels a day to 15,000 if the strike lasts three days, it was estimated. Western farmers wondered if they would be able to get enough fuel for harvest operations and in Timmins and Cochrane in Northern Ontario, dealers said they had only four days supply of gasoline.

Oil company officials said they are diverting trucks from fuel oil to gasoline deliveries as quickly as they can get experienced drivers, "but you can't trust just anyone with a truckload of gas."

Expect Food Glut

First indications were that the country's largest cities might have a glut of some products, with some shortages — especially of perishables—in outlying areas.

No panic buying of food was reported immediately, but Northern Ontario merchants said sales were higher.

Vancouver Island was virtually cut off—except by air—from the mainland. The steamship service to the British Columbia coast is operated by the railways. Some United States ships, however, operate to U.S. ports.

Telephone companies called in extra staff to handle a rush of calls, but there still were delays on long-distance calls.

Some cities appointed emergency co-ordinators to speed the movement of essential goods by trucks. Trucks rolled round-the-clock over the highways, concentrating mainly on foods and perishable commodities.

North Pole Ship Now U.S. Trawler

HALIFAX —(CP)— A ship that has been on a North Pole expedition with a famous explorer has joined the Nova Scotia trawler fishing fleet. The Peary, in her 32 years on the high seas, has been part of the French navy and has been used on the Great Lakes as a survey vessel.

The Peary was built at Fort William, in 1918. Christened the Benson, she joined the French navy as a minesweeper. Purchased by explorer Donald MacMillan in 1925, the stout, steel-hulled vessel made a trip to the Arctic. Later the United States government purchased her for survey work in the Great Lakes.

When the Peary arrived here recently it was like old times for Capt. George Steele of Port Hawkesbury, NS, who will be her new skipper. He served aboard her in the Arctic back in 1925. The vessel, now owned by Capt. Jack Cruikshanks of Halifax, is being fitted out for a trawler and a new career on the fishing banks off the Nova Scotia coast.

Maoris Planning To Celebrate 6 Centuries In New Zealand

By J. C. GRAHAM

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — Maoris are making big-scale preparations for celebrations to mark the 600th anniversary of their arrival in New Zealand.

Though the Maoris had no written records when white people arrived, their traditions and genealogies were handed down in detail by word of mouth and from careful examination of these accounts experts have fixed 1350 as the approximate date of the great migration from the north to New Zealand.

Every Maori traces his descent back to the canoe in which his ancestors arrived from Polynesia. The landing places of the main canoes are known with fair accuracy and each canoe gave birth to a tribe which preserves its traditions to the present day.

One of the biggest celebrations will be held in October at Ngaruawahia, headquarters of the Maori "king," King Koroki.

The celebrations will last for four days and to feed the visitors 40 tons of potatoes and 10 tons of sweet potatoes are being stored. Sixteen sacks of cabbage plants have been planted out on one of the farms at the "king's" headquarters. Vast quantities of corn are being made in Pirau, a favored Maori delicacy. Every tribe and sub-tribe is fattening pigs for the occasion.

Broad Program

The program includes sports events, displays of Maori culture, songs and war dances, revivals of old traditions, and a church service. Maori orators will recount the traditional versions of the voyages of the canoes in the great migration and King Koroki will present chiefs from other tribes with models of their ancestral canoes.

A feature of the celebrations will be a display of relics claimed to be from the canoes of the original fleet. They will include the sacred emblem of the Tainui-people—Korotangi, a carved stone bird which is believed to have been brought to New Zealand by the captain of the Tainui canoe.

The Korotangi resembles a pigeon about to take flight. It is made out of a heavy dark green stone and is about 10 inches long and weighs more than four pounds. The fine symmetrical carving is well preserved.

In the days of inter-tribal warfare the Maoris of the tribe carried the Korotangi on their expeditions and consulted it as an oracle. Then for many years it was hidden and finally was rediscovered under the roots of a tree. Now it is lodged for safety in the Dominion museum, but will be specially lent to Princess Te Puea for the celebrations.

Hamilton Calls Road Tenders

HAMILTON, Aug. 23 (CP). — Mayor Lloyd Jackson said Monday tenders will be called for part of the city's public works program despite the strike of the 1,000 civic employees.

All road repairs and construction ceased 12 days ago when Local 5 of the Hamilton Civic Employees Union (AFL) struck for higher pay and shorter working hours. City road and sidewalk building crews are among the strikers.

The Mayor said that letting tenders to private contractors would mean fewer jobs for striking workers when they returned. He said City Council wants the jobs done before frost sets in.

He said the policy of letting jobs to private contractors was not strike-breaking as it had been established practice long before the strike.

The union struck 12 days ago asking a reduction from the present 44-hour week to a 40-hour week with no reduction in take-home pay. They asked a two-cent hourly increase.

The city has offered a 42-hour week beginning next January with a 40-hour week in January, 1952, and no loss in take-home pay from the reduction. Also offered were a $1 weekly increase imemdiately and a cost-of-living clause.

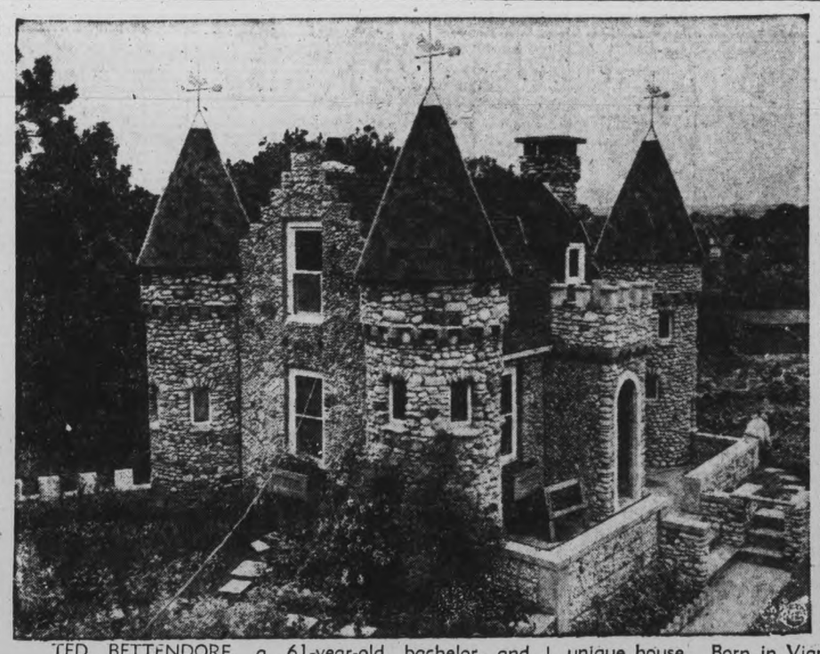
Fire Destroys School

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., Aug. 23 —(CP)—Fire of unknown origin Monday night destroyed the 56-year-old public school buildings in this community about 15 miles northwest of Toronto. The building was used as a storehouse recently after it was condemned as a school. A new school house was built a year ago.



TED BETTENDORF, a 61-year-old bachelor and machinist who lives in Fox River Grove, Ill., decided to build himself a home. While excavating for a basement, he found a large bed of rocks which gave him the idea for this unique house. Born in Vianden, Luxembourg, Bettendorf modeled his 10-year work on the famous Vianden Castle. At right, Bettendorf points out cement block, each of which he molded by hand, with vari-colored stones added to give variety to the castle walls.

McPherson Clan Honors Justice

INERNESS, Scotland— (CP)— Ewen Alexander McPherson, Chief Justice of Manitoba Appeal Court, was given a reception while on a holiday in Scotland.

Local members of the Clan McPherson presented his wife with a tartan rug.

Chief of the 100-member Canadian branch of the Clan McPherson Association, formed three years ago, the Chief Justice is said never to have worn a kilt.

His Scottish trip included four days in Fort William, Inverness-shire, his father's birthplace.

First Leave In Year Airman Stranded

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—The rail strike Tuesday presented a personal problem for LAC Jake Dragomair of Windsor. He's stranded on a large steamer trunk at the bus terminal here.

Dragomair, on his first leave in 12 months from the RCAF station at Goose Bay, Labrador, flew with his wife and nine-weeks-old son to Dorval airport near Montreal and caught the last train to Toronto. But there was no room on the first bus to Hamilton for the big trunk.

Said Dragomair, as he changed son Garry's diaper:

"A fine way to spend a leave."

Here Are Some Answers To Your Garden Problems

By HENRY PREE
Written for NEA Service

Many letters received by this gardener asking for help in solving problems are of such general interest that they are worthy of inclusion in an article. Here are some of the most interesting ones and their answers.

Q—The flowers in our window boxes are not thriving and appear happy only after we water. How often should we water?—R. J.

A—Porch and window boxes, because of their soil limitations, should be watered each morning, and in hot weather again in the afternoon. The smaller the box the more quickly the soil dries out. Since most boxes are more or less protected by the roof overhang, one cannot count on rain supplying moisture. If in doubt test the soil to the bottom of the box. The soil should never get bone dry and neither should it be soggy all the time. Since drainage holes are necessary, most of the original fertilizer has been leached out and must be replaced. A tablespoon of a complete plant food dissolved in a quart of water should be applied every two weeks.

Q—When is the proper time to transplant and or divide Oriental poppies?

A—The perennial Oriental poppy may be transplanted with safety in August. Commercial growers increase their stocks in late summer by seed, by division and by root-cuttings. When transplanting be sure the location is full sun and the soil gritty and well drained.

Q—What causes black spots on rose leaves and what is the cure?

A—Black spot is the most serious disease of garden roses. It is caused by a fungus which lives over winter in the old leaves on the ground. The spores apparently are always present and spring into life when the foliage is wet for six or more hours. Control may be had by keeping the foliage constantly covered with a light film of a fungicide such as permate or sulphur and that means dusting or spraying one a week and again immediately after each rain. The first application is made when growth starts in spring. All diseased leaves should be picked off and burned and equally important is the gathering and burning of all old leaves from the bed in autumn to remove the source of infection for next year.

Q—While our flower garden receives only partial sunlight, the soil, brought from the woods, is rich and black. Why is it that the foliage is a lush green and the flowers few and small? Even the tuberous begonias are a failure.

A—The lack of sunlight is responsible for lush foliage and scanty flower development. Few plants will bloom satisfactorily where there is less than four hours of sunlight—preferably in the morning.

Q—Last Fall I planted white Calla Lily bulbs. They came up this Spring and grew to about four inches and then stopped growing. Now they have started to die. Can you tell me what is wrong and if it can be remedied as I have given them every known care.

A—The white Calla Lily is a tender bulbous perennial which can be grown out of doors only in mild climates. Your bulbs lived through because last winter was mild and frost penetration was slight. If wanted for summer bloom in northern gardens, the bulbs should not be planted outdoors until mid-May — and then lifted before cold weather in Autumn.

Q—Please suggest an interesting small flowering tree other than the dogwood, crabapple, hawthorn, magnolia or redbud.—W. M.

A—I like the Japanese tree lilac, which grows to a height of 25 feet and has a spread of 20 feet. The flowers, appearing in late June and early July are large, creamy-white upright panicles. The bark is a reddish-brown similar to that of the flowering cherry. Plant in a well prepared soil to which lime has been added.

Q—The buds on my gladiolus are brown, open poorly, and silver streaks appear on the foliage. What causes this condition and what should I do?—F. Y.

A—Thrips, tiny sucking insects which winter over in the corms, are to blame. Dusting with 5 per cent DDT each week from the time the first shoots appear will keep thrips under control. Dust the corms (bulbs) with DDT before storing for the winter.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF from sore, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

IMPORTANT! Here is frank information — in non-technical language—regarding an annoying, painful, often embarrassing physical condition which now afflicts countless thousands — you, perhaps, among them. Far too frequently this condition, at first superficial in itself, can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe everyone who suffers from this condition owes it to his or her own personal comfort to read the statement below. LEONHARDT PROPRIETARIES, LTD.

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have been fighting a ceaseless war — to save lives and to conquer dread diseases.

When they discover a new "miracle" drug or surgical technique, the news rings round the world! Yet all the while, other "unsung" men of science are working equally hard to relieve suffering caused by less dramatic, "everyday" maladies. Among them is perhaps the most painful of all — piles!

A Subject Seldom Discussed

Pile sufferers are burdened with a double hardship. They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it because of false pride and embarrassment. Yet to the man or woman who knows the agonizing torment of itching, burning piles, the truth about their trouble may mean a world of difference in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality!

What Causes Piles?

Piles are not a primary ailment. Conditions which cause them never originate in the parts affected. At first, piles are simply inflamed and distended "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. A common cause is hepatic congestion (torpidity of the liver) which results in ordinary, everyday constipation.

How Piles Develop

As the liver function slows down, blood flow from the lower bowel to the liver is retarded and small rectal veins swell with blood. Then, usually, constipation starts. Hard, clogging masses form in the lower bowel — irritating and bruising the distended rectal veins. Blood stagnates in and bruised areas, until the tiny veins become greatly inflamed, lumpy, horribly painful.

This agonizing pain aggravated by constipation, is "self-perpetuating". The constipation adds to the itching, burning pain and soreness—which in turn increases the constipation — which then tends to further enlarge the swollen veins until they become pile tumors. If this vicious circle is not broken, there is only one choice — chronic piles or the surgeon's knife!

Why Face This Choice?

Decide now to break this vicious circle! Many others have done so, thanks to an able professional man who, more than 50 years ago, began an intensive study of piles — their cause and effect. Knowing that piles are caused by congested conditions inside the body, he wisely searched for an internal medication that would relieve hepatic congestion, stimulate bile flow, gently ease constipation and improve circulation of the blood in the lower bowel — thus helping Nature herself promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. Finally, in his own practice, he devised a formula of medically-proven elements — small tablets taken by mouth — which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 cases that came to his personal, professional attention!

Sufferers Acclaim Hem-Roid

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid — using it first in his own practice, later supplying it to friends and acquaintances. In 1904 he sold the formula and name. Since that time, millions of packages have been bought by the public throughout the world — and countless satisfied users of Hem-Roid testify to its quick, efficient action.

Accept This 10-Day Offer!

Naturally — long-standing, neglected cases of piles may call for a doctor's advice. But for average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the relief and results you want. To prove it, we make this special 10-day offer!

Now from any drugstore, get a package of Hem-Roid — 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment — at the amazingly low price of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If at that time you are not delighted with results you get, just return the package with unused tablets to your druggist for full refund of the purchase price! You risk nothing — and you stand to gain immeasurable relief from the embarrassing discomfort and torment of itching, burning piles. Hidden Gunman Shoots At 6 Rail Pickets On North Bay Crossing

No Sign of Anyone, No One Injured, Police Find No Clues
Believe Shooting Prank Of Local Resident

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 24—(CP)—A hidden gunman fired on six railway picketers here early today and escaped without being seen. One shot smashed a street light and another, whistled above the picketers heads. No one was hit. Picket Captain Mike Ricci, a striking employee of the Ontario Northland Railway, said the shots came from the direction of a nearby lumber yard. Pickets on the Canadian Pacific Railway crossing about 100 feet away also heard the shots and saw the light break.

Sound Alarm

Some of the men raced four blocks to union headquarters to report the shooting and telephone police. A thorough police search of the lumber yard yielded no clues. A lumber yard watchman said he saw no one enter or leave the yard.

A union spokesman said the shooting "was probably the work of a mischief maker trying to discredit the union. We certainly aren't being scared off. Our pickets will continue their 24-hour patrol."

Police, unable to explain the shots, suggested it might have been a "prank."

"I can't see any reason for the shooting," said Inspector I. A. Thurlow. "I don't think it was aimbed at the strikers . . . we don't even know the calibre of the gun used and no one was found in the neighborhood when our officers arrived."

E. German Army Gets 39 Camps In Six Months

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 24—(AP)—Allied officials reported today that training camps for Russia's elite East-German army have been increase from 11 to 50 in less than six months.

This vast expansion indicates that the Russians intend to build a huge new "Red Wehrmacht" around this Communist armed force, the officials said.

This east-German force of 50,000 men has been trained as a cadre for a larger German army taking orders from Russia, they said. The officials gave this assessment of developments:

The force could easily be expanded to 150,000 men, perhaps in a matter of weeks, with the increase in training facilities.

Officers and non-coms will be used to train troops just as Hitler built his Wehrmacht around the professional Reichswehr.

320,000 In Force

Already the 50,000-man East-German army gives Russia a combined-German combat force of 320,000 men facing the west in Eastern Germany.

New equipment, including late-model tanks and jet planes, are flowing to the Red Army in East Germany. Some of it may be intended for the East-German army.

However, no additional Soviet troops have been sent to Germany this year.

Reliable reports from inside Communist East Germany show that the East-German army and all police number about 250,000.

The winners include: John B. McClellan, Ridgeville; William J. Evans, St. Marys; John W. LeSage, Tweed; Dorothy V. Johnston, Petrolia; William C. Tennier, Port Colborne; Robert W. Moore Woodstock; Kenneth J. Conyard, Stratford; Reta M. Courvoisier, Dundalk; George R. Gough, Peterborough; Patricia M. Smith, Belleville; William H. Jenkins, Woodroffe; Peter D. McClure, North Bay; Ross Albert Hamlin, Chapleau; Mary G. Howie, Englehart.

Baking Industry Pleads Ottawa Aid

OTTAWA, Aug. 24—(CP)—The baking industry today informed Prime Minister St. Laurent that because of the rail strike "tens of thousands" of Canadians are unable to buy bread and pleaded with him to get the trains operating again.

"That a railroad strike could be even possible in this country is unthinkable," the National Council of the Baking Industry said in a letter delivered today to the Prime Minister.

"Now that it is a fact the baking industry pleads that steps be taken at once to get the trains operating.

Malik On Last Week Of Stalling Action

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 24 (AP).—Russia's Jakob A. Malik heads today into the fourth and final week of his United Nations Security Council presidency, apparently dedicated—and successfully—to stalling decisive council action on the Korean war.

In the three weeks since he ended the Russian boycott to head the council, Malik has trumpeted the Soviet propaganda line at length.

The west has replied with similarly-long speeches, but many observers wonder which has had the more telling effect on the Asian mind—ultimate prize in the current U.N. war of words.

Fleet Carrier Sails From Glasgow East

GLASGOW, Aug. 24 (Reuters) —The 13,350-ton Royal Navy light fleet carrier Warrior, packed with naval aircraft, sailed today for the Far East.

This is the second British carrier to leave for Korea in the last week. The Theseus, sister ship to the Warrior, left Portsmouth last Friday.

The Warrior, lent to Canada in 1946 and returned to Britain two years later, was refitted last year with an experimental flexible rubberized deck for the use of jet fighters fitted with skids.

Rail Walkout Ordered Monday In U.S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP) — Union orders for a country-wide railroad strike in the United States next Monday put the rail-labor wage-hour problem squarely up to President Truman today.

The railroad strike in Canada now is in its fourth day. Thus if the threatened walkout develops in the United States, virtually all rail transportation in North America will be at a standstill.

Truman's choice seems to be either some new move aimed at quickly settling the long-smouldering dispute or ordering government seizure of the rail industry.

Some indication of how the President intends to handle this sudden threat to the U.S. transport system—coming in the midst of the Korean fighting and a swelling rearmament program—is expected at Truman's press conference today.

Two big rail unions—the Brotherhood Railroad Trainmen and Order of Railway Conductors—gave their all-out strike orders to their 300,000 members Wednesday night after a new deadlock developed in White House peace talks with the carriers.

Strike Call Surprise

The strike call against 131 rail lines was unexpected. The union leaders only Tuesday night had given everyone to understand they would not expand five-day "token" walkouts presently in progress at five key rail centres.

However, the dispute over wages and working hours has dragged out over a period of 1½ years—and constantly been growing more ominous.

Under the American Railway Labor Act, which sets up a complex procedure for handling of rail disputes, the unions have been free to strike since July 15.

The deadline for the country-wide walkout was set for 6 a.m. local Standard Time Monday.

The unions indicated hopes that their full-scale strike threat might force railroad owners, in seeking to avoid seizure, to capitulate to union demands. On at

Reds Threaten Pusan Again

TOKYO, Aug. 25—(Friday)—(AP)—A heavily-armed Red Korean division rolled eastward Thursday night toward American positions on the Korean south coast, posing a new threat to the Allied port of Pusan, some 50 miles away. The threat appeared in the south after pressure had eased on the central front north of Taegu where feelers for five Red divisions were thrown back for five consecutive days. (Reuters News Agency reported that American and South Korean troops had advanced in limited attacks at both ends of the front. The Communists were shoved back west of Masan, near the south coast, and northwest of Taegu, the Agency said.)

US planes bombed and strafed the approaching Reds in the south. The Communists were moving in small groups to minimize their chances of being hit from the air.

Beat Off Attacks

The sudden, unexplained shift of North Korean troops north of Taegu left their mountain positions to Allied troops, 13 miles north of the fortress city. Before settling in them Thursday night US and South Korean infantrymen beat off flanking attacks.

AP correspondent Tom Lambert reported that the Communist movement away from Allied front lines, now 13 miles north of Taegu, reduced the immediate threat to the rail-head city.

The Reds appeared to be probing for a softer spot to hit with their five divisions on the central front.

Pressure by these 50,000 Reds diminished on the fifth day of bitter battling along the rocky corridor to Taegu.

United States and South Korean troops smashed four Red lunges in the five-day period.

The Reds originally were scheduled to capture Taegu Aug. 15—the anniversary of Korean liberation from Japan.

Under the same time-table the Reds were scheduled to end the war in victory by Aug. 31 on orders from Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea.

Capture "Citadel"

Correspondent Lambert said South Korean troops, advancing eastward under Allied plane attacks, captured "The Citadel," a craggy, high ridge north of Taegu from which Communist observers had looked down on United Nations positions.

Food Supplies Gone Monday Atikokan Asks Mercy Train

ATIKOKAN, Ont., Aug. 24—(CP)—Food supplies in this northwestern Ontario mining town—isolated by the railway strike—will last only until Monday, Town Secretary F. A. Cox said Wednesday. Meat and milk already have been used, he said. The only bakery in the town of 3,000 has plenty of flour but its yeast is almost exhausted.

Atikokan, which has no road outlet and no regular air service, has appealed for a "mercy train"

MONTREAL (CP). — Frank Hall, speaking on behalf of a joint committee of International and Canadian Unions involved in a Canada-wide rail strike, said today that one train a week will be allowed to carry food supplies to the Northern Ontario mining town of Atikokan.

on the strikebound Canadian National Railways line. Mr. Cox said he hoped the train may run tonight.

(Donald Gordon, CNR president, said in Montreal he has recommended to the rail unions' strike committee that a mercy train be sent. Union leader Frank Hall of the 15 international unions on strike said in an interview his unions "will give co-operation where any real emergency exists.")

Ask Their Help

"We intend to ask the railway men here to unload the train when it comes," Mr. Cox said. "After all, it is necessary for them to have food as much as anybody else, so we are certain they will not mind doing the job."

D. Wright, chairman of the retail merchants committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said all

10,000 Troops Aid Yugoslavia

TRIESTE, Aug. 24—(AP)—Ten thousand British and American troops are ready here if Communism's next armed blow falls on neighboring Yugoslavia.

Garrisoning this Allied-guarded free territory on the Yugoslav-Italian border, they are "combat ready" in training and equipment. But they sit on a spot too tight to hold—and backed by an Italian army probably still too weak to help.

Their chief bulwark is the opinion, held by American military observers here and in Rome, that the Yugoslav army would be a tough nut for other Communist states to crack.

Well-qualified opinion here holds that Tito's troops are equal to or beter than anything that any one or two of the surrounding Russian satellites could muster for an attack.

UK Schoolboy Just Misses Goal

DOVER, Kent, England, Aug. 24. — (AP). — Philip Mickman, plucky, 19 - year - old British schoolboy, came within an acre today of swimming the English Channel the hard way — from England to France.

For three hours he battled mountainous seas 500 yards off the French coast in a vain attempt to reach land. Then his trainers hauled him exhausted into the accompanying rowboat.

Mickman, who swam from France to England a year ago, was so close to success for so long today that members of his party here understood that he had finished successfully and made an announcement to that effect to the press. The statement was corrected only when Mickman's pilot, Capt. John Burwill, returned to the English coast.

Mickman's fellow townsmen at Ossett, Yorkshire, already had started a jubilant celebration before the correct news reached them.

His father, a hosiery manufacturer, said here that the boy would try again. He had been in the water 25 hours and 15 minutes.

Only three swimmers have crossed from England to France, although 35 have finished the swim in the other direction. Toward France the swim is harder because tides are trickier.

Corpses, Carcasses Seen On Flood Waters

SHILLONG, India, Aug. 24. — (Reuters).—Planes flying over a 1,000 - square - mile flood area, centre of last week's big earthquake, have sighted human corpses floating with elephant carcasses in the flood waters.

A Reuters correspondent said the stench of dead humans, cattle, fish and wild animals forced his plane to climb higher several times.

The flood followed earthquakes which blocked and diverted rain-swollen rivers in the Ganges-Brahmaputra basin last week. The floods are the worst in 50 years. Four new shocks rocked the area Wednesday.

Indian transport planes today parachuted emergency food supplies to flood victims. Reports indicate a high death rate from disease among the 5,000,000 marooned persons.

Ready To Mobilize Planes To Meet Crisis As Long As Strike Lasts

Predict Tieup Will Last At Least Week
Cabinet Meeting Every Day;
Won't Be Bludgeoned Into Settlement—Hall

OTTAWA, Aug. 23—(CP)—The government has obtained authority through order-in-council to mobilize and control all Canadian commercial aircraft as a means of coping with the present rail crisis, government officials disclosed today. The order-in-council is expected to be made public tomorrow.

The officials said it will not be placed into operation unless the rail strike tie-up causes a further deterioration of Canadian transportation facilities.

"We consider that so far Canadian commercial air lines are able to handle the situation without need of government controls," an official said. "However, if required, we are prepared to institute a system of control similar to the one we had in the Second World War.

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP).— A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) said today union negotiators for 124,000 striking rail workers are willing to resume negotiations with the companies under mediation.

The order-in-council also gives the government power to requisition aircraft and order them to any point in Canada as an emergency measure. Power to pass the order-in-council was obtained through the aeronautics act.

Main To Take Over

J. R. K. Main of Pincher Creek, Alta., the transport department's civil aviation official who handled the priority system in the last war, is again expected to take over administration of the system if and when brought into force.

He will co-ordinate his efforts officials said, with representatives of Canadian Commercial Air Lines under a committee to function from this capital.

Under the priority plan a person urgently requiring air passage and not being able to obtain

N.Z. Defence Budget Shows Big Increase

WELLINGTON, NZ, Aug. 24—(CP). — Prime Minister Sidney Holland today announced a defence-expenditure increase of £10,000,000 in New Zealand's 1950-1951 budget.

Despite this rise, and larger expenditures for education, social security and health, the government was imposing no tax increases, he said.

Of a total estimated revenue of £167,700,000 for the current year, Holland said £16,500,000 would be spent on defence.

This sharp rise compared with last year's defence expenditure, was due to the introduction of military training and the cost of equipping an artillery formation and naval vessels for the Korean campaign, he said.

British Troops Ordered Shoot To Kill

HONG KONG, Aug. 24—(AP) —On the eve of their departure for the Korean war front, British troops today were told to "shoot quick, shoot straight and shoot to kill."

This advice came from Gen. Sir John Harding, British commander in the Far East, during a last-minute troop inspection. They are scheduled to sail tomorrow.

The troop have loaded equipment and supplies aboard the aircraft carrier Unicorn. Authorities have neither confirmed nor denied reports that the Unicorn is to take the contingent to Korea.

Message Of Welcome

The General read a message of welcome from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the Korea-bound troops from the 1st battalions of the Middlesex regiment and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders.

MacArthur's message read: "Please express my great thanks and appreciation at the news of British troop reinforcement. They will add new lustre to British arms.

"They will have a warm welcome when they arrive here and will receive my personal attention."

Harding called on the troops to "maintain that great British military tradition of standing on your ground when ordered to do so. Don't worry about your flanks.

"If you get infiltrated or surrounded, stand your ground. As long as you have ammunition, some water and food, stop, stay where you are and fight it out on your own ground."

Hungry Veteran Eats 58 Eggs

MALDEN, Mass., Aug. 24 (AP) —Robert Fulford was suddenly hungry.

A wartime buddy, Arthur Clark had just reminded him after they met the other night that once in Germany Fulford ate 19 eggs.

Fulford said he could put away a lot more eggs than that.

Clark and some other friends took Fulford into a diner and promised to pay for all their pal could eat.

Two hours later Fulford had consumed 58 fried eggs and five bottles of milk. The bill for the eggs was $3.70. The milk was on the house.

Planned Hold-Ups In School To Get Wedding Money

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24 (AP) —"We wanted money to get married on," 16-year-old Peggy Byrns testified Wednesday in explaining the motive for a hold-up that ended in murder.

Blowing kisses occasionally to her sweetheart, Tommy Cook, 18, on trial for murder in the slaying of a liquor-store owner, she shouldered blame for the affair.

"Of course we considered ourselves married....We even had a (mock) marriage certificate drawn up. We both signed it and felt we were man and wife. But we wanted money for a real wedding," she said.

"It was my idea to stage the hold-up. It was my idea to get a gun. It was my idea to 'case' the store first....I even helped load the gun for Tommy. But it wasn't his idea, or anybody's, to shoot that man. That was just an accident."

Authorities say Peggy, Cook, and other 'teen-agers were members of a "crime club" that planned robberies in school, using ideas obtained from comic books and radio mysteries.

The slain man was Dominic Calarco, a former resident of Kitchener.

Other witnesses have testified that Cook fatally shot Calarco during the May 12 holdup.

"I met Tommy at a Hallowe'en party. I loved him. I love him now," Peggy sobbed.

Court officials half-carried her, weeping, from the stand.

Charges Rights Challenged By Using Passport In UK

LONDON, Aug. 24 — (CP) — John Hall, London newspaperman, started something when he challenged existing regulations governing travel within the United Kingdom.

As a British subject, Hall didn't like the idea of having to produce a passport and travel permit and fill out an assortment of official forms before being allowed to proceed on a trip from Liverpool to Belfast.

He arrived at the embarkation dock to find several hundred fellow-travellers queued up awaiting clearance by the immigration authorities. When asked for his travel documents, Hall admitted he hadn't bothered to get them. He took the line that a Briton was entitled to move about the United Kingdom without such formalities.

"Strange to relate, I finally got through," he said, "by showing my national registration card and identification proving I am a member of the Royal Horticultural Society. What's more, I completed the trip without another question being asked."

Criticizing the system as a "monstrous waste of money, manpower, paper and time," the London Daily Mail said something should be done about it.

"Has parliament ever debated that Britons need a passport in Britain, or by vote given the government authority to impose the rule?" the paper asked. "Has parliament ever decreed that Britons must have a travel permit to move from one part of the kingdom to another? Why this interference with the ancient right of the King's highway?"

RCAF Plane To Bring Drew Back From Italy

FLORENCE, Italy, Aug. 24 — (Reuters)—George Drew, Canadian parliamentary opposition leader, said today an RCAF plane is being flown to Italy from Britain to get him back to Ottawa in time for the emergency reopening of parliament Tuesday to discuss the Dominion-wide rail strike.

"I do not know what the full issues are yet, so I cannot comment," Drew said. "But when I heard last night that a special session had been called for Tuesday I made immediate preparations to get back to the capital as soon as possible.

Canadian embassy officials in Rome said later that the plane from London was due in Pisa, on Italy's west coast about 40 miles from Florence, at 5:30 p.m. local time today.

House Facing Defence Bill Of 570 Million

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP). — A bill that will raise Canada's defence budget for this fiscal year to a record peacetime $570,000,000 or so will be presented to parliament shortly as the first instalment of the cost of the Dominion's expanded preparedness program.

The Defence Department, forced to rush because of the call for the special session to open on Tuesday, is expected to present supplementary estimates that will fall just short of $150,000,000. The defence estimates so far approved for the year ending March 31, 1951, total $425,000,000.

The new total will not include the arms aid Canada now is proposing she give to her western European allies. That would be handled separately once its ramifications are clarified.

Of even greater significance than the actual anticipated expenditures themselves will be the total to be sought in the form of commitment authorities. These are the predictions of bills-to-come which will indicate just what sort of defence budget Canada can anticipate next year.

Billion Dollar Budget

Unofficial estimates are that the 1951-52 fiscal year will see Canada's first $1,000,000,000 peacetime budget.

Commitment authorities allow the department to negotiate contracts for such things as warships and planes. The money is not voted; the authorities simply are parliament's sanction to the department to go ahead and sign the contracts. Once the ships and planes and other equipment are delivered then the bills come due and estimates are presented to parliament to cover the cost.

The total authorities sought this year will run well into the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Canada's total defence bill for this year would be higher if the equipment was available to be bought. But the two types of fighter plane, for instance, won't come into production until next year. The keels haven't yet been laid for the new anti-submarine destroyers. It is the same with other equipment. It isn't there to be bought—yet.

The supplementary estimates of roughly $150,000,000 will cover the costs of Canada's special force to fight in Korea or elsewhere, of the expanding, recruiting regular forces, of the results of those expansions such as new construction, ordering of more uniforms, activation of planes and ships from the mothball fleet.

Jobless Down By 25,000 Over Three-Week Period

OTTAWA, Aug. 24—(CP)—The Labor Department announced Wednesday that unemployment in Canada declined by 25,000 over the three-week period, July 13-Aug. 3. But it added that this seemingly general decline in unemployment will be changed by the "existing situation," presumably the national rail strike.

In its regular review of the employment picture, the Department said that at Aug. 3 Canada was experiencing "unparalleled prosperity" in which 97 out of every 100 workers have jobs.

In the three weeks ending Aug. 3 registrations for employment with the National Employment Service fell from 183,200 to 158,100.

This figure was some 19,000 above last year's corresponding total, but the department noted that the increase was only 2,000 in registrations from men.

More Women Jobless

There were almost 17,000 more women looking for jobs than at the same time last year.

The increase in unemployed women was particularly noted in Ontario.

The department attributed this in part to a lower level of employment in such industries as textiles, hotels and restaurants which employ large numbers of women workers.

At the beginning of August, manufacturing industries such as primary iron and steel, automobiles and electrical apparatus were producing at capacity. In metal mines, pulp and paper plants and sawmills, employment was being maintained at close to last year's levels. In industries such as primary iron and steel, construction and agriculture, employers were finding difficulty in obtaining skilled labor.

In Ontario, the number of registrations at local employment offices fell off 9,600 to 38,600. Male applications were almost 2,000 below last year's figure, although applications from women were 4,000 higher.

Believe Reds Pushing German Army Plans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP). —Russia is believed here to be pushing ahead well-laid plans for the political and military development of Eastern Germany while western leaders negotiate on strengthening the defences of their sector.

Informed diplomats said today there now is evidence that the Russians have split their so-called "police force" in Germany into two organizations—one being trained in actual police work and the other being given regular army training and armored equipment without further pretence of "police" activity.

Since Germany, like Korea, is a divided nation, there is top-level speculation that the aim of this move may be an ultimate Korea-type assault; that is, an action by native Communist troops against the western occupation zones with unification of the country as a fighting slogan.

Other localized flank attacks, including two of company strength —about 200 men each—were repulsed.

By Thursday afternoon Gen. MacArthur's war summary reported "decreasing enemy pressure" in the bloody mountain battlefields where in one 72-hour period 3,500 casualties were inflicted on the Reds.

Marine airmen said they killed 300 North Koreans Thursday in a rocket and strafing attack on heavy troop concentrations.

The United States Army Chief of Staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, visited the front Thursday. He returned to Tokyo optimistic, saying "things are coming along very well over there."

Clear Flanks

United States and South Korean troops beat off localized enemy infiltrating attacks on their flanks and continued their frontal thrust in the face of reduced Red artillery and mortar fire. This was the fifth day of continuous battle for the bloody "Bowling Alley" corridor of the mountain passes.

An American attack Wednesday drove Communist infiltrators into the hills east of the main Kumhwa-Taegu road. The United States troops opened the highway after snipers had interrupted supply traffic for two days.

The Reds also appeared to be pulling back from the Waegwan area, 12 miles northwest of Taegu. They were quiet at a bridgehead across the Naktong River near Hyonpung, 14 miles southwest of the rail hub.

No Opposition

The American 1st Cavalry Divisiin facing the Waegwan area sent patrols across the river on Thursday without meeting any opposition. The U.S. 24th Infantry Division guards the Naktong front southwest of Taegu.

American 25th Infantry Division troops renewed an attack Thursday to win positions in the dominating Sobuk ridge on the Eastwestern front at the outer approaches to Pusan, main allied harbor on the southeastern coast.

The 25th infantrymen were held up by heavy mortar and small arms fire from deeply-entrenched Reds, who were the advance units of two Communist divisions believed preparing a fresh assault in the deep south toward Pusan.

South Korean troops, moving northward from the Pohang-Kigye area on the east coast, ran into stiff but localized Red resistance.

The South Korean capital division captured commanding heights in the lofty mountains near Odok, about eight miles north of Kigye.

Continue Advance

The South Korean 3rd division continued to advance north of Hunghae on the east coast.

In general, Thursday was a day of testing and searching for information by American patrols thrust ahead of their lines.

A patrol probing across the Naktong ran into a mortar attack and two war correspondents were wounded, neither severely. They are Randolph Churchill, son of Britain's wartime prime minister Winston Churchill, and Frank Emery of International News Service, an American.

A mortar fragment tore a half-dollar-size hole in Churchill's leg, and Emery was hit in three places. An American soldier of the patrol was wounded so badly he had to be left on the Communist west bank of the river, and efforts to reasue him were beaten off.

Churchill worked four hours on his story for the London Daily Telegraph and then was flown to Japan.

Land On Island

South Korean Marines, a tough rag-tag outfit equipped with U.S., Japanese and South Korean cast-off arms, landed on the island of Uido, off the extreme southwest tip of the Korean peninsula.

Admiral Forrest Sherman, U.S. Navy chief of operations, said on his return from a trip to Korea that more marine riflemen and marine air units would come along in a steady, balanced build-up of American naval forces. These forces now in the Korea area totalled 150 ships of all types and 90,000 men.

The Red probing down the main mountain-edged highway to Taegu began Sunday. Three tank-led attacks were beaten back by allied front-line troops, artillery and tanks.

it would be able to appeal directly to the Commercial Air Line in his area. The air line would get in touch with the priority committee which would make a final decision on priority rating.

The cabinet today considered emergency legislation on the rail strike and other matters to be placed before the special parliamentary session opening Tuesday, but adjourned early this afternoon without any announcement.

Prime Minister St. Laurent would give reporters no hint of the government's latest deliberations as he emerged from the 2½-hour meeting.

"We are dealing with everything we feel parliament should be asked to consider," the Prime Minister said. "However, I cannot tell you what these matters are, since it would be quite unusual for us to give this information to the newspapers before giving it to the members themselves."

Mr. St. Laurent was asked if the presidents of the two major railways are coming to Ottawa.

"I cannot say," he replied.

Present forecasts are the strike will last at least one more week. As the critical strike went into its third day, there was no direct government intervention in prospect before the opening of parliament, with the administration standing by its decison to have the legislators share responsibility for any action.

What that action might be was still problematical.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in announcing the opening date Wednesday, said the Cabinet had not yet taken the final decisions on the program of action it will lay before the Commons.

Its deliberations on the momentous issue, outcome of which may have a heavy bearing on future industrial relations in national industries such as the railways, went on today at a cabinet meeting called for 10:30 a.m. EDT.

One Of Series

Expectations were they would proceed at a continuation of the long recent series of special cabinet sessions right up until the opening of parliament, provided there was no settlement in the meantime of the paralyzing walkout of 124,000 railway employees that started Tuesday morning.

Just before the scene shifted to Ottawa from Montreal, where negotiations were finally broken off, there were a few last-minute developments.

Frank Hall, speaking in Montreal for the 17 unions involved in the dispute, said that the men on strike don't expect to be bludgeoned into any unfair settlement or be faced with legislation which would have the same effect.

Issue Explanations

At the same time, union headquarters sent out to members across the country a brief resume of developments before and after the start of the strike Tuesday morning.

The railways also issued a statement explanatory of certain parts of the negotiations and mediation which preceded the strike.

Should the strike be called off before parliament assembles, it is considered likely that the government will shelve temporarily any planned legislation to forestall future stoppages of this kind, leaving it for more deliberate action at a regular session.

There is some speculation, too, that in any event the measures proposed for the emergency session will deal only with the existing strike and that general legislation will be allowed to lie over for passage when the existing emergency has eased and there is more time for debate.

No. 2 item on the parliamentary agenda, the prime minister indicated to reporters after Wednesday's cabinet meeting, will be the measures to be taken to implement Canada's share in the United Nations' attempt to stem Communist aggression in Korea.

He said the Korean measures will be dealt with at this session, rather than having them wait until a fall sitting which had been planned earlier.

Fishermen Hope For Salmon In St. Lawrence Waters

TORONTO (CP). — To many sportsmen lucky enough to have fished Quebec's Saguenay or Newfoundland's Humber rivers the thrill of catching an Atlantic salmon remains a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

Until about 70 years ago, these great game fish swarmed up the St. Lawrence past Montreal to spawn in the rivers which feed Lake Ontario. Then, suddenly, the salmon disappeared and came no farther west than Montreal.

For years their disappearance was attributed by laymen to pollution in Lake Ontario. But biologists were not inclined to accept this as the only reason. They wrestled with the problem, finally concluded that four factors caused the disappearance.

Perhaps the main reason was that water and weather conditions in the late 1870's caused a general decline in the number of salmon throughout all lakes and streams in western North America. In addition, silting of streams resulting from deforestation, building of dams which prevented salmon reaching their natural spawning grounds, and increased pollution were possible factors in the case of the vanishing Atlantic salmon.

Wins Acceptance

Finally about 1938, this biological view won acceptance in the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. Atlantic salmon fingerlings were obtained from the Maritimes and placed in Ontario lakes. In the last three years, more than 120,000 more fingerlings (fish as long as your index finger) were placed in Duffin's Creek in Ontario County.

As yet, it's too early to say how successful the restocking has been. But a recent announcement that the Ontario Government is doing everything possible to make it a success has aroused lively interest among all lovers of sport fishing. For the Atlantic salmon, in the opinion of many, is the finest game fish of them all.

The Toronto Telegram's Pete McGillen has this to say about them in a recent column: "We who live inland can brag about power, the speed and the fighting qualities of the muskie, the lively black bass, and the lovely speckled or brown trout. But any angler who has braced himself on the rocky bottom of the Humber or Saguenay and strove with might and main to subdue a 12 or 17-pound salmon, will laugh in your face if you compare the salmon to any of these.

"Wouldn't it be wonderful, if just once, every Ontario angler could pit his strength, his skill, his cunning and his tackle against a husky, twisting, tackle-smashing Atlantic salmon."

Hamilton Men Lose $85,000

HAMILTON, Aug. 24—(CP)—Nearly 1,000 striking civic workers have lost pay amounting to between $85,000 and $87,000 in the two weeks of their strike, Robert J. Menary, city commissioner of finance, estimated today.

Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson said strikers will not be entitled to relief.

The mayor said that a case of the family of a striker convicted of spreading garbage in Dundurn Park was an exceptional one. The man's wife had bee ill, and there were three children in the family.

It was said that the city would look after the family's welfare, if the union did not.

Two Canoeists Go 2,000 Miles

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 24—(CP). — John Beard, 67-year-old retired Presbyterian minister from Portland, Ore., and Joe Kirkwood, 17, of Hood River, Ore., passed through here Wednesday on a 2,000-mile canoe trip over a route used by fur traders 125 years ago.

After leaving here, they planned to travel down the Mattawa River to the Ottawa River, then down the Ottawa to the St. Lawrence and eastward to Riviere Du Loup, Que.

Their trip started early in June on the upper reaches of the Athabaska River in Alberta. The travellers expect to reach Riviere Du Loup in October.

They paddled across Lake Winnipeg and Lake of the Woods, but decided against trying to brave Lake Superior. They crossed the Great Lake from Fort William to Sault Ste. Marie by steamship.

Drawbridge Trouble At Lord's 'Castle'

LONDON (CP).—Latest story about British aristocracy comes from Lord Brabazon of Tara.

He was conducting a party of Indian business men round a factory when one of his guests, impressed by Lord Brabazon's bearing said:

"Oh, my Lord, it is extremely kind of you to take such trouble with us. I suppose if you were not here you would be in your beautiful castle."

Lord Brabazon, who lives in a villa at Sandwich, replied gaily: "Well as a matter of fact I shouldn't you know—we're having a lot of trouble with the drawbridge at the moment."

Southwest Africa Will Control Future Of Premier Malan's Party

WINKHOEK, South - West Africa — (CP) — Southwest Africa, the former German colony on the continent's Atlantic coast, is shaping up as the tail that may wag the political dog.

For the first time the territory is electing members to the parliament of the Union of South Africa. The six representatives to be chosen by Southwest Africa's 25,000 voters on Aug. 30 may raise Prime Minister Daniel Malan's slender majority of six over Field Marshal Smuts' United Party to a comparatively safe 12.

Or it could reduce it to the point where it would be impossible for him to govern.

Can't Predict Vote

With no exact precedent, predictions are difficult. Most observers agree, however, that the 2,000 Germans in this former German colony are likely to decide the issue. They hold the balance of power. Again, it is impossible to predict how they will vote.

The Germans are now outnumbered four to one by the Afrikaans-speaking population. The language of the territory is predominantly Afrikaans.

The 800,000 Africans who inhabit the territory have no vote.

The native affairs administration is on the lines of that of the Union, except in the northern areas of the Kaokoveld, Ovamboland and the Okovango, where a system of indirect rule is in operation similar to that obtaining in Bechuanaland and other British protectorates in Southern Africa.

Senators Appointed

Al lsix of the new Southwest Africa members of the Union House of Assembly will be elected. Two senators will be appointed by the Union government to represent the interests of the non-white population, who do not enjoy the franchise. Two other senators will be elected by an electoral college comprising the six members of the Union parliament and the 18 members elected to the Southwest Africa legislative assembly.

The elections for the Southwest Africa legislative assembly are not of purely local interest. Their results are as vital to the Union as are the results of the election of members to the Union House of Assembly, because their results will determine whether the United (Smuts) Party or the Nationalist (Malan) Party will elect one or both of the elected senators, and it is in the senate where the Malan government's need for strengthening is the greatest.

Rich Asset

Southwest Africa's 318,000 square miles support a white population of about 25,000.

In the south, which is practically desert and where it takes anything up to six acres to maintain a sheep, farms vary in size from 30,000 to 50,000 acres.

This arid country, however, is one of the territory's richest assets. It is the home of karakul farming, which provides the country's most important export. The territory exported £3,150,000 ($9,765,000) worth of these skins in 1947, the last year for which figures are available.

Synopsis:

Sunny, warm weather is forecast for most of Ontario today. However, a disturbance over South Dakota moving eastward will bring cloudiness and rain to the northern half of the province during the night and some cloudiness to southern regions Friday afternoon. Another weak disturbance over Arkansas threatens to bring rain to Southwestern Ontario Friday evening.

Forecasts:

Lake Ontario, Niagara and Southern Haliburton regions, Toronto and Hamilton cities:

Clear, becoming cloudy Friday afternoon. Continuing warm. Winds light today, southwest 20 Friday. Low tonight and high Friday at Toronto, Trenton, Hamilton and St. Catharines 60 and 85.

Summary for Friday—Sunny, then cloudy.

Strike Means Big Loss To Government

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP).—Revenue Minister McCann, Canada's multi-million dollar tax collector, said Wednesday the government is going to lose money—and lots of it—as a result of the current rail strike disaster.

How much the government will lose would be just a guess, the minister said, but it may reach into the millions.

"There is bound to be a loss in government revenue, a very appreciable loss," said the Irish Ontario medical doctor, in charge of government revenues for the last five years.

The loss started he said, when the rail wheels stopped turning and imports from across the United States began dropping early Monday. The loss will grow as the strike is prolonged, he said.

Revenues Impaired

National revenues will be impaired not only because of a decline in collections of customs duties but also from personal and corporation income tax from Canadians.

A plant that shuts down and lets its employees go cannot be expected to provide the government with as much revenue as when it is operating in full swing, the minister said.

The seriousness of this loss deepens with the thought that the government now requires greater amounts of cash to build a bigger defence force and meet commitments to provide North Atlantic nations with arms.

Industrial Stocks Declining Steadily

TORONTO, Aug. 24 (CP) — Industrial stocks declined, steadily as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Opening trends pointed upwards but selling pressure appeared quickly and market leaders dropped as the country-wide rail strike began to show its effects on industry. Volume for the first three hours was 586,000 shares.

Most losses were held to fractions in industrials but a wide list of market leaders were among the losers.

International Paper showed a drop of 13½ at 50½ as the stock sold ex-cash and stock. A 25 per cent stock dividend and 75 cents cash were recently declared on the common.

Golds found moderate support as activity increased. Seniors brightened and a handful of junior producers added pennies. Newlund slumped sharply at the opening but recovered partially as the session continued.

Base metals, yesterday's leading gainers, weakened slightly from early advances. Western oils also sagged from morning firmness.

Immigrant Stabbed Over Smokes

TORONTO, Aug. 24.—(CP).—A 39-year-old immigrant was stabbed early today in what police believe was an argument with a blonde over a package of cigarettes.

Steve Velev was brought to hospital bleeding from a wound in the lower left abdomen. Police investigation was hampered by Velev's inability to speak English.

They said they believe the stabbing took place in a restaurant in the central Jarvis Street area. But an all-night investigation in the neighborhood failed to uncover any further information.

Hospital authorities described Velev's condition as "quite satisfactory."

Legacy Hitch Leaves Pub Pals Thirsty

LONDON (CP)—Hundreds of thirsty patrons piled into "The Eagle," a quaint little tavern in the working-class district of Battersea. They had gathered to honor the memory of a teetotal pal who had left instructions for the house to "set 'em up" on the anniversary of his death.

But the party had to be postponed when broad-shouldered George Saines, proprietor of the pub, announced there would be no free beer. Somebody had forgotten to put the cash on the line.

It all started six months ago when the will of Edgar J. Gorringe, was probated. Although a non-drinker he had become a regular visitor to the tavern. He died suddenly last year.

To Supply Drinks

Among several bequests he left $75 "to the landlord of 'The Eagle' to supply drinks for all my old pals on the first anniversary of my death."

Proprietor Saines confessed his regrets that arrangemens for a couple of rounds of free "wallop" had fallen hrough.

"Since the terms of the will were announced I haven't heard a thing nor have I received the money," he said. "Until I get it, there'll be no free beer."

Just as the would-be celebrants were dispersing, a man purporting to be representative of a firm of solicitors rushed in to tell the landlord he had permission to spend up to $30 in behalf of their late client.

But shrewd George Saines suspected a bit of trickery. "That's not good enough for me," he said "It's money on the line or no beer."

Increase Interest In Aiding Veterans Settled On Farm

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 24—Using the 113-acre Sidney township farm of veteran Russell Hennessy to provide facts and figures, Veterans' Land Act settlement officers of the Kingston region were this week given on-the-job training in planning farm operations Directing the program was H. R. Hare, Ottawa, widely-known farm economist now VLA superintendent of farm development for Canada.

The VLA Kingston region includes the counties of Leeds, Frontenac, Lennox and Addington, Prince Edward, Hastings, Northumberland, Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton. Approximately 700 veterans are settled on farms in that area.

Attending the practical training demonstration as students were regional supervisor A. R. Macnab, Peter Fairburn, regional counsellor, and the ten settlement officers serving the veterans settled in the region.

Assisting Mr. Hare were W. B. George, soil specialist, Kemptville Agricultural School, A. O. Dalrymple, Stirling, agricultural representative, and his assistant, Frank Stone.

Launched Last Winter

Balanced farming is the name given the farm part of the broad VLA development program, called Operation Good Earth, which was launched last winter and includes, as well as the farmer-veterans, the small holders and commercial fishermen.

Asked why the VLA administration was introducing an agricultural development program, Mr. Hare pointed out that about 50,000 veterans, with their families, are now settled on the land involving a public investment of around one-third of a billion dollars, most of which must be returned to the treasury during the next 25 years.

"We believe that time spent in helping these veterans achieve success will safeguard that public investment, and return the funds loaned more easily, than the same time spent enforcing a hard-hearted, pay-up-or-else policy."

When they have been trained the settlement officers are expected to spread the gospel of balanced farming to their farmer-veterans, helping them to develop completely planned programs and assisting them to solve the problems that arise in putting those plans into effect.

"Our settlement officers might be described as the link between the agricultural specialists, who have very little time for individual service, and the dirt-farmers," he said.

Settlement officers present included besides Mr. Latour and Mr. Stevens, R. H. Wilson, Campbellford, G. E. R. Milne, Smiths Falls, J. A. Wickett, Lindsay, C. A. Hoard, Hoard's Station, H. M. Reid, Picton, L. Crossman, Napanee, A. R. Wilson, Peterborough, V. R. Johnston, Kingston, and H. U. Western and R. Gomme, VLA district office, Toronto.

Guerrillas Active Nationalists Report

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 24—(AP) — A Chinese Nationalist spokesman today said guerrillas are active in all of China's 35 Communist-ruled provinces.

He said previous estimates of 1,000,000 Nationalist guerrillas on the mainlanid would have to be revised upward.

The guerrillas are most active in south and southwest china, the areas most recently taken over by the Communists and traditionally the most rebellious, he said.

Don't Be Hasty In Wrecking Old Hospital

Monday night the property committee of the City Council decided to recommend to the whole Council that the old Civic Hospital building (Nicholls Hospital) be put in the hands of wreckers, if no adequate bid is received for the property as it now stands. The Council should ponder well this recommendation before it acts on it.

• • •

The building will soon be vacant; most of its staff and patients are already installed in the new Civic Hospital. The land and buildings were advertised for sale in this newspaper, and in Toronto and Montreal. There has been no response to these advertisements. But that does not mean that there will never be a bid for it, or that the building will remain perpetually useless, if it is allowed to stand. Admittedly the site is of considerable value, and would itself be marketable if the buildings were razed. But the property alone would not be worth the $200,000 which authorities estimated they might realize from the sale of the buildings.

• • •

Of greater than the immediate financial consideration is this fact: a building torn down is down for good. Here a building of a hundred rooms is eyed for destruction. (Presumably the fairly modern nurses' residence of two storeys and more than 25 rooms is not yet under consideration as a wreckers' project. The Isolation Hospital with its 25 rooms also seems at the moment likely to be left standing.) The hospital building itself is a hodge-podge of new and creaking old. It is now a rather expensive plant to maintain. But the structure is sound, it has been kept in good repair, and it can be a useful building though the proper, profitable use may not have been realized yet.

• • •

There are Peterborough precedents which should caution the Council to reason before they raze. The old Auburn Mill was torn down. Within a year good use could have been made of it. If it were standing today, it would be a most valuable industrial building. The old Opera House was torn down, after a decade of disuse. But not five years after it disappeared the need for an auditorium of its capacity was sorely realized. To build one now requires more money than the authorities could find to include it in the new City Hall plans. The small, useful concert hall of the old Conservatory of Music went the same way as the Opera House. A happier precedent is the old South Central School. In the early 20's this condemned building was replaced by the new Prince of Wales School. The Board of Education was on the verge of ordering the empty building's destruction and the disposal of the site. But caution prevailed. Within five years it was necessary, as a commercial school annex and an extension to the shops of the PCVS. Today every room in the building is in use. Without it, the Board would have had to build other headquarters and shops.

• • •

Even if 1950 may not be able to find a buyer or use for the old hospital building, 1951 may. Let the Council beware of what it destroys.

Laugh Alone

We have a fellow-feeling for the writer of this letter to the editor of the Victoria Colonist:

Sir—Here's one for the book. I recently visited a local movie theatre to see a Bob Hope picture. It was really funny, and I was enjoying it immensely and having a few real laughs, when from out of the gloom, an usher approached me and politely asked me not to laugh so loud. No wonder it is said that people come to Victoria to die.

M. W. MANN.

Victoria, B.C.

It is said that "Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone". We question both parts of this proposition. In a nursery or infants' dormitory of a hospital, when one baby giggles and gurgles, it does not set the whole roomful into spasms of baby laughter. When one infant begins to howl, does it not have them all in a turmoil of screams and tears in five seconds?

But our fellow-feeling is for Mr. Mann, not for the babies in the nursery. Mr. Mann laughed, and was reproved. We ourself have had our fancy tickled by humour or slap-stick in a movie or play, and given vent to a laugh, a modest laugh, mind you. It could be heard all over the house of course, but a muzzled laugh is good to man or beast. So we have indulged the unmuzzled laugh, only to stiffen as the disapproving stares of mum-skulls in the audience came right through the blacked-out house and hit us on the exposed uvula. It has been enough to make us curl up and hide under the seat, and to curdle the rest of the play on our palate. And when the house lights have gone up, there are all the silent people pointing with their eyes and saying: "There he is. There's the man who laughed". But we continue to laugh, even if we have to laugh alone and bear the brunt of silence.

If a good guffaw does not hurt the utterer, it should be encouraged. At a play even if the lungs begin to crow like chanticleer, let them. Laughter is the healthful catharsis the stage provides. People who are accustomed to wheel-squeals, radio blats, bomb blasts and other noises of this civilization should not turn up their noses at the best and oldest civilized sound of all: a good hearty laugh. May we remind the people who stare at our guffaw that all animals can stare, but only man can laugh.

Seven Pound Chicken At The Door

An old shyster trick is being perpetrated on housewives who buy eggs, chickens and the like at the door. The pedlar (it must have been the producer, for they alone are allowed to peddle their own produce along Peterborough streets; other pedlars must have a licence) came to the door. "Want a nice tasty spring chicken? The last I've got. Seven and a quarter pounds at 45 cents the pound. I'll give it to you for $3.25". The housewife did want a chicken, but thought the bird looked small for 7¼ pounds. She took it to the kitchen and weighed it on a hand scales. It weigned five pounds exactly. The pedlar when confronted with this evidence assured the housewife that he himself had weighed it; it was exactly 7¼ pounds. Her scales must be wrong. The housewife persisted; she weighed it on the bathroom scales which had been checked the week before. Again exactly five pounds.

She told the pedlar that she would buy the bird for $2.25—the exact price for five pounds at 45 cents. He refused to do business, and bustled off with his bird in some alarm. "There is a customer down the street who wants one," he said. And perhaps he did nick that person for exactly a dollar more than the hen's weight was worth. If the housewife had set the police on the man he would have got into hot water, perhaps. But he had been canny enough not to have a weight tag and his name attached to the bird. It would have been her word against his.

This sort of trick—as old as pedlars' trade—is the exception rather than the rule in Peterborough. But if a housewife insists on buying at the door instead of at a store where produce is graded and weights inspected, she should be sure that the best and biggest apples on top of the basket are not a false front for inferior stuff underneath, and that fowl are tagged with their weight, the vendor's name is on the tag, and that the bird does in fact weigh what is claimed for it.

In the long run it would seem that buying at the door from an unknown vendor is risky business, liable to be costly.

The Exhibition Is On

We have not yet had time to survey this year's Peterborough Exhibition sufficiently to say whether it is the best yet, better than average, or just a good show. But we have seen and heard enough to know that there are many first-rate exhibits, some grand animals, hay, flowers and pies on display, and that interest in the Exhibition (it is too early this year to call it a Fall Fair) is keen. The sun gave it a great send-off yesterday, the midway got here before the rails were barred to it, the buildings are fresh and clean, facilities for visitors are better than ever before, and it looks as if a large week is in store for "The Ex" and Peterborough.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The questiton has come up again as to whether or not crows should be exterminated. But that raucous noise you hear (drowning out the racket made by Love laughing at locksmiths) is the sound of crows laughing at exterminators.

A survey made by the University of Michigan shows that only half the people in the U.S.A. ever read books. And when you reflect that of the remainder more than half never read a book unless they have borrowed it, you can understand why so many authors have frayed cuffs.

The Sign On Front Door

By YVONNE TABBUSH
(UNESCO Staff Writer)

THE most coveted possession in the Brazilian town of Cachoeiro do Itapemirim is a simple cardboard sign tacked on a front door. It reads "Nesta casa nao ha analfabetos" ("In this house there are no illiterates"). What it means is that every man, woman and child in that house has learned to read and write.

That card board sign is just one of the weapons which Dona Zilma Coelho Pinto uses in an energetic campaign to educate the people of Cachoeiro. Her ambition is to pin it on to every front door in the town and ultimately to stimulate similar action in every town in Brazil.

HERS is not the biggest town in the State of Espirito Santo, but already Dona Zilma's efforts have made it one of the best known. While a literacy campaign is being conducted all over the country, Cachoeiro presents perhaps the most spectacular example of achievement—and of individual accomplishment. For it has been due chiefly to this one woman's enterprise that 32 literacy classes are now running for grown-ups and for children. It is she who finances them by collecting contributions and she who finds and pays the teachers.

Dona Zilma has been called many things: "A Louca de Itapemirim" ("The Mad Woman of Itapemirim"), and the town's No. 1 Beggar. The harsh names come from some of those whom she approaches for financial help, but she finds adequate compensation in the happiness and gratitude of the hundreds of students of all ages whom she has helped to find the chance for a new life.

ON horseback and on foot, she makes the round of homes and offices, collecting 5 cruzeiros here, 10 there, to finance her classes. In 1949 she managed 32 full subscriptions. That meant 32 classes, each bearing the name of the donor whose contribution paid the teachers' modest fees. As for premises, rooms are found in factories and schools for night classes, and even in private homes.

But Dona Zilma is not content merely to teach the townspeople how to read and write. She strives also to better their conditions, for she knows only too well that learning is no match for hunger and sickness. That is why, when a student is repeatedly absent from class, a teacher is sent to visit her home. If she finds that the cause is simply laziness or lack of interest, she administers advice and a little "pep" talk. If it is sickness, she advises the Organization's Health Centre.

HYGIENE is taught by the State Health Department. Local doctors and laboratories co-operate by providing each student with a free yearly X-ray examination, vaccination and free medicine, while dentists attend to their teeth.

Material aid to the poor depends on the amount Dona Zilma is able to collect—not only in cash, but in garments, food and a variety of immediately useful things. A toothbrush, a tin of condensed milk, a broom to keep the floor clean, and odd scraps of cloth, all are welcome. And for those who learn to read and write, there are prizes: old magazines for the men and dressmaking lessons for the women.

A new life is taking shape for the people of Cachoeiro. To the grown-ups who have known what it is to be ignorant and ill-cared for, it is more exciting than it is for their children, who sit in the same school benches and take their opportunities for learning much for granted. But all over the vast continent of Brazil the excitement is spreading. The hunger for knowledge, aroused by the national literacy campaign, is being fed.

THIS campaign, launched in 1947, has already done a great deal towards decreasing the illiteracy rate in Brazil which, according to the 1940 census, reached over 55 per cent. But actually it is not so much concerned with the figures of those who read and write as with the state of fundamental education as a whole in Brazil, and with the insufficient school attendance. Eighteen months is the average school life of Brazilian children.

Professor M. B. Lourenco Filho, Director-General of the National Education Department and Director of the literacy campaign made it clear at the beginning that the government was embarking, not merely on a literacy drive, but on a campaign for adult education. The object to be kept in view was to raise the living standards and cultural levels of a large section of the population by disseminating knowledge and popularizing techniques which would help them make the most of their environment and their capacities. Reading and writing were just a means to that end.

HE also outlined the twofold nature of the plan: direct action by the authorities, and work in co-operation with private bodies and individuals. It is under the second heading that people of goodwill such as Dona Zilma prove so valuable. To teach adults the value of education is inevitably of benefit to their children as well. Professor Lourenco Filho said: "If the campaign produces nothing more than this increased interest in taking advantage of the existing elementary school system it will be worth the effort and money spent on it".

Three years of the literacy campaign have cost the Brazilian Government about 100 million cruzeiros, or the equivalent of $5,000,000. In that time, over a million people have been taught to read and write, 2,000,000 adolescents and adults have enrolled for night classes and there has been a marked improvement in normal school attendance. Education, once considered in Brazil to be the prerogative of the privileged classes, has become accessible to all. And what is more, teaching is not confined to professionals. Individual volunteers are constantly being sought to teach one or more illiterates in their own homes. They are supplied with the necessary material by the national and regional services (more than 200,000 copies have already been sent out in this way) and during the three years of the campaign, more than half a million letters and circulars have been posted to induce people to volunteer.

An important milestone in Brazil's campaign against illiteracy was the seminar organized at Quitandinha near Rio de Janeiro in August 1949 by UNESCO. Brazilian educators were brought into contact with colleagues from the other South American countries, from England, France and Egypt. They discussed old methods and learned new ones, and thanks to this experience, the campaign has made even greater strides in conquering ignorance and the misery which accompanies it like an evil twin.

Investment In Youth

(MONTREAL STAR)

THERE have been a lot of youngsters in blazers on show this summer and fine attractive chaps they were. They included air cadets from the United States, air and naval cadets from the United Kingdom and Mr. Garfield Weston's party of British schoolboys. There also have been slightly older groups from France, Italy, Netherlands and Norway, who are in attendance at Canadian university air training courses. No country could have nicer guests and no guests will repay their hosts in fuller measure. "The thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts" sang the poet. Youthful memories of Canada will endure to invest as capital in man's estate.

Many have dreamed of schools on wheels or on wings, in order that education might become a world-wide adventure, an odyssey unmarred by parochial impediments. If the day ever comes when schoolboys freely range the earth, with lands and peoples everywhere as their classbooks, the black shadow will have lifted from mankind; from an aspiration world-brotherhood will have become a reality. Until then Canada—and other fortunate nations—must make-do with such visitors as we have seen this summer. We hope that they have liked us as much as we have liked them. We hope that they will remember Canada as they have seen it, and not as words set on a page or as outlines upon a map.

There is a superb British film yet to reach Canada which records in moving terms the life and death of two friends, an American and an Englishman in a tank regiment. The theme is embodied in the title, "They Were Not Divided." That phrase might stand as an ideal for world youth, bound together in hopes and dreams, indivisibly the architects of the future.

Britons' Hostel At Caen

(UNESCO)

An appeal for funds to build an international student hostel at Caen University, in France, has been launched in Great Britain. A letter to the London Times, signed by several leading British personalities, called for £1,000 ($2,800) towards the construction of the building. In a leading article, the Times pointed out that Great Britain is linked by many ancient ties to the city of Caen. The first university of Caen was opened by a British king, and its first rector was an Englishman.

A Poser

A medical statistician says that, on the average, the more intelligence a person has, the longer he lives. How does this square with the fact that women, upon the whole, outlive men?

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation; that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth! (Isa. 52: 7.)

And it came to pass in those days, that he went out into a mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God. And when it was day, he called unto him his disciples: and of them he chose twelve, whom also he named apostles....

And he came down with them, and stood in the plain, and the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Judaea and Jerusalem, and from the sea coast of Tyre and Sidon, which came to hear him, and to be healed of their diseases.... And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poor: for your's is the kingdom of God. (Luke 6: 12, 13, 17, 20.)

After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

Give us this day our daily bread.

And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power and the glory, for ever. Amen. (Matt. 6: 9-13.)

Unconsidered Trifles

"Hello, Bill. How's your eye getting on?"

"Oh, not so bad, Fred: it's mending slowly. Me and the missus have made it up, now."

"That's good!"

"Yes, she only threw the tablecloth at me this morning."

✧ ✧ ✧

"Here you are, ladies and gentlemen," shouted the tipster. "What did I tell you yesterday?"

Nobody answered the question, and the tipster resumed his shouting. "Didn't I say Broad Beam wasn't a runner?" he yelled. "And didn't I say Water Tap would still be running, and that Dusty Carpet would take a lot of beating?"

Still there was no answer. But the tipster was not dismayed. "Now," he cried, "I've a certainty for the next race. Back Loose Button; it's sure to come off."

✧ ✧ ✧

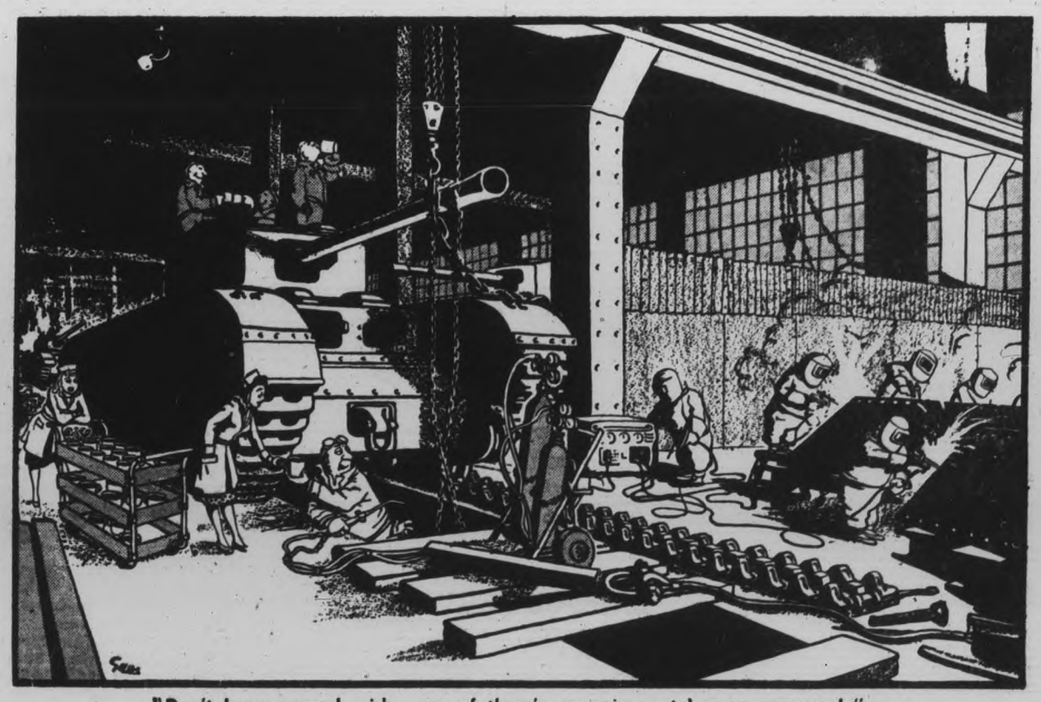
"You're a fraud, you are," yelled the irate, old man as he stamped into the doctor's office and pounded his cane on the floor.

"Why, what do you mean?" asked the stunned medico.

The old man was still fuming. "In 1904 I caught cold and came to you for treatment, and you charged me three dollars," he wheezed.

"So I cured you, didn't I?" replied the doctor.

"Cured me? Cured me?" echoed the old man. "Just look at me. I'm sneezing again."



"Don't hang around, girls—one of them's my missus, taken up war-work."

Arn Dugan Bags 17 Points As Petes Wallop Torontos

By DON GRANT.

Blond Arnold Dugan is believed to have set a new OLA scoring record for a one-night stand Wednesday in Oshawa as the Petes humbled the Toronto Riverdales 30-12. Dugan whipped home no less than 10 goals and assisted in seven others for 17 points as the Petes ran wild in the fourth quarter, scoring whenever they pleased.

With the 17 points the shifty winger jumped ahead of Brampton's Archie Browning for the OLA scoring championship for 1950. The Peterborough boy, a home product graduating from the minor ranks, has two more games to assure himself of the crown. If he wins it, it will be the first time the honor has been brought to Peterborough.

All Helped

Dugan was not the only player drifting in his share of points. His linemates, Em Creighton, Jerry Fitzgerald, Bobbie Thorpe and Don Ashbee picked up points in the scoring exhibition before 150 paid admissions.

Thorpe combined mostly with Dugan to earn five assists while scoring four goals for nine points. Jerry Fitzgerald, four goals and two assists, Don Ashbee, three goals and three assists, each had six points and centre Em Creighton had two goals and three assists.

(Unofficial sources say Dugan only tied the night's scoring record. Two or three years ago, when with Etobicoke, Gord Gair had 14 goals and three assists.)

How the same Riverdale team ever downed the league-leading Crescents baffled the fourth-place Petes. Red Creighton's boxla boys ran the Torontos ragged in the first quarter but when the payoff came, they failed to cash in. Goal posts had the habit of jumping in the way. Despite this they were up 6-2 at the quarter.

A Brief Flash

Riverdales began to show some form of a senior "A" squad when they backed the locals into the corner of the Oshawa arena. They banged in two quick goals to start and ended the session with another quick pair to lead the Petes on the quarter scoring 4-3, making the half score read Petes 9, Toronto 6.

For a brief second in the third the Riverdales continued their surprising fast brand of lacrosse but after that faded faster than they started. The Petes' machine began to steamroller the Oshawa hardwood floor and the Riverdales ending the quarter up 16-9.

Then the Petes' atomic bomb was dropped. Its results were disastrous for the Torontos. Paced by Dugan, the whole team began to surge down the floor as if the Toronto players were standing still. In 10 minutes, starting at 4:04 and ending at 14:48, the locals whiffed 14 rubber balls past Toronto goalie Haywood. On 90 per cent of them he had no chance as his team just wasn't there.

Before the scoring spree began, the game had only two colorful or hot moments. In the second Jerry Fitzgerald carved Raymond's face to earn five minutes in the sinbin for drawing blood. The Toronto player angered Fitzgerald when he elbowed him in the face.

Two six-foot-four-inch boys tried wrestling to enliven the show in the fourth. Kapasky and Jim Kinna blew off at each other and met in space with arms and legs tangling. Referees Piper Bain and Chuck Davidson of Toronto cooled the boys with majors.

Don Crowe, former Peterborough and Hamilton lacrosser, joined the Petes' defence. Besides bumping the Torontos around he helped with three goals. Barney Dundas also returned to score three.

Lineups:

Peterborough: Goal, Speck; defence, Wright, Crowe; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan, Ashbee; rover, Thorpe; alt., Magee, J. Breakspeare, B. Breakspeare, Dundas, Kinna, Fitzgerald.

Toronto: Goal, Hayward; defence, Facto, Barber; centre, Campbell; forwards, Howse, Hill; rover, Kapasky; alt., Needham, Edge, Raymond, Thomas, Booth.

COPELAND RUSH BLOCKED.—Royal Copeland, Calgary Stampeders' most powerful football import this season, made a sensational debut when the Stamps downed the Dominion champion Montreal Alouettes 19-7 in an exhibition game in Calgary. Copeland, former star with Toronto Argonauts, is being brought down by Johnny Harper (67) and Herb Trawick of Alouettes after a smash through the middle of the Montreal line.

Ashby-Woollens Winners In Lasses Loop

Ashby's edged Marines 5-3 and Woollens nosed out CGE 9-8 in two fine Girls' Softball League round-robin playoffs last night at the Bowl. Marines' errors hurt in a snappy, keen-tilt lasting just 55 minutes, while Ashby's hustled hard and hit in the pinches. Woollens turned in a smart effort and made hits count while CGE had more hits but didn't bunch them. They were minus a few regulars, too.

M. Stewart of Ashby's pitched seven-hit ball and fanned four as E. Whittaker gave up but 10 bingles and whiffed six. L. Rowan, E. Mantle, D. Callan and M. Freeman were best defensively. E. McFadden, M. Freeman and D. Callan each collected two safeties for the victors, as C. Rowan of Marines hit a homer and single, S. Wakeford two singles, and E. Mantle a home run. Teams:

Marines: S. Wakeford, c; V. Page, b; M. Behan, ss; L. Rowan, 1b; E. Mantle, 2b; M. Hill, cf; C. Rowan, rf; M. Cheel, lf; M. Walling, lf; E. Whittaker, p.

Tight One, Too

The other scrap was tight also, with Woollens scoring two in the ninth to gain the win. CGE reached S. Harris for more hits than J. Hart gave up but didn't put them together in the right spots for the decision. J. Hart, M. Hodson, J. McIlwain and R. McInroy stood out in the field this tilt. Two hits each were garnered by D. Dunk, C. Ferguson, J. Walling (one a triple) and R. McInroy, with eight of them going down on strikes. T. DeCarlo led CGE with three in five, and R. Boyce belted a homer. Four of them struck out. Teams:

CGE: M. Batley, cf; T. DeCarlo, 3b; M. Hodson, ss; R. Boyce, 1b; J. Hart, p; G. Atkins, c; I. Dafoe, 2b; M. Perrin, rf; A. Sanderson, 2b.

Southenders Win

Southenders took East City juveniles 11-5 in their ball game yesterday, scoring seven runs in a big fifth on walks, errors and a three-run homer by Young. Earlier they counted one in the first and three in the second, Young having a two-run homer this time. East City got a run each in the first two heats and three in the third. Gandy got two of their five hits, while Young got two of the winners' three bingles. Batchelor fanned four in the five-inning game and Murphy one. Teams:

South—Ginn lf, Jones 3b, Douglas ss, Jensen 1b, Bigford c, Young cf, Bryan rf, Anderson 2b, Murphy p.

East—Sullivan cf, McGrath c, Wyatt 1b, Gandy 2b, P. Ferguson ss, Wilson 3b, Rogers lf, D. Ferguson rf, Batchelor p.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Recreation Director Alex Sinclair has lined up a dandy sports centennial week program, actually an eight-day week. Joe Kirkwood does his golf magic at Peterborough Club this Saturday at two. Monday has Toronto Fuels here in a girls' game, and Tuesday has the men softballers going either in playoffs or 'gainst the King and His Court—the famous four-man team. Wednesday, big bowling tourney and Petes' ball playoff, while Thursday sees soccer under the Riverside arcs. Playoff senior lacrosse game Friday, and Saturday brings cricket, aquatic show, and other sports. The following Sunday it's special golf at Kawartha Club. These and other sports will make it a big week here.

* * * * * *

Tonight at the Bowl, weather permitting at 7.15, Mutuals meet East City in the second of their four-in-seven men's city softball finals. East City won the first 2-1, so this should be keen. Tomorrow, Mutuals meander down to Oshawa to open OASA intermediate "A" playdowns, best of three, return tilt being billed for Tuesday—though that may be switched due to the King and His Court's exhibition. Saturday has Kingston here at 8.30 p.m. to start their senior "B" series with East City in the Bowl, best of three. Return one at Kingston Aug. 30. So many playoffs on these nights we can't catch them all.

Dovers Playing Petes

Getting around to senior baseball, Toronto Dovers are here tonight at 8.45 to play the Petes a Viaduct Major League game—again if the weather's oke. Whilst New Toronto plays here at three Saturday aft and 8.30 Saturday night under the lights to wind up the schedule. The Petes have only half a game lead on the third-place New Torontos at the moment and one game lead on Toronto Aces, so it's a hectic bit of jockeying for playoff spots now. Petes would like to finish second and thus meet the fourth-place team in semi-finals next week. The team finishing third may have a tougher chore against the top-place Oshawa Merchants ere finalists are declared.

* * * * * *

Can't neglect the youngsters in playoff time, so a few words on minor lacrosse sawoff series. Toronto Maitlands go against our juniors at Miller Bowl tonight at 8.30 to begin a best-of-five OLA group final serial. Owen Sound were suspended for arriving far too late in Toronto without sending word in their deciding joust with Maitlands, so it'll be the latter and the young Petes in the junior "B" final. Our juves are nine goals down to Huntsville, whilst the midgets and bantams await playdowns. Bantams have an exhibition with Toronto St. John's here Saturday aft at 2.30. PMLA schedule goes as listed for the morrow.

* * * * * *

St. Kitts Are A-Comin'

St. Catharines' Athletics clash with the Petes at 8.45 tomorrow p.m. in Miller Bowl, last scheduled OLA senior "A" scrap of the season here. And it ought to pack 'em in as a jim-dandy joust is assured ere playoff spots are settled. The Petes were hotter than somewhat last eve in Oshawa to trounce the Torontos 30-12 for a virtual fourth-place tie with Hamilton. Arn Dugan either broke or tied the OLA scoring record with no less than 17 points, 10 goals and seven assists, to take over the sniping lead again. A great show with his buddies also blasting in a bunch. Especially Jerry Fitzgerald, Don Ashbee, Bob Thorpe and Em Creighton. Big Don Crowe returned, along with Barney Dundas, and both notched three. The club really rolled.

* * * * * *

Three girls' games last evening affecting local teams. In Toronto, Westclox dropped the opening PWSU tilt to Cunningham and Hill colleens 5-1 but feel they can even that one here Saturday aft. Haven't heard yet when the third game will be played, likely here later in the day. We expect Isobel Bullock will take the slab on Saturday and stop the visitors cold. At the Bowl last e'en, Woollens yanked out a ninth-inning 9-8 round-robin win o'er CGE whilst Ashby's turned back Marines 5-3. Two swell playoffs, and they rate bigger crowds as the end of the season looms. The Friday twin bill has Ashby's vs. Woollens at seven, followed by CGE vs. Marines.

Sure of Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 24 (AP). — The captain of the United States Davis Cup forces today predicted victory over Australia in the weekend challenge matches, but added that it will be the toughest series in 11 years. "I think we'll have the closest battle since Australia won the cup from us in 1939," said Alrick H. Man Jr., white-haired non-playing leader, "but I'm convinced we'll take it."

Toronto Takes First One Over Westclox

Cunningham and Hill of Toropto took the opening game of their playdown series over Peterborough Westclox 5-1 last night in Toronto. It was the first of a best-of-three Provincial Women's Softball Union intermediate "A" series, and the second playdown so far for Westclox, who eliminated Kingston last week. The return game of this setup will be in the local Bowl Saturday afternoon at 2:30, and probably the third one, if necessary, here later the same day. The Clockers returned home feeling they can defeat Toronto in the next two and continue after a provincial crown.

J. Trueman was in good slab form for Toronto lasses to hurl two-hit ball, fan nine and walk just one. M. Downer did well for over half the game on the Westclox hilltop, and the winners collected only a total of eight hits, as each side had three miscues. G. Kennedy, B. Downer, J. Vass and B. Morrow looked good in the field. I. Bullock got both the winners' hits in four tries while G. Wallace and E. Kennedy led the victors at bat with two in four attempts each. Teams:

Westclox: A. Anderson, cf; B. Morrow, ss; J. Vass, 3b; I. Bullock, lf; M. Haythorne, c; B. Anderson, 2b; J. Hardy, rf; J. McIntyre, 1b; M. Downer, p; M. Selkirk, p.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting — Gene Hermanski, Dodgers: his homer in the 17th inning broke a 5-5 tie and paved the way for Brooklyn's 7-5 victory over Pittsburgh.

Pitching — Ray Scarborough, White Sox: pitched a four-hitter as the White Sox blanked Philadelphia Athletics 1-0.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Yesterday, being Wednesday, was tournament day, and the Peterborough club was well represented all around the district. Down at Campbellford's mixed doubles affair, the local contingent gave a good account of themselves: Miss E. Murphy and H. R. Martin, 2nd for three wins; Mrs. C. Renaud and C. Renaud, 4th for three wins.

The ladies each received an electric coffee percolator and the gents each a sport shirt and tie.

Joe Detcher won, on a lucky draw, a Pyne's "Accurate" bowling measure.

There were five men's rinks over at Oshawa yesterday, playing in the Gold Cup tournament. We have no report.

As for the ladies who went to Port Hope to play in the trebles tournament—no report.

Tonight we can get on with schedule games.

Crescents Edge Brampton 9-7

By The Canadian Press

The league-leading Owen Sound Crescents added to their lead in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse Association with a 9-7 win over Brampton Excelsiors. Doug Gillespie's three goals led Crescents to an early lead, but the winners just managed to stave off a late drive by Brampton at the bell.

Brampton's scoring punch was packed largely by Lew Landess and Ollie Raine, each of whom scored twice.

The second-place St. Catharines Athletics dropped a tight 13-12 decision to the in-and-out Mimico Mountaineers, but remained in the second slot.

Horwood and Peterson each clicked for the hat-trick for the Mimico squad, while Oneschuk, Smith, Bird and Nelson connected twice each for St. Catharines.

Turnabout Gets Top Money In Horse Race

James McIntyre drove his Turnabout home in front twice and finished second once to take down highest money in the classified harness horse race for Peterborough entries at the Ex. last night. The event, worth $200, drew five horses and was featured by a dead heat in the second with Miss Stewart Direct and Turnabout staging a photo finish as they went under the wire nose and nose. Miss Stewart Direct, owned by the Hilltop Stock Farm, was driven by 16-year-old Hugh Stewart, Jr., son of the Exhibition's president. She took two firsts and a third.

Rosebelwin, owned and driven by Milton Post, was second once and third twice. The times generally were good, the first halves being clocked in 1.08, 1.12 and 1.13. Racing was under direction of the race committee chairman, Charles Quinlan, with Wm. McQuigge and Andy Price judges, Jack Thompson timer, Dave Fleming clerk, and Rex Hughes, of Grand Valley, the starter and announcer. Lena Direct Belwin, owned by M. Post, was driven by Orville Fallis, and Dr. A. Johnston's Edward Gratton was driven by Bev Johnston. Results:

Springfield Wins Twin Bill From Orioles

By The Associated Press

With Rochester Red Wings virtually assured of winning their first pennant since 1940, interest in the International League now centres on the scrap for the three other playoff berths.

The Wings lead the second-place Montreal Royals by 8½ games and have 18 games to play, including eight with Montreal and 10 with seventh-place Toronto and eighth-place Buffalo. The Royals also have 18 games to go. Baltimore Orioles, in third place, have 22 games to play. If the Wings win 10 of their remaining 18 games, including four over Montreal, the Royals will be eliminated. Should this occur, Baltimore would have to win all its 22 to beat the Wings out.

Baltimore is only one game back of Montreal, while Jersey City Giants and Springfield Cubs are tied for fourth place, 4½ games back of the Orioles.

The Cubs knocked the Orioles out of second place Wednesday night by sweeping a doubleheader from Baltimore, 6-4 and 5-4. The Royals took over the runner-up slot by beating Buffalo Bisons 8-1. The Giants dropped a 7-2 decision to Syracuse Chiefs, while the Red Wings outslugged Toronto 10-9.

Stranahan Only Star Left In Golf Tourney

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 24 (AP) —Frank Stranahan will be chased today by a pack of dark horses in the national amateur golf tournament. Stranahan's big moment is at hand as the meet enters two more rounds that will trim the field from 16 to four semi-finalists.

The Toledo strong boy is the only heralded star left after a series of upsets Wednesday. His goal of taking the British and U.S. amateur titles the same year —matching Lawson Little's "little slam" in the mid-30s—may be realized.

In today's fifth round, Stranahan faces Willie Barber of Woodland Hills, Calif., 34-year-old former Golden Gloves boxer. Barber is among the conglomeration of players remaining after Wednesday's two rounds ejected such well-known amateurs as defending champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City; Dick Chapman, the 1940 winner; Walker Cupper Bruce McCormick; Willie Turnesa, 1938 and 1948 titlist; Fred Wampler, National Collegiate king; and Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champion.

Stranahan dumped Mawhinney 1 up, then ousted Wampler 4 and 3.

Loses Heartbreaker

The other Canadian contender, Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., lost a 2 and 1 heartbreaker to William Shields of Albany, N. Y., Wednesday. Previously the Canadian junior champion had beaten James Lee of Florida, 7 and 6.

Hottest duel of the third round was Stranahan's torrid match with Mawhinney that was decided on the final green. With every spectator watching, Mawhinney sliced his approach shot behind a mound that guarded the right side of the green. He blasted over it weakly and then missed the short pitch. Stranahan's 30-foot bid for a birdie was only two inches short.

Yankees Whittle Tigers Rout Houtteman In 7-5 Win

By JOE REICHLER

The New York Yankees are going to be stubborn about giving up their American League championship.

They walloped the league-leading Detroit Tigers Wednesday for the second straight time—and in impressive fashion. The score was 7-5, but that tells only half the story.

In whittling the Tigers' margin to a game and a half, the Yankees routed Detroit ace Art Houtteman before he had gone five innings. This is the same young right-hander who had made them cry uncle four times this season.

The Yankees go for a sweep of the three-game series today, pitting Tommy Byrne (13-6) against Detroit's one-time ace, Hal Newhouser (10-8). Friday the Yanks take on the lowly St. Louis Browns in the first of a two-game series while the Tigers limp into Boston where they will be greeted by the red-hot Red Sox, winners of nine straight games.

Pound Browns

The Red Sox downed the Browns 9-5 Wednesday to climb within 4½ games of the top. Third-place Cleveland, rained out of its game with Washington, is three games off the pace.

Philadelphia's front - running Phillies retained their 5½-game margin in the National League by defeating Cincinnati Reds 6-4. Home runs by Del Ennis and Andy Seminick were the big boiws.

Gene Hermanski's home run, followed by Carl Furillo's triple and Gil Hodge's double, gave Brooklyn Dodgers a 17-inning 7-5 victory over Pirates under the Pittsburgh lights. Ralph Branca pitched the last nine innings, allowed one run and fanned eight to record his sixth victory. Mel Queen, fourth Pirate pitcher, was the loser. It was the longest game of the season and the longest night game in major league history. Ralph Kiner banged his 38th home run in the last of the ninth to force the game into extra innings.

2-1 Victory

Sam Jethroe doubled in two runs in the third inning to give the third-place Braves a 2-1 victory over the Cardinals in St. Louis. Warren Spahn fanned six in winning his 16th.

Homers by Monte Irvin and Bobby Thomson and a fine relief job by Monti Kennedy helped New York Giants shade the Cubs in Chicago, 5-4.

Philadelphia Athletics snapped a 10-game losing streak in splitting an American League doubleheader with Chicago White Sox. Chicago's Ray Scarborough bested hard-luck Lou Brissie 1-0 in the opener. The A's won the second game, 6-5.

Skin Eruptions

Here is a clean, stainless, penetrating antiseptic oil that brings speedy relief from the itching and discomfort.

Not only does this healing antiseptic oil promote rapid and healthy healing in open sores and wounds but boils and simple ulcers are also relieved.

In skin affections the itching of Eczema is quickly stopped. Pimples —skin eruptions dry up and scale off in a very few days. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Itching Toes and Feet and other inflammatory skin disorders.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any Tamblyn Drug Store or any modern drug store. Satisfaction or money back.

Ottawa Riders Look Smoother At Opening Of Gridiron Season

By H. DENT HODGSON

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 —(CP)— The annual subtractions and additions to staff seems to have left Ottawa's 1950 Rough Riders at least no worse off than at the opening of last year's gridiron season.

If anything, the team that finished atop the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union last November, only to get edged out in the finals against Montreal Alouettes, looks smoother, heavier and deeper in strength.

Coach Walter Masters says: "We'll finish either first, second, third or fourth."

The fans will know a little more of the Riders after they meet Montreal Alouettes in the league's opening game at Montreal Sunday.

Reasonably Complacent

But some 12,000 fans in this football-mad town went away reasonably complacent Aug. 12 after watching their boys absorb a 27-6 drubbing by New York Giants of the professional National League.

After all, the Giants rate around the top in the United States. The Riders held them several times when the Giants needed only a foot for a first down or a score.

Ottawa is carrying eight American imports and looking for a ninth, although the rules allow only seven to a team. The replacement is for Howie Turner, a star backfielder in any company, out for several weeks at least with a shoulder separation suffered at practice.

Of the others, only three are veterans on Canadian grids.

These include line coach Eddie Michaels, well know in the east because he is the only man who refuses to wear a helmet. A stocky 220 pounds, he plays inside.

Quarterback Andy Gordon, 23, shone for Riders last season and will be playing his second year in Canada. At middle, John Wagoner has earned a solid reputation over two seasons.

A pair of outside wings are new in Canada. They are Bill Stanton, 26, 210 pounds, and Paul Gibson, 28, 190 pounds, former teammates with Buffalo Bills. Another import is John Rogers, 24, at 215 pounds, former captain of Tempe University team, who plays end.

Golab to Play

One question around the Rider camp is whether or not Tony (Golden Boy) Golab is going to play. Tony got clipped while playing Alouettes last year and his leg hasn't been the same since.

In case the leg won't stand up, Ottawa has enlisted the services of a backfielder named Tom Clavin, a husky 210-pounder, 22 years old, who played with Villanova. Clavin is being groomed to match Golab's pile-driver line thrusts.

On the Canadian side, Riders are far more powerful than a year ago. They have Bruce Cummings, an Ottawa boy who starred for University of Toronto last season.

Also back to the fold is Frank Dunlap, who was with Toronto Argonauts a couple of years while studying law. Frank is an able quarterback in his own right. Lineman Buck Rogers, another Ottawa boy, is back after a year with Regina Rough Riders.

Showing well at practice are standbys Lally Lalonde, an end, Eric Chipper—whose placement record is becoming legend—and Ted McLarty, a backfielder with a dash to his performance. Other Canadians are pretty well tried and proved with the Riders.

Skinny men, women gain 5, 10, 15 lbs.

Strikeouts—Spahn, Boston, 161.

Pitching—Hiller, Chicago, 9-2 —.818.

BILL KERR, Beaconsfield, Eastern Canada Match Play champion, is pictured totalling his final round score—a 73—which gave him a second place tie with Jules Huot, Laval-sur-le-Lac, with a 54-hole total of 214, two strokes back of STAN LEONARD, Vancouver, shown on the right, who chalked up his third win in the C.P.G.A. championship at the Summerlea Golf Club with a winning aggregate of 212. Loke most of the pros who played in the C.P.G.A. tournament, Kerr and Leonard will play in the Canadian Open, which gets under way today at the Royal Montreal Golf Course in Montreal.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's Olympic champion, bettered his own world record for the 10,000-metre run Wednesday night in the European track and field championships at Brussels.

The Czech army officer lapped his field on a rain-sodden track to win in 29 minutes, 12 seconds, far under his recognized world mark of 29:21.2.

Zatopek turned in an even faster time in Finland 19 days ago when he was clocked in 29-02.6. That time is being put up for official recognition.

Aside from the record-breaking run, the first day of the meet was dominated by the Russians, making their first appearance in an international track competition since 1946.

Men and women field stars from Russia won three events. Their only losses were in the 26-mile marathon, won by Britain's Jack Holden and in one of the heats of the 800-metre run.

The Soviet relay team, although beaten out of first place in the 400-metre relay by Britain, was placed first when Belgian and British teams were disqualified because their runners changed lanes on the last changeover.

The West Indies cricket touring team bowled out Essex for 229 runs at Southend, England, Wednesday and replied with 63 runs for no wickets before stumps were drawn. West Indian Sonny Ramadhin took his 100th wicket of the tour during the day's play.

Hector (Toe) Blake will coach Valleyfield Braves of the Quebec Senior Hockey League again this year. The club announced Wednesday that the former Montreal Canadiens' star has renewed his contract.

Possibility of international golf competitions between Canada and the United States was suggested Wednesday in Minneapolis.

Joe Dey, executive secretary of the U.S. Golf Association, said the idea of international matches similar to the Britain-U.S. Walker Cup play will be discussed next year.

If you get your tickets legally, you won't be paying more than $30 for a seat at the Joe Louis-Ezzard Charles heavyweight title bout in Yankee Stadium Sept. 27.

The International Boxing Club set the $30 top price Wednesday, listing other reserved seats at prices from $5 to $20. The IBC expects to gross more than $500,000.

Youthful Mary Gay of Galt fired an 84 Wednesday to win the Kitchener Rockaway Club's second annual ladies' invitation tournament. The 18-year-old golfer, playing out of Guelph Cutten Fields Club, bested a field of 110.

Low net honors went to Mrs. H. Mars of Brantford with a 68. Silver division low gross was won by Mrs. William Plomske of Kitchener with 90, and the bronze division low gross winner was Mrs. G. Snider of Hamilton with 92.

Loucks Wins Tilt For Linday 8-0

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 24 — Hurler Doug Loucks won his own game on a triple and a home run as Lindsay Merchants blanked Bowmanville Brookdale, 8-0, in Lakeshore Baseball League Intermediate A section here tonight. He drove in six runs and limited Bowmanville to five hits.

Don Thompson was another hitting star for the winners, with four hits in four times at bat.

Canadians Sure Of Semi-Finals

By AL VICKERY.

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, WINNIPEG, Aug. 24 (CP).—It's four Canadians and four Americans today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian Women's Open Golf championships.

By the luck of the draw, Canada is assured of at least one representative in the Friday semi-finals.

Two U.S. players, Dot Kielty of Los Angeles and Edeane Anderson of Helena, Mont., were drawn against each other in the eights. So the winner of the match between Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto and Babs Davies of Vancouver will move ahead. All four are in the lower half of the draw.

In other games today, defending champion Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., is to meet Miss W. S. Edey of Winnipeg. Sixteen-year-old Merlene Stewart of Welland, Ont., is to take on Mrs. Eddie Bush of Hammond, Ind.

Considered Underdogs

As expected, Mrs. Edey and Miss Stewart are considered underdogs, but anything can happen. This was proved in the first round of the open competition when Mrs. B. Campbell of Winnipeg—defeated Wednesday by Mrs. Edey—upset the 1947-48 Canadian open champion, Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn. Miss Lenczyk had been considered as a cinch to reach at least the semi-finals.

Miss Stewart's victory over Ada MacKenzie of Toronto Wednesday also could be classed a major upset. Diminutive Marlene, playing her second year of competitive golf, hung a convincing 4 and 3 defeat on the favored Torontonian, who paced the Ontario team to the interprovincial title.

Mrs. Edey, Manitoba champion, had a late start in golf this year due to the Red river floods and poor weather. However, the experts pick her to give Miss De Moss a battle. The defending champion advanced to the quarter-finals by defeating Mary Forkin of Toronto, 4 and 3. Mrs. Edey's margin of victory over Mrs. Campbell was 2 up.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

It was 1938. Off Boston, Mass., two sleek fishing schooners charged neck-and-neck through the gust-tossed Atlantic. Canada's famous Bluenose and her arch-rival, the Gertrude L. Thebaud of Gloucester, were sailing the fifth and final heat of the International Fishermen's Trophy Race.

The older Bluenose, four-time trophy winner, took a narrow lead early in the 35½-mile course. Crowding sail, the Gloucesterman tried to close the gap. But the Bluenose stayed in front . . . to win her fifth and last trophy by 2 minutes, 30 seconds.

Close teamwork has won many firsts for Canadian sportsmen. And teamwork, with sportsmanship, helps you, too—in work and play. Together they keep your scope for opportunity in Canada . . . unlimited.

Layoffs Cause Big Problem For Insurance

OTTAWA, Aug. 23 (CP)—The rail strike and consequent layoffs has created a vast problem in the administration of Canada's unemployment insurance fund.

With those idle through the strike or consequent layoffs running into the hundreds of thousands, administrators of the $580,000,000 fund are faced with the question of who is entitled to benefits and who isn't.

Officials of the Unemployment Insurance Commission said Wednesday the problem is still being worked out, and it is not possible to generalize on all points.

But one certainty, they said, is that no benefits will be paid to members of the involved unions employed by the railways.

Payments will be made to workers in other industries laid off as a result of the strike.

Biggest puzzle of the present stage, officials said, is the question of treatment for railway employees who are not on strike, but who have been forced into idleness by the tie-up.

Include 75,000

These include around 75,000 members of the running trades—those who actually operate the trains—as well as several other categories.

How they are handled will hinge on the eventual interpretation of an Insurance Act clause that says persons drawing insurance must prove they are not participating in, financing or directly interested in a labor dispute.

The question of direct interest crops up for the laid-off employees because many of them undoubtedly would share in any wage-hour settlement gained by the union strikers.

Commission officers said each class of employees would have to be dealt with on its merits, and it was not possible now to make a sweeping statement on how they will be treated.

Marmora Wins Place In Trent Finals

MARMORA, Aug. 24 (ENS)—Although Ernie Spencer hit a triple in the third innings, Norwood failed to score in their Trent Valley semi-final game with Marmora at Deloro on Tuesday evening and Marmora goes into the finals with Campbellford by virtue of their 14-0 score. Kelly pitched three innings for Norwood to be relieved by E. Spencer.

For the winners, Darrah on the mound gave way to Mantle in the fourth. Marmora endulged in a hitting spree in the first innings with each batter except Darrah facing Kelly twice to to garner twelve runs. Despite their reverse the Norwood team played pluckily on.

Kitchener Golfer Wins His Third-Round Match

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 24 (CP)—Gerry Kesselring, of Kitchener, Ont., defeated James Lee, Tallahassee, Fla., 7 and 6 Wednesday in his third-round match of the United States amateur golf tournament.

It was the second lop-sided victory for the former Canadian junior champion. Tuesday the 21-year-old shotmaker walloped Russ Brothers, of Nashville, Tenn., 9 and 8.

Meanwhile, Vancouver's Bill Mawhinney was 2-down to Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, O., after nine holes of their third-round clash. Stranahan, the 1950 British amateur champion, shot a 33, Mawhinney 35.

Swims Channel

DOVER, England, Aug. 24 (Reuters).—Phillip Mickman, 19-year-old British schoolboy, landed in France today after swimming the channel in 25¼ hours, according to news received here. He thus became the fourth swimmer to conquer the channel in both directions, having crossed from France to England in 23 hours, 48 minutes last year.

Excuse Trivial

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 24 (AP) —Writer Charles H. Knox' claim that his landlady "gawked" at him while he sun-bathed is trivial, a court has ruled in denying him $15,315 damages. Knox, 55, had charged that Mrs. Julia Chatard, 78, waged a campaign of harassment against him in an attempt to get him to move.

Two Fliers Killed

VICTORVILLE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Aug. 24 (AP)—Two air force fliers were fatally injured Wednesday night when two B-26 bombers collided, fell to earth and exploded on the desert about 20 miles west of here. The air force said the planes were on a routine night training flight.

LAST TRIP.—Early-morning passengers leave the last Toronto-Montreal express train before it goes into the roundhouse and yards at Montreal's Windsor Station. The train finished its last scheduled run shortly after 124,000 non-operating employees went out on strike Tuesday morning, after last-minute negotiations failed between the unions and the nation's two railways.

Warns Soldiers Learn Plenty Or Be Dead Duck In Korean War

By DON WHITEHEAD

WITH THE 24TH INFANTRP DIVISION IN KOREA (AP). — Here are a few tips, soldier, on how to stay alive in this strange war in Korea.

They were learned the hard way by men like you who suddenly were called to war.

They learned a lot, these veterans, in fighting the Gooks. So read this carefully:

1. Get yourself as hard physically as you can.

Work at it, soldier, until you are ready to drop. Get your legs in shape to climb mountains. That's where you will do most of your fighting — up there in the rugged mountains.

2. Don't underestimate the enemy you are going to fight.

The Red soldier won't have clothing or equipment or weapons quite as good as yours. He's thin and scrawny looking and he can stand under your outstretched arm. But he knows how to handle his weapons. He's a good fighter. And he can climb mountains all day long. He's been doing it since he was a kid, soldier.

3. When you reach Korea, pump all the information you can get out of the veterans. Ask the old-timers what they have learned. Soak up all the things they tell you. It's your life, soldier, and in this war you must know as much as possible before facing the enemy.

Don't Go Alone

4. Don't go out into the fighting area alone.

Stay with small groups traveling on the roads or in the hills. A sniper is less likely to fire on you in a group than a single soldier. And a small group has a better chance of getting through the enemy than single soldiers.

5. Never forget this is a battle for the highest ridges — and it cannot be fought from jeeps on the road.

The man who sits on the highest ground is looking down the other man's throat. So that's where you want to be — on the high ground. It's tough to get up there — but always remember you are a sitting duck if the enemy is looking down on you.

6. When you drive the enemy out of a position — search for hidden weapons.

Keep Guard Always

7. Keep your guards out at all times even in areas five and ten miles behind the fighting line. They're playing for keeps in this one and you can't drop your guard at any time.

8. Don't let "refugees" come filtering through your lines and get behind you.

9. Don't come over here cockily expecting to kick the enemy in the teeth before Christmas.

This is going to be a hard campaign that may well last into next Spring. That means you could be fighting through snow and ice in the mountains in a country that has bitterly cold winter.

New Writing Ends Publishing History

LONDON (Reuters).—Publication difficulties now being felt by serious British literary periodicals will soon end the life of "new Writing," founded in 1936 by British author, poet and critic John Lehmann.

One more issue of "New Writing," which gave many young writers an opportunity to appear in print, is expected to appear in September and then it will fold.

For its first four years it came out twice a year as a book-magazine. In 1940 it began to appear six or seven issues a year and its circulation was stated to be as high as 100,000 at one time.

Later it became a quarterly.

Can Restrict Planes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24—(AP) —The Senate Wednesday passed legislation giving the Secretary of Commerce power to restrict plane flights—civilian or military — over areas he designates as restrictive defence zones. The bill now goes to the House of Representatives.

Baby Drowns

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 24—(AP) —Mrs. George Sommer fainted while bathing her seven-week-old son George Wednesday and the baby drowned, the coroner's office reported. The child was face down in a small tub of water when Mrs. Sommer regained consciousness.

Dog Goes To Jail

JAMESTOWN, N.Y., Aug. 24—(AP) — When police couldn't awaken the owners of a dog whose barking aroused the neighborhood at 1 a.m., they jailed the dog for the night, and returned him to his home the next morning.

Hoarders Active

HELSINKI, Finland, Aug. 24—(Reuters) — Finnish housewives, hoarding in anticipation of a threatened strike of 100,000 workers at the end of the month, have left some Helsinki shops' shelves bare of coffee, matches and other domestic staples.

'All Clear' Sounds Along White Cliffs

DOVER, England — (CP) — Five years after the war "all clear" will really sound along the White Cliffs of Dover.

Rusty barbed-wire and anti-invasion ironwork is finally being removed from cliff paths between nearby St. Magarets Bay and Dover town.

A council official said the delay was caused by the refusal of the war office to co-operate in plans for clearance.

Virgin Birth Anglican Belief Says Dr. Fisher

LONDON, Aug. 24—(AP)—The Church of England still believes that the virgin birth of Christ is "a fact of history," the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said today.

He took sharp issue with Dr. C. J. Wright, a professor in the Church's St. Augustine College, who told the conference of the Modern Churchmen's Union last week that scholars are far from confident that the Bible story of the virgin birth is correct.

The Church of England, Dr. Fisher said in a formal statement, "holds and proclaims the doctrine of the virgin birth as portrayed in the scripture and the creed to be a fact of history by means of which our Lord Jesus Christ came down from Heaven and wsa made man for our salvation."

Dr. Fisher said St. Augustine's College, now preparing prospective candidates for ordination to matriculate in universities, will next month become a central Anglican college for training priests. When it becomes a full college, he said, Dr. Wright "will have no connection" with its staff.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any drugstore.

Don't give FIRE a Chance!

Cigarettes, matches and campfires can be enemies of the forest.

MAKE SURE YOUR FIRE IS OUT

Last year forest fires destroyed a volume of timber equal to half the annual consumption of our pulp and paper industry! Nearly three million acres were destroyed by 7082 fires. One out of three of these fires was caused by careless campers and smokers. Only 19% were started by the natural cause—lightning.

Research Board Expands Work For War Needs

OTTAWA, Aug. 24.—(CP). — Overshadowed by the great drive for armed forces recruits, the most secretive branch of all Canada's defense effort is going ahead with its own expansion and its own search for more manpower as a result of the international crisis born of Korea.

It is the Defence Research Board, whose scientists are working quietly and largely in complete secrecy on such vital problems as germ and gas warfare, radar, anti-submarine warfare, the Arctic, electronics, and others. By next year its expenditures will be up substantially beyond this year's existing $25,000,000.

Officials said Wednesday the expansion will be reflected in the new defense appropriations to be presented to the special session of Parliament shortly.

Officials said the expansion of activity will, in general, be an expansion of current efforts rather than new ones. But new research will be launched. A new naval research building is being built at Halifax, two other new laboratories here: one for radio propogation studies, one for electronics investigations.

The expansion will touch the bacterial and chemical warfare station at Suffield, Alta., and the winter experimental station at Churchill, Man. The drive to learn more about such naval problems as the submarine and how to handle it, about radio and radar and navigational aids, about other vital matters, is being stepped up all along the line.

300,000 East Germans Forced To Dig For Uranium

By THOMAS A. REEDY

BERLIN, Aug. 24 (Thursday). —(AP).—British authorities said today Russia has stepped up its search for uranium in East Germany to a frantic pace, far beyond peaceful needs.

A ragged army of 300,000 German men, women and children has been drafted by the Russians and their German Communist front government to dig the ore, basis of atomic weapons, the British statement said.

A detailed description of the Soviet uranium activity in East Germany ever since it started in 1946 was issued by British control commission authorities who conclude:

The Russians have recently intensified to a scale hitherto unknown in peacetime their frantic drive in East Germany aimed at producing a maximum of uranium regardless of wastage in manpower and material.

Work 24 Hours Day

"The mines are being worked 24 hours a day.

"The only beneficiaries of this extravagant drive are the Russians. The last German economy gets nothing out of it but is even disrupted by the inexhaustible demands.

"It is scarcely to be believed that this frantic drive, the complete disregard for the needs of East German reconstruction, the mass exploitation of large numbers of East Germans, are necessary to satisfy Russia's normal industrial requirements. It can only be concluded that the Russians are in urgent need of uranium for purposes other than peaceful reconstruction."

The statement described the activities of the Soviet monopoly which runs the uranium workings in the Russian zone. It is named the Wismuth AC, with an all-Russian directorate, its own staff of 5,000 NKVD (secret police) agents, immunity before all German courts, power of life and death over the miners, authority to take over any village or property and unlimited access to East German funds.

Obey Slightest Whim

The British Commission said the Socialist Unity (Communist) Party and its satellite unions, youth brigades and other political groups, obey the slightest whim of the Russians. Out of this alliance, the statement asserted, grew what has amounted to a virtual slave labor program.

Wismuth holds the position of being a state within a state under this arrangement. As new labor is needed, the order goes out from Wismuth and the party leaders see that the labor is provided, the British analysis said. Workers are laid off their regular jobs and denied food ration cards unless they accept a job in the mines. Others are simply shanghaied. Political opponents are sentenced to the mines, along with other convicted criminals.

Males are conscripted between the ages of 17 and 50. Females from 18 to 55. Some FDJ (Freie Deutsche Jugend—or Free German Youth) Blue Shirts under 17 have been induced to volunteer. Mothers toil in the underground workings separated from their children by sometimes as much as 50 miles without visitor privileges. Only approved workers get inside barbed wire surrounding the principal shafts.

Poor Quarters

Quarters for the laborers are squalid. Pay ranges up to 1,400 east marks a month for the elite activists. An east mark is worth about four cents. The average pay, however, is less than 200 marks monthly, the usual stipend for unskilled labor.

Working conditons are foul and Russian doctors declare all miners able to continue if they are not more than 50 per cent disabled. Said the report:

"Hospitals are full of miners who have either sustained injuries or fallen ill. The main illnesses are respiratory troubles, heart and lung troubles, frost bite and ore poisoning."

Cancer of the lungs is prevalent among miners who have been exposed to the uranium fumes longer than a year.

Tight security is maintained. The mine bosses carry the secrecy of the conditions so far, the British statement said, that east Germans with relatives in the west are not being hired any more.

Mine Workers Ask 15 Cents Wage Boost

PORT HOPE, Aug. 24—Local 1313 of the United Mine Workers has set Aug. 29 as the deadline for a new agreement with the Eldorado Mining and Refining Ltd., refiners of pitchblende, used in the creation of atomic power.

The union, representing 125 employees, is asking for a 15-cent-an-hour increase across the board, a boost in night shift pay and a closed shop.

The company has offered a two-cent increase to all workers. The basic starting rate at present is 86 cents an hour.

The union has asked for a government conciliation board to hear the dispute and make recommendations.

UAW Pledges Support For Rail Unions

WINDSOR, Aug. 24 (CP). — Support for striking Canadian railroad unions was pledged Wednesday by the United Automobile Workers (CIO), the union's Canadian headquarters here announced.

The union also stated that compulsory arbitration in the rail tie-up would be a strike issue in itself.

In a message to A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and the Canadian Congress of Labor, George Burt, Canadian UAW director, said compulsory arbitration was a threat to collective bargaining principles.

"The history of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes is a history of failure," Mr. Burt's message said.

"It has always led to completely farcical negotiations."

No Drastic Methods

Mr. Burt said he was writing to every member of parliament, asking them to vote against adopting such measures to deal with the rail dispute in next week's special session of perliament. Compulsory arbitration was a shotgun cure which could become worse than the condition it was intended to cure.

"A national strike by unions as responsible as those on Canada's railroads is not something which can or should be gotten rid of by a drastic sweep of the legislative pen," he said.

He urged parliament to try to work out a settlement based on collective bargaining.

Tourist Accommodation

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Andrew Nazezon of Buffalo, N.Y., didn't find the housing shortage here so bad. He took over a house while the family were away on holiday and lived there in comfort for a week, using whatever in the house he needed. When the owners returned Nazezon landed in the brig.

Thanks Anyway

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Denis knows what he likes. When Judge C. E. Guerin asked the 26-year-old ex-convict whether he would prefer to serve his two year sentence for theft in jail or penitentiary, Denis replied: "Really, your honor, I would very much prefer not to be sent to either place. You see, I've already been there before."

Republic Of Ireland Split In Korean War Controversy

DUBLIN, Aug. 24.—(Reuters). —Controversy is raging in the Republic of Ireland over the country's stand in the Korean War—but it is confined in public largely to newspaper correspondence columns.

The Government's stand continues to be that partition of Northern Ireland and the republic must end before the republic can support the Atlantic pact, western union or the United Nations' armed action against the invading North Koreans.

Only one cabinet member, Agriculture Minister James Dillon, has spoken out in favor of the UN action—but cautiously.

He said in a recent speech that at the present time no honest man or woman could be neutral and he supported the UN action.

Returning today from a vacation, Dillon declined to elaborate on his views.

Paramount Question

In the minds of most republic citizens, Irish partition appeared still to be the paramount question. Yet the split on the Korean question was said to be the sharpest within memory of an external affairs question.

Most newspapers have opened special letter columns to handle the flood of heated mail from readers. The letters ranged from appeals for immediate military action in support of the UN to such statements as: "Britain's best enemies are our best friends."

Newspaper editorials refrain from outspoken comment on the question of Eire's attitude to the Korean War.

The most outspoken editorial statement on the western defense position came yesterday from the Irish Times of Dublin:

"It is certainly true that the smaller democracies could not hope to equip themselves without enormous help from across the Atlantic.

"That is no excuse, however, for reluctance to arm themselves, to the utmost limit of their power, in their own defense. . . . (It has been said) that Frenchmen still have a greater interest in guarding French soil than any one else has. The statement holds good of every country."

25 Men Await Transportation

Ontario farmers who volunteered to help with the Western harvest this year may never reach there if the rail strike continues. William Mellis, manager of the National Employment Service office, said today that 25 men from the Peterborough area are waiting to leave and will do so when the strike terminates.

The first group of men from this area left Friday and arrived in Winnipeg Sunday night to help with the harvest. These men, all agricultural workers, were from Havelock, Bethany, Campbellford, Ennismore, Lakefield, Garden Hill, Keene and Douro.

Meanwhile five western farmers who are in this area helping with the Ontario harvest are stranded here. Nine of the 22 farmers who came here this year have already returned home. None of these men, to Mr. Mellis' knowledge, are delayed by the rail strike. The remainder of the western farmers are somewhere in the area. These men broke the agreement to work on the Ontario harvest.

Mrs. Jane Hardwicke

Pallbearers at the funeral Wednesday of Mrs. Jane Hardwicke, 89, 489 Cross St., were Douglas Loomis, Albert Wray, Walter Garbutt, W. G. Shiner, Stanley Gillespie and Howard Frise.

The service was at the Comstock Funeral Home, the Rev. Ivan Morgan of Murray Street Baptist Church officiating. Mrs. Hardwicke died Monday.

Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Three Cases Heard In Police Court

Pleading guilty in police court today to a charge of being drunk, Max Redmond, RR 8, Peterborough, was fined $10 and costs by Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay.

John Williams, New Brunswick, pleaded guilty to a drunk charge, but said: "I've never been in trouble like this before". He was fined $10 and costs.

A charge of vagrancy against Albert Jalbert, no fixed address, was withdrawn by the crown when it was learned he was on his way to Quebec.

Jalbert, who could speak only French, told the court, with Constable Louis Rodreque interpreting, that he was on his way from Lindsay to Ottawa to cross into Quebec, when he became lost in the Warsaw area.

He was arrested in Warsaw after several people had complained he was begging in the village. City police said they would take him to the city limits and start him on the right road to Ottawa.

Police Invite Citizens Help Solve Crime

READING, England—(Reuters) —Reading police asked women to bring their husbands, fathers, brothers and boy friends to help solve the mystery of the body in the bathroom.

They were taken to a suburban bathroom in which a Reading man, Mr. John Everybody, was found lying face down in the bath. The window was slightly open, a pane of glass had been smashed and there were cuts on the dead man's back.

"Can you help us discover how this man died—whether he was murdered or whether it was an accident?" experienced detectives from the Criminal Investigation Department asked the men and women of Reading.

"What do you make of the clues you see lying about in the bathroom?"

No Arrests Made

But whatever the deductions of local sleuths, the police made no arrests.

For the "crime" was a test of the people's perception, and was one of the items in the Reading Crime Prevention Exhibition.

The show was planned to demonstrate to householders how they can help the police to keep the crime wave down.

A model house, known as the "burglar's house," was designed to show all the mistakes made by peope away on holiday when they leave their homes unguarded. One of the most common failings is to leave the blinds down—advertising the fact that the occupants are away.

Police Dragging For Body Of Boy 6

WINDSOR, Aug. 24 —(CP)— Police of suburban Riverside continued dragging today for the body of six-year-old Anthony Szejbut, missing from his home since early Wednesday.

The search was halted late Wednesday night after unsuccessful attempts to find the child, who had been playing on a river-front dock near his home. It is feared he fell into the water and was drowned.

He had been playing with his brother Stefan, seven, and his sister Kathryn, three.

WINS HUMANE AWARD—Eleanor Mederak of Hamilton holds her pet dog, Daisy, in delight after the American Veterinary Medical Association named her winner of the 1950 National Humane Act Award. The 15-year-old girl was cited by the association's convention at Miami Beach, Fla., for her "continuous, unselfish love for animals demonstrated by her repeated acts of kindness."

Best Bale Of Hay Award Goes To Leitchcroft Farm Of Gormley At The Peterborough Exhibition

The $100 bale of hay shown at the Exhibition was a product of Leitchcroft Farm, Gormley.

Second prize of $50 went to J. W. Boyd and Son, Orono; and third prize of $25 to Stewart Dawson, of Otonabee. There were also twelve other prizes of $10.

These awards were made by Prof. O. W. Kennedy, of Ontario Agricultural College.

The Leitchcroft hay appeared to be all second growth alfalfa. Prof. Kennedy commented that he preferred to see some grass with it, such as timothy or brome. The alfalfa was markedly green of leaf and stem, and had conserved most of the leaves in curing and baling.

"You don't want to eat beans all the time," said Prof. Kennedy. "You'd like something mixed with it for palatability. The same with the alfalfa for cattle."

The Boyd bale was largely red clover with some orchard grass and timothy. Stewart Dawson showed a good mixture of alfalfa, red clover, orchard grass and timothy.

The twelve winners of the $10 prizes were: Wesley Wilson, Omemee, alfalfa, timothy and orchard grass. "A little too ripe" was the comment.

Don Milburn, of Smith, was fifth with alfalfa, timothy and brome.

Tannery Hill Farm, of King, York county, showing in the Guernsey cattle class, had the sixth prize bale; mostly alfalfa, described as stemming.

Leitchcroft Farm picked up an additional ten dollars with first cut alfalfa. Don Cathcart was 8th; Lloyd Beatty 9th; W. W. Dawson 10th; James T. Brown, Orono, alfalfa and clover, 11th; J. E. Wilson, Garden Hill, 12th; J. H. Crang, Newmarket, 13th; Mrs. C. Debman, Pefferlaw, 14th; Earl Doris, Otonabee, 15th, with timothy, alfalfa and blue grass.

Ken Fallis, of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, said that of the 15 prize winners in the class of 27 exhibits, the first seven rated high quality hay; the next four were better than ordinary; and the last four "good average hay."

"I think there are good farmers in this area who could put a bale that would beat anything here," was the remark of Mr. Fallis. "We're happy to see the interest farmers are taking in hay. So they should. It has become the first crop in the province in value. This show is very satisfactory and encouraging, but there is still room for improvement, and the way many farmers are going at it I'm sure we are going to see a lot of improvement."

He pointed to a bale of second cut alfalfa, green in color and with plenty of leaves. "But, it wasn't cured enough. In that condition it wouldn't keep. When we opened it you could put your hand into the bale and feel the heat."

Centennial Year Medals To Mrs. Fraser and H. Cardwell

The three Peterborough Centennial Year silver medals, special honors in the flower show at the Exhibition, were awarded Wednesday to Herb. W. Cardwell of Wallace's Point, Mrs. G. K. Fraser and Ben Velhudis of Hamilton.

"It will be one hundred years before those medals will be struck again," Wm. C. Wilks, chairman of the flower show committee remarked to the Examiner.

The show judges were Russell Heard of Woodville and Fred Esterbrook of Hamilton.

Peterborough Horticultural Society conceived the idea of the medals commemorating the city's municipal centenary, and contributed them to the Exhibition. They will be presented by Mayor Swanston Saturday at 5 p.m. in front of the horticulture building.

Mr. Cardwell receives his medal for a splendid showing of gladioli as the most outstanding display in 29 specified classes of the show.

Mrs. Fraser earned the same distinction for the premier exhibit in the cut flower section. She won with Henry II lilies. Runner up was Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee also with a spike of lilies of the related variety Henry II Citrinum. They are of Chinese origin.

The third medal was for the outstanding commercial display, won by Mr. Velhudis of the Hamilton-Dundas area with a big display of cacti.

The Kirkwell variety of dwarf aster, a rose color originating in Kingston, was effectively used as a border in pots by Clarence H. Bacon winner of the class for displays of cut flowers. Prominent also in his arrangement was the dark rose Cosmos "Radiance," striking in size and color. Mr Bacon singled out with satisfaction two pots of ferns which he had obtained from Wm. and Patrick Burke, Park Hill Road at Elcome Crescent. Years ago, they told him, they had bought this variety from the Arthur Blade Sr. greenhouse in the northwest end of the city, and had maintained the strain at their home.

The flower show represents the aesthetic expression of many exhibitors projected through all the attention and care of growing flowers and plants in the quality that recommends competitive showing. The miniature gardens also entailed a great deal of fine work and planning.

Mrs. Clarence Bacon contributed an attractive scenic display representing the four seasons. They are three dimensional diaramas of nature's four divisions of the year, effectively staged, framed and lighted.

The awards of prizes in the flower show were as follows:

Coldwell Urges Quick Action

OTTAWA, Aug 24 (CP)—M J Coldwell, CCF leader, said Wednesday night the government should exhaust every effort to bring a temporary solution to the general railway and telegraph strike without waiting for the special session of parliament.

He said in an interview it might take two or three weeks for parliament to agree on any enactment that would bring an end to the transportation and communicaions tie-up.

Deliberations should not be carried on under the pressure of such a national crisis, he said.

His idea was that the government should get from the unions a statement of their minimum demands and from the railways their maximum concessions, and try to bridge the gap by government subsidy if necessary as a temporary measure to get the trains moving.

Aerial Acrobatics Top Show In Program Presented Before 'Ex' Grandstand

Approximately 2,000 adults and children attended the grandstand show at the opening night of the Peterborough Exhibition for an evening of thrilling entertainment. Good showmanship on the stage vied with good horsemanship on the track Wednesday night to provide the grandstanders with a full evening's entertainment. From the moment that genial master of ceremonies, Joe Murphy, well known radio star, took over the mike, the crowd was entertained with everything from thrills on the aerial wire to thrills on wheels

Master of High Wire

The highlight of the show was the Sky High Thriller Act of the Daring Eugene. This master of the high wire held both adults and children in thrilled amazement as he performed breath-taking feats more than 60 feet above the ground without a safety net. Not content only to perform the usual tricks of this type of entertainment, Eugene climaxed his act by carrying a table and chair to the centre of the wire, sitting down and calmly lighting a cigarette and refreshing himself with a soft drink.

More thrills were provided by the Nicklings, the equilibrists on horizontal bars, who also performed feats of strength and skill. The Rollerinas—Alex Beggs and Stella Rachus proved favorites with the crowd as they whirled around on roller skates in magnificent fashion despite the limited space provided on the stage.

Not as exciting, but equal in entertainment value were the musical renditions of the Three Troubadours. One girl and two men playing an accordian, violin and guitar made up this musical act which was made even more entertaining by the addition of slapstick comedy.

South American and tap dancing were performed by one of Canada's outstanding dance soloists, Zena Cheevers, in a series of costumed dance numbers. Ken Good and his band provided musical selections as well as background music for the other performers.

A fair show would not be complete without some clowning and Fifi, the clown came through in fine style to win the hearts of all the children. His comedy capers and unique attire was just what was needed to bring relaxing laughter between the more exciting parts of the show.

A sulky race of three heats, a road race, showings of carriage and road horses and ponies also played a major part in making the opening night of the exhibition such a success.

New Group Buys Coach Lines, Build Terminal

A group, mostly Peterborough people has bought the Ferguson Coach Lines and will begin to operate tonight under the new name of the Kawartha Lakes Coach Lines Ltd.

The company was bought through D. G. Cunningham, a Kingston lawyer and are being represented by Arthur Lewis.

The new company will build a modern bus terminal as soon as possible on the vacant property on King St. near the present terminal.

Arrangements have been made with the Colonial Bus Lines who will use the complete facilities of the new terminal.

Ferguson's have been operating four main routes daily. One is to Bancroft by way of Lakefield and Apsley. A second is to Bobcaygeon via Buckhorn; a third to Chemong and a fourth to McCracken's Landing by Warsaw.

As well as these trips once a day, the bus company has been operating several commuters' buses daily for workers in Lakefield, Warsaw and Chemong.

OBITUARIES

JOHN HENRY GRAVELLE

John Henry Gravelle, 71, of Bridgenorth died on Wednesday in a Peterborough hospital following a lengthy illness. He was born in Bridgenorth, son of the late Charles Gravelle and Lenore Lafavre and has lived a lifetime in that community.

He leaves his wife, the former Ida Bowen, and four daughters, Mrs. Della Poole of Toronto, Mrs. Eleanor Emery and the Misses Alberta and Cecelia Gravells, and four sons, Harry, Gilbert, Peter and Phillip, all of Bridgenorth. A sister, Mrs. Joseph Young, lives in Apsley and two brothers in Peterborough, Phillip and Peter Gravelle.

Mr. Gravelle was a member of St. Martin's Church, Ennismore.

Funeral will be held on Saturday from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral where requiem mass will be said at 9 a.m. Burial will be at St. Peter's cemetery.

DAVID GALBRAITH

David Galbraith, 87, of Apsley died on Wednesday at a Peterborough hospital following an illness of eight days. He was the son of the late George Galbraith and Elizabeth Williams, and before moving to Apsley 23 years ago, lived in Rochester, N. Y. His wife, the former Teresa Wolf, predeceased him. He leaves one daughter, Mrs. F. J. Tool of Rochester.

The body is being taken to the Farrell Bros. Funeral Home, Rochester, by a Duffus Funeral Home motor coach where service and burial will be held on Monday.

Peterborough postal employees are working at top speed to sort out some 70 odd bags of mail that are arriving here daily in four separate truckloads.

The quantity of mail—all of it first class—is expected to be up to normal today, three days after the railway strike began.

Trucks are bringing it into Peterborough on four round trips daily during the present emergency, starting out from Ottawa, Toronto, Belleville and Port Hope. They pick up the return load here and start back to their postal base again.

Take Wednesday, for example. The Belleville truck which also brings in mail from Campbellford, Hastings, Trent River and other places along the way, arrived at 2 p.m. with nine bags of mail and left an hour later with 11.

The Toronto via Lindsay truck arrived with 22 bags and returned with 21; the Ottawa truck brought 28 bags and returned with 35; and the Port Hope truck load was six bags, both ways.

At first local postal authorities thought that one mail delivery a day to Peterborough residents would be suficient, but this was revised to make both a morning and afternoon service, the heavier delivery being in the afternoon.

Trucks on the Toronto and Ottawa runs are owned by the post office but the other two have been hired for the duration of the strike.

GERARD F. LUCARNO

Gerard F. Lucano To Serve In Korea

Gerard F. Lucarno, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lucano, 511 Albert St., reported Wednesday at the military training camp at Petewawa as a volunteer for the campaign in Korea. He recently enlisted in Montreal, giving up a position with the Canadian General Electric Company.

Mr. Lucano reached his 20th birthday early in the year. He began employment in Peterborough in the composing room of the Examiner and transferred to the Review, where he completed an apprenticeship in the press department. His father was a veteran of the first world war in which he suffered multiple wounds.

INJURIES LIGHT

Accident victims Wednesday near Hastings on the Westwood road, Mrs. Martha A. Ries, Akron, and Mrs. Hazel Schimtt, Akron, were reported as "condition good" by the Civic Hospital today. Mrs. Ries suffered a bruised chest when the car hit a tree and Mrs. Schmitt lacerations of the eye, thumb and hip.

Unhappy Ending To Day At Fair

Two youngsters were having a thrilling time at the Peterborough Exhibition Wednesday, trapsing round with mother to the various stands and playing happily in the Recreation Commission's playground. But their fun came to a sad end, when they were quickly whisked home because it was discovered they both had chickenpox.

The youngsters were feeling fine but when mother took a look at them flying through the air on the swings, she noticed something had happened to their complexion.

Several other mothers, with the practised eyes of women who have gone through the miserable business of shepherding their own children through chickenpox, took a look at the children and after a joint consultation, the youngsters were pronounced chickenpox cases and packed off home.

RECRUITING AT ARMOURIES

A Canadian Army mobile recruiting unit under Capt. Roy Leamen, attached to the 50th Heavy A.A. Regiment and at present with the active force, will be in Peterborough Friday, Saturday and Monday at the armouries. Men will be received for the active force and the special Korean unit. Other centres will be visited later next week.

25 Girls' Clubs Represented In Inter-County Competition

More than 95 girls representing 25 clubs in six counties are taking part today in the Junior Homemaking Section of the Peterborough Exhibition. There activities including judging, exhibits and demonstrations are taking place to-day in the Market Hall, on Water St.

Commenting on this years show, Miss Florence Eddy, Supervisor of Junior Extension Women's Institutes Branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture said that she was more than pleased to see that the girls taking part showed a great deal of initiative and alertness in their work.

During the morning 82 girls judged classes of menus and vegetables. This judging is done in both written and oral form. Quizzes in cereals, gardens, safety in the home and safety patrol on the highway were also held.

Vegetables and flowers grown by the girls and exhibited by the Garden Clubs are arranged attractively in the hall. These exhibits will be judged today by Don Taylor, Agricultural Representative of Prince Edward County and A. O. Dalrymple, Agricultural Representative for Hastings County. These exhibits will be judged for the quality of the vegetables and the general appearance of the display. Also on display are club projects that received grouping in this year's spring achievement day.

During the afternoon, demonstrations were given on the following: dressing up home grown vegetables, the cereal shelf, the girls' home garden clubs, the club girl stands on guard and clothes closets up to date.

As well as demonstrations, skits were presented during the afternoon on First Aid in the Home, and Spending Our Time Off.

In charge of the Junior Homemaking Section of the Exhibition are Miss Jean Noble, Home Economist for the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Durham and Northumberland; Miss Elsie Irvin, Home Economist for Hastings and Prince Edward counties; Miss Ruth Shaver, Home Economist for Ontario county; Miss Jean Scott, Home Economist for Perth county and Miss Elsie Wells.

The exhibits were displayed by girls' clubs from Bethany, Belmont, Fenelon Falls, Cooper-Remington, Victoria, Wooler, Seymour West, Queensboro, Huff's Island, Woodville, Belmont and Seymour East. The demonstration and skits were presented by clubs from Bowmanville, Fraserville, Philipton - Zion, Huff's Island and Wicklow-Vernonville.

The day's activities will be brought to a close by a banquet sponsored by Canada Packers, Ltd., in the Empress Hotel. At the banquet, the results of the judging will be announced.

Westclox Wages Up Seven Cents

There'll be some extra change rattling in the pockets of the 800 employees of Western Clock Co next week. J. H. Vernor, vice-president and general manager, has announced a seven-cents-an-hour increase in pay.

Effective August 28, the increase will average about $150 a year for each employee.

Mr. Vernor conceded that the wage boost came as a "surprise," but he said it was in line with company policy to review the wage scale from time to time and bring it into line with other industries in the Peterborough district.

"That has been our policy during the 30 years we have been established here," he said.

The scale is much higher than any other clock industry in Canada, he commented.

Davies' Play Opens At Niagara; Acclaimed

Nearly a thousand people crowded into the Niagara Falls fine new Collegiate playhouse Tuesday night for the opening of a preview week of Robertson Davies' new play "At My Heart's Core". Spectators and critics alike received the play with enthusiasm. Michael Sadlier's company, who have been keeping the Niagara Falls and Peterborough Summer Theatres busy all season, comes to Peterborough on Monday next for the official opening of this play, written especially for Peterborough's centenary. The play is being directed by the author.

After the Niagara Falls opening a reception was held for the playwright and cast at Lady Oakes' estate in Niagara.

Peterborough Marks Centennial With Play Written For Occasion

It is not every Canadian city which celebrates its Centennial Year with a play written especially for the occasion. Peterborough will do so, however, and the City Council is inviting municipal dignitaries from the district to be guests of the city on the first night on August 28. The scene of the play is in Douro, and the reeve of Douro, will be among those present. And because two of the characters in the play, Mrs. Susanna Moodie and Mrs. C. P. Traill, lived at Lakefield, Mr. William Grant, reeve of Lakefield will also be a guest.

The play is "At My Heart's Core," written for this occasion by Robertson Davies at the request of the Peterborough Summer Theatre. The play is presented by the Centennial Committee, in co-operation with the Summer Theatre.

On the first night, in addition to the city's guests, the Mayor and Council will be present, as well as the Board of Education and the Centennial Committee itself. After the first performance a civic reception and a buffet supper will be given by the Council for the guests and the theatre company.

Junior Farmers Take Over As Clubs Entered From Six Counties At Fair

Junior farmers of Central Ontario, 132 boys at the Exhibition grounds and 100 girls in the market hall, registered this morning at 9 o'clock for a long day's program. The boys faced a competition in judging classes of beef and dairy cattle, heavy horses, sheep and swine, followed after lunch by an agricultural quiz, tractor defects test, and an examination in their knowledge and identification of seeds, weeds, hay and pasture plants, agricultural crops and so on.

Many of these youngsters of the farms of Peterborough and neighboring five counties, Hastings on the east and Ontario on the west, were competing for the first time at the Exhibition.

The girls had the cooler market hall for their affairs in household economics, club activities and other distaff concerns. Winners in both sections will be announced at Canada Packers dinner at the Empress at 6 o'clock, at which they are guests, and from there they may return to the Exhibition where a block of seats has been reserved for them.

Educational Feature

The junior department of the Exhibition originated in Peterborough years ago, and has been long established as an educational feature of a competitive enterprise that is designed specially for them.

Northumberland juniors were missing at this morning's assembly. Lynn Fair, agricultural representative in Ontario county, was here with a numerous group; A. O. Dalrymple, agricultural representative in Hastings county, conducted a group from the east.

A. M. Barr, Toronto, assistant director of departmental extension work, was present as an observer of the junior section. Leroy Brown, agricultural representative in Victoria, assisted in the program, and was in charge of the young folks from that county.

Don Milburn of Smith, a graduate of such junior activities, is chairman of this department of the "Ex." and with him are others who have advanced to directorial and guiding responsibility, Allan Drummond, Reg. Ferguson, Kevin Hurley and Burritt Mann.

Most of the details were the final responsibility of Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, one of whose contributions to these affairs is the agricultural quiz, and his assistant Robert E. Bell.

20 Questions Asked

The "quiz" comprises 20 questions relating to farm practice.

No. 1 question as an example: "Cornell 595 winter wheat has shown a lower percentage of smut than Dawson's Golden Chaff: true or false?" The answer is "true."

No. 8: "Check the following diseases if they affect the poultry flock: coccidiosis, pullorum, mastitis, milk fever, infectious bronchitis, roup." The first two and the last are correct answers.

No. 9: "On which of the following types of soil would you sow the following pasture mixtures: timothy 5 lbs., red top 2 lbs., reed canary grass 6 lbs., meadow fescue 4 lbs., alsike 3 lbs.; (1) well drained clay loam and heavy clay soils of average fertility; (2) light, sandy and gravelley soils; (3) low lying poorly drained soils?" The correct answer is No. 3 soil type.

12,000 Attend Exhibition On Opening Day

More than 12,000 people—children and adults — crowded through the gates of the Peterborough Exhibition on opening day.

This is a slight increase over last year when 10,900 attended opening day. Of Wednesday's crowd 6,711 were adults and 4,373 children. An unknown number of children with no tickets were allowed in without them.

Receipts for Wednesday totalled $3,127.05, of which $2,348 came from the gate; the remainder was from the grandstand.

In 1949 the attendance was 5,935 adults and 5,005 children; 1,685 of them saw the opening grandstand show. Wednesday night more than 2,400 saw the grandstand show.

About 9,000 tickets to the fair were given out in the city and district schools, and officials estimated that more than half of the children attended. However, only 4,373 of them used their tickets.

Trojan Club To Aid Fund

Another Peterborough organization has volunteered its services to help swell the fund for Bobby Clark, Warsaw, who lost his left arm after a fall from a tree. The Boys' Choir, sponsored by Trojan Club, will stage a variety concert in the Warsaw Arena next Tuesday.

It will be the first of two engagements next week for the choir under the direction of Wally Bent.

Altogether there will be 35 numbers on the program including solos, impersonations, comedy acts and group singing. Forty-five boys will take part. The curtain will go up at 8.15 p.m.

When they heard of the Bobby Clark fund the boys of the choir asked the Women's Institute if they could be of assistance. The Institute, which is the sponoring body, gave the go-ahead signal and the result is Tuesday's concert.

All proceeds will go directly to the fund.

Fifty-three of the boys will go to the Canadian National Exhibition on September 1 and make four appearances. Their trip has been sponsored by Branch 59 of the Canadian Legion.

That night they will be guests of the Trinity Kiwanis Boys' Club and next day they are scheduled to make a radio broadcast and a stage apperance on the exhibition grounds.

'Bad Penny' Safe Keeps Turning Up

VICTORIA, BC —(CP)— Like a bad penny an old 800-pound safe is the bugbear of Hall, Richard and Sons, coal dealers here. It just keeps turning up.

Trying to get rid of the safe several years ago, the firm left it on a vacant lot near railroad tracks on Victoria's west side. Kindly citizens returned it.

Nettled, the coal dealers buried the safe on the same spot—hoping to see the last of it. But a bulldozer recently unearthed it while working on an excavation for a building in the empty lot.

A resident noticed it and reported the find to police.

Detectives noted the safe was locked, thought it might contain valuables and hunted up the owners to return it.

Exasperated, N. Hall, a partner of the firm said: "It's going to the junk pile—I hope for keeps."

Identify Woman's Body

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP).—Police have identified the body of a woman, found in a wooded section of suburban Rockcliffe Park, as that of Anne Bedard, 47, Ottawa woman of no fixed address. Police, who said earlier "there is no doubt we have a murder case on our hands," said it is not yet known how she was killed. They said the woman was well known to them and had served short jail sentences from time to time for vagrancy and other minor offences.

1,400 Enlistments

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP).—The Defence Department said Wednesday 1,400 men have joined the three regular forces since the July 20 call for thousands more men to expand them. That would make their total about 48,200 compared to an authorized ceiling of 70,000. The new regulars are in addition to the 7,400 men who have joined the army's special force.

Testimonial Dinner

MONTREAL, Aug. 24 (CP). — A testimonial dinner, sponsored by the Montreal Men's Press Club will be tendered Walter S. Thompson, retiring director of public relations, Canadian National Railways, Oct. 7, it was announced Wednesday night.

R. S. HOOD

J. R. Sinclair, 140 Simcoe St. is pleased to announce that Mr. R. S. Hood, formerly with the London Life Insurance Co. is now associated with him at the above address. Mr. Hood will be pleased to look after all of your General Insurance requirements as well as the transaction of Real Estate and Mortgage Loan business.*

Frightened Horse Odd Gate-Crasher

LONDON (CP). — A horse knocked at Mrs. Elizabeth Butcher's front door.

When she answered, the door collapsed and a horse's head and shoulders appeared.

Witnesses said a passing truck had frightened the horse, which was pulling a truck. It bolted, dragging the driverless truck behind it, and crashed into Mrs. Butcher's door.

Heads Department

KINGSTON, Aug. 24 (CP).—Dr. J. M. R. Beveridge of London, Ont., has been appointed head of the department of bio-chemistry, faculty of medicine, at Queen's University, it was announced on Wednesday. For the last four years Dr. Beveridge has been a member of the pathological chemistry department at the University of Western Ontario.

Have Film Committee

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP). — A national trade union film committee has been organized in Canada, it was announced Wednesday. Its purpose to make available to all trade unions in Canada films and film strips suited for union use.

Ask Motorists Carry Medicines

TORONTO, Aug. 24 — (CP) — Private motorists driving to Western Canada were asked Wednesday night to take parcels of medical supplies with them to keep supplies moving during the railway strike.

Toronto's Emergency Transport Bureau said some medical supplies had already left for Winnipeg by truck. They added that motorists could take 15 or 25-pound parcels of medical supplies with them to help forestall any possible shortage in the west.

The bureau also said refrigerated trucks had left for northwestern Quebec with meat and other perishable foods.

Another truck will leave for Rouyn and Noranda, Que., Friday with 20,000 cans of tinned milk from Ingersoll, Ont., in response to a request from dealers there.

Love Finds A Way In "Spoonatorium"

HEXHAM, Northumberlandshire, England —(CP)— Love finds a way in the strangest places.

Courting couples are invading Hexham's crematorium grounds in such numbers that a councillor says the grounds should be renamed "spoonatorium."

J. Cullen, chairman of the council, says that as a confirmed bachelor he could not express a really reliable opinion, but...

"I think a cemetery is hardly the right place for telling the old, old story."

Now the cemetery is to be closed at 5 p.m. except on special occasions.

Vote On Bus System

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 24 (CP) —The city's present bus system will be offered to ratepayers for $1,000,000—along with a completely new system at $1,895,000 —on a ballot Sept. 19, city council decided Wednesday night.

Immigrants From 24 Countries Study English In University Of Toronto

TORONTO —(CP)— Doctors, lawyers, technicians, housewives, engineers, a politician and clergyman are among the 305 new Canadians attending advance English courses at the University of Toronto.

The group represents 24 European, Asiatic and South American countries. The students, ranging from university students to persons in their fifties, are grimly determined to overcome the language barrier.

The six-week course, sponsored by the Ontario Department of Education, is divided into 11 classes which meet two hours a night, five nights a week. Attendance at the classes, designed to help newcomers to overcome their "initial handicap of language," is nearly 100 per cent.

Typical of the group is blonde Elsa Kiesners, an assistant nurse at a local hospital. Elsa studied medicine for three and a half years in Europe. Driven from their native Latvia, she and hed husband came to Canada 18 months ago.

"I want to become a doctor, you see," she said. "I tried to enroll last year at several universities, but there were no vacancies. I'm going to keep on trying, though, and I hope to succeed eventually."

Learn English Again

Dave Azuma, Canadian-born Japanese, was taken to Japan by his parents when he was 8. Caught in Japan by the war, he worked as foreman in an electronic factory. Now working as an assembler in a motor plant, Dave finds that he has to learn English all over again.

Although she will have to practise for 18 months in a Canadian drugstore, Mrs. Marie Konisar, from the Ukraine, hopes to open her own drugstore here. A pharmacy graduate from the University of Posen, Poland, she operated her own store in the West Ukraine.

Perhaps the most celebrated of the new Canadians is R. V. Fratackey, vice-premier of Czechoslovakia at the time of the Russian coup d'etat in 1948.

Frastacky, who now imports chemicals and steel from Europe was forced to quit the country when Jan Masaryk committed suicide. His family later was able to escape with the help of the underground.

He summed up the opinions of most of the students when he said:

"To be a good Canadian, an immigrant should be able to speak English. Without knowing English, the new arival is not politically responsible, which can be dangerous."

60 Years In Show Business Bill Green Travels All Fairs

Bill Green has been around. He's been in almost every town and city in Canada and the United States.

"But I'm slowing down a little now," he said wryly.

Bill is the washroom attendant at the Peterborough Exhibition. For the past 16 years he has been supervising the better washrooms at fairs throughout Ontario.

For almost 50 years Bill has been in show business working all sorts of games, acts and carnivals.

"I can still give them a spiel," Bill said as he successfully assured his patrons they didn't have to tip him. But Bill makes his living on tips while he is working the fairs in August and September each year. The rest of the year he does odd jobs in Toronto.

The Peterborough Exhibition is his first fair of 1950. He looks after all the washroom facilities, including any plumbing repairs needed.

He also is equipped to meet any emergency visitors to the exhibition could face. He has a supply of safety pins, combs, thread, needles, bromo seltzer, soda, shoe laces, and numerous other items.

Of all the fairs, Bill likes Leamington best. There, there is a fine washroom and the tips are good.

Town fairs throughout the province are beginning to supply better washroom facilities, said Bill. Owen Sound, which he is going to visit later, is building a new washroom. Welland has just completed a new washroom.

"And I started it all," explained Bill delightedly.

Has Heart Attack

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que., Aug. 24 (CP).—Alphonse Edgar Guillemette, 73, former member of the Quebec legislature died of a heart attack Wednesday a few hours after his wife was buried. He represented St. Maurice riding in the Quebec government from 1924-1927.

MOUNTAIN RESCUE—An R.C.A.F. helicopter hovers over Grouse Mountain 5,000 feet above the ground during a demonstration of mountain rescue operations near Vancouver. Two unidentified climbers, in foreground, are waiting to be picked up. In the distance are the Olympic Mountains in Washington State.

Have Debentures To Aid Natives Chewing Steak

SYDNEY, Australia —(CP)— Hinterland natives will soon be chewing their goanna, snake and kangaroo with the aid of dental plates supplied by the Commonwealth health department.

This month an army blitz wagon converted into a mobile dental unit left Darwin on a 3,000-mile, three-month trip.

It will be the most comprehensive dental survey ever conducted in Australian outback areas.

But in the vast areas which the unit will cover, live only 100 whites and 900 aborigines.

Coax Natives

The unit, under Geoff. Marles, a dentist, will call at 33 stations and treat the few whites on the properties and any natives who can be induced to come out of the bush.

Hitherto the only surgical treatment was given by dentists taken to stations in an aerial ambulance.

Now with facilities for plate work available, some natives who have probably lived on soft grubs because of their lack of teeth will be able to attack a juicy crocodile fillet or a kangaroo steak—"rare."

The native affairs and the health departments have asked station managers to round up all natives in need of treatment.

Until now the issue of dental plates to aborigines has been restricted to those living in towns and cities.

Hops Not Sedative Says British Grower

VANCOUVER —(CP)— The hops in beer are for flavoring, not for making the tippler tipsy.

That's the word from J. F. Brown, member of a touring team of British hop experts in Vancouver en route to hop fields in the interior districts of Kamloops and Chilliwack.

A representative of Britain's famous Guinness brewing firm, Mr. Brown said hops also contain a resin which acts as a preservative in beer. He denied that the active ingredient of hops, known chemically as "lupullin," has any sedative effects.

The team—five in all—has inspected hop growing methods in three Pacific coast states. After their study of British Columbia growing practices, the men will watch harvesting, both in this province and in the states they visited earlier.

The tour is sponsored by the Economic Co-Operation Administration plan to improve European technical methods.

Truck-Car Collision

DRESDEN, Aug. 24 (CP). — One man was killed and three others injured in an automobile-truck collision four miles north of here Wednesday night. Dead is Malcolm McKinnon, 42, of Dresden.

Ice Delaying Hudson Ships

CHURCHILL, Man. —(CP)— Ice in Hudson Strait has delayed ships using the Churchill route this season.

The British freighter Ramillies was held fast three days. Three other British freighters — The Tricape, Durham Trader and Warkworth — were previously held up by 80 miles of field ice in the same area.

The icebreaker J. B. McLean has been working in the bay area but waterfront sources said she had not helped any of the incoming ships. Old-timers in the port use that as backing for complaints that "eastern interests are not doing anything to further the operation of the port."

Skippers who have used Churchill before say the ice conditions are unusual this year.

Capt. T. C. Bannerman of the Oblate Fathers' missing ship Regina Polaris said it took him 14 days last year from Montreal to Churchill discharging cargo at two settlements. This year it took a month with one other place to drop cargo.

He said his ship was held in field ice off Cape Dorset for 12 days. There was ice in Churchill harbor when he docked July 26.

Delegates Report Constitution Progress

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP) — The attorneys-general's conference on amending the constitutional ended early Wednesday night after three days of sessions.

Attending government officers said good progress had been made in working out arrangements for constitutional amendments, to be decided upon finally at a subsequent plenary dominion-provincial conference on the matter.

The meeting decided, it was learned, that the plenary session will be held Sept. 25 at Quebec, accepting an invitation tendered last winter by Premier Maurice Duplessis.

Should Have Moved

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., Aug. 24 (CP)—Social-Credit leader Solon Low said Wednesday a special session of parliament should have been called earlier so emergency legislation would have been ready to deal with a rail crisis. He was commenting, in a telephone interview from Cardston, Alta., on the announcement of a special session of parliament called for Tuesday.

END OF RUN.—These rail giants lie at rest in a Toronto railway yards after 124,000 employees went out on strike Tuesday morning in a wages-hours dispute with Canada's two railways. Last-minute negotiations with a government-appointed mediator failed to avert the crippling walk-out. Scenes are similar throughout Canada.

Parking Meters Net $24,000 In A Year

HALIFAX —(CP)— Parking meters have netted the Halifax city treasury about $24,000 since being installed almost a year ago. City Hall figures they bring in about $3,000 a month.

There are 540 parking meters installed along city streets, mostly in down-town districts. The average dailly take of each meter is estimated at 21 cents. The meters are in operation 10 hours daily, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., during six days each week, excepting holidays.

They have it figured how busy the meters are. Each meter, says the City Hall statistician, can take in a maximum of 50 cents daily. The first lot of 240 meters were installed along city street last August.

Business Leader H. Robinson Dies In Maritimes

ST. ANDREW'S, N.B., Aug. 24 (CP)—Howard P. Robinson, 76, long an outstanding figure in the industrial life of New Brunswick and one of Canada's business leaders, died here Wednesday night.

For several years he was part-owner of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal and the Evening Times-Globe. He was a director of the Canadian Press from 1926 to 1942 and a vice-president from 1939 to 1941.

Mr. Robinson's death followed a lingering illness which became worse in the last month.

Publishing was his first field of enterprise, but he also became prominent in the development of the telephone system in New Brunswick and other public utilities, paper manufacturing, radio broadcasting, motion pictures, banking, sugar and securities.

Other Positions

He was a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the Royal Bank of Canada, the Canadian International Paper Company, the Bathurst Power and Paper Company, Famous Players Canadian Corporation, Acadia-Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Ltd., chairman of the boards of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, Ltd., the New Brunswick Publishing Company, Ltd., the New Brunswick Broadcasting Company, Ltd., and the Maritime Trust Company, president of the Maritime Publishing Company, Ltd., vice-president of the R. D. Robinson Publishing Company, Ltd., and a director of the New Brunswick Cold Storage Company, Ltd.

Women Teachers Review Problems

TORONTO, Aug. 24 — (CP) — Education problems in Ontario were reviewed Wednesday by delegates attending the 31st annual convention of the Federation of Women Teachers' Associations of Ontario.

Flora Mac Donald, of Timmins, fderation president, said the purpose of all education was to train children to be responsible citizens in a democratic society. It was in the interest of society to give children the best education possible.

Elizabeth D. Taylor said in her secretary's report that about 300 new members had joined the federation in the last year, boosting total membership to 12,400.

Delegates went on record as favoring equal pay for equal work in rural and urban schools and stressed the need for adequate salaries to allow teachers to maintain a proper professional standard of living in their communities.

The convention will end today with the election of officers.

Pledge No Hoarding

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24 (AP) —Mrs. George Tibbetts of South Portland, Me., arrived here Wednesday with 90 pounds of anti-hoarding pledges. She plans to present the more than 30,000 pledges to the White House as evidence of the determination of Maine residents to do their part on the home front.

Fritzsche To Be Freed

MUNICH, Germany, Aug. 24 — (AP)—Hans Fritzsche, Nazi radio commentator and an important cog in Hitler's propaganda machine, probably will be released from a German prison Sept. 29, a Bavarian government spokesman said Wednesday night. Fritzsche, acquitted of war crimes at the Nuernberg trials, later was sentenced to nine years by a German de-Nazification court.

10-Cent Banking Idea Grows To Big Business

By WILLIAM STEWART.

LEVIS, Que., Aug. 24 (CP). — Penny-wise people from Europe, the United States and all the Canadian provinces come here today to sing the praise of Alphonse Desjardins and his 10-cent idea that grew into a $200,000,000 little folks' banking business.

The visitors are international, national, provincial and parish experts in the operation of credit unions—people's banks—which in Quebec province in 50 years have jumped their membership from 84 to 561,184 and their assets from $8.40 to $210,000,000.

The little-known town of Levis, overshadowed by Quebec City across the St. Lawrence river, is playing host to the Credit Union leaders of the world because it is here that Desjardins started North America's first People's Bank.

It was in 1900 after the modest reporter of parliamentary debates, worried by speeches about loan-sharks, set out to teach people how to be their own bankers.

10 Cents Weekly

Desjardins operated the first bank on a system of 10-cent weekly contributions by 84 members in Levis. This principle is the one that still applies today in more than 1,000 Quebec province credit unions that make loans to their members for doctors' bills, house repairs and building, and for all kinds of other problems solved quickly by ready cash.

The Quebec Credit Unions also have fire, theft, life and various other forms of insurance at low rates.

To commemorate the half-century anniversary of the first Caisee Populaire Desjardins, operators of the present credit unions at Levis invited people active in the popular savings movement to come here for a four-day convention starting today.

Convention organizers say that —railway strike or no railway strike—more than 5,000 people from the United States, the 10 Canadian provinces, Denmark, Sweden Belgium, France, Great Britain and Italy will be here for meetings lasting until Sunday night. Travel problems will be solved, the organizers say, by co-operation.

ANNOUNCES STRIKE.—Frank Hall, chairman of the railway unions' negotiating committee, announces at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday—that the nation-wide strike of 124,000 non-operating employees is on. Hall, flanked by two senior lieutenants, left the negotiation room after hours of discussion with company officials and federal mediator Dr. W. A. Mackintosh.

Spreading Industrial Layoffs Pose Big Problem Across Canada

By The Canadian Press

Canada struggled today with spreading industrial layoffs and new possibilities of shortages, the result of a national railway and telegraph strike.

After two days of the strike, practically every Canadian had been touched in one way or another.

Thousands were temporarily out of work. Reduced payrolls would inevitably be felt by every section of the country.

Others, in isolated communities, were running short of some foods. Millions more found themselves with a reduced mail service and no telegraph communications.

Buses, air lines, truck companies and telephone systems struggled to try to keep up with the rush of new business.

Faces Power Shortage

Saskatchewan, dependent on coal for electric power, faced a power shortage as railway coal cars lay idle. Outdoor electric signs were turned off in Saskatoon last night and street cars ran on a reduced schedule.

Western wheat farmers and Ontario peach producers all expected serious problems in marketing their crop without railway cars. In addition, a prolonged strike could stop the usual movement of eastern workers to the prairie harvest.

By the end of the week, nearly 14,000 coal miners in Nova Scotia, Alberta and British Columbia might be laid off. So might nearly 8,000 auto workers in Oshawa and Hamilton.

Refinery workers in Trail, B.C., and Sudbury, packinghouse workers in scattered cities across the country, base-metal miners at Copper Mountain, B.C., and hundreds of flour-mill workers were laid off.

Heavy Industries Hit

Other heavy industries said they would have to close down when present stocks of raw materials ran out or when warehouses overflowed.

Many of the country's estimated 550,000 trucks took on unaccustomed uses. Brewery trucks took Niagara peaches to market in Ontario. A furniture van left Toronto for Winnipeg with medical supplies. Refrigerated trucks left for northwestern Quebec with fresh meat and milk, to return loaded down with newsprint.

Federal customs regulations were eased to permit U.S. trucks to help.

In southwestern Ontario, where some lines of United States railways were not affected by the strike, authorities reported an increased number of hoboes taking free rides. Railway police intended to put a stop to it at once.

Emergency food was sent across Lake Winnipeg by a fishing boat to some 1,000 persons left without milk at Victoria Beach, 65 miles north of Winnipeg.

Payment Of Wages Delayed For Railmen

MONTREAL, Aug 24 (CP) — Payment of wages owed railway employees for the first half of August will be delayed, Canadian railway companies said in a joint statement Wednesday.

A railway official said delays will run "about one or two days."

Text of statement:

"With some exceptions, railway employees would ordinarily be paid at the end of August for work performed in the first two weeks of August but in the majority of cases the clerical employees who prepare the payroll and pay cheques have been called out on strike and under the circumstances delay in payment of wages for work performed in the first two weeks of August is unavoidable."

Strike To Last Till Fair Deal Mosher Declares

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP).—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) told local railway strikers at a meeting Wednesday that the strike will last "until the railway workers on strike get a fair and honest deal."

"It is not principle we are fighting for," Mr. Mosher said. "It is bread and butter and the opportunity to rest and relax and spend more time with our families."

He spoke at a meeting of members of the two Canadian unions on strike, the CBRE and the Canadian Express Employees.

"If this crisis merited a special session of parliament, surely the condition of the workers merits some consideration from the Canadian public," he said.

He traced the beginnings of the movement for better working conditions and higher wages and blamed the railways for the present strike, which, he admitted, is a "paralysis of national economy."

No Separate Negotiation

He also said he wanted it made clear that no separate negotiation will be undertaken by either of the Canadian unions or the 15 international unions involved in the strike.

John Quierido, general chairman for all hotel employees in Canada, spoke briefly after Mr. Mosher's talk.

He told the meeting that due to extra services having been applied for by Chateau Laurier Hotel officials, the union was forbidding its "special services" employees from doing more than was called for when the strike notices went out.

He said that these employees, working only because of possible danger of fires or other emergencies, were being asked to do work which they normally would not be expected to do.

"Therefore," he said, "from now until the strike is over no beds will be made unless the guests make them and the cafeteria will be closed down tight."

Churchill's Son

TOKYO, Aug. 24 (AP)—Randolph Churchill, son of the former Prime Minister, and Frank Emery, an American correspondent, were wounded by mortar fire in Korea, a public information officer announced today.

BACK IN HARNESS.—These three war veterans are back in uniform for the Korean War. Gunners Armand Filiatreault, 24, of Montreal, in background; Blake Shaw 26, of Barrie, Ont., and Charles Butler, 30, of Toronto, examine a German gun at Camp Shilo, Man. They are taking artillery training for service in the Special Force. All served during the Second World War.

Conciliation Officer Has Hamilton Talks

TORONTO, Aug. 24 (CP) — Representatives of the Hamilton Street Railway Company and its employees met with chief conciliation officer Louis Fine of the Ontario Labor Department Wednesday in an attempt to settle their differences.

Following the closed session Mr. Fine said talks would continue today in the company's Hamilton offices.

The employees, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL), are asking retroactive increases totalling 28 cents an hour. They have rejected a conciliation board report recommending a straight 17-cent increase.

JEWISH HOMELAND

Israel's population last year was estimated at 1,080,000, including 925,000 Jews and 155,000 Arabs.

Offer Facilities To Assist MP's

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 24 (CP) —Transportation facilities of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., were placed at the disposal of the federal government Wednesday to assist in the assembly of members of parliament and senators to the special session of parliament opening next Tuesday.

Automobiles and drivers will be made available to members and senators anywhere in Canada through the company's 1,100 dealers, the company said. The cars would take members from their homes to airports used in the parliamentary airlift.

Others not coming by plane will be driven to Ottawa if they wish.

The company's offer was made Wednesday to the prime minister's office, and was accepted today, the company said.

Tourist's Car Crashes Tree

HASTINGS, Aug. 24—(ENS)—Two U.S. visitors at Highland View Lodge, Keene, suffered cuts and bruises and a shaking up when their car hit a tree on the side of the Westwood road Wednesday.

Mrs. Martha M. Ries, Akron, Ohio, and her passenger, Mrs. Hazel Scmitt, also of Akron, were returning to the lodge after shopping in Hastings. Their car left the road and crashed into the tree.

Provincial Constable David Coffey investigated.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, Aug. 24th—Here it is—pickling time again . . . and here's just the booklet to help you make a wonderful success of your pickling . . . this free, 16-page booklet of recipes called "Pickling Success"! It's written for you by the very same experts who've perfected Heins Vinegars for every cooking purpose. Simply write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for this free booklet! With it—and HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR to help you with your pickling—success is bound to be yours! Yes, Heins White Vinegar—aged and mellowed in wood to bring out the full aroma and flavour—is the perfect vinegar for pickling. It's the vinegar that makes Heins own pickles famous—and will make yours the talk of your family and friends!

Did You Know that your youngster's feet often grow more than a size in a few months? That's why it's so important to have your child's shoe and hosiery size checked once a month at your favourite shoe store. It's important to insist on shoes that are expertly made to fit, yet allow room for growth. No wonder so many thousands of mothers insist on genuine DELLI COLLI children's shoes! You owe it to your child's health now and in the future to ask for Delli Colli shoes . . . by these names—Merry-Go-Round, Bolo, Chiropedic or Delico.

Prompt Relief From Sneezes and Sniffles . . . for just a few pennies! Yes, Anohist costs so little—brings such welcome relief from hay fever and "summer colds"! For Anohist combats the histamine that many doctors believe is released in your body by an allergic reaction. That's because ANOHIST is an antihistamine formula. Now you can enjoy this prompt, effective relief at a cost of only about $c a tablet! So, if you suffer from hay fever or "summer colds", buy the Super-Economy Family-Size Bottle of 36 Anohist tablets. You'll find it at your favourite drug-store! Remember: all antihistamines are not alike. They vary greatly in performance. Anohist is the antihistamine formula recommended for family use because of its success in actual clinical tests.

Mary Jennings Was Worried—that was until she heard that Quaker Muffets supply the Whole Grain that people need! You see, her children, two boys and a girl, eat QUAKER MUFFETS for breakfast, for snacks and at bedtime too! I think she was afraid they'd turn into toasted golden brown biscuits! But when I told her this irresistible cereal contains 100% Whole Wheat, that it has all the body-building benefits of the natural grain, well she just beamed and said—"Well, I must agree the children have never been healthier and Quaker Muffets are so economical, too!". Why not surprise your young folks with nourishing Quaker Muffets for breakfast tomorrow?

Here's a "MUST" for your next summer garden-party, church social or tea . . . Blue Ribbon Tea—lots of it—for the most delicious tea you've ever tasted! The famous, full-flavoured deliciousness of BLUE RIBBON TEA is far from an accident—for the Blue Ribbon blenders have made a particular point of giving you the very best to be had. They've chosen the finest of India and Ceylon teas—then blended them to flavour perfection! No wonder Blue Ribbon makes such marvelous tea! . . . Save this recipe:

	To Make ...
	50 cups	100 cups	500 cups
Blue Ribbon Tea	1½ cups	2½ cups	2 lbs.
Water	2 gallons	4 gallons	20 gallons
Time to Boil	35 mins.	60 mins.
Brewing Time	10 mins.	10 mins.	15 mins.
Milk	3 pints	6 pints	15 pints
Sugar	¾ lb.	1½ lbs.	7 lbs.

For Your Favourite September Bride . . . it's the brand new RADIANT BK KETTLE! Remember I've mentioned the "lifetime" Radiant B Kettle before? Well this has the same features—made of heavy copper with finest quality chromium plating . . . plug it in and in less than three minutes it boils enough water for four cups of tea . . . well-insulated heating unit plus "legs" to protect furniture surfaces . . . but, this new Radiant BK Kettle also has a removable lid giving a generous opening to hold your teapot or to heat foods in a saucepan! It never boils dry and shuts off at once if it's plugged in without water because of the automatic thermostatic control! A Radiant BK Kettle is what every bride will use and use.

Seeing Dust To Be Removed—following recipes—darning socks . . . your eyes are constantly at work for you! Yet many women lavish more care on their washing machines than on their eyes! Seems foolish, for our eyes are busy day and night—and deserve special care! That's why I so often put 2 drops of MURINE in each eye, because it rests and refreshes them instantly! Murine contains seven ingredients that blend perfectly with the natural eye fluids, soothing delicate eye tissues gently and helping them feel refreshed again. I use Murine night and morning and whenever my eyes ask me to!

A Fairy Godmother with her magic wand couldn't do more to help me with my jams and jellies than CERTO FRUIT PECTIN. It never ceases to amaze me the way jams "jam" and jellies "jell" so perfectly every time . . . with the true, tangy flavour and the rich colour of the delicious fresh fruit. And it's so simple. I merely follow the easy instructions found in the booklet under the label on every Certo bottle. The Certo way saves me up to 2/3 the time of the former long boil method . . . and I find I get up to 50% more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

"Rise And Shine" . . . with a wonderful breakfast of 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat"! This breakfast treat is so smooth and delicious, it's guaranteed to wake any heavy-eyed sleepy-head! Easy to prepare, too—for 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT" cooks to tempting perfection in just five minutes of boiling! And—remember, mothers, 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" contains Iron necessary for good red blood and Calcium and Phosphorus—for diets deficient in these elements. Remember too—that the words "Cream of Wheat" and the familiar "Cream of Wheat" Chef on the package are both registered trademarks of The Cream of Wheat Corporation.

Do Your Youngsters "Nibble" Between-Meals? . . . Then here's something good for them to nibble at any time they feel hungry! . . . McCORMICK'S SUNWHEAT BISCUITS! These biscuits are not only delicious—but they're extra-nourishing, too! You see, the Vitamin D content of SunWheat Biscuits has been increased by direct-irradiation with ultra violet rays. Each SunWheat Biscuit actually contains 50 International Units of Vitamin D . . . and, in addition, calcium, phosphorus and other valuable food elements. Yes, SunWheat Biscuits are "made" for growing youngsters. They're a treat and a health food, too! That's why I say, whenever your children are hungry between meals, McCormick's SunWheat Biscuits are the perfect answer!

Before Dinner Appetizer Try this Tea Cocktail

Here's something brand new. If you want to serve a before-dinner appetizer that is different, try this tea cocktail. It's really good and has a tang that will whet your appetite.

Tea Cocktail: 1 tea bag, 1 cup boiling water, 1 cup grapefruit juice, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, cracked ice.

Add boiling water to tea bag and brew for five minutes. Remove the bag and allow the brew to drop to room temperature. Put into a cocktail shaker or jar with tight-fitting cover, add fruit juices and cracked ice. Cover tightly and shake vigorously until the ice is practically dissolved. Serves 4-6.

Right From The Old South

There are a lot of interesting fruit punch recipes, but this one, right from colonial Williamsburg, is our favorite.

Williamsburg Fruit Punch: 2 quarts strong tea, 2 cups lemon juice (strained), 4 cups orange juice (strained), 2 cups sugar 1½ quarts cranberry or grape juice, 2 quarts water, 1 quart gingerale.

Mix tea, fruit juices, water and sugar and chill. Just before serving add gingerale and pour over a large piece of ice in a punch bowl.

In Case You've Wondered

So many people have asked us why ice tea clouds. Here's the reason—tannin which gives tea its astringency and body is more soluble in hot liquid than in cold. As the tea cools the tannin precipitates and the tea clouds. Of course, fruit juices will also cause the tea to cloud as tannin is precipitated by them. However, clouding has no affect whatsoever on the taste of tea only on the appearance—so don't worry too much about clouding.

What about trying lemon flavored tea biscuits as an accompaniment for iced tea? Just add the grated rind of one lemon and a tablespoon of sugar to your favorite baking powder biscuit recipe. If desired garnish with slices of candied lemon peel.

The syrups from tinned peaches, pears, pineapples, etc., are delicious in ice tea and can be served in place of or with lemon wedges. If these syrups are used no sugar need be added. It not only imparts a novel flavor to iced tea but solves the problem of what to do with unused syrup. Use about two tablespoons of syrup to a glass.

U.K. Parson Bans Marriage Custom

DONCASTER, England—(CP)—The old custom of "giving the bride away" is banned by the Rev. A. W. Parkinson, minister of Doncaster's Free Christian Church.

"Women are the equal of men and are not the property of anyone," he said. "They should not be given away like so much cattle."

So far, couples have always accepted his ruling.

Millbrook News

MILLBROOK Aug. 24—(ENS)—A meeting of young people was held in the waiting room on Tuesday evening to form a branch of the Junior Farmers.

Arthur Bennett, assistant agricultural representative for Durham, called upon Murray Lord of Campbellford, Durham County Junior Farmers' president, to conduct a sing-song with Henrietta Wood at the piano.

Three films, "Five Steps to Better Farming," "Farmers for the Future" and 'Farm Homes Beautiful" were shown by Mr. Wilfred Elson.

Miss Jean Noble, home economits with the Department of Agriculture, gave a talk describing the aims of the club. The explained that the purpose of the Junior Farmer organization was to make better farmers and better farm wives, to make better living conditions on farms, to promote community betterment, to develop qualities of leadership and for recreation.

Arthur Bennet advised appointing a committee to canvas the district for names of all young people between the ages of 16 and 30 who would be interested in such a group. He thought a second meeting should be held in September at which the committee would report their findings.

Ray Challice was appointed for Bethany, Mark Lowes for Mount Pleasant, Melbourne Morton for Ida, and Margaret Aiken, Henrietta Wood and Arnold Brackenridge for Millbrook.

Opera Singer Ezio Pinza Likes Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 24 (AP) Ezio Pinza is amazingly modest for an opera singer.

Since his hit in "South Pacific," the movie gates were shoved wide open for him. He now is co-starring with Lana Turner in "Mr. Imperium." But his Hollywood welcome has not always been so cordial.

In 1946, the Metropolitan bass came here with a burning desire to break into the movies. At MGM there was a great deal of interest.

"I made a test," he recalled, "and everyone seemed to like it. I met a lot of people who thought it was great. I went home feeling good.

Not a Word

"And do you know that I never heard a single word from the studio after that! Not a single word!"

I asked him what happened.

"I didn't find out until a year later when I returned to Hollywood. I finally found out that one man had been the cause. He had spread lies about me and said the studio didn't need me. I am happy to say he is no longer with the studio."

Despite the sabotage of his first attempt at film stardom, Pinza is not bitter.

"So it comes four years later instead of then," he shrugged. "I have always been a fatalist about my career."

"It's just as well you didn't break into the movies four years ago," observed director-writer Don Hartman, who was lunching with us. "You would have been too young!"

Though coats may go to any length for fall, here are three lengths most stressed. The three-quarter coat (left) is in rustic copper trimmed with four hand-polished brass buttons. Side fullness and deep armholes make the short coat (center) in cabin brown chinchilla an ideal suit companion. The full-length coat in alpine gold (right) has rounded dolman sleeves and mushroom collar.

Coat Length for Autumn Matter of Personal Choice

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The length of a coat is a matter of personal choice this autumn. But the straighter three - quarter length, the short coat in the pyramid silhouette, and the full-length coat with easy lines all are important.

The reason that the three-quarter coat has importance this season is that it looks straight and narrow. The fulness of other years is gone. The back may be very simply straight or it may conceivably have a low half-belt. Either way, the look is new.

One such well-tailored coat in rustic copper bolivia cloth borrows highlights from the gleam of four big hand-polished brass buttons. A small shawl collar and four widely-spaced pocket flaps provide added interest.

A short coat in pyramid silhouette is given side fullness and deep armholes with the thought that, thus designed, it can go neatly over a suit. Tailored in cabin brown chinchilla, it's meant to provide contrast to the sleek lines of a narrow skirt.

The woman who will buy just one new coat this fall might do well to think about the full-length coat with soft, flowing lines. One coat, in alpine gold bolivia cloth, has rounded dolman sleeves which make it easily wearable over suits and jackets. A button-up mushroom collar provides a flattering frame for a pretty face. This is the coat which, more than any other, will "go everywhere."

Science Cuts Death Rate in W.I. Countries

JAMAICA, BWI — (CP) — Peope in Jamaica today live on the average 15 years longer than they did in the 1920's. The same is true in Trinidad and British Guiana.

In Singapore, where 30 years ago malaria carried off two or three thousand every year, the death-rate is now as low as that of the United Kingdom; while Cyprus has one of the lowest death-rates in the world. These are some of the practical results of the advance of medical science and its application in the British colonies.

Malaria is the most widespread of all the tropical diseases; yet 80 years ago virtually nothing was known of its nature. In 1880 a French doctor, Laveran, proved that the infection was due to a parasite in the blood; and in 1894 Ronald (later Sir Ronald) Ross in India showed how this parasite was spread by a species of mosquito.

Mosquito Villain

It followed from Ross's work that, where the mosquito could be eradicated, malaria could be stamped out. Today, close study of the insect and the invention of new and powerful insecticides have made this a practical possibility.

Throughout the colonial territories anti-mosquito measures and the wide availability of effective new drugs have given protection to all who can be brought within the scope of regular health services.

Leprosy Scourge

Leprosy is another scourge in tropical countries. A recent survey in Africa showed that sufferers are even more numerous than was thought. Results obtained from use of the new sulhpone drugs seem to justify hopes that a new era is beginning in the treatment of this disease.

Sulphetrone, discovered in Britain just before the Second World War, can effect a more rapid amelioration of the signs and symptoms of leprosy than any previous drug; but its cost is high. Use of the crude sulphones has enabled these costs to be reduced by more than half.

Early cases can now hope for cure, and the complications, including blindness, which formerly caused so much suffering can now be obviated. The great value of the sulphones, including sulphetrone, is that they are particularly effective against the infection types of leprosy.

Iraq Village Oldest In Whole World

CHICAGO —(AP)— Probably you've never heard of Jarmo. It's a block square village site in Northeastern Iraq that is little more than a mound of dirt.

University of Chicago scientists, who tested samples from the village on their calendar, said:

"Jarmo is about 7,000 years old —the eldest known village site in the world."

An expedition from the university's Oriental Institute will go there this winter to search for evidence of "the first great economic revolution in human history."

Robert J. Braidwood, associate professor of old world prehistory and anthropology said diggers expect to find evidence of town planning — the first row houses and party walls known to history.

Found by Accident

A representative of the Iraq government stumbled onto the site by accident in 1946. A village sheik who resided nearby used flint and steel to light a proferred cigarette. The flint, a finely worked produce of the late stone age, came from the mound .

University of Chicago archeologists made a preliminary examination of the site three years ago, finding wheat and barley grains, utensils for grinding them, flint tools and snail shells.

Chemical analysis of the amount of radioactive carbon 14 in the snail shells fixed the age of the site. All lving things absorb radioactive carbon from the atmosphere in the growing and living process. This halts when the plant or creature dies and the carbon 14 then starts losing its radioactivity at a known rate.

Australia Plans Import Homes From Continent

SYDNEY, Australia —(CP)— The housing mission just returned from Europe reported that Australia should be able to import 40,000 prefabricated houses a year from the end of next year.

Revealing this the Minister of National Development, Richard G. Casey, said the work of the mission would be of the utmost value to all Australian governments.

Mr. Casey said that other important conclusions which the mission had reached were:

(1). A number of building firms in the United Kingdom and on the continent would supply and erect houses complete with drainage.

(2). A number of firms would undertake site preparation work, including engineering services.

(3). Australian housing authorities considered the price of houses from abroad acceptable.

The report emphasized the need for comprehensive site preparations well in advance of the arrival of houses from abroad.

That was regarded as of prime importance to the success of any realistic attempt to meet Australia's housing needs, Mr. Casey said.

Reputable Firms

The mission found there were probably at least half a dozen reputable organizations in the United Kingdom with overseas experience capable of undertaking major building work.

One such firm already written stating its intention to start a branch in Australia if it could get an initial contract.

It intended to remain here to build houses other than prefabricated homes, and later to erect other buildings, as well as prepare sites for buildings.

The mission expressed the view that a number of Australian firms could handle major housing projects if given the chance.

The mission, which visited 12 European countries, reported on the capacity of those countries to supply houses and whether they would be likely to provide labor for erecting them.

Estimated housing shortage in Australia is about 400,000 dwelling units.

Local Designer Makes "Glitter" For CNE Fashions

Peterborough's one-man manufacturer of jewelry is providing much of the "glitter" that will highlight gowns in the Toronto CNE fashion show this year.

Commentators will daily call the attention of thousands of women to the startling effect of a row of bracelets worn on one sleeve of a swish velvet cocktail dress. All five, or possibly seven of them—and each is at least two inches wide, will have been created in a Brock St. home.

A breath-catcher will be an evening stole of precious lace with dazzling diamond-like stones set in the pattern by Meredith of Peterborough, and another a jewel-studded tiara which he has custom-designed for the show, as well as six suites of necklace, bracelet and earrings.

The earrings are being worn with everything for after-five favoring the drop style, and also quite large ones.

Other designs from this source will be featured in exhibits of high fashion accessories.

At a special pre-viewing party Wednesday in the Coliseum, models showed some scenes from the all-Canadian fashion shows of which there are to be 7 daily—a new one every 15 minutes — throughout the exhibition. They also revealed why each will likely wear out 22 poirs of stockings in that time.

Most expensive item in the show was a cape sole of rare white mink, that might be bought with $5,000. The choice of many for daytime warmth, other than the luxurious furs, was a greatcoat of medium-size black and white checks. The dresses everyone loved were of velvet and all daytime clothes were noticeably narrower and shorter.

The city might also take pride in the fact that the son of a former Peterborough man is the architect doing the designing for the entire "Design - for Living" show of the Women's Division in the Coliseum. He is Mr. John Hall of the University of Toronto staff, a nephew of Mr. W. Gordon Hall, London St.

Oulette-Leahy

At St. Peter's Cathedral the marriage took place of Mary Teresa, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Leahy, 462 Donegal St., and the late Mr. E. J. Leahy, to Mr. Joseph W. Oulette of Pembroke, the Rev. Father Weise officiating.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph Crowley, the bride wore a street-length dress of navy crepe, navy accessories and navy hat trimmed with pink and she wore a corsage of pink roses. Miss Marie Kennedy of Hamilton was her bridesmaid, wearing a flowered silk jersey dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Groomsman was Mr. Joseph Leahy, brother of the bride.

At the reception held at Hooper's Palm Room the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of black crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Oulette left later by train for St. Anne de Beaupre and Quebec City and they will make their home in Pembroke.

Bethany News

Mr. and Mrs. Ormond Wright and Mr. Bevis Wright of Waterloo have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mansell Wright this week.

Miss Marie Carr is spending a week in Newmarket wtih Mr. and Mrs. Norman Neals.

Miss Elise Richardson is visiting with relatives in Oshawa and Hamilton.

Miss Emily Griffith of Boston, Mass., is holidaying with Mrs. Harvey Fallis.

Mail service continues at Bethany unhindered by the railway strike. The local postmaster, Mr. Mansell Wright motors to Newcastle, receives mail arriving there by truck and en route picks up and delivers the mail from Pontypool and Orono.

Toronto Artist Praises "Ex" Paintings and Pottery

George Foord, a member of the staff of the Ontario College of Art and a leading Ontario artist, will be spreading the news that Peterborough has several excellent painters and an extremely successful and industrious group of experts in pottery, after his visit Wednesday to the Peterborough Exhibition. Mr. Foord was genuinely amazed to find such an exquisite display of ceramics and because of the excellent standard of workmanship, he recommended that special prizes be awarded in cases where no awards had been provided.

Some of the paintings won great acclaim, particularly Jack Hamar's oil painting of a man's work with carpet loom, which was awarded the $10 prize for the best picture entered in the entire art exhibition.

Another picture which the judge praised highly was Marilyn Munro's portrait in oils of her father, J. E. R. Munro.

Grace Reinhardt's self portrait in water colors, portraying the part she played in the Little Theatre's production last year of "The Taming of the Shrew."

Cartoons Poor

Mr. Foord was disappointed with the cartoons, humorous and dramatic charcoal sketches. None of the entries meritted prizes. Instead of giving awards in this section, Mr. Foord suggested the prizes be given for crayon drawings by very young children, which were on display but for which there was no class for them to enter. Much of this work was good and imaginative and Mr. Foord said it should be encouraged. The subjects appeared to be copies of the less desirable types of children's pictures and Mr. Foord hoped school teachers would not encourage that type of work.

Comparing the current display of paintings and ceramics with those shown at the Exhibition last year, Mr. Foord said there was an amazing rise in the standard. He greatly enjoyed visiting the display and found it a pleasant surprise.

Awards in the fine arts department were as follows:

DOROTHY DIX

Girl's Dressing Gives Key To Character and Habits

DEAR MISS DIX—Please settle this argument: Can you judge a girl by her dress? Can you tell what is in a woman's head by the kind of heels on her shoes?

S. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER—Perhaps not absolutely, but you can make a mighty good guess, because a girl expresses herself more completely by the way she dresses than in any other manner.

Dorothy Dix

If she wore spike - heeled shoes (since you have raised that issue) to work where she had to stand on her feet all day, or climb a mountain, as I have seen a girl do, or on hikes, I would know that vanity was her leading characteristic and that she was willing to suffer any torture for the sake of her looks. I would also know that she was impractical and lacking in a sense of fitness, and that she would make one of the wives who spend all that their husbands make on keeping up appearances and who skimp the family to give splurging entertainments.

I would notice whether a girl dressed beyond her means. If she did, I should know that she was clothes-mad and extravagant and that her husband would be sold in bondage to specialty shops and millinery stores.

I would observe whether she was clean and neat or not; whether her shoes were polished, her stockings on straight, her neckwear immaculate, her hair well combed, for thereby I should know whether her house, when she married, would be tidy and orderly, or a place of confusion with unswept floors and unmade beds, with everything at sixes and sevens.

I should notice whether she was appropriately dressed or not. If she always had on the right thing, I would know that she would make the kind of wife on whose good sense and taste her husband could rely.

I would notice whether a girl wore the colors that flattered her, the lines that brought out her good points and camouflaged the bad ones, whether she combed her hair the righgt way or the wrong way. I would notice whether she carried herself 50 per cent above her looks or 60 per cent under them and that would give me a mighty good line on how much intelligence and initiative she had and whether she would make the best of whatever opportunities she had in life, or just go down before every hard knock without ever putting up a fight.

Oh, there are mighty few things you can't learn about a girl if you will give her clothes the once-over.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX — I am a young man just out of high school and I am in deep trouble. About a week ago I forgot what I was doing and asked a girl to marry me and she accepted me at once. Now after considering the matter I have decided that we should wait a few years before we get married, but the girl demands that I marry her immediately. I have no job, only a small amount of money, and, besides, I want a better education than I have. She says if I don't marry her now she will make trouble for me. Please tell me what to do.

PETE.

ANSWER—It is too bad you didn't think before you spoke. That kind of carelessness in asking women to marry them in a forgetful moment has got a lot of men into trouble. The thing for you to do is as plain as the nose on your face. It is to tell the girl up and down that you withdraw your proposal and that you don't intend to marry her now or ever. For any girl who tries to force a man against his will into a marriage is not the sort of women he wants for a wife.

You can't imagine a girl who loved a boy being willing to ruin his whole future by forcing him to marry her when he had no job, when he was too young to know his own mind and was in no way fitted for the responsibilities of marriage.

So stiffen your backbone and refuse to be dragged to the altar. Don't let her scare you with her threats of making trouble for you. There is not a thing on earth she can do to you. Just let her rave.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX — I have a grown daughter who is my own flesh and blood and whom I nearly died bringing into the world, who persists in believing and asserting that she is an adopted child in spite of the evidence of her baptismal certificate and the testimony of people who have known her since she was a child. She treats me as if I were a stranger and is always snapping at me and makes me so unhappy that I shall never go to her house again. Why is this?

SORE-HEARTED MOTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER — It is a common thing for children to imagine that they have been adopted, or that they were stolen, and to play a game with themselves in which they fancy that they are the long-lost child of some person of high degree and great wealth. Your daughter must have a child's mind to be deluding herself with such absurd fancies. I should say she needs a psychiatrist.

COOKBOOK of the WEEK

FROM THE COLLECTION OF 24 OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST COOKBOOKS
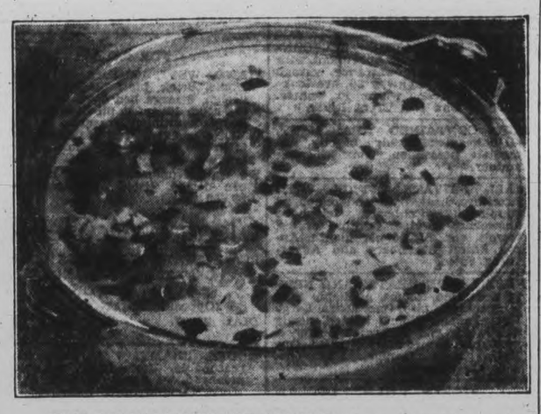
Sponsored by this Newspaper



THE FAMILY WILL BE ASKING when dinner is ready if they sniff a steamy chowder when they come in from work or play.

Full-bodied Chowder Gives Taste Plus Nourishing Meal

If you love good soup and would like to prepare it like an expert you will certainly want to own The Examiner's Sixth cookbook in the series of 24, "250 Delicious Soups." This versatile book describes every type of soup in such a way that you will have no trouble following the recipes.

Besides the many varieties of soup there are any number of garnishes and accessories included to whet the appetite and add eye appeal.

For a hearty soup that could be used as a thrifty main course you might try the following recipe from the Soup Book:

Vegetable Chowder De Luxe

2 cups chopped celery
2 cups cooked corn
1 onion, chopped
2½ cups cold water
1 tablespoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
1 cup cooked tomatoes
2 cups milk, scalded
½ cup grated cheese
½ cup diced pimiento
¼ teaspoon paprika.

Combine first ingredients, heat to boiling and simmer ½ hour. Melt butter, blend in flour; add milk gradually, stirring constantly; heat to boiling and cook 5 minutes. Add to vegetable mixture with cheese, pimiento and paprika. Heat until cheese is melted. Serves 6.

You can treat your family to a host of new kinds of soup by getting your copy of the Soup Book today. Just clip a coupon from page 2 of any issue of his newspaper and present it with 25c at The Examiner Office, or your Examiner carrier, or at Braund's Food Markets. Or if you would rather send for your copy, mail the coupon with 30c (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

Toronto's Plus Fifty Club Tackles Odd Assignments

TORONTO —(CP)— Are you over 50 and a bit bored with life?

If so, you might try joining Toronto's Plus Fifty club that makes a practice of tackling odd assignments.

The 350 club members—all women of 50 or over—help supplement their incomes by playing baby sitter to dogs; sleeping in empty houses, and arguing with elderly people on purpose.

The club, formed six years ago, is the outgrowth of the baby sitters club, reg'd., founded by the same group of women. The baby sitters found they were being swanped with calls that had nothing to do with either babies or sitting. So they decided to form a second group.

Mrs. Olga I. Lee, secretary of both clubs, says the plus fiftiers get some very odd assignments.

Dog Sitter

"One client wanted us to get some one to look after his great dane while he was away on holidays. The dog was very temperamental so a person had to be picked who liked dogs and vice-versa."

Lonesome elderly people are always asking Mrs. Lee for some one to talk with. One elderly man asked for a "visitor" who'd argue politics with him.

Another popular request during the summer months is for "house sitters" to sleep in vacant houses while the owners are away—just so they'll be less inviting to burglars.

Must Be Recommended

Qualifications for membership in the Plus Fifty club come pretty high.

"We are most particular about our staff," says Mrs. Lee. "Only refined, educated and personable women are chosen. They all have to be recommended to us by a clergyman or some other reliable person."

The club, in turn, is choosy about the chores its members undertake. Only calls from desirable districts are accepted and if the client doesn't sound suitable, he or she is politely told: "Sorry, but we are too busy to help you at the moment."

Mrs. Lee estimates that three or four per cent of all requests made to the club are turned down this way."

Lending Library

One of the latest ventures of the club is a lending library for shut-ins.

"You'd be surprised how very interested old ladies are in mystery stories," says Mrs. Lee. "The more bloodcurdling the better."

As for the baby sitters club, no woman under 40 is permitted to join. Mrs. Lee believes it isn't a job for younger people.

"Youngsters haven't the necessary balance for an emergency, whereas a woman with experience, one who perhaps has brought up children of her own, acts automatically when any trouble arises."

Spare Cuffs New Economy Drive

BUXTON, Derbyshire, England —(CP)— Clothing manufacturer Harry Davey, has an idea for the problem of frayed turn-ups.

He suggests that a spare pair of turn-ups be sold with every pair of trousers for a small extra charge.

"When the first pair become frayed they can be taken off and a new pair sewn on. The stitches do not show."

What's Right?

Two weeks have gone by since you sent a wedding gift — and you have received no thank-you note from the bride.

WRONG: Write and ask if she received the gift.

RIGHT: Wait a while before inquiring, since the chances are that the gift was received, but the bride is just slow in getting her thank-you notes written.

Servel Refrigerators
Due to a freezing unit that has no moving parts SERVEL is always SILENT.
Nothing to wear out and cause noise. Look at a Servel with the door closed and compare its simple classic beauty, its modern lines. Then look at Servel with the door open and notice its spacious interior, its compact arrangement of shelves and freezing unit. Add up all these fine points plus the fact that more than 3,000,000 Servels have been sold and you too will choose Canada's finest refrigerator

Assaults Picket Man Is Hunted

TORONTO, Aug. 23 (CP)—Police are seeking a man, believed from St. Catharines, who Wednesday night assaulted Wax Farber, 40, a Canadian Pacific Railway cleaner on picket duty at the downtown freight yards.

Farber told police that a motorist, accompanied by a woman, stopped and asked: "Why don't you go back to work?"

The man jumped from the car and grabbed Farber by the throat. They scuffled, the man leaped into the car and drove away. Farber gave police a licence number which was traced to a St. Catharines address.

As a result of the incident, strike leaders said, they will double pickets so that no man will be left alone.

Ask For Settlement On Workers Demands

A settlement based on the demands of the striking railway workers has been urged on Prime Minister St. Laurent and the two Peterborough members of Parliament by Local 524, United Electrical Workers.

George Wallace, vice-president, reported today that he had been instructed by the stewards and officers of the Local to send telegrams to this effect to the Prime Minister, Gordon K. Fraser, MP, and the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests.

Mr. Wallace also said they had pledged "all possible support to the railway workers locally, including making available all the facilities of the Local."

Sure Bureau Swamped With Travel Requests

HAMILTON, Aug. 24—(CP)—J. Gordon Saunders, heading the Emergency Transportation Bureau at the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, said today the bureau would be swamped with transportation requests by the end of the week.

Wednesday a dozen trips took drugs to Barrie and other small quantities of vital supplies to Ontario centres.

The bureau has at its disposal a refrigeration van for transport of perishable goods or meat during the rail strike.

There has been a good response to the call for small trucks but large ones are scarce.

Hubel-Brown Pair Lead Lawn Bowlers

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 24 — (ENS). — Russel Hubel and Mrs. Brown of Trenton, with three wins and a score of 45 plus 9 were the champions at the Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club's annual mixed doubles tournament Wednesday. Under excellent weather conditions the club enjoyed one of its most successful tournaments. Many entries had to be turned away as the draw was filled several days before.

H. Martin and Mrs. Dearborn of Peterborough placed second with three wins and a score of 41 plus 5. Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Taylor of Campbellford had three wins, a score of 39 plus 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox of Stirling were high in the two-win section with a score of 39 plus 10. Mr. and Mrs. William Grady of Campbellford placed second with 36 plus 3.

Results of the draw—proceeds for the renovation of the clubhouse—were: Set of bowls and case, J. Cleasby of Montreal; set of bowls, A. MacHaffie; bowling case, Thomas Frary of Chesterville; set of bowling measures, Mrs. A. Linton of Campbellford; set of bowling measures, Joseph Detcher of Peterborough.

Dinner was served by the hospital Ladies' Auxiliary.

No MP's Have Applied For Help By Airlift

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP). — Up until mid-morning today, no members of parliament had applied to the government for help from the parliamentary airlift in getting to Ottawa in time for the special Tuesday session.

Several western and Maritime members had advised that they were making their way here by regular air line or by motor.

The airlift, using government-chartered planes or machines of the transport department and RCAF, was set up to bring in those who could not reach the capital otherwise.

PROVIDE ESCORT

A large propeller intended for a ship in Montreal has been escorted through the Peterborough district by the provincial police. No, they didn't think anybody was likely to make off with it. Their interest centred in the fact the propeller was so large it protruded over the centre line of the highway and was a traffic hazard. The truck was parked in Peterborough market square over night and left early today.

EYE TOPICS

HOW WE SEE

Man's eyes are "on the job" twelve to sixteen hours a day. Even when his mind and body are resting, his eyes work. All day in an office or factory or shop they perform the tasks by which he earns a living. When the day's work is done, through the leisure hours or evening the eyes' tasks still continue. You read a newspaper, magazine, or book; play cards; take in a movie.

Every day the eyes see a million pictures. If the eyesight is normal, they see those million pictures easily. But not everyone's vision is normal. Seven people in ten have defective sight. Their eyes must strain to see—and the result is headache and fatigue, for the eyes have first call on all of the body's physical and nervous energy. Every time they look at an object, they must —instantaneously — make a multitude of minute changes to get a clear image of it. They work very much like a camera. In a camera, rays of light from an object enter through a diaphragm which controls the amount of light are focussed by a lens, and are recorded on a film.

In the eye, rays of light enter through the pupil, the size of which is regulated by the iris according to intensity of light, and fall on the retina. The picture is flashed to the brain, and we "see". If the eyesight is normal, the picture is clear and sharp. However, the eyeball may be imperfectly shaped; the outer covering of the eye uneven, or the lens not flexible enough. Then the image that falls on the retina is not clear. It is dim, or distorted. Lenses in front of the eye, ground to exactly counteract the eyes' error, refract the light rays so that when they enter the eye they focus exactly on the retina.

Dismiss Charge Of Cruelty

Charged with cruelty to a valuable bull, J. R. Robertson, Otonabee township, was found not guilty in police court today, when Magistrate E. A. Gee, Lindsay, decided Robertson had done everything he could for the beast.

Dr. R. W. Ford, a Peterborough veterinarian, testified he had been called by Robertson to look at the Hereford bull. He found it beside a gravel county road. The bull had sore feet and refused to walk. A considerable part of the horny material of the animal's feet had been worn away. One front foot had maggots on one side. Maggots are common in summer on cuts or scrapes on animals, Dr. Ford explained. On the bull, the horny part of the foot had become separated from the rest of the foot and flies had laid their eggs there.

Treated the Animal

Dr. Ford treated the animal and advised that it be loaded on a truck and taken to Robertson's farm. He said the animal was not in acute pain if left to itself.

Robertson said the two-year-old 1,500-pound bull was a range animal from Texas and had never seen more than half a dozen people. He said it broke out of his farm and wandered to Herbert W. Cardwell's farm about a half mile away. He went down with a light pickup truck to collect the animal and found that it had become excited by the people at Cardwell's place.

He put a chain around its horns and started home, leading it from the truck. He had no way of loading the beast on a truck.

He said he didn't pull the bull, but it ran alongside the truck and kept heading for the ditch, lifting the rear end of the truck as it did. He jammed on his truck brakes when the bull was dragging him toward a tree.

After about a quarter of a mile he saw the animal was becoming lame and he stopped. The animal then walked over to the ditch and walked about another quarter of a mile, but when it reached a place where bushes grew out to the road's edge, it refused to go any further.

Scraped and Bruised

He said the bull's feet were scraped and bruised by stones and he 'phoned for Dr. Ford. He couldn't get the bull to go any farther and so left it there. He watered and fed it twice a day and visited it almost every hour. He left it free during the day so it could move out of the sun. At nigh; he chained it to a tree.

A few days later he was able to get the bull back to the farm and it ran away into the orchard. He said its feet had now healed perfectly and were in very good shape.

Magistrate Gee observed it would probably be too dangerous to lead the animal on foot and said Robertson had evidently used the only means available at the time of getting his beast home.

Few Display Honey At "Ex"

Entries of honey in the Exhibition this year were light. There were none in the special honey display, or in the dark honey.

Four firsts went to Allan T. Brown, R.R. 1, Peterborough, and two seconds and a third to Helen F. Brown, R.R. 9, Peterborough.

Following are the results: six standard jars white honey: 1, Allan T. Brown; 2, Helen F. Brown; 3, Mrs. C. E. Debman, Pefferlaw; 6 jars golden honey: 1, Allan T. Brown; 2, no prize, 3, Helen F. Brown; six jars amber honey: 1, Allan T. Brown; 2, Mrs. C. E. Debman; six standard combs: 1, Allan T. Brown; 2, Helen F. Brown.

Honey cooking: plain cookies, 1, Mrs. C. Ballantyne, R.R. 11, Peterborough; 2, Mrs. C. E. Debman; 3, Mrs. Offa Williamson, 232 McGill St.; pies, 1, Mrs. G. E. Lowes, R.R. 6, Peterborough; 2, Mrs. C. E. Debman; 3, Mrs. Offa Williamson.

Honey canning: plums, 1, Mrs. C. E. Debman; 2, Mrs. C. Fairbairn, R.R. 7, Peterborough; 3, Mrs. Frank Savigny, R.R. 11, Peterborough; peaches, 1, Mrs. Offa Williamson; 2, Mrs. C. E. Debman; 3, Mrs. Frank Savigny.

15 Children Given First Aid At Fair

"Come here! Don't go away, or you'll get lost."

"Look out! You'll trip. Pick up your feet, Shirley. And look where you're going, for goodness sakes."

But Jamie did wander away, and Shirley did trip, fall, and scrape her knee.

But there were people at the Peterborough Exhibition grounds to look after them and restore them as good as new to their mothers.

On the north side of the Manufacturers' Building is a tent operated by the St. John Ambulance staffed by volunteer women members.

They started early in the morning, and by the end of the day had taken 15 boys and girls under their wing.

Most of these children had merely fallen and scraped a leg. The workers fixed them up in no time.

By the end of the afternoon, two lost children had been brought and restored to their parents, and about a dozen had been in to have cuts and scrapes fixed up.

Up to that point none had been brought in because they had become sick through a combination of hot dogs, ice-cream, pop, candy floss and merry-go-round rides. Peterborough children apparently have iron stomachs.

On duty during the day were Mrs. Frank Wallwork, Mrs. Marjorie Davidson, Mrs. John Custance, Mrs. William Warren, and Mrs. C. Meehan.

Miracle Baby Normal Again

MONTREAL, Aug. 24—(CP)—Little Claude Chevrier, "the miracle baby of Ward 6," is considered something of a marvel at the Children's Memorial Hospital here.

Claude was born 52 days ago at Cornwall, Ont., the victim of a quirk of nature. His oesophagus —the tube which connects his mouth and stomach—was not joined.

The doctor discovered his condition when the child couldn't swallow food. He was brought to hospital for an emergency operation.

Four ribs were removed from the baby's back and the disconnected ends of the tube were linked over a hollow rubber tube. Three days later, Claude was eating normally.

Last week his father, George Chevrier, took him back home.

Today he is in hospital recuperating from a second operation in which his oesophagus was stretched. A final operation is scheduled for next week to halt shrinkage of the healing tissues.

Two Girls Sell Gladioli For Bobbie Clark

The Bobby Clark Fund was increased today by a contribution of $2.50 that was earned by two London St. girls.

Carole Yelland, 13, and Lenore Ouellette, 10, had seen the photograph in the Examiner of Bobby Clark, still smiling after his operation at Civic Hospital. Their sympathy was so deeply stirred that they wished to help him. They hadn't any money of their own, but the had gladioli flowering in their garden.

Here were blooms that might be converted into cash. So, they fashiined them into bouquets, and went about their neighborhood, ringing door bells and asking housewives to buy as an aid to Bobby Clark.

Out of nothing in the beginning they collected $2.50 and it is hoped that Master Clark, left with only his right arm to help him through life, will read about the interest and kindness of these two girls of approximately his own age.

The Examiner also received two other contributions each of one dollar, but both listed as anonymous persons who wished to give something to the Fund, without mention of their names.

Civil Defence Conference Held In Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 (CP) — Canada's first dominion-provincial conference on civil defence was launched today with high Ottawa officials ready to report on the possibilities of war, the menace of modern methods of attacks and plans to cope with internal sabotage.

The conference was started behind closed doors shortly after 10 a.m. EDT with Defence Minister Claxton and Justice Minister Garson heading the federal delegation and all 10 provinces represented.

It is expected to last two days and to clear the way for the provinces to co-operate with the municipalities in building up local organizations to cope with the effects of modern war.

High on the agenda were these reports:

1. One by Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chief of the general staff, on the international situation and the threat of war.

2. One by Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board, on the characteristics and menace of germ, atomic and other types of modern attack weapons.

Sabotage Dope

Senior RCMP officials were present with information of the government's plans to cope with sabotage and espionage at home in event of war. Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, co-ordinator of civil defence, was on hand to help lead discussions.

Out of those and other reports the conference is expected to get the information to help it buckle down to the job of drawing up specific objectives of planning, organization and action, including such matters as warning signals, care and evacuation of casualties, fire fighting and restoration of services.

Prior discussions have largely worked out the responsibilities each of the two levels of government will undertake.

If Strike Lasts 10 Days Halt 100 Million Works

TORONTO, Aug. 24—(CP)—J. J. Pigott, an official of the Toronto Builders' Exchange, said today that the railway strike, if it lasts another 10 days, is likely to halt work on Toronto construction projects valued at almost $100,000,000.

He said shutdowns would occur day by day as materials grew scarce. An estimated 16,000 men who draw some $130,000 a day in wages, are employed by Toronto contractors.

Mr. Pigott said his company Wednesday stopped work on a $1,000,000 Defence Department armory job at Sault Ste. Marie, throwing 75 men out of work.

HEADED FOR KOREA

Four bus loads of recruits for the Canadian Army halted in Peterborough around midnight Tuesday night on their way from Toronto to Petawawa.

Deep Sea Explorer Enjoys Ride On Big Shark's Back

VIENNA, (Reuters). — Big sharks let you ride them, but little ones bite.

Dr. Hans Hass, Austrian deep sea explorer, Ichthyologist and shark fighter, made this discovery during investigations into life in the Red Sea.

In a recorded talk from the hospital in Port Sudan where he was at the time, he said: "I found a huge 'whale-shark' the biggest shark I have ever seen. It was between 22 and 34 feet long and had a body as thick through as a locomotive boiler.

"Yet this monster of the deep was as mild mannered as can be.

"He posed as though flattered for photographs (taken with Dr. Hass's special undersea camera outfit), let me ride on his broad back and even let me take him by the underjaw and open his huge mouth so that we could take photographs of his immense gaping maw in which a dozen or so small fishes were playing around.

Has Nice Ride

"By punches on the neck I got him to rise to the surface and then holding him by the tail, to give me a long ride."

When Dr. Hass tired of this sport, the shark retired to the depths from which the skilled diver had brought him.

"The same day," Dr. Hass continued, "I harpooned a small shark through the tail. I then seized the creature by the tail, which is usually a quite safe thing to do as the body of the shark is so thick and stiff as a rule that it cannot turn quickly.

"But this small shark twisted with the speed of a biting dog and seized my arm.

"I swam to the surface but the shark let go only when, with my last strength, I managed to get my arm above the surface of the sea."

Dr. Hass then had to swim quickly the 40 yards to his boat, for once the many sharks in the area tasted the blood in the water they would all be after him.

He was taken to the hospital in Port Sudan where three long gashes in his arm were treated.

Dr. Hass is busy, wih a small expedition, trying to make the first under-water color films of the wonder of deep-sea life of the Red Sea. He has perfected a special apparatus which can record underwater sounds otherwise inaudible to the human ear and which also enables him to give running commentaries to his films.

Last year, Dr. Hass brought back to Vienna a wonderful series of still photographs of giant devil rays, some of which measured 14 to 15 feet from fin to fin, and of fearful, yet beautiful, underseascapes showing coral reefs. Amid the forests, hills and valleys of these were giant mussels with multi-colored flesh frilling out over their shiny blue shells, arrow-swift tortoises, and evil-looking muraena, the deep sea eel which can blow itself out like a balloon.

He also had some remarkable pictures of his many fights with sharks.

Ore Shipments From Lakefield Almost Ceased

Production is continuing as usual at the American Nepheline plant, north of Lakefield, but shipments of ore have almost ceased.

Because of the railway strike the daily shipment has dropped from some 250 tons to only a few tons—and that by truck.

Harold Deeth, manager, estimated that production could continue for another two or three weeks. There is sufficient space to store all the ore produced until then in the Lakefield bins.

"We're shipping only a few truckloads," he told the Examiner today. "And that is to Fibre Glass Canada Ltd., Sarnia. They have access to some supplies from the United States and can continue manufacturing."

Two or three customers in Pennsylvania are also being supplied by truck, the large 20-ton diesels.

Chief worry of the company is that they will lose business as United States firms turn to competitors and substitute materials.

CENTENNIAL DOINGS

Joe Kirkwood, famed professional trick-shot golfer, will demonstrate his skill this Saturday afternoon at the Peterborough Golf Club commencing at 2 o'clock. Golfers of the city and district are advised to see Kirkwood perform.

Centennial Play

Report is that the players in the Centennial Play "At My Heart's Core" are really polished in their parts, after patient practising and rehearsals. All are seasoned players and the play will hit a new high in the quality of the work of the Summer Theatre.

The play has aroused great interest throughout Central Ontario, and during the performance at the Queen Mary Play House will attract hundreds from out of town. The first night, this Monday, August 28th, will be a gala occasion in the theatre in Peterborough.

Quality Of Blooms Praised By Judge Of Flower Show

"You have a wonderful quality of blooms in this show. It is the best I have ever judged."

That was the tribute of Russell Heard of Woodville, floral arbiter sharing with Fred Esterbrook of Hamilton, the responsibility of awarding the prizes.

"We have many new exhibitors," said W. C. Wilks, chairman of the flower committee. "It's the best show we have ever had, and our arrangements are a big improvement over other years."

Judging was completed Wednesday afternoon and Wednesday evening's visitors could see the exhibits at their freshest.

The section for miniature gardens has 18 entries, compared with five last year and four in 1948. Clarence H. Bacon won the first prize for display presenting the words "Peterborough Centennial, 1850-1950". He used a green background on which the legend was spelt with dark yellow daisy buds. The miniature was framed with white corn flowers and marigolds.

Second in that section went to Miss P. Denne, Chemong Park, with blue cornflowers on pink mums.

Mrs. Fred Norris of Roseneath was awarded first for a miniature woodland scene.

Collection of Carnations

Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee showed a lovely collection of carnations. They were grown from seed produced by a friend in England. He took another first in the flower basket section with an arrangement of carnations and blue larkspurs.

A floral basket of dark red snapdragons shown by John A. Bent of Omemee was a striking spot of color that would appeal especially to those who like that annual.

Second prize in the basket of carnations class went to Miss Warren Aitken of King George St., and it was a close second to the Zufelt winner.

Herb W. Cardwell of Wallace Point won the floral wreath first with gladioli. T. A. Aitken of Okie's Gardens placed second, and Mrs. Aitken third.

Clarence Bacon, director of the flower committee, emphasized the eighteen entries in the table decoration class.

Mrs. Harry Neal of Kawartha Gardens, has a big display of gladioli. George Downer's dahlias stand out prominently, and an exception feature is the spacious showing of cacti by Ben Veldhuis of Hamilton. He brought some 200 varieties from his green house of probably 1,000.

The light gold of the calendulas was gleaming section of the show. Cosmos are also conspicious, and petunias and scabiosa.

The flower show is worthy of the centennial year effort the directors and Horticultural Society members put into it.

Governor Thomas E. Dewey Urges A Stand Now

OTTAWA, Aug. 24 — (CP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York Wednesday urged the free world to take a united stand now against a Communist invasion of Formosa.

Mr. Dewey said recognition of China's Red regime by Britain and India "may imply recognition of Communist claims to Formosa," which the United States is pledged to defend against the Reds.

"We should not wait until Formost is attacked and then find out whether we are united or divided," he said.

In a bluntly-worded speech prepared for International Day ceremonies at the Central Canadian Exhibition, the New York governor charged that Russian Communism already was waging an "undeclared World War III" against free countries.

The Soviet program was "bent solely on enslavement and murder." Swift, united action by those with a "common urge to save the cause of human freedom," was needed.

Jakes Club Must Move On

Retired Elders No Longer Occupy Free Parking Space

The members of the jakes club, retired elders of the community, are about to get the bum's rush from their quarters in the outer room of the public building on the Charlotte St. front of the market square.

They have been shivvied around so much they soon won't have any place to call their own. For a long time they were snugly ensconced in the market clerk's office, but the atmosphere changed down there, so it was said at the meeting of the property committee of the council Monday, and they got the gate.

Another move is pending. Not that the men are going to be tossed into the middle of the street. The city is just going to pull the bench out from under them.

That bench goes back to Rollie Denne's days. It was intended as brief accommodation for people waiting for the buses that used to hive around the Water-Charlotte corner as an open air terminal. Even the civically ambitious Mr. Denne's thinking of the city's growth did not quite anticipate the present expansion. His ideas were of an indefinitely long period before a bus terminal location was shifted.

Recent intimations are to the effect that Colonial Coach are planning for Peterborough a commodious headquarters for the bus business. At least it keeps cropping up in and around the council.

The bench long ago served its purpose. Today it is a roost for the club members. They put in there the time that hangs heavily on them, always in discussion, whatever it's about. Probably the property committee of the council will get a special session of the anvil chorus.

So, the bench is going out; candle power of the lighting is to be increased; painting is to be done for free by somebody around the general market premises, or else; three of the compartments in the inner room are to be fitted with coin locks, and altogether the interior is to be renovated

So, the club can get out the crying towels before the skids are set under them. It won't be so bad these sunny autumn days, but when the chill of late October falls on the land, the jakes club members are going to miss the warmth and the roof of their market nest.

New Experiment Eases Malaria

By NOEL BUCKLEY

KARACHI, Pakistan, Aug. 24 —(Reuters)— Malaria still is the greatest killer in the long list of ills to which the masses of Asia are exposed by climate and poverty.

Only for Europeans in the East has malaria been reduced to a small health risk by recently perfected quick-acting drugs.

But a local experiment, completed this year and soon to be extended, offers hope to millions of Asians. A thorough spraying with DDT solution has been proved and almost 100 per cent effective deterrent.

Health authorities estimate that 25,000,000 of Pakistan's 80,000,000 population suffer from malaria each year. One in every 100 sufferers dies.

Malaria is particularly prevalent in the Sodden Plains of East Pakistan, where clouds of mosquitoes rise from sluggish rivers, pools and tanks.

In West Pakistan, the monsoon rains and the irrigation channels essential to the region's economy bring with them malaria-carrying mosquitoes.

A year ago the world organization, the United Nations Children's Emergency Fund and the East Pakistan government embarked on a joint project to attack the malarial mosquito in a limited area of East Bengal. This was to be a first step towards establishing a province-wide malaria control service. The results were phenomenally successful.

A single, thorough annual spraying of interiors with DDT not only stopped the spread of malaria but it also stopped the second most important insect-borne disease, kala-zar (sand-fly fever). This is a notoriously debilitating disease.

The authorities this year plan to extend the project to protect about 250,000 persons.

G.I. Allies Regain Lost Ground

Threat Developing Toward Pohang Area; Halt Reds On 3 Fronts

TOKYO, Aug. 26—(Saturday)—(AP)—A major battle over a new road to Taegu city broke out Friday in the mountains of central Korea 12 to 25 miles north and east of Taegu.

Counter-attacking South Koreans regained ground they lost Friday to a forward force of 6,000 troops and tanks, prodding before a 20,000-man Red force.

On the sea of Japan coast 25 miles east of this battle, North Koreans stabbed down from Yongdok and shoved back a South Korean regiment before Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang port. The South Koreans dropped back 1½ miles before a tank-led smash by the Reds.

The east coastal battle was touched off by a twin South Korean attack to the north from Kigye and coastal Hunghae area immediately north of Pohang. Two South Korean divisions jumped off in the offensive.

On the extreme southern front between Chinju and Masan Port, 27 air miles west of Pusan, the No. 1 Allied port, two Red divisions appeared to have built up for a sweep to the east.

Principal Action

Principal action was in the oft-exchanged saw-tooth hills of Sobuk near Tundok, 10 miles northwest of Masan.

The big battle northeast of Taegu was the Communists' fifth try of the week to open a road down from the mountains to the largest city left in the Allied southeastern corner of Korea.

Hitting east of the blood-soaked "bowling alley" corridor where they had failed before, 6,000 Reds made some spearhead progress through the mountains.

Mitchell Leaves $62,262 Estate

OTTAWA, Aug. 25—(CP)— A $65,262 estate was left by Canada's late Labor Minister, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, who died here three weeks ago, it was shown when his will was filed for probate today.

The entire estate was left to Mrs. Mitchell, who also was appointed sole executrix.

Total weather prior to the time of Mr. Mitchell's death was $129,-824.

Under the federal and provincial Succession Duties Acts, all gifts of property or money made within five years of the donor's death must be accounted for succession duty purposes. In the five-year period, Mr. Mitchell had made gifts totalling $59,649 .o his wife and two sons, Humphrey F. Mitchell of Toronto and J. B. Mitchell of Ottawa.

The assets filed for probate were composed of $28,423 in bonds, $31,527 cash; personal property worth $2,000; real estate worth $2,500; household goods, $750; stocks, $63.

Expect Truman Seize U.S. Rail Industry

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 AP)—President Truman may chart a course to head off the threatened country-wide railroad strike in the U.S. at a meeting with his cabinet today.

In advance of the cabinet meeting, a prominent adminstration official said seizure of the rail industry—either today or tomorrow—probably will be the president's method of dealing with the crisis.

"I don't believe the president can do anything but seize," said this official asking that his name not be used. "The only question is when."

He added, however, that he expected seizure before Saturday night. This would avoid costly strike preparations by the railroads, it was explained, and possible curtailments in service at a time when the railroads are moving troops and supplies for the Korean fighting.

Officials Outline Special Plans On Civil Defence

OTTAWA, Aug. 25—(CP)—In a brief, one-day meeting, federal and provincial authorities Thursday mapped out a broad program of preparation for enemy attack.

They agreed on a division of responsibility among federal, provincial and municipal governments and thus launched a series of moves designed to get all Canadians ready for the worst that may come.

Eventually, spokesman at the conference said, the master plan will involve just about every Canadian, although it will be some months yet before large-scale training can be started. The first job will be to train key civilian personnel and then build around them local organizations.

Immediate steps will be establishment within the next few weeks of a special school on atomic warfare either at Camo Borden, or Meaford, Ont., to train doctors and others.

Great Crisis

Defence Minister Claxton, who set the background for the moves in his address to the opening sessions of the conference today, stressed that Canada is going through weeks of great crisis which may well show whether Russia will touch off a third world war.

Mr. Claxton issued a statement after the conference in which he said there was no disagreement on any major issue.

He said, too, that a continuing Dominion - Provincial advisory

Takes A Battalion To Keep Peace As Girl Kidnapped

HERAKLION, Crete, Aug. 25—(Reuters)—A Greek Army battalion today was ordered into action to prevent an armed clash on this island, torn into two camps over a "kidnapping for love's sake." A gay young blade, Constantine Kefalogh-hiannis, still has the object of his affections hidden away in the hills. He has sent word that he will kill her and himself if her parents do not agree to their marriage.

The girl, Thassoula Petrakcg-hiorghis, is the daughter of a member of parliament.

Her kidnapper-suitor is said to have been taken for safety to a village on the island, near where rival family groups and police forces were chasing each other about the hills.

"Serious Situation"

Premier Nicholas Venizelos and Populist leader Constantin Tsaldaris discussed "the serious situation" at a meeting Thursday night.

Tsaldaris suggested that if the families could be reconciled, he and the Premier could be best men at the wedding of kidnapper and kidnapped.

Efforts to reconcile the families were continuing, but the Archbishop of Crete's offer of intervention Thursday has failed.

The kidnapper's brother, a Populist member of Parliament, informed the government Thursday he was trying to get the girl released. In the meantime, "her honor is safe," he stated.

Third of Quads Dies

HELSINKI, Aug. 25 (Reuters) —The third of Finland's 10-day-old quadruplets, Olavi, a boy, died this morning. The two girls, Meeri and Irja, died Thursday. The survivor, Martti, a boy, was well this afternoon.

4 Plead Guilty To 22 Charges

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 25 (CP)— Four youths were remanded a week for sentence when they pleaded guilty Thursday to 22 charges including armed robbery, breaking and entering and theft.

They are: Orville King, 18, and Thomas Henry, 22, both of Toronto; John Desend, 18, of Oshawa, and William C. Bailey, 18, of Kingston.

They were arrested early Monday morning near Marmora, for the theft, a few hours earlier, of $50 from a Madoc garage. Their brief crime-career included thefts in Kingston, Rossmore, Belleville and Picton. At Rossmore an attempted armed holdup of a garage August 17 backfired when the proprietor threw a waste-basket at the youths.

Calf With Two Brains Still Alive In France

PARIS, Aug. 25—(Reuters)—Hermaphrodite Oscar, the half-bull, half-cow calf, with three eyes, two brains and two noses, has upset expert predictions by remaining alive.

Oscar is at present exhibited in a local furniture store, being fed through both his mouths.

Veterinaries said he could not be weaned and would be dead by Aug. 16. But Oscar lived.

A veterinary Thursday reported, however, that he is not in the best of health and prescribed a change of air. So Oscar will leave his comfortable Paris room and go to live in some bare stable in the country.

Bought for $2,500 from a farmer in southwestern France, Oscar is expected to be worth $12,000 if he lives.

War-Style Blackout Gripping Saskatoon

SASKATOON, Aug. 25—(CP)—The rail strike has brought a war-style blackout to this prairie city of 50,000 souls.

Power rationing was ordered Thursday by the Saskatchewan power commission to eke out fast-dwindling supplies of fuel.

Pedestrians stumbled and groped down pitch-black streets in residential areas Thursday night. On most there was no light at all.

There was a full moon, but it didn't help. Trees lining almost every street cut off its rays.

No Controlled Economy For Canadians, Howe Says

TORONTO, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Canadians who believe they are plunging headlong into the controlled economy of the second world war years are mistaken, Trade Minister Howe said today.

In an address prepared for delivery at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition, Mr. Howe condemned hoarders and persons who have been raising prices in anticipation of a controlled economy and said they are doing a disservice to themselves and their communities.

The Trade Minister, substituting for Prime Minister St. Laurent, who was held in the capital by urgent business, reviewed the world threat of Communism and said that if the Communists ever succeeded in domination of Europe and Asia, the danger to this continent would be "very great, and the difficulties of successful defence almost insuperable."

"That is why we are literally acting in our own defence when we stand with those in Asia and Europe, who are resisting or preparing to resist Communist aggression, and give them what assistance we can."

Canada's most immediate task was to strengthen her defences. Communist aggression in Korea had shown that she must have larger trained forces in being, available to assist in countering outbreaks there and elsewhere.

While first place must be given to rearmament, "we must not neglect the general strength of our economy and the welfare of our people. The Communists would like nothing better than to see a disgruntled, unhappy, divided population in our free countries."

The fight for peace was "no short-term program," but something to which Canadians must bend their energies and intelligence for years ahead.

Meets Chiefs Of Union And Railways

Strike Heads Plan To Be In Ottawa "For Some Time"

OTTAWA, Aug. 25—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent conferred today with leaders of the striking railway unions and will meet management heads this afternoon in what is believed to be a supreme attempt to end the paralyzing railroad strike, now in its fourth day.

Neither the union heads nor the Prime Minister would tell reporters anything about the talks in the Prime Minister's east block office shortly before noon.

But the union heads said they would be here "for some time", and it was understood that a Cabinet council was tentatively called for eight o'clock tonight.

It appeared likely that the Prime Minister was ascertaining the minimum conditions under which the union heads would order their members back to work.

Talks To Railways

At 4 p.m. he will receive the railway heads, Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National, and W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific,, and their advisers.

The expectation here is that he will learn from the railway heads the extent to which they are willing to go to meet the unions' minimum demands.

The next course, probably at a Cabinet meeting tonight, may be to see what the government could do temporarily to enable the railways to meet the difference between their two positions so far as extra cost is concerned.

Might Move Trains.

Some such step might get the trains moving pending a complete settlement.

It is believed that the government and both parties would like to see the strike ended on some basis, even if only temporarily, before Parliament meets in emergency session Tuesday.

This would remove the necessity of Parliament attempting to legislate under terrific pressure to meet a situation threatening economic chaos in Canada.

When the union leaders emerged shortly before noon from their talks with the Prime Minister, they evaded reporters with non-committal and terse replies to questions.

"We were all asked to see the Prime Minister and we've seen him—that's all," said Frank Hall, spokesman in the negotiations for 15 international unions.

Has No Statement

A. R. Mosher, negotiation leader for the two Canadian unions in the strike, had no statement.

Captured Snake Just "Exhibit"

WEWOKA, Okla., Aug. 25—(AP)—County Attorney Jack Scott said today the 26-foot snake reported captured here Thursday night was actually purchased for $450 and brought here for exhibition.

Scott said G. W. Hall, Tonkawa, Okla., zoo keeper and animal trapper, made a statement to police that he wanted to capitalize on rumors in this area that a huge snake was loose.

Hall exhibited a snake today that weighed 250 pounds and measured 7½ inches in diameter and 26 feet in length. He said it was captured in a snare Thursday night in Wild Horse Canyon six miles north of here after a two-hour struggle.

Scott said Hall told him he purchased the snake for $450 from a firm in Maryland.

Scott said Hall told him the following:

Thursday night he went to Wichita, Kas., and picked up the snake which had been shipped there. He brought it to Wewoka in his automobile and at 2:30 a.m. awakened a lumberyard owner and asked for lumber to build a case.

The news quickly spread that a huge snake had been reported captured.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD John Sandbach, shown here with his younger brother, died Thursday night after being accidentally shot by a playmate near his Fraserville home.

Mails To Get Top Priority In Air Service

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP). — The mails will get top priority whenever the government decides to use its power to mobilize and control civilian air transport for the duration of the rail strike, it was disclosed today.

The Air Transport Board made public a directive sent to all the commercial air lines informing them that an Order--in-Council has been passed giving the board power to establish priority controls over air travel.

So far, the board is depending on commercial air lines—without government supervision—to meet all the exigencies of the transport emergncy. However, if it is required, the prority system will be put into effect.

First priority, said the board, will be given to the Post Office Department for the transportation of mail.

Other priority ratings:

1—Emergency movement of passengers requiring hospital or medical attention or of a doctor or nurse to attend a patient and emergency movement of medical supplies.

2—Passengers and goods named by the Transport Department's priority officer as requiring transportation "in the public interest."

The board said that if it becomes necessary to displace passengers who have booked passage or goods which have been accepted for transport, the following order of displacement will be adopted:

1—Passeingers travelling for pleasure, on leave or on furlough.

2—Passengers travelling on private business.

3—Perishabie goods transported for the general welfare of the public.

4—Passengers travelling on public business of an urgent nature or for national defence.

If possible, the board said, passengers and goods travelling long distance will be given preference over those moving over short distances.

The system, if enforced, will apply principally on all routes of the following air carriers:

Trans-Canada Air Lines, Canadian Pacific Air Lines, Maritime Central Airways, Queen Charlotte Airlines, Quebec Airways and Central Northern Airways.

Duke Gets Command

LONDON, Aug. 25 (Reuters) — The Duke of Edinburgh, 29-year-old husband of Princess Elizabeth will take over command of the Royal Navy Frigate Magpie at Malta, Sept. 2, it was announced today. The Magpie will be the Duke's first command. He was recently promoted to Lieutenant-Commander.

Fraserville Boy 5, Dies; Accidentally Shot By Playmate Near Home

Runs Into Line of Fire of Toronto Boy Shooting At Crow; Parents Away At Peterborough Exhibition

Five-year-old John Edward Sandbach died Thursday night in Civic hospital after being accidentally shot near his Fraserville home by a 13-year-old friend and playmate. The friend was Jack Frederick Horne, Muriel Ave., Toronto, who was aiming his .22 calibre rifle at a crow some distance away in an open field. John darted out in front of the gun and was shot in the upper part of the abdomen from a distance of six feet. Fatally wounded he stumbled about 100 feet toward the house of the immediate neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lunn.

"Did I hit you?" asked Horne rushing up to see what was the matter.

"You hurt me," was the five-year-old's puzzled reply. He then collapsed and never regained consciousness.

Inquest Uncertain

Early today it had not been decided whether or not there would be an inquest as Crown Attorney Harry Deyman of Cobourg was absent from his office.

Mr. Sandbach and his youthful wife, Audrey, had left John in charge of the Lunns while they went to the Peterborough Exhibition for the afternoon.

"It's the first time we've ever left him like that," the grief-stricken mother told the Examiner today. "Just think, we were planning to take the children to the fair on Saturday. It would have been fun. And now this . . ."

The usual family outing was for all of them to go someplace together, often to the outdoor theatre. And the main reason was to avoid such accidents as this, Mrs. Sandbach explained.

Her remaining family consists of Muriel 4, Laura 3, David 18 months, and Richard, five months. John was going to start to school in the fall and he was to be accompanied by Jack Horne. Both were looking forward to the event.

10 Minutes Too Late

Mr. and Mrs. Sandbach arrived home about 10 minutes after the shooting when Jack had already been taken to hospital.

Mrs. Patricia Lunn, sister of the elder boy, explained that John had been playing in front of their house. Unknown to them he opened the front gate, ran around to the rear through a side lane, and darted into the line of fire.

Horne has been spending his summer holidays at the home of his sister and brother-in-law. Despite the difference in ages he was a constant companion of John. The fact he is hard of hearing in one ear may account for him not hearing John approach from behind.

"It was an accident, nobody is to blame for what happened," said Mr. Sandbach. "It's just one of those things."

". . . the only time we ever left him," repeated the mother.

The funeral service will be held at the Nesbitt funeral home, Saturday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

UNPRECEDENTED MOVE

DETROIT, Aug. 25 — (AP) — The automobil industry, Chrysler Corporation and UAW (CIO) announced minimum hourly raises of 10 cents for all employees over and above their recently signed contract.

Walk 38 Miles In Dense Bush After Rail Strike

HEARST, Ont., Aug. 25 (CP)— Three Port Arthur railway workers, stranded at Hornepayne by the strike of their fellow employees, said today they walked 38 miles through dense northern Ontario bush to get away from that stranded community.

Alex McGillivray, 54, trainman; Hugh Macdonald, 42, engineer, and Irvin McLellan, 33, brakeman, said they finally were picked up at Oba, south of here, by the crew of an Algoma Central Railway freight. The Algoma Central is not affected by the strike.

2,500 Isolated

McGillivray said an estimated 2,500 persons, including 75 transient railway workers and about 12 passengers of a westbound train stranded at the strike deadline, are virtually isolated at Hornepayne.

Men are walking in all directions to get out of Hornepayne, McGillivray said. One party is trying to get to Heron Bay, 50 miles south. Others are headed for Long Lac, 100 miles west, others to Highway 11, some 40 miles north.

McGillivray said he and his companions were asked to try to arrange for an aircraft to go to Hornepayne to pick up the stranded train passengers and to take in supplies.

Homes Flooded Asked To Pay

WINCHELSEA, Sussex, England, Aug. 25 (CP).—Residents of Winchelsea, on the southern coast of England, are up in arms over a wartime tax bill, just presented by the government. Instead of a demand for payment they had been expecting compensation for damage to their homes.

It all happened back in 1940 when orders were issued to evacuate the town and the houses flooded by the army as an anti-invasion measure.

When the owners were presented recently with a stiff bill for drainage during the emergency period, they protested to the government. The appeals, however, were rejected on the grounds they had been made too late.

"It's not our fault a protest wasn't lodged sooner," said Harold Excell, secretary of the residents. "The demand for tax payment has just been made. We were kept away from our homes for four years. During that time the military blew holes in sea defences we had paid for. We have no intention of being saddled with this debt."

US Air Force Introducing Parachute With A Brain

DAYTON, O., Aug. 25 (AP). — Now the U.S. Air Force comes up with a parachute that has a built-in brain.

This brainy aerial umbrella is a new automatic back-type model that knows just when and where to open itself in high-speed, high-altitude jumps.

This is a big help to pilots of today's swifter military airplanes. Dropping from fast planes at high altitudes with open parachutes is hazardous.

The opening of the parachute at high speeds or at high altitudes gives the jumper severe shock, there is a lack of oxygen, extreme cold and vulnerability to enemy fire.

But it is also dangerous to jump from such a plane and withhold opening the chute until reaching a safe altitude. You may fail to pull the chute open at the right time, or fail to pull it at all because of injury or unconsciousness due to lack of oxygen.

The new parachute takes the dangers from free-fall jumps. All the pilot has to do is to get out of the plane and pull a handle connected by cable to an automatic release.

From there on, the chute takes over itself, opening only after the airman has fallen to a safe distance. It works with both a timer and an element operating by pressure at a given altitude.

Red China Demands U.S. Leave Formosa

LAKE SUCESS, N.Y., Aug. 25 —(AP)—Russia's Jakob A. Malik is expected to throw the explosive Formosan question into United Nations Security Council discussions today.

Chou En-lai, Red China's foreign minister, gave Malik an opening Thursday by sending cables to him and to Trygve Lee, U.N. secretary-general, demanding the ouster of American forces from the island controlled now by the Chinese Nationalists. The cables also announced Communist intentions to "liberate" Formosa from "United States aggressors."

Belgium Frees Dutch Rebel From Singapore

BRUSSELS, Aug. 25 (Reuters)—Capt. Raymond (Turk) Westerling, wanted by the Indonesian government as a rebel, was released from custody in Belgium Thursday night, after Belgium authorities had tried unsuccessfully to deport him to Luxembourg.

Westerling had flown to Brussels earlier in the day from Singapore, stopping briefly in Cairo.

The 34-year-old Dutch former commando who trained at Stratford, Ont., early in the second world war, was arrested after he escaped to Singapore by seaplane last February after leading his "Army of the Heavenly Host" in a rebellion in Java, and capturing the city of Bandoeng.

He was deported from Singapore last Tuesday, after spending six months in jail there. Indonesian authorities tried unsuccessfully to have him turned over to them for trial.

Taken Into Custody

Shortly after his arrival in Brussels Thursday, Belgian police took Westerling into custody. He spent several hours in a cell, and then was driven in a police car to the Luxembourg frontier, under guard.

Luxembourg border authorities refused to let him in.

After a hurried consultation at the Belgian Ministry of Justice, it was announced that Westerling's status had been reconsidered. His release was ordered.

A Justice Ministry official said: "Westerling will be considered a free man in Belgium provided he enters into no political activity, and his presence in the country does not provoke incidents. He must keep out of the way."

Rail Strike Affects Industrial Stocks

TORONTO, Aug. 25 (CP) — Market leaders continued sliding into lower ground on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Losses were heaviest in early dealings and some recovery tendencies appeared in mid-session. Volume for the first three hours was 529,000 shares.

The industrial list paced the second successive session of decline as the rail strike began to affect industry. Papers showed an almost solid list of losses and steels, utilities, liquors and refining oils were lower. Early losses ranged up to more than a point but a mild mid-session recovery move reduced declines to fractions. Foods and a few banks and textiles found moderate support.

Base metals declined over a broad front with the big-four in the industry—Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Hudson Bay and Noranda—pacing the losers. Ascot Corp., attracted considerable attention for a good gain.

Golds backed down quietly from recent advances. Seniors lost fractions and juniors showed declines ranging up to five cents.

Western oils opened strong dipped into minus ground and then recovered in mid-session.

DESTROYED—but not lost

Homes razed by fire can be rebuilt with funds provided from Fire Insurance. It's folly to risk losing everything . . . when low premiums can protect.

First UK Troops Sail For Korea

HONG KONG, Aug. 25 (Reuters).—Britain's first contingent of troops for Korea sailed today.

The 1st battalions of the Middlesex Regiment, aboard the aircraft carrier Unicorn, and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, aboard the cruiser Ceylon, pulled away from the dock at 6 p.m. local time.

They had gone up the gangplanks in high spirits—with bands playing, pipes skirling shrilly and grins on most faces.

They left from Kowloon, on the Chinese mainland, opposite the island colony of Hong Kong where they have been on garrison duty.

The British commissioner for Southeast Asia, Rt. Hon. Malcolm Macdonald, addressed the men briefly as they lined up in full field-service kit, carrying rifles, before going aboard.

Speaking from the deck of the cruiser Ceylon under a glaring sun, he told men of the Argylls drawn up on the wharf below that they would soon drive the Communists out of South Korea "and take a look at North Korea too."

GI Allies

Then the South Korean 6th Infantry Division stopped them as the Reds had been stopped by Allied troops in four stabs at the alley. The new battle swirled around the village of Chongno, 25 miles north of Taegu and seven miles east of Kunwi.

At the same time, American and South Korean troops rammed back a light tank-supported attack north of Kumhwa, 12 miles north of Taegu at the entrance of the alley.

This is the corridor where the defending Allies beat back vicious Red assaults earlier in the week.

Hold Their Ground

Gen. MacArthur's final war summary for Friday said the Allied defenders held their ground.

While this baffled threat to Taegu from the north dominated the whole Korean battle scene, the southwestern front before Masan blazed with tank-led combat. The fighting there was so close that hand-grenades were used by American infantrymen.

Action there was limited to day-long indecisive fighting for the saw-toothed heights of Sobuk near Tundok.

Intelligence reports indicated a second Communist thrust was building toward Masan port and the important harbor of Pusan, 27 air miles east of the costal city.

In the east, two South Korean units—the 3rd and Capitol divisions—jumped off in a co-ordinated attack, supported by naval gunfire, against the first extensive defensive positions erected by the Reds north of Pohang port on the sea of Japan.

The 3rd division struck north of Hunghau, about five miles north of Pohang. The Capitol division hit at Yonggi to the west of there.

Now Down Wedge

On the central front above Taegu, air and artillery bashing whipped down a Communist wedge behind Allied lines from an original force of 1,000 to an estimated 200.

The wedge had been formed by infiltrating Reds who took a ridge threatening supply lines of the U.S. 27th infantry (Wolfhound) regiment.

At MacArthur's headquarters it was presumed the eliminated 800 Reds were dead or wounded. Few prisoners were reported taken.

The new Red thrust at Chongno by an estimated two regiments north of Taegu was considered a major effort by MacArthur's headquarters in Tokyo.

It was preceded by an intensive artillery and mortar bombardment heralding the thrust of infantrymen.

South Koreans Holding

An American general staff officer said "a slight penetration" of South Korean lines was made before dawn but by noon Friday the South Koreans were holding.

Behind the 6,000-man Red striking force two full divisions have been identified. They are the crack Red 1st and 8th divisions.

The 1st, which led much of the 240-mile drive down the peninsula in the two months of war, had been kept in a position where it could be used to exploit a break-through. It has stood ready to follow through in the "Bowling Alley" until the forward Red probers were thrown back four times in five days and gave up there.

The Chongo battle lines are astride a main highway and railroad running from Uisong to Yongchon, to the east of Taegu and linked to it by another major road.

More Favorable Route

This route is more favorable to the attackers than the mountain road through Kumwha, although the distance is greater. The road to Yongchon runs through a considerable stretch of fairly-flat terrain good for tank fighting.

Long guns of the Red tanks are being used as artillery. Headquarters said this may mean the Reds are short of field pieces because of American counter-fire in the Kumwha corridor for the last five days.

OBITUARIES

MRS. JOE LE MAY

Mrs. Joe Le May, the former Martha Jory, 83, formerly of Lakefield, died Thursday at the residence of her son, Cephas Jory, of Toronto. Her husband, the late Joe Le May, predeceased her.

She leaves one son, Cephas, of Toronto, one brother, Samuel Jory, and one sister, Mrs. C. McCoy, both of Vancouver.

Funeral service will be held at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield, on Sunday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

WILLIAM W. W. DEAN

William Warren Weller Dean, 66, of Lakefield, died on Thursday at the Peterborough Civic Hospital following a short illness. He was born and educated in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Dean and grandson of the late Judge C. A. Weller. His wife, Jane Hope predeceased him.

Mr. Dean has resided in Lakefield for two years where he was the bursar of the Lakefield Preparatory School and a member of St. John's Anglican Church. Before coming to Lakefield, he resided in Alexandria, Ontario.

He leaves one son, W. W. Dean of Pointe Claire, Quebec and two sister, Mrs. F. C. Anderson of Peterborough and Mrs. L. B. Kingston of Quebec City.

Funeral service will be held from the Hendren funeral home to St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, Saturday at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Little Lake Cemetery, Peterborough.

MRS. HOMER O. FISKE

Mrs. Minnie E. Fiske, 204 McDonnel St., died on Friday at her residence following a lengthy illness. She was born and educated in Peterborough, daughter of the late Col. J. W. Junior Farmers Given Banquet

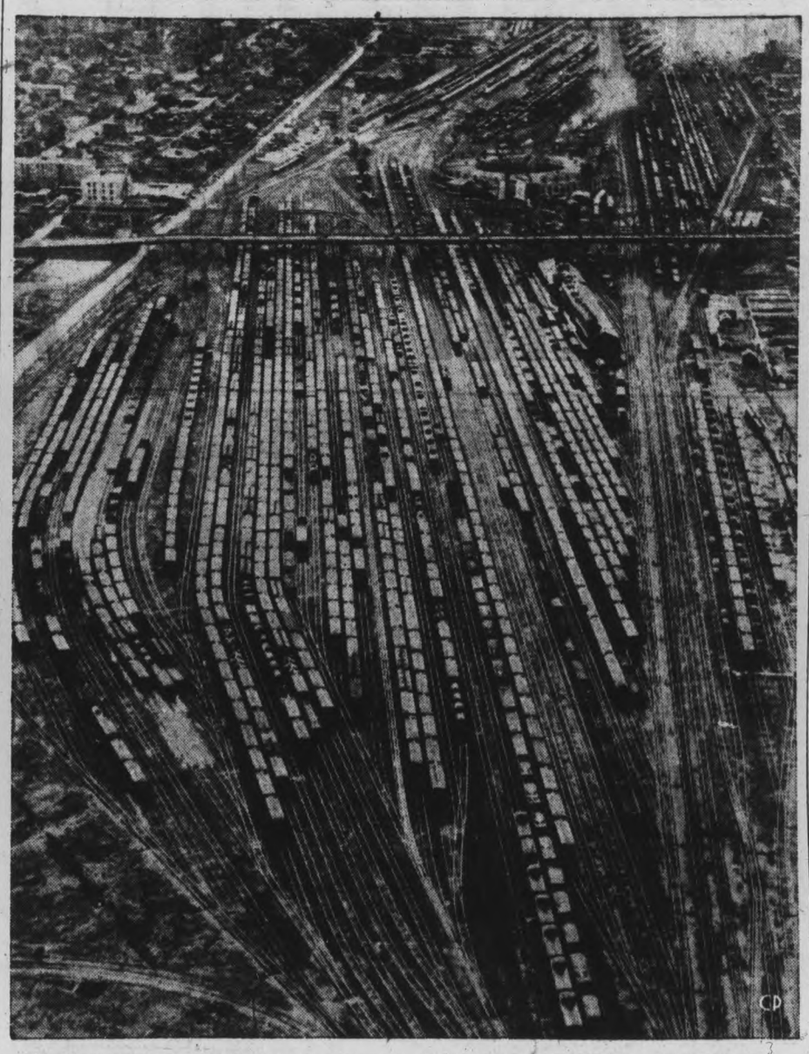
Some 300 junior farmers were the guests of Canada Packers at dinner in the Kawartha room of the Empress Hotel Thursday evening. The dinner was a happy interlude in Junior Farmers' Day at the Peterborough Exhibition.

Gordon S. Matthews, manager of Canada Packers in Peterborough, was host to the young people from six counties. With Mr. Matthews at the head table were Miss Evelyn Scott, Mrs. Roy A. Dixon, Miss Kay Veale, Jean M. Scott, Elise Wells, Elsie M. Irwin, Robert E. Bell, A. Murray McRae, Donald Milburn, Miss C. McMillen, F. Paterson, A. M. Barr, A. A. Starr, C. C. Morrow and Roy Brown.

A sing-song followed dinner, with Charles Allen at the piano. Results of the junior farmers judging—boys and girls—were announced. (Reported on another page.)



STRIKE BOUND—Hundreds of railway cars Tuesday were left idle in the Canadian Pacific Railway yards at Winnipeg when Canada's two railway unions went out on strike. Some 124,000 non-operating employees walked off the job when wages-hours negotiations broke down in Montreal. These are the main marshalling yards—the biggest in the British Empire.

Meet Chiefs

After coming out of the Prime Minister's office, Mr. Hall made a long-distance telephone call and then left the east block with Mr. Mosher.

Asked how long the union heads would remain in Ottawa, Mr. Hall said "for some time."

After the union leaders had left the Prime Minister came out of his office briefly at 12:25 p.m. and told reporters he had no statement. He said he would be meeting heads of the railways at 4 p.m., but did not know if he would have a statement after that meeting.

He was asked if he would be seeing the union men again during the afternoon, but he said he had no comment on that.

Mr. St. Laurent then returned to his office where he continued discussions with Transport Minister Chevrier and Labor Minister Gregg, who had sat in on the meeting with the union officials.

With Mr. Hall and Mr. Mosher were several Canadian chiefs of the unions engaged in the strike, under way since Tuesday.

Informed sources said Mr. St. Laurent probably will call on both sides to get back into negotiations immediately.

The Prime Minister might tell the warring union chiefs, these sources suggested, to do their best to come back with a settlement in 24 hours.

Behind that admonition would be the knowledge that the government is preparing strike-ending legislation to be dealt with at an emergency session of parliament opening Tuesday, though informants thought it highly unlikely that Mr. St. Laurent would disclose the actual nature of the legislation to the disputants.

The Prime Minister, who called both parties in Thursday, had meetings down for 11 a.m. EDT with the union officers and for 4 p.m. with the heads of the railways. Both sides had accepted invitations to meet him, along with Transport Minister Chevrier and Labor Minister Gregg.

The newest step of the government was said by labor old-timers here to be unprecedented in Canadian labor relations, though there is plenty of precedent for it in the United States. The U.S. president often has mediated directly in potential strikes affecting the coal, steel and rail industries.

In the 1948 threat of a general rail strike, Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell—who died Aug. 1—worked out a settlement through personal mediation. That did not involve the Prime Minister directly.

Disqus New Offer

At Montreal, the Gazette says today in a newspage story that Frank Hall, chairman of the negotiating committee has discussed with Montreal strike committees a new offer to Canadian carriers.

The paper adds that Mr. Hall will present the union demands to Mr. St. Laurent today.

The Gazette says the new proposals were as follows:

1. A general hourly wage increase of five cents an hour for all employees, including hotel and express company workers. (Original) demands of the unions were seven cents for the international unions and 10 cents for the Canadian brotherhoods.)

2. The introduction of the 40-hour week, possibly on Sept. 1, 1951, although this date was also mentioned by the unions at their final meeting with mediator Dr. Mackintosh before negotiations broke off.

3. Union members are also willing to reconsider their demands for a one-cent cost of living bonus for every point the index may rise during the term of the contract—provided the companies will meet their demand for a two-year contract instead of the three-year agreement offered by the railways at the final meeting.

committee on civil defence is being established, and that the federal government will issue a mahual of instruction on civil defence problems.

The question of responsibility for civil defence in emergency will be further studied, as will the question of financial responsibility for key personnel and equipment.

The resulting organizations will also be able to cope with such disasters as the Manitoba floods this spring. One principle recognized at the conference was that all the organizations should come under the civilian authority.

Customs Seize Sweep Tickets

FORT ERIE, Ont., Aug. 25 — (CP).—Canadian customs officials Thursday seized 100,000 sweepstakes tickets, the largest such haul ever made at this border point.

The tickets, on a Dec. 22 race in Kingston, Jamaica, were found in a customs check of a car driven by Charles Boncore, 47, a Buffalo, N. Y., taxi driver. They were turned over to Fort Erie police.

Boncore was charged with importing printed matter relating to gambling and was released on $1,000 cash bail. Trial date was set at Aug. 31.

Boncore told police he met two men in Buffalo who asked him to drive the package to the Canadian end of the Ambassador bridge in Niagara Falls, where a man would claim them.

The tickets bore the markings of the Royal Jockey Club of Jamaica. Police said they were genuine. Many other bogus sweepstakes tickets have been found in the area in recent months.

Miss Mary Wilson Buried At Burnbrae

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 25 — (ENS).—The funeral of Miss Mary Agnes Wilson, Seymour township, was held today at 2:30 p.m., Rev. William Turner, of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae, officiating.

Miss Wilson died Aug. 23 at her farm house home on concession 8 where she had lived all her life. She had been ill some time.

Miss Wilson was a member of Burnbrae Church and had been very active in church women's organizations.

She was the daughter of the late Stewart Wilson and Elizabeth Pitceathly. She received her education at Shea's school.

Miss Wilson is survived by two sisters, Miss Emma Wilson, at home, and Miss Margaret Wilson, Belleville.

Burial was in Burnbrae cemetery. Pallbearers were Fred Hay, Lorne Hay, William Miller, Lindsay Anderson, John Clough and Harry Petherick.

Campbellford Boards 21,028 Lbs. Of Cheese

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 25 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Cheese Board announced at a regular meeting Thursday night that the board had sold 21,028 pounds of all white cheese at 21 11-16 cents a pound fob Campbellford.

Complete Course

TORONTO, Aug. 25—(CP)—Twenty-five lay preachers Thursday completed a three-month summer course sponsored by the United Church of Canada. They come from all parts of the Dominion—and most are stuck here until the rail strike ends.

Becher Gale Dies

GRAVENHURST, Aug. 25 — (CP)—Becher R. Gale, vice-president and general sales manager, of the Rexall Drug Company died at his summer home near here Thursday. Mr. Gale represented Canada as an oarsman at the 1912 Olympic games in Stockholm and was a former member of Toronto Argonaut football teams.

Ask Order Quashing Guild Certification

TORONTO, Aug. 25 (CP).—The Globe and Mail asked today for an Ontario Supreme Court order quashing the recent certification of the Toronto Newspaper Guild (CIO) as bargaining agent for circulation department employees.

The Guild was certified July 20 by the Ontario Labor Relations Board, which later rejected two Globe and Mail requests for a review of the decision. The newspaper contends that a majority of the certified employees are not Guild members in good standing.

Emergency Plans Bogging Down

TORONTO, Aug. 25—(CP)—A spokesman for Southern Ontario trucking companies said Thursday emergency rail-strike facilities are in danger of bogging down.

G. M. Parke, president of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario said in a statement that truckers agree "this weekend may well be the straw that breaks the camel's back."

But serious trouble can be avoided if steps are taken to relieve the increasing congestion of highway-transport facilities, he said after an emergency meeting of Toronto truckers.

"Shippers and receivers can help in this great crisis by extending their normal receiving hours Friday night until at least 10 p.m. By so doing they will let us empty our vehicles and thus be ready to continue our 24-hour emergency transport operation," he said.

Will Recondition 50 Bombers

TORONTO, Aug. 25.—Nearly 50 Lancaster bombers will soon be reconditioned in Toronto to serve with RCAF squadrons patrolling the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Factory space is being readied at Malton and Downsview where Avro Canada and de Havilland Aircraft will undertake the task of de-mothballing.

The heavy, four-engined craft are being drawn from storage at Malton and at several RCAF stations. They will be converted for long-range maritime reconnaissance duties.

Due to the pressure of accelerated jet fighter production, Avro has engaged de Havilland as a sub-contractor. Within two weeks the first Lancaster hulls will be drawn by tractor from Malton to Downsview.

Others will be flown here from RCAF bases and go directly to the de Havilland airfield.

The bombers were built in Canada late in the war by Victory Aircraft, predecessor of the Avro Company. Some were left in open storage at Malton and some went to government depots.

Despite their eventual engagement in coastal patrol, the aircraft will not be fitted here with anti-submarine weapons. They will be modified merely for long-range, all-weather operation.

Continent Immobilized?

What a nasty laugh the Communist world will give, a great bear laugh, if the richest, most developed of all the continents, and the main force of resistance to Communist ways, were to stand still next Monday! An American railway strike added to the strike in Canada would immobilize North America. Is this the way democracies defend their way of life? Do they want to eat up, like parasites, the very bones which have made them powerful: to shut down industries deprived by the strike of raw materials and unable to ship their manufactured products, to keep food from stores and tables, to put men out of work, to disrupt if not stop communication across and up and down this continent? The freedom in democracies, such as the freedom to strike, must be limited short of destroying the democracies.

2,000 Church Pies

For many years St. James United Church in the south ward has run a restaurant tent at the Peterborough Exhibition. It is doing so again this year, and the good ladies of the church are now up to their elbows in the work They expect to make 2,000 pies during the four days, baking them right on the premises. The 2,000 pies will provide for ten or twelve thousand full-course meals which they are geared to serve. It is a lot of pies, a lot of meals, and a lot of hard work. But work in a good cause—filling hungry mouths and needy coffers of the church—never seems to tire the faithful, energetic women of our churches.

All through the district one of the favourite ways of raising money for the church is through food: strawberry festivals, pot-luck suppers, St. Patrick's Day teas, and Fowl Suppers. Oh! the fowl suppers we have sat in on. To think of them makes us groan with pleasure. There were those at Knox church: one evening some years back the ladies fed a thousand mouths, in relays. Was that the year the full-course turkey dinner was 35 cents? No, perhaps it was fifty then. Fowl suppers at All Saints, teas at Trinity, and church meals all over the country, from Buckhorn to Madoc, from Ennismore to Roseneath.

Thus the good women of the church help to pay off the mortgage, get the church decorated, provide choir gowns, furnish the manse or build up an altar fund. At the same time, these affairs are highly social events: as much fun, gossip, and festivity almost for the workers as for the paying guests. Incidentally, the menfolk of the church do not get off scot-free. Though they may not be serving at table, they have probably set up the tables, drawn the fowl chopped the wood or (be it whispered) had a hand in the dishwater.

With pies, salads, escalloped potatoes and ham the church goes marching on.

Much Too Long

If union and company heads are going to sit with folded hands; if the Cabinet is going to wait for Parliament; if Parliament is to convene only next Tuesday, and if it takes Parliament the usual time to debate an issue, the railway stoppage is likely to continue for weeks. That is much too long a time.

The calling of Parliament is not a panacea for the ills that are upon us right now, after only a few days of the strike. Negotiations and planning should continue at white heat, even though Parliament comes together on Tuesday. One day lopped off the strike time means much to the life of this country.

Why should Parliament delay until Tuesday in these days of rapid air transport? There is not one of the 259 members so distant that he could not have reached Ottawa by tonight—even Opposition Leader George Drew, who was in Italy Wednesday. Temporary arrangements could have been made for their accommodation in Ottawa. It is no great trick to clear 250 hotel rooms of tourists and other unessential visitors to the capital in this time of emergency. The authorities seem to be lackadaisical in assembling Parliament, even though the Prime Minister was quick in his decision that a session should be held.

An Astonishing Letter

We received in the mail the other day the most illegal letter we have ever had through His Majesty's Canadian Post. It bore first-class postage, of course (in these strike days) and was sealed. It came from a company in Dublin. "Dear Sir: We are taking this opportunity of writing you as you may be interested to purchase a lucky Irish Sweep ticket from us on the coming Cambridgeshire Sweepstake . . . Tickets and receipts for same can be sent by return Air Mail—price two dollars . . . . "

Now, we had no prior communication with this company, nor have we ever bought an Irish Sweepstake ticket, even from a nook-and-cranny vendor in Peterborough. It was sucker-bait, and our address must have been picked out of a directory. The astonishing thing was not that we had a letter from an unheard-of firm; we get personally-addressed letters every day from the queerest corners about the zaniest subject. It was that the sale, or solicitation for sale, of sweepstake tickets is illegal in Canada, and it is a criminal offence to use the mails for these purposes. What can prevent any outside person or firm from trying to extract a couple of dollars from Canadian residents for a sweepstake ticket we do not know, short of censoring all letters that come into the country. And could Canada prosecute a Dublin firm for using our mails illegally?

We studied the enclosed thin sheet advertising the prize lists, and its tempting slogans: "Each prize unit £60,000" "Cash prizes of £100". Consolation Prizes of £10 each". "The Most Exciting, Pleasing, Economical Gift is an Irish Sweep ticket". "Chicagoan wins $70,000 in Sweep". We were not lured into sending the Dublin firm $2. Our eighty-year-old aunt has been buying the tickets ever since she rode her first pony, has never won a nickel, and she is the most unexciting, unpleasant, and tight-fisted aunt we ever had. Make her a gift of a sweep ticket? Not on a hundred Galcadors.

At the bottom of the leaflet is this pious assertion: "Every subscriber to the Irish Sweeps has assisted in the healing of the sick poor". Pooh! We don't believe many pennies from our aunt's tickets ever reached the Irish hospitals. Most of them are probably lining the pockets of some gyp dealer. Anyway, why should Canadians, using illegal means, keep the Irish hospitals going? If the Irish can't get along with their own means of support, let them join Britain and get in under the National Health Scheme, where everything is as free as air and taxes.

Hooping Along

We had almost forgotten that every vigorous youngster used to do it, until we saw a boy in action in a small fishing village along the Lower St. Lawrence. There he was with his broom-handle, like the child of twenty years ago, bowling a hoop along the street. Hooping has gone out of fashion. Is it because the hoops themselves have gone, or that the present youngsters enjoy more mechanical, more passive recreation, like listening to television, going to the movies, or making jet planes? This lad with his hoop was a nostalgic sight, and as joyously energetic, self-absorbed, and fascinating as a puppy chasing a bird in flight.

Stewardess Beauties

We note with some astonishment that a Canadian air-line stewardess has lost out in a London-centred beauty contest to an Icelandic girl. The young ladies acting as hostesses and nursemaids on Canadian planes seem in our eyes to be the cream-puff of the svelte. (We are not quite sure what svelte means in the world of fashionable beauty but presume it suggests stream-lined as a four-engine plane, and as golden as the best butter-fat.) If the Icelandic lassies win over the Canadian stewardesses, we promise ourself a jaunt in an Icelandic air-liner as soon as possible.

Canadian stewardesses combine the qualities of suave hostesses pouring tea and solicitous nurses holding the tremulous hands of up-in-the-air patients. Trans-Canada Airlines, we have noticed, has two specialities for the succour and amusement of its passengers: the stewardesses and the signs in both French and English. The most piquant is in the wash-room, over a set of cardboard containers. It reads: Vomitoire.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Some science students are setting out to prove that mermaids once existed. Wonderful what mere man will do.

A "mercy train" is going to be allowed through to Atikokan in northwestern Ontario. The quality of mercy is entrained.

Children's day at the Peterborough Exhibition was somewhat different from other years. In times gone by the hot-dogs were a nickel, and so were the rides. But then children did not go through the gates with a dollar clutched in their little eager hands.

Forced Labour In USSR

By EDWARD CRANKSHAW

THE terrible story of forced labour in Soviet Russia was brought one stage nearer to the light when the British and American delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council at Geneva, last week tabled new evidence of the extent and growth of the system.

It is proving a laborious and difficult process to make the charges stick. Everybody who has lived and worked in Russia knows all about the existence of forced labour on a monstrous scale and operated in appalling conditions. But what the individual could not know was the extent of the system and the way in which its victims were chosen. The Soviet Government never denied the existence of forced labour in principle. Those who had seen it in operation knew very well that the system had reached vast proportions and that the labour camps held many millions, most of them condemned without any formal charge, or sentenced for actions which would not be considered an offence in any other country than Russia, to what amounted to slow death. But formal proof of this was difficult, if not impossible, to come by.

LAST year, however, the evidence of eye-witnesses began to be supported by authentic documents. In October, Mr. Christopher Mayhew, then British Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, also at Geneva, produced a photostat copy of the Corrective Labour Codex of the Russian Federated Republic dated August 1, 1933, and printed in volume 9 of the collected laws, ordinances and decrees of the R.S.F.S.R. (Russian Federated Republic) dated 1940. These showed the categories of forced labour and the offences punishable by it.

Faced with these documents the Russians had to change their ground and claim that the victims were common criminals. But in February of this year, again at Geneva, the representative of the American Federation of Labour, Miss Sender came forward with more documents and sworn affidavits to show the sort of people the Soviet Government classed as criminals. Her evidence related particularly to deportees from the Baltic States. Nobody knows how many of these there are, but as early as 1946, at the notorious Vorkhuta camps in the Arctic tundra, there were known to be 100,000 Lithuanians, 60,000 Latvians and 60,000 Estonians. Since then there have been repeated waves of deportations to make good the losses from the high mortality rate.

MISS SENDER was able to table documents showing who these people were. One highly confidential document of which she produced a photostat copy, listed the various categories of Lithuanians, Latvians and Esthonians who were to be arrested by the Soviet M.V.D. (Soviet Security Police) and sent away to forced labour in the Russian interior. These included, besides "prominent members of the anti-Communist Parties", Social Democrats, Liberals, small farmers, active members of Jewish organizations, "mystics, such as Free Masons and Theosophists", industrialists, wholesale merchants, "owners of large houses", shipowners, owners of hotels and restaurants, "persons who have been in the diplomatic service", permanent representatives of foreign commercial firms, and "relatives of persons who have escaped abroad". In other words, the whole body of Baltic middle class society. These are the sort of people referred to by the Russians and their apologists as criminals. In fact, as everybody knows who has gone into the matter at all, the common criminal occupies a position of privilege and authority in the Soviet labour camps, invariably being used to supervise the masses of the slave workers, who are the unfortunate "politicals".

✧ ✧ ✧

NOW come Mr. Corley Smith and Mr. Walter Kotschigg, the British and American delegates at the current session of the Economic And Social Council, with further documents proving the extension of forced labour to the satellites, above all Czechoslovakia, and throwing still more light on the Soviet idea of crime. For example, if a Soviet soldier deserts and seeks refuge abroad "the remaining adult members of the traitor's family and those living with him or dependent on him at the time of the commission of the crime are liable to....exile to the remote areas of Siberia for a period of five years".

For all who know anything about the Soviet system, these documents merely confirm what they knew. But they are invaluable to convince unbelievers and to refute the Russian denials.

IN the face of all these charges, the Soviet Government has consistently refused any sort of commission of investigation and stolidly maintained that its forced labour system is simply the Soviet equivalent of, for example, the British penal system. At the same time it refuses to publish its penal statistics. Since it is now circumstantially proved beyond all doubt that there are at least 10,000,000 people in the USSR wearing out their curtailed days in punitive labour under inconceivable conditions, with hunger as the only incentive, it is understandable that the Soviet Government should shrink from an enquiry. Doubtless it will seek to block the new proposal that a United Nations committee should be set up to sift the evidence from the outside.

For the evidence is damning. It will show that the Soviet Government is so afraid of the Russian people that it has to rule with a terror of unprecedented harshness and comprehensiveness, or else that the MVD has got so completely out of hand that it has developed a vested interest in slave labour which cannot be broken without breaking the whole economy of the USSR. Even in 1940 the MVD was responsible for 14 per cent. of all capital construction in Russia, including the building and maintenance of all paved trunk roads, the building of all new railways in remote areas, and innumerable construction projects, such as dams and power stations. In addition, it was responsible for a high proportion of all Soviet mining, including 75 per cent. of the gold mining. And all this was in the days before the camps were replenished with waves of prisoners from Poland, the Baltic, States, and later, whole populations from disaffected areas in the USSR—e.g. the Crimean Tartars and the Chechens and, later still, by deportees from the East European States and Eastern Germany.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Hear my cry, O God; attend unto my prayer . . . I will abide in thy tabernacle for ever; I will trust in the covert of thy wings. Selah, (Ps. 61:1,4.)

My soul shall be satisfied as with marrow and fatness; and my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips; when I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches. Because thou hast been my help, therefore in the shadow of thy wings will I rejoice. (Ps. 63:5-7).

✧ ✧ ✧

Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the isles afar off, and say, He that scattereth Israel will gather him, and keep him, as a shepherd doth his flock. For the Lord hath redeemed Jacob, and ransomed him from the hand of him that was stronger than he. Therefore they shall come and sing in the height of Zion, and shall flow together to the goodness of the Lord, for wheat, and for wine, and for oil, and for the young of the flock and of the herd; and their soul shall be as a watered garden; and they shall not sorrow any more at all . . . And there shall dwell in Judah itself, and in all the cities thereof together, husbandmen, and they that go forth with flocks.

For I have satiated the weary soul, and I have replenished every sorrowful soul. (Jer. 31:10-12,24,25.)

What Our Contemporaries Say About the Railway Strike

(A CANADIAN PRESS SURVEY)

OTTAWA CITIZEN: Mediation might have succeeded had it been undertaken sooner. Precious days were lost when the rail companies took the unfortunate course of making a "final offer"—couched in terms that served only to arouse the resentment of the unions and make a settlement that much more difficult. Since then the railways have offered concessions that go a long way to meet the major demands of the unions....with these concessions assured, to settle by negotiation ....should not be impossible.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE LONDON (ONT.) FREE PRESS: The general public will be inclined to agree with Dr. W. A. Mackintosh the federal mediator, that both unions and management have acted childishly. Certainly there has been little appreciation of the responsibility which should attend such negotiations. The public wants justice done and fair treatment all around. But it seems that the interested people can hardly agree on what is.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONTREAL GAZETTE: It is quite evident, even after two days of a railway strike, that this type of disruption to the life of the nation cannot be allowed to take place. The railways are too fundamental to the economy of the country, and the ramifications of a strike are far too widespread for the Federal Government, which must be concerned with the welfare of the country and all its people to contemplate the recurrence of such a strike....It is evident that legislation will be enacted to meet such difficulties from now on.

✧ ✧ ✧

WINNIPEG FREE PRESS: Few, it is clear from talks with railway workers, wanted the strike....It is time that the reasonable and intelligent individuals who make up the bulk of the railway workers of this country applied their good sense to a solution. Every day of strike will make a solution more difficult and will bear with greater weight upon the people of this country.

✧ ✧ ✧

CALGARY ALBERTAN: Substantially higher wages, followed by very much higher freight rates, are the alternative to a strike. Canada cannot afford either of them, and the unions are to blame for trying to force them on the nation. But in the end they will be much less disastrous than a lengthy strike. It is unfortunate that the unions insist on such cruel terms, but they do, and (assuming that they would compromise further as Dr. Mackintosh said they must) Canada must accept their terms as the lesser of the two evils.

SAINT JOHN TELEGRAPH-JOURNAL: It is to be hoped that good common sense will prevail and that the unions and management of the railways will get together again and find a solution to their differences before the government has to exercise emergency powers. A voluntary agreement would be best for all concerned.

WINDSOR DAILY STAR: When parliamentarians assemble, people will expect them to speak up. They shouldn't mince words or be mealy-mouthed when the welfare of the entire nation is at stake....By the time parliament meets, public opinion will have crystalized....A vehement public opinion will help bring to the parties involved a realization they should agree on a fair compromise, and soon.

✧ ✧ ✧

WINNIPEG TRIBUNE: The thousands upon thousands of people who stand to suffer inconvenience, and later possible loss of employment, will join in the sincere hope that mediation will continue, and that both sides to the present dispute will continue to keep contact looking to a time of early compromise.

✧ ✧ ✧

TORONTO GLOBE AND MAIL: The government has acted with commendable discretion. By refusing to intervene, it has brought the basic issues squarely before the people, who, in the final analysis, are the ones most affected. Moreover, the government has remained free to take whatever steps are necessary "to protect", in the prime minister's words, "the vital interests of the whole national community."

✧ ✧ ✧

VANCOUVER DAILY PROVINCE: If the Canadian people suffer severely from this strike—and they will suffer severely if it is prolonged—they can lay the blame squarely on the shoulders of the government that could have prevented the disaster and should have prevented it but that proved too ineffective and too pusillanimous to take action.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONCTON TIMES: This is the gravest development, short of full-scale war, to overtake this Dominion since Confederation. And wherever the responsibility for precipitating it lies, the action is definitely and clearly against the best interests of Canada as a nation.

✧ ✧ ✧

HALIFAX CHRONICLE-HERALD: It is not just what the prime minister intends to convey by the statement that "the government will have to act to protect the vital interests of the whole national community" in this crisis. Whatever the course may be, it should not entertain any doubts about the power and authority of the government .... in any situation where "the security, defence, peace, order and welfare of Canada" is involved.

✧ ✧ ✧

CHARLOTTETOWN GUARDIAN: Recriminations with regard to the failure of the workers and management to settle their differences are useless at this stage. What stands out lamentably is the failure of the Dominion government to face what it now declares to be a national emergency.

✧ ✧ ✧

EDMONTON JOURNAL: Parliament is the proper place to review and deal with a national emergency such as this. Members of the House are all consumers and affected directly or indirectly by the stoppage of railway services. Some of them are shippers and some are railway employees and they will be able to speak with first-hand knowledge of matters in dispute.

✧ ✧ ✧

EDMONTON BULLETIN: The Crux of this strike situation is not wages nor hours of work nor railway revenues, but constantly increasing commodity prices. Only the government can control that factor. But the government, delaying all effective action beyond the point of reason, appears to have said to the people of Canada....'The public be damned.' Prime Minister St. Laurent has called an immediate session of parliament. That session should have been called six weeks ago.

✧ ✧ ✧

SYDNEY POST-RECORD: It is pitiful that this situation was brought about through the wilful refusal of a few union leaders to comply with the government's reasonable and courteously worded request for the thirty-day postponement that well might have given time for a settlement fair to both the railway companies and their employees. The public certainly wants a settlement that is fair to both sides and one not weighted unduly in favour of just one side in the dispute.

✧ ✧ ✧

TORONTO STAR: It has been suggested that a law may be enacted which will provide for an arbitration binding upon the companies and their employees. Labor unions have always been hostile to this principle. It might be limited to industries in which a strike precipitates a national emergency. But the problem is....how to force 124,000 men to sell their labor if they do not want to sell it.

✧ ✧ ✧

FORT WILLIAM JOURNAL: Since every hour of every day which is added to the strike period brings increasing hardships to Canadians everywhere, members of all parties have a solemn obligation to expedite proceedings in the House designed to get the men and the railway companies into a working agreement. Any attempt to debate the situation at great length would be comparable to fiddling by Nero when Rome was burning.

✧ ✧ ✧

PORT ARTHUR NEWS-CHRONICLE: The strike emphasizes the isolation in which many of the country's communities live. Large numbers of people have communication with the outside only by rail. From all of them comes a clamor, fully justified, for alternatives.

✧ ✧ ✧

HAMILTON SPECTATOR: If the elected representatives of the people accept no direct responsibility in this, it is hard to know in what field they can accept any responsibility at all....It is a rough commentary on our state of political futility to note that both socialist Britain and free enterprise America have used direct and effective action in such emergencies—not by calling parliament but by established machinery to protect the vital interests of the public.

✧ ✧ ✧

VANCOUVER SUN—The country isn't at peace. It will rapidly be thrown into disorder. Good government requires prompt remedies. It is nonsense to say that the railways and the unions can't agree. They must agree. They will agree—sooner or later—and public interest must compel them to agree without waiting for the rails to rust.

✧ ✧ ✧

TORONTO TELEGRAM: Interruption of vital public services by strike action cannot be condoned. While labor employed in such services is entitled to recognition of its justifiable claims, it must look for enforcement of those claims to proceedings before a competent tribunal. Strike action involves it in warfare upon the public, which labor itself should be alert to avoid.

Cobourg Independent Of Transport By Rail

COBOURG, Aug. 25 —(ENS)— The full impact of the railroad strike has not yet been felt in Cobourg and is not expected to reach the proportions of other centres more dependent on the railroads.

Cobourg is fortunate in that a rich farming country surrounds this lakeshore town on three sides, practically on the outskirts of the municipality. Farm produce, meat and other necessities of life are within short trucking distance. Farmers with livestock to sell have been for years trucking them to Toronto and do not depend on the railroads for shipping facilities.

Milk too, has been sent by truck for many years. Being located on one of the main highway arteries, Cobourg has used transports extensively.

Some of the industries ship most of their manufactured goods by rail but it will not be difficult to substitute transport carriage. The local gas depots get gasoline from lake tankers and Cobourg service stations will not face any gasoline famine if the strike continues for a long time.

Thieves Take Loot From Parked Cars

COBOURG, Aug. 25 —(ENS)— Several instances of cars being broken into have been reported in Cobourg during recent weeks.

Some have been robbed while parked at tourist establishments and a number at local hotels and private homes. All the robberies occurred at night and most of the stuff stolen has been clothing, cameras and other personal articles.

Local police have been on the lookout for the thieves but so far have not been successful.

Dairy Shorthorns Shown This Year

Hold Farewell Party For Norwood Couple

NORWOOD, Aug. 25 —(ENS)— A party was held on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Nixon in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Clysdale, who are going to live on Euclid Ave., Peterborough.

An address was read and a table lamp was presented.

The evening was spent in games, music and singing. A lunch was then served.

Pursued By Jinx

MEAFORD, Aug. 15 —(CP)— Walter Lambe, 21, of nearby St. Vincent Township, arrived home Sunday after six operations for injuries suffered in a train wreck at Southesk, Alta., last December 29. Still on crutches, he slipped on the floor, struck a sewing machaine, and dislocated his shoulder. ESC

NEW! 20-minute way to wax your car!

CAR-PLATE

Gives a "diamond shine" . . . guaranteed brighter, tougher, longer-wearing than any other auto wax!

Even after hours of hard rubbing, no other wax can match the finish that Car-Plate gives so quickly and easily. Johnson's Car-Plate needs no rubbing to make it shine. Just spread on the cleaned surface . . . let it dry . . . then wipe lightly. That's all there is to putting on a Car-Plate shine!

IMPORTANT! Car-Plate is a wax—not a cleaner! Before you apply Johnson's Car-Plate, your car must be spotlessly clean and free of traffic film and oxidized paint. For quick, thorough cleaning of your car, used Johnson's Carnu . . . sold wherever Car-Plate is sold.

Petes Keep In Second Spot With 4-1 Win Over Dovers

Downing Toronto Dovers 4-1 here last night before a goodly gallery, the Petes kept in second place in the Viaduct Baseball League, leaving Dovers well out of the playoff running. It was a snappy tussle with each pitcher, Bill Leuty of Toronto and Gunner Ed Whitehill holding the opposition to six hits. But the Gunner was steadier in the clutches as he struck out six and walked but one. Leuty fanned five but walked three, had two wild pitches and a balk.

The Petes afforded their hurler some fine support, neither of their errors figuring in the Dovers' lone run, where two Petes' runs were unearned. Danny Brown sparkled at short, handling a dozen chances flawlessly. He was in on a double-play, too, and relayed a neat throw from Joe Lowrey to Bud Harrison to cut off Henderson on a long hit to centre. Dovers argued once on a high fly which gave Brown a double, claiming it bounced out foul, but it had been touched on fair territory.

Al Menzies hit a triple and single in three trips, and Brown had a double and single in three, Harrison and Whitehill getting the other local clouts. Ed McGarrie topped Dovers with three for four, one a double. Henderson and Godfrey each belted a two-baser and Tennenbaum a single. The Petes left nine aboard to six for the other squad.

Dovers got their run in the first on Godfrey's double and a single by McGarrie. Only one man reached third the rest of the route. Petes got two in the first on a walk to Lowrey, an error, giving Harrison a safety on a fielder's choice and Menzies long triple to left centre, the latter being out at the plate. They added one in the third when Harrison singled, Menzies was hit by the pitcher, and Brown doubled a mile in the air in the infield, the ball falling between fielders. Their last one scored in the seventh when Harrison was safe on an error, moved up on a balk, took third on a wild pitch and came in on Wilson's infield out.

Proximity Wins $25,000 Trotting Race

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 25 — (AP).—Proximity, an eight-year-old mare which cost only $1,000 five years ago, today boasts a bankroll of $225,897—not to mention her title, "Queen of the Trotters."

Loser of two heats this year, but never a race, the champion money winner of all harness horses Thursday night won the $25,000 American trotting championship at Roosevelt Raceway, duplicating her 1947 triumph. It was the first time any horse repeated in a major stake at the half mile long island track. She was driven by Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont.

Proximity, a $2.70 for $2 favorite owned by Ralph and Gordon Verhurst of Victor, N. Y., earned the $11,250 first money by three-quarters of a length in 2:03-2-5. Second was her conqueror in the same event last year, Chris Spencer, owned by the Bostwock Farm of Shelburne, Vt.

Gets Third Money

Third money went to the 35-to-1 shot Full Bloom, representing A. L. Derby of Wichita, Kas.

Eight started in the mile fixture. Back of the first three came Deanne, Archie Vologda, Guy Paula, Sidney Hanover, the 1948 winner; and Demon Hanover, the 1948 Hambletonian victor and a 3-to-1 second choice.

Demon Hanover broke stride at the start.

Proximity shot right to the front and, without ever being fully extended, never was headed. Her time failed to menace her own world record for a half-mile track—2:01 1-5—set at Roosevelt Raceway last June.

Mutuals Gain Close One Over East City

Mutuals struck back to defeat East City 4-3 last night at the Bowl and even their best of seven series for the men's city softball championship at one game apiece, before a good crowd.

Bob Greenlaw relieved Bigford with two away in the first and two runs in; he forced Wade to ground to Crowe and gave a great display for eight innings, holding his rivals to six hits and one run. He fanned five and walked but two. Lefty Doris twirled a beautiful game all the way for East City and but for the costly errors in the eighth with two away to allow two unearned runs, might well have won his game. He gave five hits, struck out four but issued five walks.

Hits Homer

Sullivan homered in the seventh to put his team ahead and also hit a double to lead his team with Currie who had two safeties as well. Wade starred in centre with remarkable fielding. For Mutuals, Leether and Crowe sparked the infield with Hawkes and Dalton good, Hawkes having two hits. Greenlaw tripled in the fifth to drive in a run for Mutuals' only extra-base blow.

Charlton and M. Freestone of Kawartha, I. Whitehouse and J. Elmsley of Quaker, J. Clark and partner of Kawartha.

Industrial League

Raybestos finished in first place in the Industrial Fastball League schedule with 30 points, four more than Mount Pleasant. Westclox was third with 21, Quakers having 17, Canoe Co. 16 and Woollens eight points. Playoffs call for the first team vs. the fourth, second against the fifth and third against the sixth in two-of-three series, the finals being a best-of-five affair. There is a 6.15 starting deadline in the city and a 6.30 one in Mount Pleasant.

Playoffs are: Monday—Quakers vs. Raybestos at Brinton, Woollens vs. Westclox at Quaker; Tuesday—Canoe Co. at Mount Pleasant; Wednesday—Rays vs. Quakers at Quaker, Westclox vs. Woollens at Brinton; Thursday—Mount Pleasant vs. Canoe Co. at Brinton; third games if necessary: Sept. 5—Quakers vs. Rays; Sept. 6—Canoe Co. vs. Mt. Pleasant at Brinton, Woollens vs. Westclox at Quaker.

Minor Lacrosse

In recent tadpole lacrosse matches, Shrimps twice took the 12-1. Walling was their main sniper in the 17-2 game with Hurricanes by scores of 17-2 and Parry, Heard and Pace also prominent, as Trudeau got two for the Hurricanes. Coombs counted for the latter in the 12-1 tilt while Walling, Parry, Pace and DeNoble did the sniping for the winners.

In peewee play, Petes beat Lions 15-5 with Hawthorne, Hunt, Coombs, Davis and Hamilton doing most of the scoring for Petes, as Heffernan led the losers. Lions later edged Petes 12-9 Parry, Reid, Trudeau being their big guns, while Coombs, Kent, Heffernan and Ellis led the other side. Lions also gained a 17-5 win over Tigers with Parry, Trudeau, Reid, Ellis and Kent getting most of the markers for them, the losers' main scorers being Jay and Anthony.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It comes up senior lacrosse at Miller Bowl tonight at 8.45, St. Catharines Athletics and the Petes. And it is the end of a long, hard schedule here, the Petes finishing up tomorrow in St. Kitts. Playoffs start next week, top six teams being in the sawoffs. While we look for the Creighton crew to go a long piece in the money series, one never knows—there might's be much more starry gutted-stick play seen here this year. So, the tussle tonight should draw a hefty crowd. These teams really turn it on when facing each other, the Petes having a couple of St. Kitts' aces and that team having a couple who played here previously.

Toronto colleens, Cunningham and Hill, play Westclox at 3.00 tomorrow aft in the Bowl, second of the best-of-three PWSU intermediate "A" playdown series. Third one here at 6.30 Saturday. Losing 5-1 in Toronto, the Clockers expect to even it up in this one, with "Tommy" Bullock likely on the home mound. She can really blaze 'em in, too, having starred in senior the last two seasons at Sunnyside. There's an exhibition at 8.30 Monday night here when Toronto Fuels tackle the local all-stars in sports centennial week play. Meantime, two round-robin Bowl playoffs tonight, Ashby's vs. Woollens, and CGE vs. Marines.

An Amazing Aggregation

Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the unusual men's softball exhibition (for the centennial week program) at 8.30 p.m. Tuesday in the Bowl. Peterborough all-stars play the King and His Court. This is an amazing aggregation consisting of four players, with one utility man on the bench. Pitcher, catcher, roving first baseman and a roving shortstop. All tops in fielding, hard hitters, and with a great twirler in Ed Feigner. He uses an American-type ball and averages 16 strikeouts against the best teams in the USA and Canada. Fans them at any distance up to second base, with either hand and even blindfolded! The King and His Court are hardly ever beaten.

New Toronto angles twice with the Petes in the Viaduct Major Baseball League tomorrow in Riverside. Afternoon fray is three bells and the night number under the arcs at 8.30. There's still a hot fight for second place with Petes, New Toronto and Aces in the thick of it as the schedule winds up this week-end. The New Torontos—who withdrew their protest of a week ago here—will battle bitterly in an attempt to take both ends of the twin bill on the morrow. Loop playoffs will start next week with first and third, and second and fourth, meeting in semi-finals.

Whitehill Earns A Win

Gunner Ed Whitehill threw nice steady six-hit ball for the Petes here last eve as they took Toronto Dovers 4-1 before a fair crowd. Bill Leuty on Dovers' slab also gave but six hits but wasn't as steady, and his support wobbled at times. Score was 2-1 on earned runs, but then errors are part of the game. It lasted slightly more than an hour and a half, some snappy fielding and little waste time by the twirlers hustling it along. Menzies and Brown led the hitters, and Danny also shone at short. A great arm. McGarrie topped the losers in their last appearance of the season here. We're told that Oshawa and Aces have a postponed game Monday, so playoffs will likely start next Wednesday. Petes are still in second slot.

* * * * * * *

'Twas another grand game at the Bowl as the men softballers are really fighting it out in city finals. Mutuals won it 4-3, as they came from behind to even the best-of-seven serial at a win each. Don't know when they'll go again, OASA playdowns and sports centennial week cutting in on their time, but there's no big rush to finish this series. Bob Greenlaw and Lefty Doris both pitched an excellent brand and the defensive work was generally good, though the two East City errors hurt. George Hawkes had two hits for Mutuals, while Speed Currie and Red Sullivan got two apiece for the Ashburnham outfit. The latter's two were a homer and double.

Top Pros Find Course Tough

MONTREAL, Aug. 25—(CP)—Maybe they can blame it on the sun-parched fairways and greens, but the undisputable fact facing most of the 200-odd Canadian open golf entries today is that the 6,527-yard Royal Montreal course is a toughie. It has withstood the test of big-time Canadian and American amateurs and pros.

That was proven Thursday when Canada's four-day $10,000 golf classic got under way. When the last golfer came in almost "blind" in semi-darkness, less than one-quarter of the field showed par-72 scores or less.

Hot-shot favorite Sam Snead, leading money winner in North America with more than $31,000 take-home pay on the American circuit the last year, managed to hit 72 on the nose and he enters today's play a lukewarm choice to catch the leaders. The 72-hole medal play tournament ends Sunday and he has a lot of catching up to do.

When the first-day scores were toted up, one Canadian—an almost unknown—and two American veterans paced the field with five-under-par 67s. They were Lennie Harman, one-time caddy and assistant pro at Royal Montreal now playing out of Knowlton, Que., Willie Coggin, of White Plains, N.Y., and Ed Furgol from Royal Oak, Mich.

Oshawa Take Opening Game With Windsor

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25 (CP). —Oshawa's light-hitting but sharp fielding Merchants scored a 3-1 victory over Windsor Nationals in the opening game of Thursday night's Canadian Sandlot Baseball Congress twin bill here. The Oshawa squad, leaders of Toronto's Viaduct Baseball League, got only three safe blows but put them together with a walk and a couple of costly miscues for their three markers.

Windsor hit safely in every inning as they picked up 10 safeties off the delivery of Tony Delaurentis but they couldn't bunch their blows for the runs they needed. Al Gosselin started for Windsor and gave up all three Oshawa blows in the six innings he toiled. Bill Deemer replaced him and hurled hitless ball the rest of the way.

Gosselin hit the first batter to face him and it cost a run. He got two out but then walked Harry Hill. Sherry Rowland provided the blow which actually won the game—a hard single to right which scored both runners.

A single and two errors gave Oshawa their final run in the third frame. Windsor got their only run in the seventh when Fisher, who was safe on an error, came home after a single by Glen Skov and Rufus Hook's double.

Skov and Fisher led the hitters. Each had two for five.

Cricket Club Enters County Semi-Finals

By C. H. IRESON

The Peterborough - Whitaker Club will not be meeting Dentonia in the first of the cricket series for the Wood Memorial Trophy here tomorrow as the local club has been sent against Halton County that day at Oakville in the semi-finals of the county championships for the R. C. Matthews Trophy.

In 1947 the local team reached county finals with Wentworth winning out. The next year, Peterborough won out against Wentworth. Last year they lost to Carleton County in the first round by one run, the victors defeating Wentworth for the trophy. This year, Peterborough defeated Carleton and go into semi-finals, the winner to play Lincoln County on Labor Day.

The Matthews Trophy was presented in 1933 by the Hon. R. C. Matthews, former cabinet minister. The Woods Trophy was presented by Mrs. George B. Woods in memory of her husband who was for several years president of the Toronto and District Council in cricket. It was originally controlled but some prominent business men under a deed of trust in 1938 the trustees handed control of the competition to the council, the trophy being insured for $500.

Douro Lasses Win

Douro girls' softball team defeated Warsaw 7-4 in a tidy tilt, getting 11 hits to nine as they scored five in the second and two in the fourth of an abbreviated fray. The losers had two cross the late in the initial inning and one apiece in the second and fourth. Teams:

Douro: M. Ayotte, B. Leahy, T. Towns, A. Keating, M. Heffernan, Marcella Heffernan, P. Condon, H. Sheehan, P. Heffernan, D. Condon.

Warsaw: V. Clements, J. Monro, N. Payne, B. Edie, B. Payne, J. Freeburn, M. Darling, A. Watts, M. Sheehan.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

William Jeffries and Harold Freeman leave this evening for Ottawa where they will play in the final stage of the provincial doubles championship games on Saturday. They are being accompanied by their wives.

At Oshawa on Wednesday, R. F. Downey's rink of W. Jeffries, J. Detcher and A Manders won all three games and were placed 10th in the standing—104 rinks competed.

Also on Wednesday, but this time at Port Hope, two ladies' rinks came first and second. First, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. J. Arnold, Mrs. W. Hepburn, skip; second, Mrs. J. Cullen, Mrs. R. Dyer, Mrs H. Beatty, skip.

Tonight, it's men's rinks, draw from the board at 7:30 o'clock.

And on Saturday night once again the Family Hour mixed rink tournament at 7:30 o'clock.

Tigers Wallop Weston 17-7

HAMILTON, Aug. 25 (CP). — Hamilton Tigers notched their fifth straight win Thursday night to move into second place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior series.

Tabbies downed Weston Lions 17-7 in a hectic game that saw four misconduct penalties handed out. Two of them, to Capula of Hamilton and Lumley of Weston, were match misconducts.

The Capula-Lumley brawl came in the third period and continued in the crowded penalty box after referees had banished the two ringleaders. Even goaltender Chard of the Lions got a penalty.

Before leaving, Capula managed to ram home three goals for Hamilton. Teammate Grainger was high scorer for the night with four.

Juniors Take First Tilt Over Toronto

The Ontario junior "B" lacrosse finals opened at Miller Bowl with the local Filter Queens defeating Toronto Maitlands 9 to 6 before a slim crowd. This was the first game of best of five series for the junior "B" title. Next game will be Wednesday at Toronto.

Bond opened scoring for Maitlands in the early minutes of the first quarter only to have Garry Robinson tie it up. B. Robinson put the locals one up and from then on the Filter Queens were always ahead.

Play was fast throughout the game with both teams displaying some nice passing. B. Robinson, Batley and Killingbeck each scored twice while G. Robinson, Heffernan and Beavis had singles. For Maitlands, Jones notched two with singles going to Bond, Woods, Barton and Nichols. All the locals worked hard while Nicholls played his usual steady game in goal.

Tigers Conquer Yanks 6-3 Face Hot Boston Red Sox

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Are the Detroit Tigers leaping out of the frying pan into the fire?

Having escaped the "kill" with a comeback to salvage the last game of a near-disastrous three-game series with the Yankees in New York, the Tigers moved cautiously today into the lair of Boston's 10 in a row Red Sox.

Manager Red Rolfe entrusted the task of halting the Sox to Paul (Dizzy) Trout, currently the hottest pitcher on the Tiger staff. Southpaw Mel Parnell, always a tough pitcher for Detroit to beat, was named by Boston manager Steve O'Neill to oppose the veteran righthander.

No matter what happens in the two-game series, the Tigers are assured of getting out of Boston still in possession of first place. They made certain of that Thursday when they overcame a 3-0 deficit to conquer the Yankees 6-3 behind Hal Newhouser's four-hit pitching. It was Hal's first victory since July 17.

Had they lost Thursday, the Tigers would have seen their once comfortable lead shrivel to a half-game advantage. As it is, the Bengals won a 2½ game lead over the Yankees and Cleveland Indians.

Sweep Doubleheader

The Indians swept a twi-night doubleheader from the Senators in Washington, 3-1 and 5-3, to climb into a virtual second place tie. The fourth place Red Sox in the midst of one of their customary August and September finishes, won their 10th straight, defeating St. Louis Browns 6-2. They trail the pace-makers by 4½ games.

Philadelphia A's and Chicago White Sox were idle Thursday.

Brooklyn's streaking Dodgers chewed half a game off Philadelphia's big National League lead by sweeping a pair of games from the Reds in Cincinnati. Preacher Roe pitched his second successive 1-0 shutout in topping Ewell Blackwell in the opener. Lefty Joe Hatten outpitched Herm Wehmeier 7-3 in the nightcap.

The victories were the seventh and eighth straight for the Dodgers, who now trail the Phils by five games.

4-2 Triumph

Emory (Bubba) Church pitched the Phils to a 4-2 triumpn over the Pirates in Pittsburgh. The rookie righthander scattered five hits for his sixth victory. Granny Hamner's two-run triple highlighted Philadelphia's three-run rally in the third.

Clint Hartung's pinch-hit double drove in two runs in the top of the ninth to give Dave Koslo and the New York Giants a 3-2 victory over Max Lanier and the Cards in St. Louis. The victory boosted the Giants to within one game of the fourth-place Cards.

Boston's third place Braves split two games with the Cubs in Chicago. The Braves won the opened 11-9 as each team tallied six runs in the ninth. Frank Hiller bested Mickey Haefner in a second-gem hurling duel, 4-3.

Cattle Prices Up 50 Cents On Good Grades

TORONTO, Aug. 25—(CP)—Cattle prices were up 50 cents on better grades and firm on others at the Ontario stockyards this week, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today.

Calves were steady to strong. Hogs gained 75 cents cwt., and lambs were also steady to strong.

The cattle run of 6959 head included 1400 westerns, mostly stockers. Carried from last week were 300 cattle and the estimated holdover this week was about the same number.

Top for choice weighty steers was $32.25 for one load with two loads of choice heavies at $32. Other weighty steers sold downwards to $26. Good to choice light steers sold at $28-$30. Good heifers were $28-$28.50 with a few at $29. Common steers and heifers sold downwards to $20. Medium to good cows were $20-$23.50 and canners and cutters were mostly $15-$17. Good heavy bulls sold at $22.50-$25. Choice fed yearlings ranged from $31-$33. Common to medium stockers sold at $20-$26 with good stock calves and short keep feeders at $28-$30.

Calves were 2024 head. Prices were firm at $29 to $32 for good to choice vealers with common to medium veals from $20-$28. Grassers were $16-$17.50.

Hogs totalled 1969 head. Prices settled at $33 for Grade A with B at $23 dressed. The market run was light.

Sheep and lambs totalled 1921 head. Good ewe and wether lambs sold generally at $29.50 with some, off truck, at $29. Bucks were at the usual $1 discount. Culls brought $20-$25 and some picked for feeding went at $25-$26.

Slight Improvement

WINDSOR, Aug. 25—(CP)—Allan Sparkman, 10-year-old Riverside boy injured by an automobile Sunday, has shown a slight improvement, his doctor said Thursday night. The doctor said that although the boy is not yet out of danger, he will "probably be all right." The youngster has been in a semi-coma since Sunday, when he was thrown from his bicycle by a car which went out of control. He suffered head injuries.

Government May Buy Canadian Aluminum

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—(AP)—The New York Times says today the United States government may buy $75,000,000 worth of Canadian aluminum for its stockpile of critical materials.

United States defence agencies, the newspaper says, have drawn up a plan for imports over a three-year period of 440,000,000 pounds from Aluminum Ltd. of Canada.

Woman Identified

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 25—(CP)—A slight dark-haired woman who Wednesday wandered into St. Joseph's hospital and tearfully said she had suffered loss of memory and didn't know who she was, was identified Thursday by a friend as Mrs. Lolita Switzer, of Dundas Street. City detectives are trying to locate her husband, Alfred Switzer, a radio repair man, whose work takes him out of town much of the time.

50 Head Guernsey Cattle Shown At Exhibition, Stewart Bull Wins

Fifty head of Guernsey cattle at the Peterborough Exhibition this week were evidence of increasing interest in this dairy breed.

The exhibitors were Henry Borden, of Tannery Hill Farm, King, York county; J. H. Crang, of Newmarket; John Stewart, of Otonabee; Mrs. N. R. Gale, of Lindsay R.R. 1; and J. Edwin Wilson, of Garden Hill, Durham.

Most of the championships were awarded to Borden entries, but the Junior champion bull was John Stewart's Lifloc Buttercup Design. This senior calf was bred by N. W. McConkey, who sold it to Harry McIntyre. It is now in the Stewart herd.

The results of the judging by Andrew M. Telfer, of Paris, Ont., were as follows:

Conciliation Board To Mediate Dispute

TORONTO, Aug. 25—(CP)—A conciliation board is being set up to mediate a wages dispute between truck drivers in Ontario and the Ontario Automotive Transport Associaton, representing most "for hire" truck firms in the province.

A. F. McCarthur, of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters (AFL-TLC) said some 4,000 drivers want an increase of 25 cents an hour for city drivers—they now get 92 cents an hour in Toronto and 97 cents in Windsor—an increase of from 4 1-10 cents a mile to 5 cents a mile for highway operations.

Mr. McCarthur said there was some strike agitation among the members, but a walkout now would be illegal.

Bowmanville School Visited By Frost

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 25 (CP)—The Ontario Training School for Boys, started as an experiment in educating wayward children, celebrated its 25th birthday Thursday.

On hand for the celebrations were Premier Frost, Ontario Reform Minister W. E. Hamilton and Deputy Minister C. F. Neelands, and A. R. Virgin, Director of Reform Institutions. Mr. Virgin is a former superintendent of the school.

Boys in residence range from 14-16 years old and live in cottages. They attend normal school and trade classes and help maintain the school's 300-acre farm. In off hours, the school offers an extensive recreational program.

Decide On Agreement

HAMILTON, Aug. 25—(CP)—A mass meeting of 400 Hamilton street-car and bus operators will decide today whether to accept an agreement reached Thursday at a company-union with the Ontario Labor Department. Acceptance of the agreement, details of which were not disclosed, would avert a strike scheduled for today.

Hurt By Wheel Rim

TORONTO, Aug. 25—(CP)—The retaining rim on the wheel of a new truck blew off Thursday while a garage mechanic was filling it. The mechanic, Robert Saulter, 17, received a fractured skull. He was rushed to hospital in critical condition and a brain operation was ordered.

Coast-To-Coast Rail Tie-up First In History

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP)—Canada never before has suffered a complete stoppage of coast-to-coast rail transport or anything approaching it, so far as the records kept in the Labor Department show.

A check of statistics Thursday showed a 1908 strike of mechanical and car department workmen in the Canadian Pacific Railway to have cost the greatest aggregate of man-days of idleness—440,000. That strike started Aug. 5 and ended Oct. 12.

A strike in the Montreal and Sarnia machine shops in 1905 lasted from May 8 to Dec. 31, but fewer workers were involved and the man-days lost were 58,000.

A CPR strike in 1910 of conductors and trainmen in Ontario and Quebec cost 35,000 man-days. There have been other smaller rail work stoppages.

These strikes over the last 50 years caused some dislocation of train movements, but nothing to compare with the complete tie-up in the current walkout.

Road Work Delayed If Strike Continues

TORONTO, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Highway paving and repair work in Northern Ontario may be held up by a shortage of asphalt if the railway strike lasts more than another week, Deputy Highways Minister J. D. Miller said Thursday.

In Southern Ontario the situation will not be so serious because asphalt can be brought in tank trucks from Port Colborne, Ont., and Montreal. The department at times requires two cars of asphalt a day.

Merchants Halt All Deliveries

TIMMINS, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Merchants Thursday suspended delivery of groceries to conserve gasoline supplies made scarce by the rail strike.

But officals in this gold-mining town in Northern Ontario said that, contrary to some reports, food is not running short. One small bakery used up all its flour and closed down temporarily but large bakeries are running.

The operator of a packing plant says he has enough meat on hand "to supply the whole town."

Through J. F. Passmore, of Timmins, district co-ordinator for Ontario's emergency trucking plan, arrangements were made today for trucks from Southern Ontario to pick up loads from paper mills in this area for their return trips. This means that truckloads of Niagara Peninsula peaches, various other foodstuffs and medical supplies will move into this district in a greatly increased flow.

These supplies from the south will not only go to Timmins but also to Kirkland Lake, Haileybury, Cobalt, New Liskeard, Kapuskasing and Hearst.

$20,000 Hackney Winner Of Harness Stake

Horse fans had one of the greatest thrills of the Peterborough Exhibition Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Barden's Golden Charm and Gold Plate carried off first and third prizes in the hackney harness horse stake class. Mr. Barden's $20,000 horse, which will be going on to the Canadian National Exhibition and Royal Winter Fair stole the show in a class in which there were some of the finest entries in the Exhibition Haig Kelly's horse took second award, Mrs. Mary Kelly came fourth, White and Heard fifth and Miss Fergusson sixth.

Entries were fairly heavy in the road horse classes in the light horse judging program during the afternoon, but there were fewer entries in the hackney classes than was hoped for. However, some of the finest horses in the country are being shown.

George Newman of St. Catherines was judging the hackney classes and Archie Glennie of Newcastle, the roadsters. Awards were as follows:

Light horses—Halfbreeds, running race, roadsters, mare or gelding—1 and 3, Bruce Sargent; 2, Roy L. Cochran; 4, Nelson Ballantyne; 5, Wayne Shea. Special carriage pair, mares or geldings—1 and 3, Allan B. Mann; 2, White and Heard.

Pair hackney ponies, under 14 hands 2 inches, in harness—1, Miss Fergusson. Roadsters, brood mare and foal—1, Wesley Brown and Son; 2, O. Rolph; 3, Allan B. Mann. Roadsters, foal of 1950—1, O Rolph; 2, Wesley Brown and Son; 3, Allan B. Mann. Roadsters, colt filly or gelding, 1-2 years—1, Wesley Brown and Son; 2, J. W. Boyd and Son; 3 and 4, Heard and White.

Carriage, colt, filly or gelding, 2-3 years—1, Allan B. Mann; 2, Mrs. Mary T. Kelly. Halfbreeds, colt, filly o rgelding, 2-3 years—1. O. Rolph; 2 and 3, Bruce Sargent; 4, S. S. Staples; 5, Ray L. Cochrane. Carriage, mare or gelding, 3-4 years, in harness—1, Mr. and Mrs. M. Barden; 2 and 3, Allan B. Mann. Roadsters, special roadster, mare or gelding—1, Bill Reid; 2 and 4, W. H. Lindsay; 3, Ivan Cochrane; 5, Allan B. Mann.

35-Lb. Muskie Caught In Rice Lake

By NICK NICKELS

Muskies are striking at Rice Lake during the past two days, whatever the reason is, and they are being boated, too. Top place goes to Melvin Burke, of Lexington, away down deep in Kentucky, Suh, with a tackle-twister that will scale very close to 35 pounds. In company with Raymond Henderson, of Akron, they managed to boat the brute offshore from where the Second Concession runs to the lakefront, in 20 minutes of tussling. Burke said, "It made pretzels out of my solit bamboo rod, but we finally brought it to time." The whopper measured 50 inches.

Aptly named veteran lunge hunter, John H. Fisher, of Rittman, O., tied into five muskies within a three-quarter mile area on Thursday. Two were keepers, the largest 18 pounds.

Another 18-pounder up in Lake Katchewanooka which has been teasing evening trollers for more than a week, finally met its doom on Thursday when resort proprietress Mrs. Russell Wildman took it to gaff with her husband's help from the identical spot where she took an 18½-pounder exactly a year ago.

Medal Of P.M.

Although the Prime Minister did not open the CNE in Toronto this afternoon as scheduled, he will get the solid gold medal struck in his honor and designed and engraved by Stanley Hayman, Peterborough engraver and medallist. It is usual for the gold medals (presented to top prize winners) to picture the likeness of the distinguished person who opens the big show. Mr. Hayman's design this year shows Mr. St. Laurent's head. It has already been struck. So the P.M. will get his, although he did not do the job of opening the Exhibition, and the hundreds of gold medal prize winners will get theirs—not in solid gold, however, like Mr. St. Laurent's.

Warsaw People Give $144.39 To Bobby Clark

Mrs. George Weller of Warsaw reported to the Examiner today a total of $144.59 given by people of the Dummer village for the Bobby Clark Fund.

Just a typical venturing boy, Bobby fell out of an apple tree some weeks ago, and from the effects of torn flesh, gangrene set in, his left arm was amputated at the shoulder, and only medical science and Civic Hospital care saved his life.

His mother has been in the city for days recently to be with him.

Bobby will soon be starting out in life again, under a handicap, but the Women's Institute of Warsaw, closest to him and his mother, and most understanding of all the appealing circumstances are sponsoring this Fund. The Examiner is happy to be associated with them.

There are hundreds of Big-Brotherly spirited men in Peterborough who would never miss a contribution. They are willing and would wish to give, but it may be a matter of remembering the Fund when they are uptown. Mailing a gift would be simple.

Things are not going to be simple for Bobby Clark, but he has already received good wishes and help which he will remember all his life.

In the Warsaw collection, most of the children of the village are listed for some sum or other, from 25 cents up. Exceptions are indicated in the Women's Institute report. The others are from that community.

Well-Managed, Balanced Exhibition Kennedy Says On Opening Fair

Officially opening the Peterborough Exhibition on Thursday, Minister of Agriculture T. L. Kennedy said he was pleased to see a part of the rebirth of the agricultural fairs in Ontario. "It's not a job to speak to people at this fair—it's more like a holiday," he said. Mr. Kennedy congratulated exhibition president Hugh Stewart on having a well-managed, well-balanced fair, "one of the finest of its kind in Ontario."

Mr. Kennedy said that since the war the agricultural fair had begun to take a new lease on life. In some centres, it had deteriorated, but in Peterborough the exhibition had continued to move with the times.

A crowd of more than 1,500 in the stands heard Mr. Kennedy declare the exhibiton officially open, and gave him a solid round of applause at the end of his brief address.

"I am more than pleased to be here," he said, "to see that this fair has not fallen behind, but has kept its place among the fairs of Ontario."

After his speech, Mr. Kennedy visited the various buildings on the grounds with members of the exhibition following a luncheon exhibition following a luncheon in his honor at the Kawartha Golf Club.

Two Bobcaygeon Water Skiers Win At Toronto

Two Bobcaygeon water skiers, Norma Gordon and Bruce Poole, won Canadian trick riding championships Thursday at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Bruce Poole won the boys' junior trick riding competition by a wide margin winning 267 points, almost 60 more than his nearest rival.

Mrs. Gordon won the women's trick riding event with a score of 283, about 40 more than a Toronto girl who placed second.

Cyclist, Car Collide

A motorcyclist was slightly hurt when his motorcycle met in collision with a car at Aylmer and Simcoe St. Thursday.

Jack Alexander, RR 3, Peterborough, suffered a bruised shin and foot. Driver of the car, Miss Margaret F. Lundy, 475 Aylmer St., driving south on Aylmer St., started to make a left turn into Simcoe St. when the accident occurred.

About $100 damage was done to the right front fender, panelling and running board of the car. Damage to the motorcycle amounted to about $25. Constable Louis Rodreque investigated.

Florists Respond To "Ex" Call For More Entries

Kawartha Gardens on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway and Morrow Flowers, 257 George St., responded this week to the appeal of the flower committee of the Exhibition for commercial displays.

"If we had even a proportion of the Toronto "Ex" commercial background, we'd have a great show," Mr. W. C. Wilks said. "All kinds of our flowers are just as good as Toronto gets, but we don't get the same business co-operation. We certainly appreciate the co-operation of those who did bring in displays for our show. I don't want to overlook Mr. Herb. Cardwell."

The Morrow design was simple but exceedingly attractive, a six-foot heart shaped border of white lawn material in the centre of which was posed a bouquet arrangement of gladioli. There were other effective details done with a light, deft touch that was delightfully artistic.

Mr. Harry Neal's gladioli were another asset of beauty in the flower building. Comment on the whole show on the grounds and uptown has been highly complimentary.

C. H. Bacon set up in the flower building yesterday two striking memorials in pictures of the late Dr. J. A. Madill, who in his life was a most active promoter of floral affairs at the Exhibition and at the Horticultural Society's shows, and of Tom Brown, president of the "Ex" for years.

DeLAVAL UNION HEARING

The Ontario Labor Relations Board has announced that the application of the United Electrical Workers to represent the DeLaval Co. workers will be heard September 13. The applicant is Local 527 — a composite local that already includes Peterborough Lock, Ontario Marble, and Raybestos. UE claim a majority in the plant.

8,593 Attend Exhibition On Second Day

Second day's attendance at the Peterborough Exhibition showed a drop of more than 2,000 from the second day of the 1949 fair.

This year, 8,593 passed through the gates, compared to 10,691 in 1949 Of this year's crowd, 7,320 were adults and 1,273 children, compared to 8,987 adults and 1,704 children on the second day in 1949.

Grandstand attendance was also down, with 2,927 attending Thursday against 3,579 for the same day in 1949. Receipts were similarly down. A total of $4,197.90 was taken in yesterday, compared to $4,658.15 for the same day of 1949's fair.

Medical Bag Taken From Car

Two cars were broken into while their owners were attending the Peterborough Summer Theatre Thursday night and articles valued at about $400 taken.

Dr. Russell Morgan reported to police someone had thrown a lug wrench through the right rear window of his car parked at Albertus and Hopkins streets, and took his medical bag and contents valued at about $250. The wrench was left in the car.

A short time later, D. R. Wiley, 445 Gordon Ave., reported an insecure door on the left side of his car had been forced and two bags, one containing $100 in stocks were taken. Total value of the loot from his car was about $150.

Constable John Conlin carried out the preliminary investigation.

2,900 Long Distance Calls Made From City In One Day

A record 2,900 long distance phone calls were speeded through the giant switchboard at the local Bell Telephone Co. building Thursday. The reason, company officials believe, is that the railroad strike is beginning to have its effect on business. By noon today it appeared that Thursday's record would be shattered. Calls to Toronto and calls to points such as Montreal, routed through Toronto, were delayed one to two hours.

Thursday's total far exceeded the peak Christmas period last year when between 2,400 and 2,500 calls were handled.

In the switchboard room whirling fans were helping to cool 20 girls seated at the switchboard as they worked into their noon hour to handle calls.

Mrs. G. J. Harrison, chief operator, said the girls have been splendid. They are not compelled to work overtime, but they have been doing it without a question to try to get all the calls through.

Some of the calls are cancelled when people learn of the delay, but these have to be handled and recorded and take up the operator's time much the same as a completed call.

Quiet Efficiency

Seated on their stools, the girls were working with quiet efficiency and a casual observer would hardly suspect any unusual pressure was at work. Behind them, supervisor Mrs. Helen Hayes and three girls worked sorting out the calls and recording them.

The calls pile up three times a day. The first rush period is 10.30 a.m. to shortly after noon. The second period starts at 3.30 p.m. and ends a short time after 5. The third rush, which wasn't expected, starts at about seven in the evening and last till about 11 p.m.

The rush began Monday, but on Tuesday the day the strike started, it fell off and there wasn't anything excessive Wednesday afternoon. But Thursday the race was on and there seems to be little hope of a let up until the strike ends.

In order to keep their accounts made up in Toronto, from lagging behind, the Bell Telephone Company is running a truck between here and Toronto daily because the Post Office will not handle the bundles of record cards used in making up the accounts.

Knocked Down By Car Boy Suffers Shock

Seven-year-old Harold Rice, 294 Stewart St. was knocked down by a car Thursday evening but suffered only scratches and shock.

The boy had run out from behind a parked car, driver L. R. Hayter, Halifax, N.S., told police. He said he had been driving south on Stewart St. when the youngster ran into the side of the car.

The boy was taken to Dr. Herbert Young to be examined. Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Smith Herds Make Up Ayrshire Section

The Ayrshire section of the dairy cattle was confined to two good Smith township herds owned by W. Clarence Mann and Earl Rosborough.

Neither of them showed a senior bull. Strength in both senior and junior classes resulted in an interesting division of the prize awards, but the championships went to the Mann "Garmandale" herd representatives.

The premier breeder's banner went to Mr. Rosborough.

The results of the judging were:

Bull, 1 yr.—1 W. Clarence Mann.
Bull calf, Jr.—1 W. C. Mann.
Cow, 4 yrs. or over, in milk—1 Earl Rosborough.
Cow 4 years or over, dry—1 and 2 E. Rosborough.
Cow, 3 years, in milk—1 W. C. Mann.
Cow, 2 years, in milk—1 Earl Rosborough.
Cow, 2 years, dry—1 and 2 W. C. Mann; 3 and 4 Earl Rosborough.

Workers Sleep In

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 25 —(ENS)— Campbellford has begun to feel the effects of the rail strike—indirectly. A number of citizens have been late for work since the strike started.

The train from Belleville usually passes through the town about 6.30, and some local citizens who live near the tracks, use its whistle as a getting-up signal instead of an alarm clock.

HOTEL HEAD—Dave Mulligan, well-known hotel man in Canada and the United States, is chairman of the Board of Realty Hotels in New York. The 80-year-old native of Pembroke, Ont., held management posts in Ottawa and Windsor and was general manager of the Canadian National Hotels from 1914 to 1924.

Refuse New Permit

MOSCOW, Aug. 25 (Reuters). —Soviet authorities have refused to renew the residence permit of the French Roman Catholic priest formerly in charge of Moscow's only Roman Catholic church. The Rev. Thomas Jean de la Matha is leaving shortly for Paris after two years in Moscow.

Ban Stage Play

LONDON, Aug. 25 (Reuters).—The British censor has banned a stage play allegedly based on the "color marriage" of Seretse Khama, exiled African chief and his wife Ruth Williams, former London typist. The play, "The Baker's Daughter," was written by Michael and Peggy Walsh of Manchester.

Ends Record Run

LONDON, Aug. 25 (Reuters)—"Oklahoma," record - breaking Broadway musical, is to end its London run Oct. 21, three years five months after it first delighted London theatre-goers. Nearly 3,000,000 people have seen it at London's Drury Lane and Stoll theatres. After London the company goes on tour.

Will Curle, Orville Hindman Junior Farmer Champions

Will Curle of RR No. 4, Campbellford was the Junior Farmers champion Thursday when he scored the highest number of points in the senior competitions in the Junior Farmers section, winning 355½ points of a possible 400. Orville Hindman of Hampton, Durham County, led in the junior competitions with 357 points.

The boys were loudly applauded at the dinner given by Canada Packers Thursday evening for some 300 Junior Farmers and during the evening grandstand show, they were introduced to the spectators on the grandstand.

Results of the day's Junior Farmers (boys) judging was as follows:

Says Retirement At 65 Or 70 Cruel Thing

SASKATOON, Aug. 25 (CP).—William Mercer, Montreal and Vancouver businessman, told Canada's mayors Thursday that the retirement of municipal employees at 65 or 70 was expensive and cruel and should be discontinued.

Age has nothing to do with the work of an employee, he said in an address to the annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities. Some employees were of great service for many years after 70 and some were never any good at all.

The convention decided to instruct its secretariat to prepare a model pension and insurance plan for the guidance of municipalities. It also will investigate the possibilities of putting welfare schemes on a national underwriting basis with a view to effecting substantial savings.

Same People Taxed

Nova Scotia's minister of municipal affairs, R. M. Fielding told the conference that taxes, no matter what level of government levied them, were taken from the same taxpayers. It was the task of government — federal, provincial and municipal—to devise a system whereby all communities had adequate services and none too many.

A Nova Scotia study of expenditures across Canada had proved that a uniform basis of assessment was fundamental good government. The survey showed that personal property taxes were the most difficult to assess, but these were not used for revenue in many provinces.

He said the Prairie Provinces had led in establishing uniform assessment of real property.

Omemee Triumphs

OMEMEE, Aug. 25 (ENS). — The third Selwyn-Omemee softball encounter resulted in a 14-4 victory for Omemee Wednesday night at Omemee.

In the first game Omemee won 13-1 but it was a tie in the second, being 9-9. Wednesday night Selwyn made a good start and had a 4-3 edge on Omemee at the end of the fourth innings. In the fifth the tide was turned when Roy Crawford got a two-base hit, letting three men in. Then Omemee was away.

A. Preston, Selwyn's left field man, made several good catches. Orland Crawford starred for Omemee, putting six out. Crawford stopped the ball, Crawford also got four hits and three runs. Teams:

Selwyn—E. Sweeting p, J. McConkey c, D. McConkey 1b, Al McConkey 2b, A. Fitzgerald 3b, Bob Davis ss, E. Tully rf, H. Preston cf, A. Preston lf.

Omemee—E. Johnson p, David Eggleston c, J. Stephenson 1b, O. Crawford 2b; W. Parker 3b, R. Crawford ss, J. Evans rf, W. Weir cf, J. Pogue lf.

Umpires were C. Brooks of Omemee and Lyn Pratt of Selwyn.

WHAT NEXT?A new use for Saskatoon's parking meters was discovered by Mayor Orville Hubbard, of Dearborn, Mich., attending the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities convention. He gives himself a shave at one of the special plug-ins meant for automobile meaters in the prairie's chilly winter. His comment: "They work well."

Galt Man President

MONTREAL, Aug. 25 (CP). — Percy Hill of Galt, Thursday was elected president of the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada at closing of annual convention here. Other officers elected were Arthur Widnal, Fort William, and R. S. Hately, Toronto, vice-presidents; William Oaks, New Toronto, secretary-treasurer; and A. E. Gray, St. Catharines; Ted Kennedy, Oakville; Alfred Dulude, Ottawa, and John L. Pearson, Brantford, members of the executive committee.

All Crew Safe

HONG KONG, Aug. 25 (AP) — A terse telegram from Shanghai to the Jebshun Shipping Company read: "All crew members safe, ship sank." Received Thursday night, that message was the final word on the erstwhile British blockade-runner Jeep Hee. The 1,000-ton freighter struck a mine in the Yangtze Estuary Wednesday morning while en route with general cargo to Shagnhai from Hong Kong.

Swimmer Leaves Home

DIGHTON, Mass., Aug. 25—(AP)—Shirley May France, the unsuccessful channel swimmer, has quit the family home after what she described as "a personality conflict" with her father. She says she does not intend to return. She has taken up residence with her coach, Harry Boudakian, and his wife.

Paper Grant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—(AP) —Britain has been granted $1,-500,000 to purchase pulp, paper and paper products from Canada and the United States under the Marshall plan, the Economic Co-operation Administration announced yesterday.

Slight Interruption

HAMLIN, Tex., Aug. 25—(AP) —There was a slight interruption when the State Health Department's mobile X-ray unit made its stop here to test citizens for tuberculosis. A 415-pound woman stepped on the X-ray unit platform. It was too much. The unit was broken and a repair man had to be called.

Inverlochy Laird Made Freeman Of Ft. William

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

FORT WILLIAM, Inverness-shire, Scotland, Aug. 25 —(CP)— Joseph William Hobbs, laird of nearby Inverlochy Castle, holder of the Golden Key of Vancouver and the Freedom of London, becomes a freeman of Fort William this month.

Hobbs, an Englishman, receives this honor for his pioneering farming methods in Scotland's western highlands.

The Golden Key he received as builder of Vancouver's Empire building. The Freedom of London was bestowed for his invention of a substitute for oxy-acetylene, vitally necessary when Norway's carbide supply was cut-off in 1940.

He has challenged and beaten three age-old Scots menaces — peat-bog, heather and bracken (coarse fern).

His 5,000-acre estate is studded with 180 miles of drains catching rainfalls from the mountain group surrounding Ben Nevis, and drying out miles of peat-bog.

Makes Moors Arable

With a bulldozer, he has levelled hills and filled in waterlogged hollows, making arable land out of wild Scottish moorland.

More than 130 acres, previously growing only bracken and heather, now are meadows sweet with coltsfoot and white clover, fields growing potatoes, peas and beans. Nearly 100 acres are giving remarkable crops of oats.

Owner of 580 head of cattle, the largest attested beef herd in Britain, he built brick shelters, 100 by 65 feet, capable of housing 100 head each, to beat the inclement winters. He has never lost a beast in bad weather and his last calving was 98-per-cent succesful.

Situated on the west of the Great Glen—where the first blow was struck for Bonnie Prince Charlie—the estate is called the Great Glen Cattle Ranch. Its round-ups and its highland cowboys are famous much farther than the western highlands.

JUTE PRODUCTION

Production of jute goods in India in the 1949-50 season totalled 824,200 tons.

Find Canada's Sweet Tooth Grows Sweeter In 1950

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 (CP). — Judging from food production figures the nation's sweet tooth is more demanding this year than last.

The Bureau of Statistics Thursday reported production of plain and fancy biscuits, chocolate confectionery in bars and marshmallows was greated in the April-June period than it was in the same three months a year ago.

A total of 42,207,109 pounds of plain and fancy biscuits was manufactured, 4,417,028 pounds more than in the corresponding 1949 period.

Nearly 9,000,000 dozen more chocolate bars were produced for a total of 20,569,055 dozen.

Marshmallows totalled 1,300,-403 pounds against 1,149,157 pounds.

However, there was a cut-down in the manufacture of chewing gum. A total of 3,769,063 boxes of chewing gum was turned out against 3,942,428 boxes in the corresponding 1949 period.

Production of soda biscuits also was down from 11,755,751 pounds to 11, 458,585.

Like Can Opener

Evidently the housewife became a lot friendlier with her can opener during the second quarter of the year. Production of baked beans shot up to 23,-962,800 pounds from 17,854,341.

Prepared foods for infants, jellies and marmalades also were turned out in greater quantity.

In the canned-meat line, spiced pork and ham, beef stews and boiled dinners showed an increase in production. In all a total of 14,090,225 pounds of canned meat was produced against 9,788,-199 pounds last year.

To Wed In France

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—(AP)—Actress Patrice Wymore, 21, plans to fly to France next month to marry film star Errol Flynn, it was disclosed Thursday. A Warner Brothers spokesman said the ceremony will be in either Paris or Nice, but that the exact date has not been set. Flynn is in France making a movie.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

LAST FERRY—The last of the railway freight car ferries to cross the Detroit River pulls away from the Windsor shore minutes before the strike deadline of 124,000 Canadian railway employees. Six ferries, which shuttle railway cars between Detroit and the Canadian National Railways lines in Windsor, will be tied up for the duration of the crippling strike.

Provincial Police Transfer Officer To Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 25 — (ENS)— The provincial police district office in Hastings is being closed down and transferred to Campbellford. Inspector C. W. Farrow, district 8 headquarters, at the same time, announced two provincial police staff postings.

It will be the first time in nearly four years that Campbellford had had a provincial officer stationed there. He will be OPP Donald Erskine, 32, formerly of Brighton; his duties will begin August 28.

OPP D. W. Coffey, stationed at Hastings for the past year, will rejoin the headquarters staff in Peterborough.

About four years ago the detachment was switched from Campbellford to Hastings and OPP Arthur Kellogg was posted there. Constable Coffey succeeded him about a year ago.

It has been decided that Campbellford is the logical centre in that part of the district for the police detachment.

Constable Erskine joined the provincials at Barrie in 1946 after his discharge from the Canadian army where he served 31 months in the investigation section. He graduated from the police school in 1942.

To Head Mayors

SASKATOON, Aug. 25—(CP)—Mayor Horace Boivin of Granby, Que., was elected president of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Reeves at the close of the annual convention here Thursday. It was decided to hold next year's meeting in London and the 1952 conference in Calgary.

William J. Healy Former Editor Dies

WINNIPEG, Aug. 25 (CP). — William J. Healy, 83, former Manitoba Provincial Librarian and a former chief associate editor of The Winnipeg Free Press, died Thursday at his home in San Francisco, it was learned here.

Mr. Healy, born in Belleville, Ont., and a graduate of the University of Toronto, represented The Toronto Telegram and other Toronto newspapers in the Ottawa Press Gallery, of which he was secretary from 1891 to 1895.

He later went into partnership with A. T. Wilgress to purchase The Brockville Times. From Brockville, where he married Emily Maude McCullough, he went to The Buffalo Express in 1898 and a year later to The Winnipeg Free Press.

For 19 years he was associate editor of The Free Press, for which he wrote a "Mr. Pepys in Winnipeg" column, and in 1920 became Provincial Librarian. He went to San Francisco to live with a daughter on his retirement 13 years ago.

Mr. Healy wrote a Life of Sir John Thompson, Canada's fourth Prime Minister, a History of Manitoba, and other works dealing with Canadian history and genealogy.

Holstein Championships Go To Durham Breeders

Red ribbons were fairly well distributed by Fred Hubbs of Bloomfield, judge of the Holstein cattle at the Exhibition Thursday, but most of the championships went to Durham county breeders.

The Black and White cattle fraternity was highly pleased with their show which brought out 101 head from 12 herds. The number of animals was only slightly more than last year, but Roy Ormiston, Brooklin, Holstein fieldman, said he noticed considerable improvement in the quality of the 148 entries.

The exhibitors were: James T. Brown and Sons of Newcastle; J. W. Bowman of Enniskillen; J. H. Jose & Sons, Newcastle; Dr. W. W. Sherwin of Orono, representing Durham; and the Peterborough group were: James Bishop; Coughlin Bros.; Richard and Allen Davis; Earl Doris; Stewart Nelson; N. W. McConkey; Stanley Wood; James Shaughnessy. Most of them are Otonabee farmers.

Among the ringside spectators were Ray McLaughlin of Elmcroft Farm, Oshawa and Wm. J. Murphy of Lindsay.

Owned By Club

The grand champion bull was Glenafton Futurity, owned by Central Durham Bull Club. He was also the senior champion.

Reserve grand and reserve senior was Oriole Lodge Dale Cicero shown by James Bishop of Otonabee.

The junior champion bull was Browview Futurity Ace from the herd of James T. Brown & Sons; and the reserve junior was Donwood Monogram Dagwood owned by Stanley Wood and David McNevan.

History Attends Manvers Rites

The first wedding to take place in 51-year-old Manvers United Church will be an event of this Saturday. It is further interesting since the building is situated on a corner of land adjoining the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Johnston, Pontypool, and the bride is their elder daughter Norma Eleanor. The land was donated for the church by her grandfather James Johnston. The groom is Mr. John Knox McLeod, son of the Rev. and Mrs. J. P. McLeod of Grimsby. The wedding ceremony will be performed by the groom's father with the Rev. Clare Kellogg, minister of the church, playing the wedding music. Miss Johnston is a graduate of the Peterborough Normal School and taught in Hamilton the past year.

This Week's Golf Winners

Golfers out for the weekly field day at the Kawartha Club on Thursday would have preferred a lower temperature for such activities but they were re-stimulated with the delightful afternoon tea which followed. Social convener Mrs. Ken McCannan had arranged a lovely bouquet of asters and petunia for the table, and supplied it invitingly. Mrs J Gatfield and Mrs. J. Cranfield filled the tea cups and Mrs. D. Miller and Mrs. H. Hamley served. Competitions between the 18-hole players were handled by Mrs. Miller who won for herself a silver spoon and a point on low net. Mrs. Lionel Browne won a point for first in par holes and Mrs. V. A. Selkirk won a ball for second low net. Mrs. Hamley led in the nine-holers' competition, winning a point. Mrs. Willie Nash won the spoon and Mrs. Bolton the ball.

O'Neill-Campbell

The wedding took place recently in St. Mary's Church, Lindsay, of Margaret Mary daughter of Mrs. Thomas Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell, to Mr. Herbert Ray O'Neill, son of Mr. John O'Neill of Downeyville and the late Mrs. O'Neill.

Vows were exchanged with the Rev. Father Kay officiating. Music was played by Miss Ruth Shannon with Miss Catherine Meehan as soloist.

The bride's gown was of white slipper satin and her full-length veil of illusion fell from a delicate crown-shaped headpiece. She was attended by her sisters, Miss Theresa Campbell, maid of honor, and Miss Bernice Campbell, bridesmaid. They were frocked in mauve and yellow taffeta, each with a picture hat outlined with net and mittens to match her dress and they carried cascades of yellow and pink roses. Flower girl Anne Gassien was dressed in nile green taffeta with matching bonnet and carried a bouquet of yellow and mauve flowers.

Edward and Parnell O'Neill were their brother's attendants and ushers were Nelson O'Keefe and Carl Dorgan.

Following a reception at the bride's home the couple left for a motor trip in the United States. Mrs. O'Neill travelled in a navy suit with which she wore pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. They are making their home in Peterborough.

Why I Believe in God

As a young medical student, Dr. A. J. Cronin was an unbeliever. He considered the human body no more than a complex machine—and he couldn't find an immortal soul in any autopsy.

In September Reader's Digest (now on sale) the now famous author reveals how experience and the strong faith of others finally brought him to the firm belief that there IS a God.

Railwaymen Convinced Settlement Would be Made

By JACK SCOTT

NORTH BAY, Ont. — This is a piece on how the nation's crippling strike came to North Bay, a town which owes its red corpuscles to the railways. It makes anything but a dramatic story.

If the strike came at all this morning it came, to paraphrase T. S. Eliot, with a whimper and not with a bang. At the Canadian National Telegraph offices last night I was advised to file my copy before midnight. At this time, six hours before the strike deadline, it looked as if all 2,000 of North Bay's railway workers were planning on tucking their lunch buckets under their arms and going to work as usual in the morning.

If you were a betting man you could get any number of wagers that the railways would be running as always today. The attitude of almost everybody here was that the frantic last-minute negotiations in Montreal were just part of a complicated game of bargaining that would come out all right in the end.

North Bay's radio station alone continued to make alarming noises. In the early evening a broadcast went out for all affected union men to assemble at 6 a.m. this morning in St. John's Parish Hall for roll-call, assignment to picket lines and any other duties required. The railwaymen smiled and shrugged.

An hour later a regular program was interrupted by a bulletin that a long conference in Montreal had ended without a settlement. The railwaymen smiled knowingly at each other. A group I talked to in a tavern accepted my report that the 11 o'clock news made it seem certain that the strike was on.

A brakeman I'd met earlier in the day took a sip of his ale and said: I'm still convinced they'll get together. Nobody wants a strike. Couldn't last more than a week without the government stepping in. Oh, they'll get together all right. Mark my words."

No Bitterness

The others nodded agreement, I found nothing of a militant spirit or any bitterness against the operators, only a feeling that some cold-blooded business was being transacted in Montreal hotel rooms and that compromise was obvious. Some indication that this is not merely the view of the of the workers involved, but of the general public, came from Trans-Canada Air Lines office here.

There has been no rush to order freight space or book seats, as TCA officials expected, and George Fox, the airline manager, said: "They seem to be leaving everything to the last minute."

There was little evidence in North Bay last night that anything out of the ordinary was anticipated. When I went to the parish hall around 10 o'clock to see if any union men were on hand I found it deserted. The executive office in the railway depots were blacked out. A lonely baggage man at the station of the Ontario Northland Railway said: "Nope, nobody around. Everybody home listening to the radio to hear about the settlement."

By this time, of course, it will be known if this quiet optimism was justified. You can be sure that if North Bay is tied up in a strike this morning with the rest of the country it came as a shock and disillusionment in these parts in spite of the days and weeks of stalemate.

One of the strangest railways in the country, as colorful, erratic and esteemed as BC's Pacific Great Eastern, is on of the casualty list: This is the CNR's "Polar Bear" which runs 200 miles through the northern Ontario muskeg to the tidal water of James Bay. The little train makes its way north bi-weekly on a schedule that like the PGE refuses to take itself seriously.

Soon Desperate

The head office says with a chuckle that it leaves Cochrane about 150 miles north of here, at 10:15 a.m. and arrives at Moosonee at 5:45 p.m., but one of its conductors has put it more accurately: "I don't know, don't worry, it doesn't matter."

The train goes through places with such appealing names as Burnwood, Sexant, Coral Rapids and Onakawana, but will stop wherever you ask. Indians of the Cree tribes, its biggest customers frequently get off and walk directly into the bush.

Until now, all this has seemed something of a private joke, but today there's a new realization that a long corridor of the north has come to rely on the "Polar Bear" and "The Northland" which operate out of Toronto. One authority estimated Monday that more than 25,000 persons in communities across the north of Ontario would feel the pinch of food, fuel and gasoline and that the pinch could grow into a desperate grip if the strike were prolonged.

Here in North Bay if you care to risk a wind and rainstorm and walk down by the railway tracks last night you'd see the yard filling with locomotives, coaches and boxcars. The last of the trains north was scheduled to leave early this morning and would end up at Timmins, by arrangement with the unions, four hours after the deadline.

CPR's Trans-Continental No. 1 from Montreal was due to arrive at 8:55 this morning. It would get no farther.

Everything was ready for an historic strike and to be seen in this one point as it was from coast to coast. But nobody apparently was ready to believe it.

SUFFERING FROM FRACTURED RIBS, MAN STOPS RUNAWAY HORSE

Auguste Prenovost, of Montreal, Que., tackles galloping horse to prevent disaster on traffic-laden street

1. On an early summer day Auguste Prenovost was strolling down Marianne Street in Montreal. At the corner of Rivard Street — a busy intersection — Prenovost suddenly became aware of a commotion. Pedestrians were pointing to a horse-driven bakery wagon which was careening down the street at an unusually fast clip. Prenovost took a quick second look.

2. There was no driver on the wagon! Something had frightened the animal who was now dragging the vehicle in a crazy fashion right down into the main traffic centre. Out of the corner of his eye Prenovost could see children playing on the sidewalks . . . people crossing the street . . . automobiles, bicycles. He knew that disaster, probably tragedy, was not far away.

3. Although still suffering from fractured ribs sustained in a previous accident, Prenovost wasted no time thinking of his own safety. Throwing himself at the horse's reins, he was dragged several yards before he was able, finally, to bring the wild ride to a halt. We are proud to pay tribute to this brave Canadian through the presentation of THE DOW AWARD.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Sponging Brother-in-law May Cause Family Split

DEAR MISS DIX: I am one of the old fools who want a divorce. Am 57 years old, married to the same wife thirty years and love her today better than ever. There is no woman in the case.

Dorothy Dix

It is my wife's good for nothing brother who was a minor irritation for the first twenty-six years of our married life and who has been a major nuisance and expense for the last 4 years. He is now a man 46 years old. He has been a whining supplicant for alms from my wife all of his life, and she seems unable to say "no" to him. This pest lives 500 miles away, but about twice a week we get a letter and every time the postman comes my blood pressure goes up and up for I know it is just another touch. My wife will not listen to any argument that I advance. Says she can't let her brother starve, but I loaned an old uncle $10 and she wants me to sue him. Aren't women wonderful?

T.M.N.

ANSWER: They certainly are. Mr. T.M.N., and so are men, and about the most wonderful problem of matrimony is how much a husband and a wife have a right to burden the party of the other part with their dependent relatives.

For there is so much to be said on both sides of the question. To begin with, a husband and a wife who work together, shoulder to shoulder, building up the family fortune are equally responsible to the success or failure of the firm. Also it is undeniable that both the husband and the wife have an equal right to some of the money thatt hey mutually earn to spend as they so desire, without any reference to what the other thinks about it.

Should Not Be Hardship

The right of each to give to their families, however, is just only so long as it does not work a hardship on the other. But often both husbands and wives are ruthless in the way they enslave their mates to their own people.

I think that husbands and wives should deal more justly with each other than they do in this matter of the dependent relatives. For many of these relatives are dependent simply because they are gold-diggers. At any rate, the husband and wife have the first claim on the family purse.

As far as you are concerned, Mr. T.M.N., the only thing you can do is to realize that your wife is worth more to you than the money she gives her brother, and just try to forget about it. You can't change her, nor can you keep him from holding her up and getting all he can out of her.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: He is 24. I am 21. We love each other very much, but because he drinks too much I am afraid to march down the aisle with him. He has promised to stop, but he breaks his promises, He is very good to me when he is sober, but when he is drunk he is very ugly. Shall I take the risk? Your advice will mean a lot. ANXIOUS.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you will listen to my advice, you will break off your engagement and never, never marry a man who drinks too much.

Have a little sense. Just face the fact that if your sweetheart won't stop drinking in order to get you, he will certainly not stop drinking after he has got you. If he does not keep his promises to you to let liquor alone now, he won't even try to keep them after you are married. If he is ugly to you now, just think how he will beat you when you are in his power and he is half-crazed with drink.

And face this other fact that drunkenness gets to be a disease so that its poor victims can't stop drinking even if they want to. The craving for liquor is stronger than their desire for any woman and they ruthlessly sacrifice their mothers and their wives to the whisky bottle.

Some of the most lovable men in the world, some of the sweetest, gentlest, tenderest, most generous of men have this fatal habit, but no matter what their other virtues they are not fit for any woman to marry. They bring sorrow and shame and poverty to their wives. They break their hearts.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a young girl of 14. I was married at 13 under an assumed name and have kept this secret for a year and a half. I still love the young man, who is now 19. I am afraid if I tell my mother she will have the marriage annulled or make trouble. PEG.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Tell your mother at once and let her do something toward straightening out the mess you have got yourself into. The chances are that your marriage at the age of 13 and under an assumed name is not valid. A secret marriage is always touched with scandal. Wash your skirts of it.

Doctor Delivers 10,500 Babies In Half Century

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. —(CP)— Dr. Rosaire Frigon has some trouble keeping track of all his "babies."

So much so, that the 73-year-old doctor was unaware that among the more than 8,000 Shawinigan Falls births he attened was one instance of three generations.

Checking through his files the veteran of 48 years in his profession—38 years in Shawinigan Falls—noticed that a recent birth accomplished just that. That day he delivered Mrs. Jacques Martin of a child and remembered he also brought the mother into the world.

Mrs. Martin, born Rolande Doucet, was the daughter of Mrs. Alfred Doucet, whom the doctor recollected was another of his "babies."

In his 48 years of practice, the doctor estimated he attended 10,500 births.

Vice-President

A native of St. Prosper, Que., Dr. Frigon graduated from the University of Montreal in 1902 and set up practice at St. Casimir. After 10 years there, he moved to Shawinigan Falls and now is vice-president of the Ste. Therese Hospital here.

Despite his advanced age, Dr. Frigon continues to take an active part in community affairs. He is a former president of the Roman Catholic school commission here.

His one hope is that his son, now an interne at the St. Lawrence Hospital in Lawson, Mich., will succeed him as family doctor in this industrial centre some 120 miles northeast of Montreal.

Queen Opens Disabled Women's School

LEATHERHEAD, Surrey, England —(CP)— Training of disabled women for new careers will be undertaken at Springbok House recently opened here by Queen Elizabeth.

Springbok House is an addition to the Queen Elizabeth training college for the disabled, opened in 1935 for the training of handicapped men. The hostel will offer disabled women similar opportunities.

The name of the new institution was chosen because more than half the cost was contributed by the South African Gift to Britain Fund. The hostel will accommodate 30 women.

Six-month courses are offered of training as telephone operators, typists, dresmakers, clerks and cooks. The youngest of the first contingent of women to attend is 18 while the oldest is 47.

Since the Queen opened the training college in 1935, more than 3,000 men have completed the courses which comprise 140 different trades ranging from carpentry, bookbinding and gardening to electrical engineering. Situated in a country mansion, the college is only one of several institutions in the United Kingdom which train disabled men and women for new careers.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Chestnut Purce Different Adds Zest to Regular Meals

If you have ever wanted to have everything about cooking or meal planning at your fingertips this is your opportunity. The series of twenty-four Culinary Arts Institute Cookbooks now being offered to readers of The Examiner actually forms a complete and modern encyclopedia of cooking covering every phase of meal planning, buying, preparing, and serving.

Each book is complete it itself, with hundreds of recipes for every type of food or menu need that could be imagined. If you obtain all 24 volumes you get 1,200 pages of modern cooking information, with more than 10,000 recipes, menus, and food helps. Striking new covers in full color and hundreds of pictures throughout the books show you how to prepare interesting and unusual dishes. The recipes have been carefully chosen. Editors have winnowed from the world's fine cookery thousands of practical dishes and have adopted them to modern measurements and methods.

The sixth cookbook now on sale brings you 250 delicious soups, such as the following recipe for

Chestnut Puree

3 cups chestnuts
1 tablespoon cooking oil
4 cups chicken broth
½ teaspoon salt
Dash peper, few grains cayenne
2 cups cream, or evaporated milk

Wash chestnuts and discard those which float. Shell by cutting a ½-inch gash on the flat side of each nut. Place in a heavy skillet, add oil and shake over heat for 5 minutes. Roast in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 10 to 15 minutes. Take from oven and remove shells and skins with a sharp knife. Add chestnuts to chicken broth and cook until chestnuts are soft. Rub nuts through a coarse sieve and return to broth. Add salt, pepper, cayenne and cream or evaporated milk, reheat and serve 6 to 8.

These books cost only 25 cents. To obtain the Soup Book and the first five books, Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, and Pies, clip one coupon for each book from any issue of this newspaper, and present them with 25 cents a book at The Examiner office, or your Examiner carrier or Braund's Food Market. If you prefer to send for your cookbooks, send the coupons with 30 cents for each book (5 cents additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, The Examiner, Peterborough.

Men Too Trusting For Beauty Judges

HALIFAX —(CP)— Betty Jean Ferguson, "Miss Canada, 1948," says women are better beauty contest judges than men. She thinks men are less able to cope with the wills of the girls and are not so familiar with tricks of make-up. Men, she says, are too trusting.

A good smile can do wonders for beauty contestants, says Betty Jean. Then there is carriage, the way a girl walks. Shoulders well back gives a women a queenly appearance.

"The contestant's expression when greeting judges when introduced has a lot to do with the marks she gets. Most judges, she says, go for naturalness.

The outdoor girl types are prime requisites for beauty titlists, says Betty Jean, but the bathing suit is not the asset it once was.

"A good figure is always an asset," she says, "but the trend today is toward brains and away from other appeals."

MOVIE COLUMN

Miram Hopkins Turns Down Olivier Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 25 (AP) Miriam Hopkins is a charming woman who reels off good stories at a rapid clip and then adds, "of course, that's off the record."

Somehow I got on the record the story of why she turned down a chance to play Sir Laurence Olivier's wife in his new Hollywood movie. At least I think she meant it for print. If not, let's all forget we heard it.

Nearly every actress of sound mind would give her last mink to appear with the great Olivier. Miss Hopkins agrees with this thesis. But there are other considerations, she declared.

"When Willie Wyler sent the script, I thought it was fine," she said. "But I thought the character of the wife needed more motivation. I don't mean the part was too small; size doesn't matter. But the wife needed to be understood for the good of the whole story.

Couldn't Make It

"I made some suggestions to Willie and he seemed to like them. But he didn't know if he would be able to work them into the script."

Then came budget trouble. The studio already had a big investment in the picture and said it couldn't afford Miss Hopkins' usual fee.

"Of course, I would do the part for nothing, because of the people involved," she vowed. "But that wouldn't be wise.

"I wouldn't work for Paramount for under $5,000 a week. They wouldn't respect me if I did."

The upshot of all this is that Ruth Warrick got the job.

"Let's Dance" carries a high degree of entertainment, thanks to the enthusiasm of Betty Hutton and the great tapping of Fred Astaire. She is a performer who marries into a stuffy Boston family and he plays a hoofer with a yen for finance. After a promising start, the story bogs down with too much talk. But it provides a suitable background for some topnotch musical numbers. Astaire's number with a piano is one of his all-time bests.

LOBA Initiate 5 New Members

NORWOOD, Aug. 25 —(ENS)— Five women were initiated at the ladies LOBA meeting Monday. They were Margaret Golloher, Janet Hill, Barbara Rodgers, Helen Walters and Rita McClennan. Two others who were initiated recently are sister Beamish and sister Strain.

Among the guests were Right Worthy Grand Mistress, Sister Pillings and Grand Junior Deputy Mistress sister Bennett of Ontario East. Also Sister Jarvis and sister DeVall both past mistresses of Vimy Ridge.

Sister Pilling and Sister Bennett both spoke to the members, giving them great credit for the way they are putting their efforts and hearts into their work.

Sister Kirk sang and at the close of the meeting lunch was served by five of the members.

Cooks Find Egg Necessary In Nearly Every Food Dish

By KAY REX.

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP). — Luncheon dish, supper, casserole, dessert — no matter what the recipe there usually is an egg yolk or egg white in it somewhere.

Home economists of the Consumers Section, Department of Agriculture, quote a French chef as saying "the egg is the cement that holds the castles of cookery together."

They list a few of the ways eggs can be used: Thicken, as in custards and puddings, leaven, by beating to incorporate air, as in cakes; add color, richness and flavor to individual dishes; coat, as in breaded meats; garnish, as in canapes, salads and soups; bind as in meat loaves and croquettes; emulsify, as in salad dressings and cream puffs; clarify, as in preparation of consomme; hinder crystallization, as in the making of refrigerator ice-cream and in candy making.

The home economists say that the job of cooking eggs is not quite as easy as it appears. They should always be cooked at low temperature because excessive heat makes them tough and leathery.

Boiled eggs should not be literally boiled. Rather they should be cooked gently. This keeps the egg delicately tender.

Avoid Boiling

When making a custard sauce the cook should be careful not to let the water in the bottom part of the double boiler really boil. If it does the custard will curdle. However if the latter does happen the best thing to do is to quickly place the top of the double boiler in cold water and beat the custard with a rotary beater. This will again produce a creamy sauce but it will not be as thick as it would otherwise have been.

When combining hot mixtures and eggs as in milk puddings, cream fillings and souffles, combine the beaten eggs with a little of the hot mixture and then stir them into the hot mixture.

There's a trick to beating egg whites which every good cook should learn.

In order to get the greatest volume from whipped egg white it is important that no fat be present. Fat, whether it be from the yolk, from milk, or from some other source, so interferes with the whipping of the egg white that if it is present in any measurable quantity it will prevent whipping entirely. One drop of egg yolk will reduce the volume of a whipped egg white to less than one third of what it would otherwise have been.

The degree of whipping egg whites has a great deal to do with the final product. When egg whites are to be used for leavening, as in sponge cakes, angel cakes and omelettes, the whites should be beaten until "stiff but not dry". When the egg whites are over beaten they lose their shiny appearance and at this point the foam has lost some of its elasticity which is so necessary for leavening.

What's Right?

You want a neighbor's child to do some chores for you.

WRONG: Get him to do the work and then pay him what you want to.

RIGHT: Put it on a business-like basis, making an agreement with him beforehand as to what he is to be paid.

Servel Refrigerators

Due to a freezing unit that has no moving parts SERVEL is always SILENT.

Nothing to wear out and cause noise Look at a Servel with the door closed and compare its simple classic beauty, its modern lines. Then look at Servel with the door open and notice its spacious interior, its compact arrangement of shelves and freezing unit. Add up all these fine points plus the fact that more than 3,000,000 Servels have been sold and you too will choose Canada's finest refrigerator.

Dr. H. A. Morgan Dies In States

BELFAST, Tenn., Aug. 25 — (CP). — Dr. Harcourt A. Morgan 82, native of Strathroy, Ont., and former president of the University of Tennessee, died at his home here today.

He was best known for his work on the Tennessee Valley Authority, a three-man board created in 1933 to operate the government hydro-electric and irrigation program in the Tennessee Valley.

The son of a leading Ontario farmer, Dr. Morgan graduated from the University of Toronto in 1889 and went to the Louisiana State University Agriculture Experimental Station the same year.

He led a campaign which effected control of the cattle tick and was noted for his work in fighting the cotton boll weevil. He joined the staff of the University of Tennessee in 1905 and was chosen president in 1913.

More Tremors Felt In India

SHILLONG, Northern India, Aug. 25 (Reuters).—Intermittent tremors still were being felt today in the upper Brahmaputra river valley as troops left here for rescue and road-repair work in the devastated area, hit by earthquakes and floods in the last 10 days.

Bridges have been washed away and roads torn up everywhere, said an official who toured the area. He said "unparallelled losses" had been suffered. He added:

"The rice fields are just one sheet of water, and several buildings are a total loss. There are horrible cracks in many places."

One of three parties of Indian army men on relief work, reported marooned in the area several days ago, has been found.

It is estimated that 1,500,000 persons have been affected by the earthquakes and floods in upper and northeast Assam.

Communications to distant areas have been disrupted, and it was still impossible to assess the full extent of the damage.

Oil has come to the surface at several places in Assam's rich oil district near the Burma border.

Magistrate Dismisses Careless Driving Case

A charge of careless driving against Gerald Turner, 390 Queen St., was dismissed in police court today.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident on Hunter St., east of Water St., Aug. 5, in which Turner hit a car parked on the north side owned by Basil Williams, 395 Armstrong Drive.

Evidence was that Turner hit the parked car after turning right from Water St. into Hunter St.

Turner, and his passenger, James Chalmers, said after they had made the turn, another car driving west crowded them. Turner put on his brakes and swung his car to the north, hitting Williams' car.

Constable Donald Mackay, who investigated the accident, testified Turner showed signs of having been drinking, but was not drunk.

"I'll give you the benefit of the doubt that there was a car coming west as you described," Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said in dismissing the case.

Traveller Offers Passage To Toronto

Deciding that the railway strike may have caught some people in Peterborough with no means of travel, a Toronto commercial traveller offered to help early today.

He asked at the police station this morning if the police knew of anyone who wanted to go to Toronto.

He said that he could take about three people without charging them anything.

Sergeant Leo Murphy on duty knew of no one at the time, but thought the traveller had made a very generous offer.

Quaker Laid Off 85 Employees

The gradual slow down at the Quaker Oats Co. is continuing as predicted earlier this week by Reg. Faryon, president.

Eighty-five employees have now been laid off as a direct result of the rail strike. Freight cars are stranded; grain shipments can be made neither in nor out.

Today Mr. Faryon confirmed his earlier estimate that if the strike continues into next week about 300, or half the staff, will be laid off.

Storage space is proving to be the achilles heel of Building Products Ltd., RR 3, Havelock.

Approximately 100 workers are employed there and about 30 have been laid off. The firm makes brick siding and crushes gravel for all purposes—particularly for roofs and roads.

The method is to store colored granules (crushed colored rock) inside and the space is now filled. Shipping is done by rail and so there is a tie-up at that end of the business.

A spokesman said they were unable to get the trucks necessary to clear the supplies now piling up.

Loses Memory Has 2 Husbands

WINDSOR, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Possibility that an amnesia victim in London, Ont., may have a husband in Windsor as well as a husband in London was probed today by Windsor police.

Gar Sargent, of Windsor, left today for London in an attempt to identify a woman in hospital there who is suffering from amnesia. He told police yesterday that he identified a picture of the woman as his wife, and said she disappeared from their home here Oct. 9, 1949.

In London, the woman was named as Mrs. Lolita Switzer, wife of London radio engineer Al Switzer.

Sargent said that before her disappearance, his wife had also suffered amnesia at one time.

Pedestrian Struck Stepping Off Curb

Hit by a car as she stepped off the curb at the south-east corner of King and Stewart Sts. Thursday, Mary Louise O'Brien, 286 Stewart St., suffered shock and scrapes.

Thomas Dowell, 717 Beach Blvd., driver of the car, told police he was travelling south on Stewart St. He turned to go east on King St. and the child stepped from the curb and ran into the side of his car.

She was knocked to the pavement. Her mother, who saw it happen, ran and picked her up and took her to Dr. Herbert Young whose office was nearby. Constable William G. Scott investigated.

Reaches London

LONDON, Aug. 25 — (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, arrived in London by air today en route to Ottawa to attend Tuesday's emergency session. The opposition leader cut short his Italian holiday to attend the session. He leaves today aboard an RCAF North Star.

Fined For Tickets

OSHAWA, Aug. 25 — (CP) — Murray Swartz, Oshawa sports promoter, today was fined $500, or six months, for selling sweepstakes tickets. He pleaded guilty. Police said Swartz admitted possession of 624 tickets valued at $1,448.

Midland Horse Steps Fast In 2:15 Event

A favorite at the Thorncliffe races last week, J. L. Van of the H. J. Waples and Son stables in Midland, swept the primary honors in two heats in the 2:15 trot and pace event Thursday night at the exhibition. Stan Blewett's Victory Hi popular with the home crowd, placed first in the other heat besides getting a second and fifth.

J. L. Van whipped across the finish line in the first heat in 2:12.4 minutes and in the third heat in 2:11.6 to nose out other competitors. Victory High matched J. L. Van's 2:11.6 time. These times will probably be the fastest turned in during the four days of racing. Saturday night's free-for-all may see a faster pace for the two laps.

Silent Joe, owned by H. Inglis of Brighton was the only horse scratched in the race for the $300 purse.

Tom C. Harvester, stabled by M. Wray of Schomberg, swept the top prize money in all three heats of the 2.24. Rocket Hanover, owned by H. G. Bone of Port Hope, placed second in all three; Lee Mainsheet, owned by Sledon's orchestra was third in all heats; Martin Direct, owned by R. Miville of Gatineau, Quebec, came fourth in all the heats. The purse contained $250.

One accident marred the evening's performance. In the second heat of the 2:15 class J. L. Van and Prince Adam, owned by R. Miville, clashed. A broken wheel was the only damage done. Both horses returned for the last heat of the 2.15 class.

Summary:

2:15 Class

Hal Grattan Patch Tops In .30 Class

Hal Gratton Patch, owned and driven by J. Gordon of Coldsprings, took the main money in the 2.30 class of harness horse racing yesterday afternoon at the Ex. The fast-stepping pacer was third in the first heat, first next time out and finished in second place. Tom's Girl of Midland was first once and Luella Guy came down in front in one heat. B. C. Samon's Flash Gratton of Cobourg took an early spill in the second heat, but little damage was done apart from driver Harry Franklin of Port Hope getting a cut on the leg and torn pants. Results:

	Heats
Hal Gratton Patch (J. Gordon, Coldsprings)	3	1	2

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Gorgeous Gussie Moran of lacepants tennis fame gave up her amateur standing Thursday.

She signed a professional contract in New York which will guarantee her $75,000 for one year of play.

"I really hate to leave the amateur ranks," she said, "but after all, this way I won't have to worry about what I wear."

Gussie, whose costumes always have been more startling than her tennis, will start with Bobby Riggs' troupe early in November when it opens in Madison Square Garden. Her contract includes a clause that she will receive 30 per cent of the receipts if the tour grosses more than $250,000.

Riggs said he has not decided on an opponent for Gussie yet, but both Pauline Betz and Sarah Palfrey Cooke, a couple of former amateur stars, are now pros.

Gussie's famed lace panties have caused much eyebrow lifting in the last year all over the world. But, she implied, they were conservative compared to what she's going to wear on the pro tour.

The touring Belgian Davis Cup tennis team swept two exhibition singles matches in Toronto on Thursday night from Canada's two top players, Brendan Macken and Henri Rochon, both of Montreal.

Macken, Canadian singles champion, put up a stiff fight before bowing to young Jean Brichant 6-4, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3. Rochon lost to Philippe Washer, No. 1 ranked Belgian star 6-3, 6-0, 6-4.

Six teams hit the long 1950 football trail this weekend. Most of the action is in the Western Canada Union where each of the four entries will play two games. In the east, two of the Big Four teams start the campaign in a single game Sunday.

The Saturday schedule in the west takes Calgary Stampeders, western champions last season, to Regina where they play the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Edmonton Eskimos journey to Winnipeg to meet the Blue Bombers. Monday, the Eskimos are at Regina and the Stamps at Winnipeg.

The east's single game is in Montreal where the Alouettes play Ottawa Rough Riders.

The other Big Four teams play exhibition games. Hamilton Tiger Cats meet Manville, N. Y., Eagles Friday night in Hamilton. Toronto Argos have a Saturday game at home against Sarnia Imperials of the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

In the ORFU—which has three teams, Sarnia, Windsor Rockets and Toronto Balmy Beach—the first scheduled action is on Labor Day.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., Bob Knowles of Brookline, Mass., John Ward of Clay, N. Y., and Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N. Y., shot their way into the semi-final round of the Golden Anniversary United States golf tournament at Minneapolis Thursday.

The excellent performance of Soviet athletes in the European track championships at Brussels caused a number of foreign observers to predict Thursday the Russians may participate in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki.

The USSR definitely has some of the best women athletes in the world and many of Russia's male contenders have a fine chance of taking first places when pitted against the best of other countries.

Russian women again dominated the meet Thursday. V. Bogdanova, a broad-shouldered blonde, won the long jump with an effort of 19 feet 1⅛ inches, and got a big cheer from the crowd when she shook the hands of her rivals. This was the first sign of fraternization by a Russian.

Kladia Totchenova, about the biggest girl in the games, led the pack in the penathlon after three events—the shotput, high jump and 200-metre dash.

Blame Pakistan Try Again SolveRow-Nehru

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 25—(AP).—With the dispute over Kashmir apparently in a hopeless deadlock, Prime Minister Nehru said Thursday the United Nations should accept the Indian premise that Pakistan was to blame and then start again from the beginning in any attempt to achieve a solution.

India's argument, Nehru said, was that Pakistan was the aggressor in the dispute over the former princely state.

UN mediator Sir Owen Dixon found that a general plebiscite in Kashmir on whether to join India or Pakistan would not be feasible. India rejects the conditions she says would be attached to a partial plebiscite.

Pakistan's Prime Minister, Liaquat Ali Khan, blames Nehru for failure of the UN mission. He said in Karachi Nehru put forward "demands which were not only unreasonable, but contrary to the agreed solution given by the UN Security Council."

Defies Resolution

India's refusal to withdraw troops from Kashmir as a preliminary to a plebiscite was in defiance of the Security Council's resolution and a challenge to the United Nations, he charged.

The way India interprets UN proposals, the Kashmir Government which is Indian, would be replaced by UN administration during a vote of the people on which government they wanted. Dixon did not give the final terms of this proposal before he left here.

This, Nehru said, "would be like proclaiming to the world you want the aggressor to succeed—that is the psychological effect."

For the UN to supplant the present government of Kashmir, Nehru said, would determine 90 per cent of the election in advance. It would, he said, create suspicions and fears in the people's minds.

"It is impossible for the government of India to accept the change of government, whatever the consequences," Nehru said.

Royals Trip Red Wings In 4-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press

Ronnie Lee, precocious lefthander of Montreal Royals and best relief pitcher in the International League, is threatening to crash a berth as a regular starter.

The slender 21-year-old has appeared in 48 games as a relief pitcher, winning 11 and losing four games. Thursday night he was handed his third starting assignment of the season and came through with his third complete game victory, a brilliant 4-1 four-hit victory over the league-leading Rochester Red Wings.

The triumph moved the second-place Royals to within 7½ games of the Wings, who have 17 games to play, the same number the Royals have left.

Take Twin Bill

The third - place Baltimore Orioles took a pair of games from Syracuse Chiefs, 7-6 and 3-0. Austin Knickerbocker and Russ Kerns drove in three runs each for the Orioles, the former on a three-run homer.

Jersey City Giants snapped their fourth-place tie with Springfield by beating the Cubs 8-1 in the opener of a six-game series. Lefty Roger Bowman scattered eight hits to gain his 14th victory.

Paul Stuffel, young lefthander, pitched Toronto Maple Leafs to a 4-1 two-hit victory over the last-place Buffalo Bisons. Two walks and an infield out led to the lone Buffalo run.

Truck Runs Wild

GRENOBLE, France, Aug. 25 (Reuters).—A truck whose brakes failed in the French Alps near here Thursday night careened down a mountain road, injured 15 people in a village street, and turned over five cars before the driver could bring it to a halt.

Reckless Driving

SARNIA, Aug. 25 —(CP)— A charge of reckless driving will be laid against Eldred Martin, 38, of Dresden, driver of a truck involved in an accident which killed Malcolm McKinnon, 41, a passenger, police said Thursday.

Marlene Stewart Steals Show At Golf Tourney

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, Winnipeg, Aug. 25 (CP)—Canada doesn't need to worry about the future in women's golf as long as Marlene Stewart of Welland is around.

The 16-year-old from Lookout Point course Thursday lost a thrilling 2-and-1 decision to Mrs. Eddie Bush, of Hammond, Ind., but she stole the show from the other quarter-finalists in the Canadian women's open golf championship.

In the other matches, defending champion Grace De Moss, of Corvallis, Ore., defeated Mrs. W. S. Edey, of Winnipeg, 7 and 5; Dot Kielty, of Los Angeles, downed Edeane Anderson, of Helena, Mont., 3 and 2; and Babs Davies, of Vancouver, edged Mrs. N. J. Carlson, of Toronto, 2 and 1. Miss De Moss meets Mrs. Bush in one semi-final today and Miss Kielty meets Miss Davies in the second.

Pushed To Limit

But despite the top-ranking Canadians and Americans on the course, the Stewart-Bush contest started with a good following and the gallery grew as word got around that the Ontario youngster was pushing her opponent to the limit.

They were all square after the eighth, with two holes apiece and four halved. On the long par-five ninth, Marlene went one down, taking a seven after losing two strokes in the trees.

It appeared it might be over when Mrs. Bush won the 10th and 11th. But Marlene was ruggedly determined.

On the 430-yard, par-five 12th, she had a four to win when Mrs. Bush's third stroke failed to blast her ball from a trap.

Miss Stewart won the 480-yard, par-five 13th, too, and was one down. They halved the next three holes.

Close Work

Marlene was on the spot on the 17th. She needed at least a half to force the game to the last green. Spectators were cutting in from all angles to watch the battle of an unknown against a seasoned tournament player.

Mrs. Bush had an edge on the drive, but both shots were straight. Marlene's trusty No. 4 wood failed her; her second shot rolled off the green into a sand trap. Mrs. Bush's second was six feet short of the green.

A silent gallery watched Marlene blast from the trap to within 10 feet of the pin. Mrs. Bush chipped four feet from the hole. Marlene's putt was perfectly aimed but she was short. Mrs. Bush holed out.

Westclox Triumphs

Westclox won 6-4 from Quakers in a fastball game yesterday at Quaker, counting three runs in the ninth for the verdict, after scoring one in the first and two in the sixth. Quakers got one each in the fourth and sixth and two in the fifth. Teams:

Westclox: O'Donoghue, c; Heffernan, 1b, p; Watson, 3b; White, cf; Parsons, 1b; McMasters, lf; Wyatt, ss; Morin, lf; Guerin, 2b, ss, p; Weir, rf; Evans, p; Gosselin, ss.

Quakers—Connelly, 1b; Lomax, c; Nolan, ss; Prescott, 2b; Wesenburg, cf; Land, 3b; McDonald, rf; Cross, lf; Smith, p.

Umpires: Doxsee and Robertson.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press.

Batting—Vern Stephens, Red Sox—hit a grand slam homer in the ninth inning with two out to give the Red Sox a 6-2 victory over St. Louis Browns.

Pitching—Preacher Roe, Dodgers—pitched his second successive shutout as the Dodgers swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Reds 10 and 7-3.

Millbrook Gets Tilt

MILLBROOK, Aug. 25 (ENS) Millbrook girls have been declared the winners of the semi-finals of the North Durham Girls' Softball League. They won the third game of the Millbrook-Bailieboro series by default. They will now go on to play the winners of the Bethany-Yelverton semi-finals in the final series.

Even Phone Can't Locate Some M.P.'s

OTTAWA, Aug. 25 (CP). — Using the telephone as a detector administrators of the big parliamentary airlift are on the prowl for elusive MP's and senators wanted in Ottawa for the emergency rail-strike session opening Tuesday.

Hundreds of telephones across the country jangled Thursday as government transport men put in calls for a big segment of the parliamentarians, asking them how they are going to get to the capital and if they need any special government air transport.

J. R. K. Main, assistant controller of civil aviation and the airlift's administrator, said that by today he hoped to have reached the last of the members of parliament and senators to have completed whatever special airlift plans might be necessary.

But even the telephone is proving to be not as good a detector as Mr. Main had hoped. Some of the members are vacationing and can't be reached. One is on holiday in the foothills of the Rockies and probably hasn't even seen a newspaper. Another is living in the country where the rural circuits are down.

"We have our headaches, but we'll get the thing through," said Mr. Main.

Has Six Divisions

Dividing the country into six sections, he already has had his transport men in Vancouver, Edmonton, Winnipeg and Moncton, N. B., put in telephone calls to members living in those areas. Tomorrow, the Transport Department will put in calls to members in Ontario and Quebec.

"We're relying a lot, too," he said, "on newspapers and the radio to get the news to the members."

Some members, he found, are going to drive to Ottawa. Only one, G. D. Weaver, Liberal member for Churchill, Man., is unable to get to Winnipeg where air transporttaion is available.

Mr. Main said an RCAF plane may be used to get Mr. Weaver, chairman of the Commons railway committee, from his constituency to the provincial capital.

Still on the road somewhere and unreachable are H. H. W. Beyerstein, Social Credit member for Camrose, Alta., and Rev. E. G. Hansell, Social Credit member for MacLeod, Alta.

Hospital Ship Hit By Boat 18 Are Killed

Ship Goes Down Off Golden Gate, Many Still Missing

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26 (AP)—A Luckenbach freighter plowed into the military hospital ship Benevolence in dense fog off the Golden Gate Friday afternoon in a maritime disaster which left at least 18 dead and many missing.

The Benevolence, only recently pulled out of the reserve fleet for duty in the Korean war zone, sank in 15 minutes, spilling her hundreds of crew members, medical personnel and cruise passengers into the dark and dangerous waters four miles off the gate.

Only heroic efforts of coast guard, fishing boats and other rescue craft kept casualties from appalling totals. Early today the navy said 479 persons had been accounted for. The number aboard the big ship was estimated as high as 545, but that was uncertain. Nobody seemed to know exactly how many were aboard the Benevolence when she sailed on a test run Friday morning. She carried, in addition to official personnel, many persons along just for the cruise.

Sinks Quickly

The Mary Luckenbach, steaming out of the gate with a general cargo for gulf and east-coast ports hit the Benevolence amidships, apparently ripping her wide open and sending her down so fast that only one lifeboat could be launched. A number of life rafts but over the side saved many lives.

The coast guard stood by the wreckage of the hospital ship early today. She was almost totally submerged, lying on her side just below the surface. A cutter

100,000 Reds March In Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 26—(AP)—East Germany's Communist leaders staged a march of 100,000 followers down Unter Den Linden Friday as a curtain-raiser for the Communist National Congress.

Party members led blue-shirted Russian-zone youth, People Policemen and factory workers. But the marchers seemed to lack the pep shown in the recent Whitsunside celebrations.

East Berlin shut down all business in mid-afternoon to swell the attendance. However, there were few sidewalk spectators. Applause was limited to a few ripples.

The reviewing stand held the 3,000 hand-picked delegates to the congress, summoned East and West Germany to reach "concrete decisions" that have been outlined in advance.

Says Red Opposition Forced Teacher Quit

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 26 (CP)—Teacher Gordon G. Fellows charged today that what he termed "Communist opposition" forced his resignation from Loyalty school in rural Alberta.

The teacher's release was announced earlier by L. A. Fairbairn, superintendent of the school division at Red Deer, about 100 miles north of Calgary. He said a group of Loyalty school district residents had protested generally against the teacher's conduct of the school.

Mr. Fellowes some time ago took a group of pupils to watch the United Nations in session at Lake Success. The tour, which included a meeting with President Truman, was a result of publicity given his method of teaching social studies by using actual transcriptions of U.N. security council meetings.

Mr. Fellowes said there are Communists on the district school board and that they dominate board meetings. He said they charged him with "interfering with Jacob Malik's and Joseph Stalin's work to bring peace to the world."

Enemy Suffers Big Defeat Before Taegu

TOKYO, Aug. 26 — (AP).) — Mangled Communist Korean forces pulled back today from the blistering fire of American big guns in the Kumwha "death trap" corridor north of Taegu.

But 13 miles eastward, spearheads of at least 20,000 Communists hammered at South Korean forces on the seventh consecutive day of the furious battle for Taegu.

In a slashing counter-attack, the South Koreans erased the initial Red gain of one mile near Chongno. Today's fighting brought no reported change in positions.

Three divisions of retreating Reds left behind a ghastly litter of corpses and the burned-out hulks of tanks and guns.

Field officers told AP correspondent Don Whitehead that the enemy troops were cut up so badly that they could not launch a new attack in less than 10 days.

Threat Ended

These officers said the immediate threat to Taegu in that sector is ended.

One said the effectiveness of the three beaten Red divisions—30,000 men and the 20,000 North Koreans to the east—was "cut in half."

United States and South Korean infantrymen, and Allied air power joined in the blow that hurled back the three Red divisions.

All along the 120-mile battle perimeter in South Korea the Allies either advanced or held on to positions.

A company of battle-weary Americans blocked 1,000 Reds on the southern front in a grenade and small-arms battle.

On the northern front, two South Korean divisions opened the second day of a co-ordinated assault north of Pohang on the east coast.

Survivors In Water Form Life Rings, Hold Pals Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 26—(AP)—To a man, survivors of the sunken hospital ship Benevolence talked Friday night of the bitter cold as they came ashore at the fog-shrouded docks at Fort Mason. The shocked survivors were landed at the arc-lighted docks—along with the injured and dead—with their teeth still chattering so that some could hardly talk.

Those who had been working in the ship's engine-room had endured for hours the icy water of the foggy Pacific, four miles off the Golden Gate.

Many survivors said they felt two shocks when the Benevolence and the freighter Mary Luckenbach collided.

John Graham, 44, navy chief hospitalman was in the messhall when the crash came. He said:

"We ran to the boat deck and grabbed a line and slid over the side. First I was in the water, then I found a loaded life raft and climbed aboard. Looking back, I saw the ship rolling over until her stack was under water. She seemed to go down bow first."

"When the crash came," said Joseph Uzarewich, 25, a merchant sailor, "the tables in the mess hall started flying all over hell. I ran up the boat deck and down the ladder. I landed in the water and was in there about two hours until I got picked up."

Carl Totten, San Francisco, junior third officer, said he climbed aboard a life raft and threw out life jackets to those in the water.

"The men in the water formed life rings, holding hands in a circle," he related. "This kept the men without life preservers on the surface.

"About half the men were in the water and about half in life rafts. We changed off, some of us giving the men in the water a place on the raft to give them a rest. Everyone was really cooperating with everyone else."

Chief boatswains mate H. L. Runnels, said men were hanging on to anything they could find—boxes, railings, "anything that would float."

2 MP's In Europe Make Plane

LONDON, Aug. 26 — (CP) — Two harassed members of Canada's Parliament went aboard an RCAF North Star airliner which took off from Northolt Airport Friday night for Montreal carrying 25 Canadian Air Cadets who have just concluded a three-week goodwill tour of Britain.

The parliamentarians were Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew and Leon D. Crestohl, Liberal member for Montreal Cartier. Both abruptly called off European vacations to rush back home for the session of Parliament summoned to deal with the railway strike.

Both had a hectic time making connections to catch Friday night's flight. Drew, for whom the airliner's departure was delayed 24 hours, made it in a chartered plane from Italy, where he had been holidaying with his family.

No Time Wasted

Crestohl arrived in Liverpool Friday morning on the Empress of France, reached London shortly before 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and was on his way back to Canada by 6 o'clock in the evening.

Prominently associated with the Zionist movement in Canada, Crestohl was en route to Israel to attend the World Maccabiah Sports Festival, starting September 27 in Tel Aviv. His wife was awaiting him in Israel. She made hasty plans to return to Canada when her husband telephoned during his short London stopover to tell her of the changed plans.

Begin Emergency Air Lift In B.C.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 26 (CP)—An emergency air lift of supplies to isolated northern British Columbia coast communities was planned today as deck, engine-room and steward employees struck on seven union steamship vessels.

The 250 workers—members of the Seafarers' International Union (AFL)—walked off their jobs Friday to back demands for higher wages. The action left the B.C. coast without shipping service. Canadian Pacific and Canadian National steamship fleets are already tied up by the rail strike.

Queen Charlotte Airlines announced it would bring a flying boat back into service to move about six tons of freight a day to upcoast Alert Bay, Symour Inlet and Mistrel Island.

Airline officials said they will also fly freight to Nanaimo, on Vancouver Island, where it will be picked up by seaplanes and distributed to lonely coastal hamlets.

Curb Careless Passengers In Air Emergency Moves

OTTAWA, Aug. 26. (CP)—The Air Transport Board Friday tightened its rail-strike emergency measures.

Moving against air travellers who book plane passage and then don't show up at airports, it authorized air lines to refuse them refunds and seats on alternative flights.

John Baldwin, board chairman, told a press conference that this step has been taken along with others as a means of easing the heavy transportation burden on Canada's air carriers.

The emergency authority will be in the hands of the carriers today. It was granted as a result of complaints by the carriers that some persons, fearing they may not get transportation by other means, are booking air passage ahead, and then failing to show up on time to take their seats.

"As a result, some planes are taking off with empty seats," said Mr. Baldwin. "This is a serious problem which must be solved."

These persons now not only can be refused seats on alternative flights, but also will go to the bottom of the list of those requiring air passage.

Mr. Baldwin said a committee of government and commercial carrier officials also has recommended and the ATB has authorized:

1. Non-scheduled carriers who have about 90 large and small aircraft at their disposal to fly over scheduled routes carrying cargo. This breach of the regulations will be allowed for the duration of the rail strike.

2. These non-scheduled carriers also have been authorized to work in close liaison with scheduled air carriers in the movement of passengers.

Force Staff, Customers Lie On Floor

Six Police Cruisers From Peterborough Join Search For Trio

BEAVERTON, Aug. 26 (By Staff Reporter)—Three masked bandits walked into the Beaverton branch of the Bank of Commerce today and after forcing the staff and cutomers to lie down and keep quiet they escaped with an undisclosed amount of cash and securities.

One of the members of the bank staff fired two shots at the fleeing bandits but missed.

Six police cruisers from Peterborough joined in the hunt for the three men who were last reported heading north toward Brechin.

"Lie down on the floor," was the curt order of the three men who walked in waving guns, 10 minutes after the bank opened

Do As Told

The two tellers — James McLaughlin and William Doller, both age 22 — did as they were told as did several customers.

One of the bandits jumped over the counter and cleaned out one till while a second forced the acting manager, Jack Hawke to open the safe. Some valuable securities were taken but a large amount of cash was overlooked.

Meanwhile the other till was also rifled.

Exact amount taken has not been totalled but it may run into thousands of dollars. A careful check will be made later when senior bank officials arrive.

In the bank at the time of the holdup were customers Russell Morrison of Thorah Township and Thomas Leemar of Beaverton. One of the holdup men pushed Morrison to his knees, the other spun Leemar around and ordered him to face the wall.

Wage Policy Given Go-by

DETROIT, Aug. 26 (AP).—The automobile industry's hold-the-line wage policy of a few months ago appeared today to be almost completely out the window.

What companies managed to avoid wage boosts in the first phase of the fourth round of post-war bargaining were certain to face mounting pressure in the wake of Chrysler's voluntary $25,000,000 annual pay raise.

Chrysler and the United Auto Workers (CIO) announced the surprise action yesterday.

The company's 120,000 employees will get minimum raises of 10 cents an hour.

Chrysler's action leaves only the Ford Motor Company of the industry's "big three" still holding the line at 1949 wage levels.

Ford settled for $100-a-month pensions (including social security) and hospital-medical-insurance benefits. There was no general wage increase. Last May 4, after a 100-day strike, Chrysler settled on much the same basis.

Seemed To Hold

But three weeks later General Motors, the industry's biggest producer, gave its more than 3,000 employees a guaranteed four-cent hourly boost for each of the five years of a new contract.

A number of smaller firms signed agreements patterned after either the Chrysler or G.M. settlements, and the wage line with a few bulges, seemed to be holding.

Then the dyke broke. General Motors, under its cost-of-living wage agreement, was obligated to pay a five-cent hourly increase, starting Sept. 1, boosting its total raise to nine cents.

Chrysler's boost, which is apart from its contract with the UAW, was even higher.

The UAW now undoubtedly will demand a substantial pay boost from Ford when wage talks are reopened Jan. 1. The union is expected to do likewise on any other contract which did not grant a wage boost.

Recently Ford rejected a union proposal for immediate new wage talks.

She's No Sailor

LONDON, Aug. 26—(Reuters)—Lola was one sick lynx in the London zoo hospital today, but she was expected to recover. She arrived in London Friday by sea from Canada. It was a rough passage and the Captain of the ship telegraphed the London zoo for advice on Lola's seasickness. The prescription: "Dose with olive oil and salts." Lola survived the trip, groggy but game.

Truman Seizes Railroads, Strike Averted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26—(AP)—The United States Army today drew up its plans for running the country's railroads until the owners and two disputing unions can agree on operating terms.

President Truman Friday directed Army Secretary Frank Pace to takeover the 131 major railroads in the United States at 5 p.m. EDT tomorrow. This led the trainmen and conductors unions to call off plans for a country-wide walkout Monday of their 300,000 members.

So the president's seizure order restored peace for the time being, and assured that the trains will keep running. The unions said their member would "gladly" work for the government.

But the Justice Department was ready with the necessary legal papers to rush in for a court injunction Monday in the event of any hitch in the announced decision to work.

Both sides in the 18-month dispute suggested that their differences now might be allowed to simmer for a while. The unions called the seizure order a "tremendous victory," because they had been urging such action since Aug. 4.

Actually, however, seizure relieves pressure from both sides. The carriers will operate as usual without the threat of a strike hanging over their heads. The unions won't have to worry about militance in behalf of their demands because strike action seems out.

It seemed that neither side gained an advantage over the other due to seizure.

The White House press secretary, Charles G. Ross, said flatly that the government won't make a settlement with the unions under seizure—that it is up to the carriers and unions to settle their own argument.

Sets Precedent In Court Ruling

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP) — Magistrate T. S. Elmore ruled Friday that a park can be a common gaming house.

In a decision that may set a precedent for Canadian courts, he convincted John Leschuk, Abraham Bluwol and Cecil Smith of keeping common gaming house and fined them $100 or a week in jail.

Police said they found 35 men participating in a dice game in a park.

The defence claimed the men could not be convicted because the park could not be designated as a gaming house or place. Magistrate Elmore ruled that Section 227 of the Criminal Code defined "place" as "any placed, whether enclosed or not, and used permanently or temporarily, whether or not its use is the exclusive right of the user."

See No Quick Settlement In Rail Strike; Talks Run Over Weekend

New Negotiations Started Friday Night But Union Sources Warn Reports of Undue Optimism Quite Unfounded

OTTAWA, Aug. 26—(CP)—A high union source said today that no "quick settlement" of the rail wage dispute is in sight and that the new round of strike settlement talks may go on all weekend. The informant said he had heard of reports being circulated expressing "undue optimism" but that these were unfounded. The resumption of negotiations last night had produced little progress. This prediction of no early end to the crippling stoppage of Canada's rail transport came as a new round of talks went on today between railways and unions.

Brought on personally by Prime Minister St. Laurent, the new negotiations started Friday night and then recessed until 11 a.m. EDT today after an initial session at which company-union spokesmen said there had been "useful discussions."

But they gave no clue to how far the discussions had moved in the direction of a settlement, and later a union officer who participated tol da reporter that "very little progress" had been made.

He cautioned against "undue optimism" for an early settlement that would get train rolling again after four days of paralysis brought on by the wage-hour walkout of 124,000 employees that started Tuesday morning.

Little Retreat

In the first night meeting of two hours and 20 minutes, this informant said, there was little retreat by either the railroads or the unions from the point where they stood when the pre-strike negotiations collapsed shortly before the Tuesday strike deadline.

Further, he said, the negotiations at the breaking-off point Friday night had not reached the stage of discussion on one point on which both sides so far have been adamant.

That is the question of including hotel and water-transport employees in the main terms of settlement. The railways, in their latest compromise offer to the unions just before the strike, offered the hotel-water employees wage increases on a smaller scale than those of the bulk of the other employees.

Spokesmen have said the unions will not settle without equal treatment for these groups.

The negotiations were resumed Friday night following admonitions to both sets of disputants in separate conferences Friday with the Prime Minister, who had summoned them to his office Thursday as the tie-up laid an increasingly heavy hand on the Canadian economy.

Million Dollar Fire At Westinghouse Bldg

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 26 (AP)—A $1,000,000 fire roared through the Westinghouse Electric Supply Company warehouse yesterday in the heart of the city's industrial district. Manager R. H. Sroufe said supplies and appliances in the building were worth $1,000,000 and the two-storey concrete building was built in 1947 at a cost of $200,000. The contents apparently were a total loss.

Family Feud In Crete Threatens Flame Into War

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 26 (AP)—A 20th century real-life parallel to Shakespeare's Romeo and Juliet threatened today to flame into war in the mountains of Crete.

What the Montagus were to the Capules so the Kephaloyannis have been to the Petracogeorgis on Crete these last 40 years, and so—

When Constantine Kephaloyannis kidnapped his sweetheart, 19-year-old Stassoula Petracogeorgi, from the public square in the Cretan capital of Herakleion four days ago, families, friends, and authorities feared the worst.

Constantine is supposed to have vowed to kill himself and the girl rather than be separated by the family feud

The hot-eyed young men of Crete were said to be choosing sides in the vendetta involving the girl's father, a Liberal member in the Greek parliament, and the boy's brother, a Royalist M.P.

So tense is the situation that the governor-general, the metropolitan of the Greek Orthodox Church, and the chiefs of the gendarmerie have hurried to prevent an explosion.

Meanwhile, the young lovers remain hidden in the mountain fastness, south of Herakleion.

Young Mother Suffers Shock, Lightning Strikes

BONARLAW, Aug. 26 (ENS)—A young mother, Mrs. Roy Wellman, 23, was hit by lightning while sitting in the kitchen of her home in Rawdon township on Friday evening. She was knocked unconscious for several hours, but was reported today to be much improved.

Dr. Herbert Parkin of Marmora who treated her, said her central nervous system had been affected by the electric shock, but she has recovered her speech and was able to take fluids. She was not being allowed to see any one.

The lightning struck during a heavy electrical storm which covered the Rawdon area Friday evening.

Her husband, in a body cast from a back injury received last winter, was also shocked by the lightning bolt, but was not seriously affected. The children were not hurt.

Mr. Wellman and their five children also in the kitchen saw a "ball of fire" flash at the fuse box directly over Mrs. Wellman sitting beside the stove.

The bolt hit her head and passed through her body and out through her feet to the floor.

Her husband picked up her unconscious form and carried her out to the family car to drive her through the storm to Marmora.

It was believed the husband cracked his cast while carrying his wife to the car.

Mrs. Wellman was taken to Mrs. Lawler's Nursing Home in Marmora.

One of the children recently returned from a Kingston hospital where he had been treated for polio.

Bulbs Exploded No Shots Fired

NORTH BAY, Aug. 26—(CP)—North Bay's acting mayor said Friday night that exploding gas-filled light bulbs—not gun fire—led to reports that striking railway pickets were shot at here Thursday.

"The alleged shots were the explosion of a gas-filled light bulb on a street lamp," Alderman J. L. Shaw, acting mayor of the city, said in a statement.

Mr. Shaw said that he had personally investigated reports that six pickets were shot at by an unseen gunman Thursday. Pickets said a light bulb was smashed by the shots and that they heard bullets whistling above their heads. A search of the area yielded no clues.

U.S. House Passes New Loan To Spain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26 (AP)—The House of Representatives passed and sent to the Senate on Friday a $35,452,950,425 general appropriation bill including a $62,500,000 loan to Spain.

The President had opposed the Spanish loan, which the compromise reduced from the $100,000,000 originally voted by the Senate. The Senate is expected to take up the big Bill next Monday.

The Bill finances most Federal activities for the fiscal year which started July 1. It is in addition to a $16,771,064,479 supplemental measure which the House started debating immediately.

Crowds At "Ex" Smaller This Year BlameLateCrops

Attendance at the Exhibition during the first three days has been smaller than last year but G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager, is confident that today's crowd will show an improvement.

He blames part of the low attendance on the fact that crops are late and farmers have been waiting for combines.

"I think they'll turn up today as long as it doesn't rain," said Mr. Gillespie. "We should have a really good crowd.

Friday's attendance at the "Ex" was 10,392, a drop of less than 500 from the third day of 1949's fair, when 10,852 attended. However, it was an increased of about 2,000 over Thursday's attendance.

Skies clouded over Friday night, but the brief showers that dropped early laid the dust. Today the air is cool with some hope of clearing skies by this afternoon or tonight.

The breakdown of Friday's attendance figures shows that 8,919 adults and 1,473 children attended, compared to 9,201 adults and 1,651 children for the third day of last year's fair.

The grandstand crowd shows an increase of almost 800 from Thursday's attendance. There was a total of 3,204 people in the stands—2,776 adults and 528 children.

Receipts, because of the 15 cent increase in grandstand admission were up about $150 over 1949's third day. On Friday, $4,847.50 was taken in against $4,695.35 for 1949.

The caretaker at the Horticultural building had his own explanation for the lower attendance: "It's this so and so cost of living," he said. "We can't come to this such and such fair and buy coal for the winter too."

2 Hamilton Aldermen UrgeNewNegotiations

HAMILTON, Aug. 26—(CP)—Two C.C.F. members of city council—Ald. Roy Aindow and Ald. Don Mills—will sponsor a move for a special meeting of city council to resume negotiations with union officials to end the strike of 1,000 city public service and street maintenance workers.

Claiming that accumulation of cartons and paper behind stores constituted a growing fire hazard, Ald. Ellis said this "public menace" in addition to the threat to health through uncollected garbage, made a settlement more imperative than ever.

Before that, the cabinet had called parliament to assemble next Tuesday in an emergency session to deal with legislation to end the strike.

St. Laurent Proposal

The renewal of negotiations was proposed by the Prime Minister in the hope of gaining a settlement before parliament acted on government measures, not yet disclosed but expected to be drastic in the event the strike is still on next week.

After Friday's conferences with the two groups, Mr. St. Laurent said he had not made any specific proposals to them but had reviewed the consequences of a strike and asked them to use their own judgment.

Both sides promptly agreed to get back into direct negotiations, broken off for almost four days, and also to do their last-ditch bargaining without the help of government officials or a government-appointed mediator such as attempted unsuccessfully to avert the strike earlier in the week.

No Coercion

All available versions of the meetings between the Prime Minister and the protagonists agreed that he had not used any coercion to bring the parties together once more.

Mr. St. Laurent himself said he had not disclosed to them the terms of any "or else" legislation he might use as a last resort, and union official also said the Prime Minister had used persuasion rather than a show of strength in calling for the new talks.

WILLIAM S. WELLMAN

Wm. S. Wellman Of Hastings Dies

William S. Wellman, Hastings, died on Friday in a Peterborough hospital at the age of 6. Probably the most well known figure in Hastings, where he has lived since 1923, Mr. Wellman has held the position of fire chief, police chief, manager of the local hardball team and for years umpired Hastings softball games.

Born in Rawdon Twp. in 1886, Mr. Wellman lived in Norwood and Keene before settling in Hastings. He operated a service station in Hastings at one time, on the site immediately behind the station which his son Guy built and is now operating.

Mr. Wellman was police chief for about 10 years, roughly from 1934-1935 and had been fire chief for seven or eight years previously.

He leaves his wife, Mary Rusaw, three sons and two daughters: Albert of Peterborough; Kenneth of Toronto, Guy of Hastings, Mrs. W. Whitred (Mildred) of Hamilton and Mrs. David Price (Doris) of Hastings.

The funeral will be held on Monday at 2:30 p.m. in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and burial will be in Trent Valley cemetery, Hastings.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Aug. 26 (CP) — Oats and barley prices moved narrowly Friday in trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Chief factor in trading was reports of frost damage in the prairie grain belt that were heavier than anticipated. Rye followed upturns in the United States' rye markes and posted small advances.

No export business was reported. Class 2 wheat was down one cent at $1.99 for No. 1 Durum and No. 1 Northern, while other classes of the wheat posted bigger losses.

The 3rd Division made slight gains around Hunghae, five miles north of Pohang. But to the west, the capitol division was fighting to regain two miles lost to a Red attack Friday.

The battle was 37 miles eastward of the Taegu offensive. It was a separate action.

An estimated 20,000 Communists have dug formidable defensive positions in a holding battle to pin down Allied troops north of the vital Pohang airstrip.

Patrol Action

Other sectors have been limited to patrol action and artillery exchanges, a spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said.

Admiral Arthur W. Radford, Pacific Fleet commander, said at Pearl Harbor after returning from Korea that "the low point has been passed."

The Reds threw more men into the Kumwha corridor battle than had been reported.

North Korean commanders massed three infantry divisions of 30,000 men. They supported these with an armored brigade mounting 40 tanks, a regiment of artillery and a motorized regiment.

This force tried to drive through two American regiments and a South Korean division. It stalled in the corridor.

Flanking and infiltrating, the Reds slipped behind American lines and temporarily cut off the supply highway.

But the big drive never was able to do more than dent the Allied positions.

Now Splintered

It is splintered now, field officers say.

Allied forces knocked out 30 Red tanks in the corridor battle. They piled up huge Red casualties with an intensive artillery barrage which in one sector alone mounted to 70,000 rounds for the week.

With American support, South Korean units advanced nearly a mile northward in the Kumwha sector Friday. They occupied the steep Yuhak Ridge, a dominating position one mile west of the main highway.

On the east flank, South Korean 1st Division positions bordered those of the South Korean 6th Division spread across the Chongno corridor.

These lines were north of the town of Sudong, between the main highway and jagged Mount Pugye which Allied forces occupied without opposition Friday.

A US military spokesman said there was no action on this front up to 2 a.m. ELT Saturday.

A Lucky Escape

DETROIT, Aug. 26—(AP)—Three stories up, Eugene Casey, 23, was at work on his painter's chair. Beneath him on the ground was Al Bodnar, 40, fellow worker. The chair collapsed and Casey fell. Bodnar, with arms outstretched, broke the fall. Casey, weight 140, suffered reported minor injuries. Bodnar, about 200, wasn't hurt at all.

Break Up Reds

TORONTO, Aug. 26 — (CP) — Police Friday broke up what they described as a Communist demonstration at the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition. They took a man and a woman into custody, questioned them about distribution of what investigators termed subversive literature and released both with a warning.

Making A Change

WINDSOR, England, Aug. 26—(Reuters)—What was once described as the best-equipped royal waiting room at any railway station in the world" is to be converted into a police station, it was announced Friday. The King has given permission for the royal waiting room at Windsor Central Station, near Windsor Castle, to be turned over to the railway police. It has not been used by royalty since the funeral of King George V in 1936.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

COUNCIL TO THEATRE

City council is holding its last meeting of the summer Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Mayor Swanston and the members of the council put their Monday night meeting back one day to enable them to attend the Peterborough Centennial theatrical event "At My Heart's Core" written by Robertson Davies.

TRAFFIC SWITCHED

Monaghan Road buses are being re-routed around the foot of Park St. where Curran and Briggs are at work on the drain project. They turn north of Cameron St. at St. Catherines St., and then easterly on Howden Ave. to Park.

CONCLUDES SERVICE

The Rev. Dr. James Semple, minister of the George Street United Church, for the past six years will complete his ministry on Sunday when he will preach to the united congregations of George Street, St. Paul's and Murray Street in the George Street Church.

Lindsay Fair Board Has Spent $10,000

"We have spent $10,000 on improvements to our property," Bert McLean, manager of Lindsay Exhibition, said, "and we are hoping to see just as many Peterborough people as ever next month when we expect to have the biggest show in our history. We have enlarged the lavatory accommodation, and we think our visitors are going to be greatly impressed by what we have done to our grounds this year."

Mr. McLean and several of his Lindsay exhibitors called on Hugh Stewart at Morrow Park Friday afternoon.

Thieves Steal Cash From Furniture Co.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 26 — (ENS)—Thieves entered the office of the Foldaway Furniture Company operated by David Ness of Campbellford on Thursday night and got away with a small amount of cash from an office drawer.

Entry is believed to have been made through a back window. The robbery was discovered Friday morning when the office staff went in to work. Police Chief George H. Hardy is investigating.

Campbellford Firemen Answer False Alarm

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 26 — (ENS)—Firemen were called out on a false alarm Friday evening to a home on Front St.

It is believed that children playing in a yard ignited a small patch of grass but it was promptly stamped out. As usual, crowds of people in cars, on motorcycles and cycles, followed the truck to the scene of the fire, but there was no excitement.

Others in the bank were William Doller, teller, and Lois Clement and June Chambers, accountants.

Carmen Lehman, a Beaverton builder, walked unspectingly into the bank and caught the trio in the middle of the holdup. He was ordered to come inside and face a corner of the room away from the activity.

As both men ran from the bank toward the waiting car McLaughlin picked up a revolver and followed them out. He fired two shots but, because children were playing nearby, he stopped shooting while the car was still in range.

The holdup lasted about four minutes and apart from missing the cash in the vault the robbers were reported to have worked quickly and efficiently.

UN Council To Explore Formosa Charge

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Aug. 26 (AP)—United Nations Security Council delegates expect a full hearing of the Formosan question next week.

Western representatives, however, are determined that consideration of Communist China's charges of American aggression on that Pacific island, held now by the Chinese Nationalists, should not sidetrack the Korean issue.

An American source said privately today that the United States, as the accused, would not object to putting Formosa on the council's agenda, but doubted if a majority of the members would vote for such a course. However, the U.S. would protest if any attempt were made to put it ahead of an American resolution aimed at localizing the Korean war.

Even if Formosa is not put on the agenda, Russia's Jakob A. Malik made it clear Friday that he will refer to the situation there in his speeches.

No Aggression

"The Security Council undoubtedly will discuss this question and determine the substance of the matter," he said, after the Chinese Nationalist delegate, T. F. Tsiang, had declared:

"There has been no United States aggression against the island of Twain (Formosa), none whatever.

The floor exchange on Formosa came after American representative Ernest R. Gross read into the record a letter from the United States chief delegate, Warren R. Austin, to Secretary - General Trygve Lie saying the U.S. would welcome U.N. investigation of Red China's charges.

Austin's letter denounced as "ridiculous falsehoods" the charges of American aggression, made in a cable to Malik and Lie by Communist China's foreign minister, Chou En-lai.

The letter, circulated among delegations just before the council session, is thought by informed quarters here to have spiked the propaganda gun they expected Malik to fire at the meeting.

marked the derelict with a searchlight to safeguard other vessels.

At Fort Mason, where hundreds of the survivors were landed before being taken to hospitals an army officer released the death figure.

One of the dead was a woman.

Gets Off Lightly

The Mary Luckenbach, with a crew of 49, had a smashed bow but no casualties. After picking up about 90 survivors from the sea, she put back to her San Francisco dock late Friday night.

The accident was blamed to the heavy fog which, at this time of year, lies like an impenetrable blanket off the coast and extends like a white finger into the Gate itself.

The Benevolence carried 115 civilians, including the civil service crew which was to have sailed her on war duty; 48 doctors and other medical personnel, including 15 nurses; 200 enlisted personnel, plus an undetermined number of persons who went along for the cruise.

The Benevolence radioed at 5.04 p.m. PDT (8.04 p.m. EDT): "Emergency from Benevolence to naval radio station, San Francisco. Am four miles off Golden Gate bridge. Need emergency assistance."

That was the last heard from her until the tug Sea Fox, first rescue craft ao arrive, found her almost submerged, a derelict with only her davits showing.

Survivors' Version

An army officer obtained from survivors the following version of the accident:

The Benevolence was coming into port and the Mary Luckenbach was on her way out. They discovered themselves headed straight toward each other.

Gets 5 Million Business

LONDON, Aug. 26—(Reuters)—Britain piled up more than $5,000 worth of business at the International Trade Exhibition at Chicago. Government sources said Friday night. From Britain's standpoint the fair was "a tremendous success."

Sent To Prison

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 26—(AP)—Four Budapest university employees, three of them physicians, were sentenced Friday to prison for producing a poisonous vaccine which killed 10 infants. The children died shortly after being inoculated against whooping cough last May. Prosecutors charged the vaccine made by the university was contaminated by anti-tetanus serum.

Canadian Navy Orders UK Planes, Guns From US

OTTAWA, Aug. 26 — (CP).—Orders for three-inch guns and Sea Fury aircraft for Canada's Navy were announced Friday by the Defence Department.

The statement said the aircraft order, placed in the United Kingdom, was for Sea Furies of the latest type.

With the Avengers recently bought from the United States and craft already on hand, the new order, the statement said, would provide a full fighting complement for the Magnificent up to 1953, with normal loss.

The Canadian aircraft carrier Magnificent now is on a training cruise in European waters.

The statement said a large order for three-inch guns of the latest US type will be built by the Sorel Industries at Sorel, Que.

To Replace Equipment

The gun order is to replace some equipment now in use on Navy ships and to equip some ships under construction. The guns were described as high velocity, dual purpose weapons for surface and anti-aircraft operations.

Defence Minister Claxton was quoted as expressing satisfaction that the US Navy had co-operated by arranging licences for their manufacture in Canada.

The statement confirmed a recent report that discussions were in progress looking toward the manufacture of similar guns at Sorel for the US Navy.

The Sorel plant is one of the largest of its kind in North America and one of the few capable of making all the major parts of the modern gun right on the establishment, it said.

The Department announced that it was giving daily orders for large quantities for new equipment and for modification of ships, aircraft and arms.

In the last week, these orders for aircraft modifications and spares amounted to more than $6,000,000.

Exchanges Fail To Reach Office

From the New York Times to the Port Hope Guide, the Examiner's so-called exchanges have been missing from the office and the mails since the railway strike took them out of circulation beyond local deliveries.

If the notion of exchange survives outside the restless realm of newspaperdom, it overlooks the vigilance of ABC rating, a rather fearsome factor that takes into account only the subscriptions that are paid for at full price.

And as advertising schedules are based on genuine subscriptions, the newspaper business years ago tossed out free lists when the volume and cost of newsprint began to soar.

Kibitsers have pretended acceptance of the notion that the shears and paste pot still were essential equipment of the average newsroom. The scissors are still doing their daily clipping, but it is for reverse purpose—to reduce the usual run of copy to the limits of the day's edition and its challenge of pages.

The weekly papers were missing Friday from the district. They go to press Thursday afternoon and are in post offices by night. The pair from Cobourg, the Bowmanville Statesman, Norwood Register and few others are stayed in their usual flight abroad.

It took the railwaymen to provide the unwelcome opportunity of mentioning several minor facts of publication. Such ancient arrangements as exchange exist no more. Newspapers are mutual subscribers, and the paste pot serves chiefly for sticking news briefs to the standard blank copy page that conveniently fits above the keyboard of the type-setting machine.

No Complaints Heard From Exhibitors At Fair

"We haven't had one complaint from any of our exhibitors, and the judges tell us this has been one of the best shows they've ever been at," G. A. Gillespie, manager-secretary, told the Examiner this morning.

"Combining of grain was a little later than usual this year, and there was a lot of that accumulated work in the country. Some of our own directors had to leave us at times this week to get on with harvest work at home or with some neighbor.

Beginning the last day of 1950 fair we are down a little bit in attendance, and up a little in our treasury showing, and if the weather holds for tonight we shall have every reason for being grateful."

OBITUARIES

MRS. JAS. ELMER JOHNSTON

Mrs. James Elmer Johnston, 49, of R.R. No. 4, Janetville, died on Friday at a Peterborough hospital following a short illness. She was born in Dummer Township, Cora Florence, daughter of the late David S. Sloan and Ellen Sedgwick, and has lived for the past 25 years in Janetville.

She leaves her husband and two sisters, Mrs. Norman Andrews (Ella) and Miss Minnie Sloan and two brothers Malcolm and Walter, all of Norwood. Another brother, Everitt Sloan, resides in Lakefield. Mrs. Armstrong was a member of the United Church.

Funeral service will be held at the Nisbett Funeral Home on Monday at 2 p.m. The Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James' United Church will officiate and burial will be at Little Lake Cemetery.

JAMES JOHN MACKIE

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 26 — (ENS)—James John Mackie, 80, who has worked in Campbellford for the past five years, died Thursday at the home of his son, James L. Roy Mackie, Campbellford.

Mr. Mackie came to Canada in 1882 at the age of 12 and lived for a time at Dartford, Percy Twp.

Besides his son Roy, he leaves five grandchildren and one great grandchildren. His wife, the former Eliza Duck, died three years ago.

A farmer most of his life, Mr. Mackie was a lifelong member of the United Church.

The Rev. John McKibbon of Christ Church, Campbellford, conducted the funeral service at Bennett's funeral home today. Burial was in Mount Pleasant cemetery.

Pallbearers were James Bailey, James Mackie, John, Martin, George Smith, Robert and Donald Mackie.

Believe Canada Can Expect Good Harvest

By The Canadian Press

Barring a labor shortage on th prairies, Canada can expect good harvest. If the rail strik continues, harvest laborers ma be scarce in the west but eve this might be filled by men mad idle by the strike.

In all provinces crops are ger erally good to excellent, the labo supply adequate, wages about th same as last year, a Canadia Press survey shows. Harvestin is normal except in Alberta an Ontario, where it is a bit late.

Only about 40 men had arrive in Alberta before the railwa tie-up began, compared with la year's 430 harvesters from th east. The province had asked fo 300 to 600 men.

Saskatchewan, where harvestin is not yet general, has 300 far workers from Eastern Canada an the province has sent out a ca for an additional 2,300, compare with a total of 2,000 needed la year.

Need Pickers

The British Columbia Agricul ture Department reported a short age of pickers in the Okanaga Valley because of reports o stone-fruit losses. Another 1,50 workers are needed.

In Ontario the biggest probler is to replace students who wil be returning to classrooms in Sep tember. The situation is mor acute than in other years becaus of the late harvest caused by th slow spring and retarded seeding

There is no harvest-labor prob lem in Quebec where farmer band together and help each other

The Prince Edward Island po tato crop, expected to be approxi mately the same as last year, i not yet being harvested on a larg scale. It is believed a call fo outside labor will be made jus before the harvest gets into ful swing.

In Ontario wages are about th same as last year—$80 a month including room and board. Skille tobacco men get $10 a day.

Ontario's field crops are ex cellent with the yield of sprin grain the largest since 1925 an fall grain the largest ever. Th fruit yield is down in some cate gories. The Ontario hay crop wa light. New Brunswick's is down 25 per cent.

Give Grand Championships In Three Beef Classes

Grand championships in the three beef classes which were judged Friday at the Exhibition were awarded as follows:

Aberdeen-Angus — Malcolm Bailey of Uxbridge.

Shorthorns—M. H. Pimmett & Sons, Indian River.

Herefords—Allan R. Linton, Cobourg, and John R. Walsh & Son, Otonabee.

Ten herds were represented in the dusty background allotted to the showing of the most important livestock in the show.

Malcolm Bailey, veteran exhibitor from Ontario county, dominated the black Angus class. He and D. C. Baker of Claremont picked up all the prize money.

Three Peterborough county breeders contended for the Shorthorn honors. They were Clifford W. Lowes of North Monaghan, Louis Cadetsky of Louada Manor Farms, Harvey township; and M. H. Pimmett & Sons, represented by Lorne Pimmett.

With Alan Linton and J. R. Walsh & Sons in the Hereford section were Lt.-Col. F. E. Birdsall of Birdsall's; Mervin Smith of Cavan, and H. J. Hawkey of Indian-R Farm, Indian River.

The judges were: Aberdeen-Angus, Archie Clysdale of Peterborough; Shorthorne: James Florence of OAC; Herefords, Glenn Reicheld of Jarvis, Ont.

Salary Ranges To Be Boosted

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — Premier Frost has ordered civil service job classifications and salary ranges to be brought up to date. It is expected to mean more money for some of the province's 13,763 civil servants.

The Premier told a press conference the last job classification was made in 1946. Since then, top salary limits in 500 classifications have been boosted. Some of the remaining 300 classes may get cost of living bonuses instead of salary increases.

Mr. Frost said he thought the government has done a poor job of telling what it has done about civil service salaries. Each of the last four years, the government has authorized increases totalling about $1,000,000 a year, he said.

Miners And Company Reach Agreement

TIMMINS, Aug. 26 (CP). — The Porcupine Mine Workers Union (CCL) and Coniaurum Gold Mines agreed Friday on a new working agreement and lifted the threat of a strike from the rich Porcupine gold field near here.

Negotiations still are going on between the union and Buffalo Ankerite Mines. Miners at Preston East Dome returned to work this week after being on strike for a week.

The settlement gave the miners a 15 cent an hour salary boost, bringing basic wages to $1 an hour, plus a sliding scale of cost of living bonuses up to five cents an hour.

Hay Fever Season Sets In With Last Phase of Summer

By BOB HATTON

The sun shines warmly, wheat turns golden and is cut, days become a little shorter, the nights are a little cooler. Summer is beginning to wane. For some people the most beautiful season of the year is approaching. A great many others watch it with fascinated horror like rabbits hypnotized by a deadly snake.

The cause of their fear is invisible pollen floating on the warm breezes. They are hay fever sufferers.

Get Little Sympathy

Hay fever victims suffer more misery and get less sympathy and help than any other afflicted people.

They can scarcely breathe. They sneeze constantly. Their eyes water and they feel miserable for weeks.

July is scarcely over when some of the unfortunate victims begin their yearly trials. And by the middle of August almost everyone who is going to get it, is sniffing, snorting, and cursing his fate. He is caught by it until the first frost ends it for another year.

When late summer arrives sufferers begin their annual pilgrimage to the drug stores where they can buy varying relief in pills, liquids, capsules, injections, nose drops, eye drops, electric inhalators and atomizers. They can buy relief, but they can't buy a cure.

As near as scientists have been able to determine, hay fever is caused by pollen dust given off by ragweed and goldenrod. The pollen from roses can cause the same thing, but it is then commonly called rose fever.

The medicines all have fancy names: Pyribengamine, neohetramine, neoanteragran are some of the tablets. The liquids have names just as formidable looking, but basically the tablets are all the same, and the liquids are all much the same.

Nose drops and eye drops will help to soothe irritation and give some relief. There is even one medicine which claims to be an oral vaccine which gives a person a mild case of hay fever and supposedly builds up resistance against the affliction.

But the fanciest medicines involve some mechanical gadgets. The most impressive looking is an inhalator.

It consists of a shiny electrically-heated pot into which the person seeking relief pours some of the liquid that comes with it He plugs it in, the liquid is heated until it begins to evaporate, and the victim sits with his nose over the small pot and inhales the vapors.

A variation of the same idea is the atomizer. Liquid is poured into a tube and it is squirted out in a fine spray by pressure from a rubber bulb.

But there are a lot of ifs connected with the whole business. Even the advertising blurbs are cautious in their claims. One says: "If your symptoms have been diagnosed as asthma or hay fever and asthma— Nefrin is as helpful to you as it is to so many other sufferers, the welcome results will far outweigh the nominal cost of the product."

The best solution to the whole wretched affair, for you sufferers apart from cutting off your head, is not to have it in the first place. And if there is any one who can tell sufferers how they can dodge the minute invisible pollen particles as they float about, he can make himself a fortune.

Warriors Days At Exhibition

TORONTO, Aug. 26 — (CP) — Shoulders proudly erect and buttons gleaming, Canadian veterans of two wars strutted their stuff today—Warriors Day—at the Canadian National Exhibition.

It wasn't the colorful, thrill-filled midway, nor the acres of industrial exhibits, nor even the antics of Hollywood's comic Danny Kaye that drew the vets' main attention. Instead, their interest centred on a small silver cup emblematic of the smartest platoon on parade in the annual parade of warriors.

The coveted Canon Scott Trophy is awrded annually to the platoon judged best in the parade. It was won last year by the Goodyear Overseas Veterans Club of Toronto.

Favored by sunny skies, the "Ex" roared off at a record-breaking clip Friday that even the country-wide rail strike failed to brake. CNE officials announced that official attendance was 107,500—an increase over the previous opening-day record crowd of 103,000 set last year.

The record turnout strengthened exhibition officials' confident prediction that last year's record attendance of 2,650,000 would be shattered before the turnstiles ston clicking Sept. 9.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe, substituting for Prime Minister St. Laurent,, opened the exhibition with a warning to Canadians that the country's immediate task must be the strengthening of its defences to meet Communist aggression.

Markets Have First Setback In Six Weeks

By FRANK KAPLAN

Stock prices this week suffered their frst setbacks in six weeks. Five successive weeks of advance followed the sharp market break when fighting started in Korea were brought to a halt.

Labor troubles worried traders. The rail strike in Canada stalled markets and threat of a strike in the United States left Wall Street wary.

Selling was not heavy. Key issues, leaders during the five weeks of advance to new high price grounds, were hardest hit.

Canadian companies specially vulnerable during the rail tie-up sagged quietly. The market axiom of "never sell on strike news" held sway for a short time following the beginning of the strike but traders gradually unloaded as the week progressed.

Oils Weaken

Paper stocks encountered considerable selling and steels and refining oils weakened. Early in the week Canadian industrial markets climbed to new peak levels in continuing previous gains. However, two days of decline wiped out these mild gains and the lists slipped into plus territory.

In Toronto the exchange's index of representative industrials yesterday showed a decline of 3.23 from the previous Friday.

Otherwise the Toronto market brightened. Gold stocks came into their own following two weeks of dull, narrow dealings for a gain of 4.72 on the index. Base metals gained 2.47 despite selling late in the week, and Western Oils rose .79 in irregular trade.

Paper paced the Montreal market into lower ground. Changes on the average were: Banks off .22; Utilities up .4; Industrials off 3.7; Combined off 2.4; Papers off 8.87; Golds off 1.27.

Officers Mess Burns

PICTON, Aug. 26—An early morning fire in the officers' mess at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery here gutted a large section of the interior and caused damage estimated at $4,000. Artillerymen at the school assisted the camp's fire brigade to extinguish the flames in the frame structure.

Skinner and McNeil Capture Breeder Awards In Swine

Swine judging at the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition concluded late Friday afternoon, with a number of local breeders among the prize winners.

Ontario Breeders' Association prizes for best boars under 12 months in the Berkshire and Yorkshire divisions went to Harold Skinner of Tyrone and C. L. McNeil of Fraserville, respectively. Harold Inman prizes for best Yorkshire boar and sow went to Frank Crosier of Port Perry and George Stephen of Baltimore respectively.

List of winers follows.

British Troops To Korea

Two British battalions totalling 1,500 men have sailed from Hong Kong for Korea. They will be valuable reinforcements for the tired American forces. The wiping out of the dangerous Communist bridgehead south-west of Changyong a few days ago, where a whole Red division had established itself across the Nakton river, has shown how even a small body of trained, fresh reinforcements can rally a cause. The English and Scottish soldiers bring to their Korean task strong discipline, full training, and a tradition of stubborn defence and unexcelled field work. Men such as these, not machines, are crucial in the kind of terrain and warfare facing the Americans in Korea.

* * *

General MacArthur is in supreme U.N. command in Korea, but it is expected that the British troops will not go under direct American control. A unity of Commonwealth command may be effected with the Australians already there, and Lieutenant-General Robertson is suggested as a likely officer to take over-all direction.

* * *

The American-U.N. stand in Korea is not yet firm and offensive. But in the last two weeks the North Koreans have not made much progress, and maintain, as of this writing, only one genuine bridgehead deep in the American sector—south west of Taegu. Another main effort by the North Koreans is now being made. Their casualties have been much heavier than the Americans', and according to U.S. intelligence officers, North Korea is now finding difficulty in replacing casualties and assembling forces for assault. The increasing weight of air attack on the North Korean rear and on his forward lines of communication is having a telling effect.

How The Biggest Cities Ride And Kill

The Copenhagen Police and a special Committee for Road Safety appointed by the Danish Ministry of Justice have made a survey of 33 cities which include most of those in the world with a population exceeding half a million. The purpose of the survey was to determine, if possible from comparative statistics, the causes of traffic accidents. They have not been successful in this object, they admit, because the methods of recording statistics vary so greatly as to make general assumptions on them invalid. For instance, countries which have stringent regulations to safeguard their traffic will record high figures. Thus Copenhagen, Oslo and Rotterdam report 1,558, 1,226 and 1,176 intoxicated motor drivers arrested in 1949 for each 100,000 motor vehicles registered. The lowest numbers of arrests were made in Manchester, Sheffield and Birmingham: 51, 51 and 64 respectively for each 100,000 vehicles on the streets. Montreal had 108 arrests in 1949 for drunken driving. But if no definitive conclusions can be drawn, interesting facts are reported in the published survey.

Here are some of them. Los Angeles has the largest proportion of motor vehicles of all the cities reported on—more than a million all told, making 517 per thousand people. Next in order are Detroit, San Francisco, Cleveland and Melbourne: 354, 308, 295 and 277 vehicles for each thousand inhabitants. New York has a mere 123, Calcutta (the third largest city in the world) only 5.67. Montreal is fairly high on the list with 90 motor vehicles for each thousand inhabitants. The Copenhagen Assistant Commissioner of Police comments that "Compared to these (the motor-populous American cities) European totals are remarkably low—a mere one in ten, on the average. It must be added that the thought of having ten times as many motor vehicles on the streets of our, generally speaking, very old streets, is rather a staggering one for us Europeans!"

Europe does pretty well on bicycles. There are 750,000 in Paris, but Copenhagen has the highest number in proportion to its populations: one cycle to every adult citizen. This statistic bears out what every traveller to Copenhagen suspects. Montreal has only 34,500 bicycles, 26 for each thousand inhabitants. San Francisco has a mere 20 bicycles for each thousand people, Cairo 15, Calcutta 2½. Melbourne has 183. Horse-drawn vehicles are most numerous in Melbourne, Calcutta and Cairo. In the two latter, needless to say, there are also numerous rickshaws and carts.

Cairo, Pittsburgh, Zurich and Copenhagen have the highest number of trams per inhabitant. Melbourne, Sheffield and Birmingham have the greatest proportion of buses. Despite the ubiquity of taxis in both London and New York, taxis are most numerous, relative to the populations, in Manchester, Montreal and Paris. Manchester has 2,520 taxis, or 3.67 taxis for each thousand inhabitants. Montreal has 3,746 taxis, or 2.88 for each thousand inhabitants. Paris has 8,904, or 1.86 for each thousand inhabitants. New York, on the other hand, has a mere 11,800 taxis—only 1.46 for each thousand inhabitants, and London only 5,833, or .70 a thousand.

It is interesting to note that Canada is the only Commonwealth country where traffic goes on the right. Other left-handers besides the United Kingdom, South Africa, etc., are Sweden, Egypt and Czechoslovakia.

Fatalities from traffic accidents are most numerous in London, but in proportion to its population Johannesburg is in the lead: 22.5 for each hundred thousand inhabitants. Next in order are Melbourne, Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, San Francisco, and Detroit. Montreal is fairly average: 9.23. London has 7.21 killed of each 100,000 inhabitants. It is interesting to note that, as a proportion of the number of motor vehicles on the streets (compared with the number of fatal accidents according to the total population), Bombay, Cairo, Vienna and Amsterdam have the highest proportion of killed in traffic accidents. The big American cities are the lowest on the list—indicating more skilful drivers, more heedful or frightened pedestrians, or stricter enforcement of traffic rules.

The Danish survey is interesting, even if no accurate conclusions can be drawn from it.

Peterborough Cases Dismissed

Recent cases in Peterborough magistrate's court show that there has been insufficient investigation of the circumstances or inadequate presentation of available evidence before they were brought up. Two cases in point were the charges of loitering against a group of youths last week-end, and a charge of attempted theft in mid-week. There have been others.

When a person is arrested he must be charged or released. There is an interval before the charge is laid, when police and the Crown Attorney can make a preliminary survey to determine if a charge is warranted. Between the time of laying the charge and the person's appearance in court there is usually another interval when the Crown Attorney or his deputy can gather evidence and prepare the prosecution. If the Crown is not satisfied even then that a charge should have been laid, he can move for dismissal of the case. Our point—and we take it in the public interest—is not that too many cases come to police court which should never have been brought in, or that the police are arresting without due cause. We do not say that or believe it. We do believe, however, that too many cases are coming before the magistrate which have not been sufficiently prepared.

In dismissing cases Magistrate Philps has had to remark during the last fortnight that "I don't know what's behind all this"; "The evidence is so contradictory it is difficult to understand", and so on. It is not the Crown's job to get a conviction. It is the Crown's job to prepare the evidence as fully as possible, and to present it adequately. The Magistrate should know, from the lips of the Crown or his deputy, what is behind the case. The evidence should not be difficult to understand. It should be brought out properly.

The Seven Cent Bar

When the chocolate bar manufacturers increased their prices from five cents to seven cents at the first of this month, we took occasion to remark on the small size of the bar and the large increase in the price: a forty per cent. rise. We are glad to open our correspondence columns today to the general manager of the confectionery industries of Canada, who tells about the increased costs of producing the bars. They sold at seven cents during the first post-war years because of a 2-cent tax. This tax was removed, and so the price reverted to five cents. By then the bar was a pretty small brother to the pre-war five cent bar. But the price held until a few weeks ago. Now bars are up (Mr. Saunder's letter does not explain why they all went up exactly two cents, rather than one or three), and they remain the post-war small size.

German Students Face Re-armament

By PETER HEYWORTH

(Ed. Note: Mr. Heyworth, who sends us this despatch by airmail from Bonn has been spending several months visiting universities in Western Germany.)

NO event since the end of the war has so shaken German students out of their political apathy as has the growing demand abroad that the German army should be revived. This trend, culminating in Mr. Churchill's recent speech in Strasbourg, has been watched by them with a mixture of dismay and grim cynicism.

For the last five years the Allies have been busy stamping out all possible vestiges of German militarism. This has not been merely a matter of disbanding the armed forces and dismantling factories (including one that made caps for toy pistols), but above all an attempt to destroy the honour and power that the army has always enjoyed in Germany.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is a small but active minority of students who accept the Allied version of the pernicious political and social influence of the German Officer Corps and General Staff. They recognize what a considerable role these forces played in the downfall of the Weimar Republic and consequently they have supported the demilitarization of Germany since 1945, and they now view the possible recreation of a German army with unconcealed dismay.

The sudden switch in Allied opinion has left these students high and dry, exposed to the taunts of their nationalist colleagues, who have always regarded them, if not as collaborators, at any rate as dupes of the ideological sugar with which the Allies have cunningly coated their power politics.

IT might well be expected that those students whose sympathies are nationalist and anti-democratic (Rechtsradikalen [Right Wing Radicals] they are now called) would be strongly in favour of the recreation of a German army as a means of establishing Germany's position in the world and settling with what they regard as the "weak-kneed" politicians in Bonn. But the strength of these groups derives mainly from their intense resentment against the Allies and the occupation. They realize that at present an army is only possible on terms of close co-operation with the West, and this co-operation they will not give. It is more useful to them to collect support by means of parading their pacifism.

They point out that Germany has already sacrificed millions of lives in a war against Russia that would have been successful had not America intervened. They have no intention of supporting the use of German cannon-fodder (as they put it) in an attempt to pull British and American chestnuts out of the fire.

BUT the great majority remain quite detached from these politically conscious minorities, who together probably represent no more than 20 per cent. of all students. The remainder show little interest in current affairs. Comparatively few even see a daily paper. It is only something that touches them personally—as does the recreation of an army—that jerks them out of their political apathy.

Most of these "unpoliticals" are appalled at the idea of remilitarization. There are few of them whose lives have not been radically altered by the last war. Many are crippled or disabled, many have lost their families and homes in air-raids, or are refugees from the East, many have experienced the hell of war and imprisonment in Russia.

They fear that in any case a revived German army could do no more than delay a Russian advance, and that in the next war Germany would be the victim of American atomic bombs as well as of Russian occupation. And even if Western Germany could be defended, it would, they point out, be at the expense of civil war in Germany.

✧ ✧ ✧

INTENSE though the fear of Russia is, German youth will need some more positive faith before it can join wholeheartedly in the Western struggle against Russia. Of its very nature the occupation cannot provide this faith. Rather is the reverse true; so long as many aspects of German life are subject to foreign control, Western Germany will not feel herself fully a member of the western world she may be called upon to defend.

✧ ✧ ✧

HITLER has left this generation of students psychologically exhausted. In the political apathy that is such a feature of the post-war German universities, only one idea commands enthusiasm — the idea of European union. Apart from the Hechtsradikalen, it is in this direction that most German students believe the future of their country to lie.

Were Germany to find an equal place in a European union, the attitude of students towards remilitarization would undergo a drastic change. Only by these means will opposition of those who now are against it for internal political reasons be overcome; and it is perhaps worth remembering that it is just these students who represent the intelligence of any future German democracy.

Norway National Opera

(UNESCO)

Norway will have its own travelling opera company next season, made possible by a grant from the Government of $1,500 and a similar grant from the Oslo Municipality. The company will bring operatic productions regularly to towns all over Norway. Arrangements have been made with local authorities, trades unions and employers associations in eight towns in southeast Norway which guarantee to meet any loss on the regular performances to be held once a month in each town throughout the season. The first season will begin in Oslo on 20th September.

Letters To The Editor

SEVEN-CENT BAR EXPLANATION

Sir: Your article appearing on August 11th in the Peterborough Examiner, re Chocolate Bars, has caused considerable concern to some members of this industry, and cannot be allowed to pass without comment.

It has always been and still is the desire of candy manufacturers to have 5c bars, and when they decided to return from a 7c to a 5c bar in January last, they knew they were taking some risk in the event of the raw material market going against them, but hoped that declining market would justify the step then taken.

In the United States of America, with their mass production greatly in excess of that of Canada, they are finding it almost impossible to continue to sell 5c bars with a margin of profit with the same weight as that being sold in Canada, namely, one ounce. As a result, some firms have already gone into the 10c market, while others are considering substituting 10c for 5c bars.

Canadian manufacturers, with their much smaller production, have, since January, been putting out bars of solid chocolate, weighing one ounce, for 5c, while at the same time, as compared with U.S.A. manufacturers, they have to pay a duty of 1½c a pound on cocoa beans entering Canada, with an added freight cost, as compared with U.S.A. manufacturers, of ¾c to 1c per pound. In addition to this, Canadian manufacturers have had to pay a premium of 10 per cent. for the U.S. currency necessary to purchase their raw materials, including cocoa beans, from the U.S.A.

Over and above this, Canadian manufacturers have also to absorb a sales tax of 8 per cent. of the resale value of all bars, with no similar impost applying to U.S.A. manufacturers.

Do you think it reasonable that with these additional costs Canadian firms should be expected to give as good or better value than U.S.A. manufacturers, who have much lower costs?

When Canadian firms decided to revert to the 5c bar, giving the same weight as in the case of U.S.A. manufacturers, cocoa beans were 27c per pound laid down in Canada. When firms in Canada found it necessary to go to 7c, cocoa beans had advanced in cost—since January—to 48c per pound laid down, and were also called upon to pay an additional cost of ½c a pound for sugar, and glucose, as well as having to pay increased prices for nuts of various kinds, paper, labels and packing materials, all of which have advanced since January last.

The result of these additional costs meant that many firms were operating in the red, and therefore it was absolutely necessary for them to increase their prices.

In view of this authentic information, we feel that it would be only common justice that the same publicity should be given to this aspect of the situation as your article which did gross injustice to some Canadian manufacturers.

Yours very truly,
Confectionery, Chocolate and Cocoa Industries of Canada,
F. T. W. SAUNDERS,
General Manager.

23 August.

BUNTING DOWN

Sir: I came back from my C.G.E. holidays and found all the centenary bunting down and the place looking just like it always does, nice and neat and unexciting. Why did the bunting go down. Aren't we having a centennial any more?

Yours,
R. R. SONETON.

(Ed. Note: The bunting was taken down because it was dirty. It was found that it was more expensive to clean the stuff than to replace it. The Centennial Committee haven't any money to spare, so the streamers were not replaced.)

NAME CHANGE

"So your name is Muggins and you want to change it to Savoy. Tell me why you want it changed."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And there were certain Greeks among them that came up to worship at the feast: the same came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethsaida of Galilee, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see Jesus.

Philip cometh and telleth Andrew: and again Andrew and Philip tell Jesus. And Jesus answered them, saying, The hour is come, that the Son of man should be glorified. Verily, verily, I say unto you, Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit.... And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me. This he said, signifying what death he should die.

But though he had done so many miracles before them, yet they believed not on him: that the saying of Esaias the prophet might be fulfilled, which he spake, Lord, who hath believed our report? and to whom hath the arm of the Lord been revealed?...

These things said Esaias, when he saw his glory, and spake of him. (John 12: 20-24, 32, 33, 37, 38, 41.)

Strike Views

REGINA LEADER-POST: The summoning of parliament should serve the useful purpose of emphasizing for the benefit of the 124,000 misled strikers what 14,000,000 Canadians think of their irresponsible action.... The sooner the railway unions discover that they are not inviolable, the better it will be for future bargaining relations...For a small section of the community to possess the power and opportunity to place in serious jeopardy the welfare of the entire nation is utterly wrong and must not be permitted to prevail or happen again.

✧ ✧ ✧

VANCOUVER NEWS-HERALD: In totalitarian countries government can declare strikes outlawed and they are outlawed; the worker must work when and how he is told. It is to be doubted whether any section of Canada is yet prepared to risk compromising our democracy by any limitation of the workers' right of action—even if it be deemed necessary in order to end the present disastrous work-stoppage on the railroads.

✧ ✧ ✧

SASKATOON STAR-PHOENIX: Leaders of the railway unions are holding us all to ransom to meet their demands. Parliament and government must avoid at all cost.... creating conditions which inevitably grant fresh concessions to the union leaders. We must demonstrate....We will not capitulate every time there is a strike threat.

✧ ✧ ✧

OTTAWA JOURNAL: Because 14 million Canadians should not have to suffer loss and possibly endure severe hardship at the will of 125,000 of them, the strike simply cannot be permitted to run its tragic course to the compromise which eventually is the solution of most strikes. We find some satisfaction in the fact that the government without delay has accepted its obligation to the "whole national community."

"YOUR WINSTON CALLS YOU"

After two weeks of wandering afield, suppose I should be just busting with news of the great outdoors. Well, I did get around a bit at that. One short two-day jaunt to an in-laws camp on Mississippi Lake, near Carleton Place, produced a novelty right off the bat. We were awakened one morning on the sleeping porch by a mechanical contraption threshing by the dock. It was a clanking, steel barge affair propelled by two grasshopper-leg paddle wheels at the stern. The lone operator stood importantly beside two large levers in the bow steering his Rube Goldberg craft in circles around a weedy bay. A machine from Mars? No. "It's the weed cutter, Daddy," yawned the smallest niece as she rolled over and went to sleep again. Apparently this weird piece of equipment does noble work on Mississippi's 14-mile stretch of waterways. Cottage association members, 300 of them, contribute two bucks each per season to keep it clattering through the channels. Not being mechanical minded, don't ask me how it operates. The gas motor appears to drive paddle wheels and four sets of underwater farm power mower blades. It does a right good job of aquatic mowing, so its sponsors say.

Good Trip To Kosh Lake

A day's trip to Kosh Lake over the newly-improved road from Nepheline Mines to Blue Mountain Lodge is worth any person's time. Judging from the number of cottages already erected and those abuilding, it is the district's coming resort area. And there is plenty to see in Kosh. One large open stretch, flanked on the west by the Blue Mountain hill range, is actually the Little Laurentians. From Panorama Point where we lunched and swam there is a parcel of Crown Land, so tags on the scrub oaks indicate. A place to dream about all winter; don't steal our dream, please.

Deploring the plunder of under-size pickerel and bass going on at the present time in district waters, veteran guide Sam Taylor, 29 years at the game, declared that his fellow guides who let their temporary employers get away with it, are the worst offenders. I asked him what he thought about the Department of Lands and Forests' proposed school for guides. He hadn't heard about it but said it would be the best thing that ever happened. Sam is a pretty straight boy and cannot fathom why guides violate their own future cash crop in this stupid manner. Although he is now a hydro worker, the call of the wilds still draws him to old haunts. "The evidence of cheating is around shore dinner campfire sites everywhere," he said.

Swinging In Jungle Hammocks

Think I have found the solution to comfortable family camping. Tent sleeping on moss and bare rocks is painful business but swinging in American war surplus jungle hammocks is solid comfort. My Sea Scout son introduced the idea and we tried it out with great results on the shore of Gilchrist Bay on Stony Lake for a few nights. A tent for a common camp shelter is fine but each member of the expedition should have a jungle 'mick. Some resort outfitters bought up a supply of these things and rent them out for two-bits per night. Will put you in touch with the source if you are interested, and you will be after on night of rest.

While tramping through deep shoreline bush and over hot rocks at Stony, a couple of us kept thinking about the presence of rattlesnakes although we did not discuss the matter until night campfire time. Conditions seem so ideal for them in the Kawarthas but thank Heaven this is not their habitat. We have no poisonous snakes in the Trent waterways; Massasauga and Timber Rattlers are found in other parts of the province. Common non-venomous types in Ontario are: Blowing Adder, Blue Racer, Fox Snake, Grass Snake, Little Brown Snake, Milk Snake, Pilot Black Snake, Queen Snake, Red-bellied Snake, Ribbon Snake, Ring Necked Snake and Water Snake.

Setting Duck Schedules

Smoking mists over the water these mornings conjure up thoughts of blinds, decoys, retrievers and the whistle of mallards on the wing. It's time to get legal shooting dates and bag limits firmly in mind as early preparations take place. Since Peterborough shooters will not travel too far north in the province, here is the dope which applies south of the Parry Sound-Arnprior boundary: October 7 to November 30. DUCKS, 7 per day (of which not more than one may be a wood duck), 14 birds in possession at any time; GEESE, 5 per day, 10 in possession at any one time, 25 per season; COOTS, GALINULES and RAILS, 25 per day. October 2 to November 8, WOODCOCK, 8 per day and 16 in possession at any time; October 2 to November 1st, WILSON'S SNIPE, 8 per day, 16 in possession at any time. ALL MIGRATORY BIRDS must be used or disposed of before August 31, 1951.

HOLIDAY RE-HASH: Oddest catch of the season went to Art Lee, Toronto banker, who brought his line up with a clam clamped on it....Teacher-historian Edwin Guillet, returning to his Stony Lake cottage from a year in Europe, backs up what I've been trying to tell you all season: "Fishing better this year than for the past fifteen." Of course he was bound to make such a statement after taking a 16-pound 'lunge during his first trolling session....Cliff Calvert and Jack Brooks snaffled three muskies in the 12 and 15-pound range last Friday evening on Buckhorn Lake....Conservation Officer Stan Windsor saw a large water snake swallowing an 8¼-inch sucker in Dummer Township. He shipped the greedy reptile to Biologist Charlie Weir at Lindsay to note in his wilderness wonder book.

Progress of Peterborough: XXXIII

Dams Built, Industry Starts Great Lumber Era Begins

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

Peterborough in the 1840's became the trade centre for the Kawarthas. The Trent improvements were completed 1839-42, an 1841 government report said "The works in progress consist of a lock and dam at Purdy's Mills, the same at Crooks Rapids and at Whitlaw's Rapids near Peterboro." At Crooks Rapids a timberslide was built 1844 to take the timbers around the rapids, and next year a new bridge was built below the dam, but like its predecessors, needed constant repairs; Henry Humphries recounted later how the log jams forming above the bridge were cleared by ramming them with heavy timbers This Crooks Rapids dam raised water-levels in Rice Lake and the Lower Otonabee, Indian and Ouse Rivers, besides flooding low lying lands, thus lowering the mill-power on these waters, which led to lawsuits. The Whitlaw improvements raised water levels in Little Lake and the Otonabee up to the London St. dam, allowing steamers to ascend to the Steamboat Wharf and to the mills above. Later, when the Healy Falls dam was built in 1846, the upper Trent was similarly flooded and Crooks Mill had less power.

The dams at Purdy's Mill, Bobcaygeon and Buckhorn improved levels in the upper lakes, making steamship navigation easier; the "Woodman" of Port Perry, "Ogemah" of Fenelon Falls, and others plied regularly from Lake Scugog as far as Chemong and Buckhorn Lakes. The District Council 1844 financed a ferryboat on Chemong Lake to run from Galt's Landing (Ennismore) to Edmison's Landing (Smith), with tolls: team and wagon 1s., single horse 6d., oxen and cart 9d., cattle 3d. each, pigs and calves 2d. each, passengers 3d. each; this ferryboat was dropped after a few years, as being too expensive. It cost 50c. per cwt. or 25c per bushel to transport goods between Peterborough and either Sturgeon or Clear Lake, thus hampering trade.

Passenger Boats

The Peterborough Backwoodsman & Sentinel, May 20, 1840, congratulated George May on his passenger boat operating to Rice Lake; this novel craft, operated by hand-driven paddlewheels, did not last long. Later steamers ran daily (except Sunday) in season from Peterborough to Sully (Harwood) and Gore's Landing (founded 1844 by Gore) on Rice Lake; one of these was the "Forester" launched 1845 at Gore's Landing, owned by Wm. Weller of Cobourg, the stage magnate who headed the Cobourg-Rice Lake Plank Road Company and had stages connecting with steamers on Rice Lake and Lake Ontario.

A Port Hope engineer estimated in 1847 that the export and import trade of Peterborough by road and water to Lake Ontario cost, for transport only, $120,000 a year, including 111,000 bu wheat, 1059 bu. peas, 21,000 bbl. flour, 3000 bbl. salt, 1024 tons merchandise, 15 million feet of lumber, 4000 passengers, etc. He concluded: "Peterborough . . needs only the cheap and ready means of transport which a railway can afford to make it rise in importance." The lakefront promoters from 1832 were trying to float railway companies to expand the backwoods trade, but owing to the widespread suspicion about railways, as well as the disturbances and depressions 1835-45, no actual rail construction in the region could be financed until the 1850's.

The industrialization of the Colborne District can be gauged from the incomplete Census returns:

	1842	1848
Gristmills	10	16
Oatmills	—	2
Sawmills	10	28
Carding & Fulling mills	9	9
Breweries	1	2
Distilleries	4	5
Asheries	8	—
Tanneries	5	10
Iron foundries	—	1
Other factories	—	15
No. Establishments:	47	88

On an 1847 map, grist and sawmills were shown: Asphodel: 2 grist and 4 saw; Douro: 1 and 4; Dummer: 2 and 2; Emily: 0 and 1; Fenelon & Bexley: 1 and 1; Mariposa: 1 and 2; N. Monaghan (inc Peterborough): 3 and 3; Otonabee: 1 and 2; Ops: 1 and 3; Smith: 2 and 3; Verulam and Harvey: 1 and 1; Belmont, Ennismore and Eldon: none—Total: 15 gristmills, 28 sawmills. Cavan in Durham was more plentifully supplied with 7 grist, 1 oat, and 9 sawmills. Of most new mills we unfortunately have no record. Henry Fowlds put up a sawmill, an oatmill and a gristmill at Westwood 1844-6 of which the last is still working as a chopping-mill. Grover in 1848 built a sawmill near Norwood on Indian River, and at Keene Dr. Gilchrist built a three-storey limestone gristmill with five waterwheels and runs of stones. The Keene mill was powered by a twenty-foot canal from Burnham's Dam farther north, and when Gilchrist retired to Port Hope in 1849 Burnham bought it; one waterwheel is still in use. (Examiner, June 10, 1950.)

Peterborough (including the Scotch Village) in 1850 had three gristmills with ten runs of stones, an oat and barley mill, a carding and fulling mill, a brewery, a distillery, four foundries, three tanneries, two asheries, etc. Omemee had a gristmill, a sawmill a carding and fulling mill, a distillery and a tannery; Lindsay a gristmill, a sawmill, a carding and fulling mill, a foundry, an ashery, and a tannery; Bobcaygeon a gristmill and a sawmill; Fenelon Falls a gristmill and a sawmill; Warsaw a gristmill, a (sawmill, a carding and fulling mill; Norwood a gristmill, a sawmill, and a tannery; Keene a gristmill, a sawmill, a carding and fulling mill and a tannery; Lakefield had a gristmill and a sawmill being rebuilt. The foundries made small iron implements: axe-heads, horseshoes, wheel-rims plough-points, etc. The tanneries prepared leather for the shoemakers, saddle and harness makers, and others. The carding and fulling mill cleaned and combed wool before it was shipped out. The potash and pearlash industry was important while the land was first being cleared, since an average acre of forest produced 250 pounds of ash worth about $8 to $10, thus paying the cost of clearing; in the 1840's, however, this industry died away rapidly, with the introduction of chemical dyes, and soaps made of whaleoil and vegetable oils, although many settlers continued to make their own soft soap from ashes.

Clearing Bees

Clearing land was the main occupation of pioneer farmers, who worked at it in all seasons. Gentry with cash had it done by contract, but usually ordinary settlers gathered at "clearing bees" to help each other. A ten-acre fallow was marked into one-acre lots, each of which was cleared by a gang of five men with an ox-team competing to be finished first. The best pine timbers for squaring and sawing were piled separately, also the oak for pipe-staves, the smaller timbers for fence-rails, the logs for building and firewood, and finally the remainder to be burned. Other bees were held for building, stumping, fencing, ploughing, haying and harvesting. For the women there were quilting and soap-making bees; for the young people corn-husking and apple-paring bees, sometimes called "kissing bees."

The women outdid themselves to prepare feasts for the hungry men at bees. Mrs. Moodie mentions one where they ate pea-soup, pork, venison, fish, potatoes, pies and whisky. At the Stewart's house-raising in 1841 they had roast pig, cold ham boiled mutton, fish, potatoes, beans, carrots, rice and bread puddings, currant and gooseberry tarts. When the work was done, there were footraces, leaping, pole-vaulting, wrestling, weight-lifting, and contests in walking ropes and ridgepoles.

Some bees were marred by excessive drinking; Mrs. Moodie called them "noisy, riotous, drunken meetings — very little work is done when we consider the number of hands employed." Strickland, a magistrate, said bees were "a continual round of dissipation — if not of something worse. I have known several cases of manslaughter arising out of quarrels produced by intoxication at these everyday gatherings." In fact, the gentry disliked bees because they were democratic neighborly gatherings where skill was more important than breeding, and where everyone participated on terms of equality; for "gentlemen" to work with the "lower orders," and for "ladies" to have to help in serving them at table, was repugnant even when the gentry themselves were holding the bees. Anne Langton wrote 1842: "Some of the gentlemen talk of forming a logging association, cutting bees altogether, and helping each other with (hired) men and cattle for two or three days at a time." Neighborly bees have endured, however, right up to modern times, in all community activities.

Progress Recorded

The census returns for Colborne District indicate the progress in agriculture:

	1842	1848
Acres occupied	243,511	320,497
Acres cultivated	48,255	81,360
Horses	1,565	3 781
Cattle (including oxen)	10,581	17,879
Sheep	14,011	24,228
Swine	10,989	16,471
Wheat (bushels)	113,766	276,044
Oats (bushels)	135,931	242,620
Potatoes (bus.)	825,004	191,827
Peas (bus.)	40 400	47,348
Barley (bus.)	20,510	6,609
Farm laborers	47	206

Production doubled also in domestic products: homemade cloth, wool, linen and flannel, flax, butter, cheese, maple sugar, and bee hives. Acres cultivated rose 1842-48 from 48,255 to 84,848, and ratable property from £159,003 to £264,093. Cavan had in 1850: 13,691 acres in crop, 5,131 acres pasture, £151,514 ratable property, 1,312 horses, 3,869 cattle, 5,943 sheep and 3,079 hogs. According to a British Parliament return 1847, out of 207,121 acres assessed at £137,716 in Douro, Smith, Otonabee, Asphodel, Emily, Ennismore and Ops, the Irish emigrants owned 38,810 acres assessed at £45,713, and were prosperous enough to send thousands of pounds yearly through Mr. Hickson of Peterborough to assist their relatives during the 1846-48 Irish famine and plague.

Agricultural Societies

Another indication of rural prosperity was the formation of Agricultural Societies. From 1842 on, ploughing matches were common, and in the same year the Colborne District Agricultural Society held its First Annual Cattle Show and Fair at Peterborough. At the third annual fair, October 7, 1845, prize winners were: Horses—Jos. Walton, Robt. Thompson, Rev. J. Rogers, Wm. Dixon. Sheep—Jos. Lee, John Gilmour, Jos. and John Walton. Cows—John Walton. J. Stephenson, Robt. Milburn. Jas. Lockhart,

BIG STAN McBRIDE HOLDS MORE RECORDS than you can shake a weight-lifter's stick at. He has wrestled at carnivals, won swimming laurels, heaved great weights, and now golfs in the '70's.

Local Giant Lifts 665 Pounds Swims Like Flash, Golfs 70's

By DON GRANT

By throwing human bodies at fall fairs, splashing through 100 yards of water, lifting more than 600 pounds and becoming a first flight golfer, Stan McBride, Edinburgh St., has become one of Peterborough's most renowned sporting figures.

Known throughout the city as "Big Stan" (because of his massive chest), McBride has won recognition not only by his participation in local and out-of-town sports but by his jovial personality.

Besides playing sports Big Stan has become well-known in the city for his endeavours in civic sporting ventures. He was a prominent figure in promoting the Civic arena and is still a member of the board of directors.

His experience in sports are numerous and full of life; so full of life that tears come to the eyes from laughing rather than sorrow. His carnival wrestling with Cliff McInroy from 1942 until 1946 provides most of the joyous memories.

The chance to do evil is found a hundred times a day, and that of doing good once a year.

VOLTAIRE: Zadig, 1748

At Summer Carnivals

Each summer during that period Cliff and Stan would join the summer carnivals as "professional" wrestlers. Not only would they take turns posing as "the home town hero" but they would take turns winning.

The carnival challenger, either McBride or McInroy, under the bright lights would parade around on the mat flexing his muscles while the carnival barker would challenge any home town boy to "take on the Masked Marvel and win $25". Before the barker had finished speaking the "home boy", either Stan or Cliff, depending who was in the ring, would climb into the ring. In this way the crowd was pleased with the "brave home brand" and more important, the $25 stayed with the carnival.

Only once did this backfire. In Sudbury a giant of a man reached the ring before the "home" boy, which happened to be Stan. The challenger towered above the six-foot mark. After considerable talking the Sudbury hulker took $10 to keep quiet and allow the show to continue as planned.

"That man could have eaten both of us," said Stan.

Stan McBride, now in his early thirties, began his athletic career in the junior ranks of the South-end Softball League. The Cardinals, his team, won the championship in 1936 and 1937. The final game of the '37 series with the Payne's nine was played in 22 minutes, a record seven-inning game.

His baseball is limited to days in 1939 with the Junior City League Pirates, who won the championship that year.

Noted Swimmer

When McBride met Gord Minty in 1937 at the YMCA, McBride's brilliant career in swimming started. Without any instruction he defeated everyone in the Y pool in his first swim. In the space of a year he broke all records in the backstroke and free style swimming in the YMCA. Since then all his records in the free style have remained intact, local swimmers failing to reach his mark. One record has been broken by a Toronto swimmer and another tied in the free style. New marks have been set in the backstroke.

Big Stan swept the Wallace mile swim in its first two years. Al Marshall, later a dominion champion, edged Stan in the third running of the annual event. He still holds many regatta swimming records with times that will take the best swimmers in North America to better.

Joe Stalin's armed forces ruined McBride's chances to win laurels at the Olympics in 1940. Stan was one of the leading Canadian swimmers and would have been a member of the Canadian team if the event had been held.

Other swimming marks are: Port Perry swimming and diving competition three years in a row; Kawartha lakes high diving three years in a row; three metre and tower diving at Camp Borden in 1941 (pictured in a Canada Carries On film); high aggregate trophy at Camp Borden by winning the eight swimming events.

Out of the Army in 1941 Stan continued swimming with clown and straight acts at Army and RCAF stations in Ontario and Quebec with Cliff McInroy. A result of this combination is the annual trophy for diving presented at the Public Sschool Swimming Meet.

The last time he swam competitively was two years ago in Kingston at Queen's University. There he placed first twice. Since then he has been helping when time allows with the younger swimmers at the YMCA.

Lifted 665 Pounds

In weightlifting Stan is supreme. He holds the Outboard Marine trophy for heavyweight lifting a total of 665 pounds. He started weight lifting with Ira Dundas in 1939 at the YMCA and after he came back from the army joined McInroy's weightlifting group. Cliff and Stan taught weightlifting at the YMCA until 1946. They produced Ab Blondin, one of the leading weightlifters in Ontario.

Stan, a Peterborough Golf and Country Clubber, first swung a club in 1943. Since then he has won the Tombstone trophy twice, the Westclox trophy once, and the MacDonald trophy for match play. He has developed into a first flight golfer with a handicap of nine.

A football experience may have been the cause of his slowing down in swimming. In 1938 with the Orfuns his knee was hurt. Since that time his football role has been confined to that of trainer of the Peterborough Football Club.

Stan's motto must be "Smile and the world smiles with you" for wherever Stan McBride is, laughter radiates.

SECRET WEAPON

Ole fly a-buzzing round
The room, first a high loop
Then a zoom.Ole fly a-buzzing
Round my head, how I wish that
You were dead. You will be too!
You silly Ass! Just make at me
Another pass. I greased my bald
Dome till it shone, for now the Fight was really on. I felt the
Time was drawing near; ole fly
Has down his landing gear.
He's landed!
Yes it is a fact. Alas
His brakes they wouldn't act.
He rolled and skidded around my Head. He broke his neck, so now
He's dead.

Ladle In A Pot Of Gold

Tonight

Swiftly walk over the western wave,
Spirit of Night!
Out of the misty eastern cave,
Where all the long and lone daylight,
Thou wovest dreams of joy and fear,
Which makes thee terrible and dear,—
Swift be thy flight!

Wrap thy form in a mantle grey,
Star-inwrought!
Blind with thine hair the eyes of Day;
Kiss her until she be wearied out,
Then wander o'er city, and sea, and land.
Touching all with thine opiate wand—
Come, long sought!

When I arose and saw the dawn,
I sighed for thee;
When light rode high, and the dew was gone,
And noon lay heavy on flower and tree,
And the weary Day turned to his rest,
Lingering like an unloved guest,
I sighed for thee.

Thy brother Death came, and cried,
Wouldst thou me?
Thy sweet child Sleep, the filmy-eyed,
Murmured like a noon-tide bee,
Shall I nestle near thy side?
Wouldst thou me?—And I replied,
No, not thee!

Death will come when thou art dead,
Soon, too soon—
Sleep will come when thou art fled;
Of neither would I ask the boon
I ask of thee, beloved Night—
Swift be thine approaching flight,
Come soon, soon!

In A Land Dry As Old Bread, Bored By Western Hygiene

By PATRICK O'DONOVAN

ZANZIBAR, Aug. 26 — One problem that admits of no tidy solution faces the stranger in East Africa. This is the problem of how to reconcile the principles which he professes to believe in at home with what he sees among these shabby hills and dry valleys. Instinctively one revolts from the ideas that are too common here—that the Africans have only just "come down off the trees," are barbaric by nature, untrustworthy and incapable, and, therefore, without any natural rights.

Equally the view that these millions are the victims of a monstrous injustice, that we have destroyed a society solely for our gain, and that self-government, or "Africa for the Africans," presents a solution to our great sin in being here, appears silly and ignorant. At best it seems evidence of a vague morality that cares nothing for the effect of its preaching.

Tanganyika, which Britain holds under the Trusteeship Committe of the United Nations, is an empty place where 7,000,000 Aricans live in a land larger than France and Germany together. There are 120 tribes and almost as many languages. Some tribes, like the Chagga on the cool slopes of Kilimanjaro, are rich and organised; many are still in a small and secret world of their own surrounded by that fear and cruelty that unhappy little children know.

Much of this country is as dry as old bread. Three-quarters of it is under tsetse fly and cannot well be used for cattle without expensive cleaning operations. It is faced with no problem more urgent than that of finding sweet and abundant water. It is a page on which we could write almost anything we chose, but it is not easy to be certain what to write.

Local Councils

Tanganyika is now preparing a modest programme of constitutional reform; its chief aim is to lay the foundation for some sort of African democracy. At present local government is largely in the hands of the "Native Authorities," who are in fact the tribal and traditional chiefs. Their authority is confined to local councils but it will probably spread up through district and provincial councils. This is the sort of development, from below upwards, that will be necessary if the Africans are not to fee that indirect rule is getting them nowhere, even though it works quite well.

Any sort of advance will certainly be opposed by many of the European settlers. Those on the frontiers of Kenya in the Northern Provinces are likely to oppose it at the tops of their voices. There are 410 of them in the north who employ more than ten farm laborers. British, Greek, South African Dutch, and a few Indians. It was they who touched off the bitter opposition to the first tentative suggestions for reform that came out of Dar es Salaam last year. It is important to remember their precise significance when next they make their protest.

Same Faces

One of the difficulties facing the reformers is the lack of outstanding personalities in the country. The same faces appear year after year in the same councils and committees. Few Africans outside the government service have any knowledge of affairs, and even fewer have the leisure to devote to assemblies outside their villages. The material for the sort of great step forward one desires does not yet exist.

In imposing our rule, hygiene and economics on East Africa we have made the place boring for Africans. We have reduced and curtailed the excitements, the tribal wars, the dancing, the stupendous drinking; we have broken some of the institutions that made their lives seem important. We have substituted a little Christianity, some law and order, and a few hundred footballs.

If we have not gone far in developing Tanganyika, we have also not created a barrier of literate and unhappy revolutionary nationalists between us and the people. That is why, along with the chances for economic development, our opportunity here is so great.

There exist an enormous number of projects for development, ranching, railways, mines, and co-operative agriculture. Somehow we have to build up a body of Africans who can take a share in these. It is essential to give them an increasing part in government, slowly, maybe, at first, but not so slowly that each advance is considered by the Africans to have been won by their valor out of our ill-will and greed.

Although it is no good pretending that self-government in Tanganyika is round the corner, Britain has a last chance here to prove that partnership between black and white is possible, and that racial co-operation is not beyond men's power.

St. Kitts Beat Petes, 16-14 In Overtime OLA Contest

A three-goal drive in overtime here last night gave St. Catharines Athletics a 16-14 OLA senior "A" win over the Petes to keep them up in second place in the race, with the Petes still back in fifth spot. A good-sized crowd saw an exciting game, though the homesters played spotty lacrosse, looking like winners at times and like intermediates at others. They got one goal in the 10-minute overtime heat but it was two short of a tie.

The squads played on even terms in a neat 2-2 first stanza, but the locals were listless in the second quarter and were outscored 4-1 to make it 6-3 at the half for Athletics. The Petes came back strongly in the third for a 6-3 margin to square it at 9-all going into the fourth and it was even again there at 4-4 to end regulation time at 13-13 But the Creighton crew didn't have the needed punch in the extra inning.

Rugged Game

Play was rugged over most of the route, marked by one fist fight between Jerry Fitzgerald and Bill (Ham) Nelson—each drawing majors. The referees took uite a panning from the heated fans, especially toward the finish. Nine penalties were handed out, five to the visitors, but there could have been more on each side.

There wasn't much to choose between the goalies, each muffing a few on partly screened shots, but being hard to beat as a rule. Steve Oneschuk and Bill Nelson threw their weight around effectively for St. Kitts, with Don Crowe solid for the Petes and playing a fine game for being in lacrosse so late this season. The visitors stalled in neat fashion when shorthanded and the locals couldn't do much about it.

Sparked St. Kitts

Harry Wipper was the sparkplug for the victors with four goals and an assist. Jim McMahon had three markers and helped on once, while two goals each were counted by Leo Teatro, Jim McNulty, Tony D'Amico and coach Joe Cheevers, Oneschuk getting one and two assists. Nelson aided on a pair, and Bird, D'Amico, Teatro and Whittaker one each. While Arn Dugan had six assists, Bob Thorpe played a sounder game throughout and led in goals with four, Emmett Creighton also starring with three and an assist. Don Crowe notched a pair and helped once, as did Dootch Vitarelli. Bob Breakspear counted a pair and Jack Breakspear one. Thorpe came through with two assists for six points, Ashbee and Fitzgerald helping once each.

Robinson KO's Basora In 52 Seconds

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 26 (AP)—They jeered Sugar Ray Robinson his last time out, but there's nothing but cheers for the Harlem dandy today.

Robinson proved for all time Friday night that he ranks with the ring's great boxers as he ripped and slashed Jose Basora with a ferocious assault that earned the Sugar a 52-second knockout in the first round of a scheduled 15-round championship bout.

Basora was seeking Robinson's middleweight title, Pennsylvania version.

Two weeks ago in New York, Robinson looked unimpressive in winning a 15-round decision over Charley Fusari in a successful defence of his world welterweight title.

Basora was badly hurt by Friday night's Robinson onslaught, and his handlers were dumbfounded.

On the other hand, Robinson hardly worked up a sweat and grinned broadly as he told reporters he had fought "a carefully-planned campaign" based on Basora's weight.

Basora entered the ring at 159¾ to Robinson's 154¾, but the Sugar said he had learned Basora weighed 168 earlier in the week.

Gave It Early

"I knew he couldn't take off that much weight without it hurting him," Robinson said. "I figured I'd give him everything I had early and if I didn't knock him out in three rounds he'd be so weak he'd collapse."

Robinson really poured it on Basora. The seconds hadn't got down the steps when Basora was on the floor, rolling with a whistling left hook to the right ear.

His ear was cut so badly it was still bleeding when the fight was over. Dr. Leonard Freda of the State Athletic Commission, who refused to permit Basora to get up for six or seven minutes, said later he may have suffered an ear puncture.

Yelverton Girls Defeat Bethany

BETHANY, Aug. 26—(ENS)—Yelverton girls were the winners on their home field in the second game of the semi finals in the North Durham League on Thursday night with an 18 to 12 score. Helen Heaslip was on the mound for Yelverton with Grace Kerr receiving. Evelyn Mantle on the mound for Bethany, Margaret Shea receiving.

The game, scheduled for nine innings was called for darkness in the first half of the seventh.

Batting honors went to Madge Kerr with a homer and a double and Aileen Kerr with a triple for the Yelverton girls. Christella Rowan hit a homer and double and Lauretta Rowan a homer and triple for Bethany.

The score was:

Bethany ..... 212 205—12
Yelverton ..... 160 461—18

The teams:

Yelverton: Heaslip, p; G. Kerr, c; Malcolm, 1b; E. Kerr, 2b; B. Kerr, 3b; E. Malcolm, ss; M. Kerr, lf; Cain, cf; Mitchell, rf.

Crescent Smash Brampton 16-5

OWEN SOUND, Aug. 26 (CP)—Owen Sound Crescents took an almost-unshakeable grip on first place in the Ontario Senior Lacrosse race last night, downing Brampton Excelsiors 16-5.

St. Catharines Athletics must win all of their three remaining games to tie the Crescents who need a single win in two games to wind up the schedule in top position. Playoffs will follow for the championship and the right to move into the Mann Cup finals for the Dominion championship.

Playing coach Doug Gillespies got two goals and five assists for Crescents. Jack Mason got two goals while two apiece were scored by Arnold Smith, Don McWhirter, Russ Slater and Don Campbell.

Gord Cruickshanks with two, and Jack Crawford, Ralph Gowland and Harvey Madget scored for Athletics.

Tigers Beat Petes

Tigers took the Petes' peewees 15-12 in minor lacrosse yesterday. Main snipers for the Tigers were Jay, Pace, Ketcheson, while Kent, Coombs, Hunt and Davis were prominent on the attack for the losers in a tight contest. Teams:

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The Petes aren't out of the Viaduct Ball Loop woods yet, insofar as being assured of finishing up in second place—a coveted spot ere playoffs. They're but one game up on Aces and one and a half in front of New Toronto. And New Toronto are here twice today (weather permitting) to wind up the schedule at three this aft and at 8.30 tonight under the Riverside lights. Highly important frays, nor must it be forgotten that Aces play Oshawa Monday. Playoffs start about Wednesday, and semi-finals are tentatively set at four-in-seven, first and third teams playing off and second and fourth clashing. Yeah, it's a fight right down to the wire.

East City men softballers, presently tied in city finals with Mutuals, open their best-of-three OASA senior "B" playdowns at 8.30 tonight in the Bowl over Ashburnham way. Return game will be Tuesday or Wednesday in the Limestone City and they'll toss for the third site, if necessary. The East Citizens' board of strategy—Ken Guilfoyle, George Sullivan and Ossie Anderson—hasn't announced who will twirl tonight's tilt, and mayhap it'll be the veteran and cagey Guilfoyle himself. If the club plays up to top form, it might well go quite a piece along the provincial playdown path this semester.

Clockers Must Click

Followers of the femmes—the softballic variety, we mean—should see Westclox in action this aft at three in the Bowl, going against Cunningham & Hill colleens of Toronto. Latter won the opener at home, but 'tis expected Isobel (Tommy) Bullock will toe the Clockers' slab today and set 'em back on their heels. Forcing a third fray here at 6.30 p.m. today in the second round of PWSU intermediate "A" playdowns. Westclox ousted Kingston in the first round. Then as part of the sports centennial week program on Monday, there'll be a girls' exhibition at 8.30, Toronto Fuels (who lead the senior Sunnyside League) tackling a local all-star team of lasses.

Regarding Ed Feigner (pronounced "finer") who is the King and the twirler of the fabulous King and His Court, who play the local men all-stars here Tuesday e'en, much has been written. He says it all started four years ago in Walla Walla. Their full team proved far too good for all opposition, and rival managers ordered them to split up. Ed refused to do so. He figured that a pitcher who could fan 16 or 17 a game needed only a catcher and a couple of roving infielders, like first and short, to win most games from nine-men teams. So he lined up his four-man club and has been beating the best in the States and Canada since. Kiwanis Club is staging the exhibition here.

Along The PMLA Front

Let's take a brief look at the minor lacrosse picture in these parts. Our juniors led by a game o'er Toronto in OLA junior "B" finals and go to Toronto on Wednesday. Bantams play St. John's of Toronto an exhibition here at 2.30 today. Local bantams and midgets open OLA playdowns here Monday night at eight, return games of points-to-count series in Orillia on Thursday. The bantam go will be first, with midgets following immediately. Juniors have a 10 a.m. drill on Aug. 27, with the midgets practising at 12.30 the same day. Meantime, the tadpoles and peewees are at it daily under direction of Jerry Fitzgerald.

* * * * * *

That was a hot senior OLA scrap here last cloudy eve, but the Petes played in-and-out lacrosse to lose 16-14 in overtime. Couldn't click at all sometimes, and then they'd get hotter than the ho-ho bird to really dangle for a spell. Plenty exciting near the close, especially when they tied it up to force the extra inning. Rugged, too, and the fans roasted the refs for some odd calls. Bob Thorpe turned in a standout performance for the losers, scoring four and aiding on two more, while Arn Dugan had six assists to keep ahead of the OLA race. Em Creighton was good, too, and Don Crowe is proving a big help as playoffs near. Harry Wipper was the main gun for St. Kitts. Same squads tangle tonight in St. Catharines to wind up th[illegible]

Mutuals Take First One Over Oshawa

Mutuals defeated Oshawa 6-1 at the Motor City last evening in the first of a best-of-three series for the right to advance in intermediate "A" men's senior softball playoffs. The teams meet next week here in the second game.

George Hunter opposed Preem Whitely on the hill and displayed good form to hold his rivals to five singles and one run for eight innings while his mates led by Howie Dalton with four runs batted in, smote the offerings of Whitely for three in each of the first and fourth innings to take away the verdict handily. Hunter aided his own cause with two hits as well and scored a run.

Both teams fielded well but the outstanding features afield were supplied by Johnny Russelle's boys with two sparkling doubleplays in the third and eighth. Dalton snared MacIntyre's fly and doubled Brown off third in a nice play while Leether to Crowe to Dalton in the final was a masterpiece of speed and precision. Bobby Crowe, Hawkes and Leether were at their best along with the outfield trio with Borland good behind the plate as the whole crew went well. For Oshawa, Faillon, Brown and Whitely were best in defeat.

Grace De Moss Golf Favorite

ST. CHARLES GOLF COURSE, WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 26 (CP).—Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., tramps the fairways of this tree-lined layout twice today, favorite to recapture the Canadian women's open golf championship she won last year at Vancouver.

Her opponent in the 36-hole final is steady Dot Kielty of Los Angeles, winner three weeks ago of the Tam O'shanter—billed as the world championship amateur tournament.

Miss Kielty, member of the winning U.S. Curtis cup team two years ago, yesterday eliminated Babs Davies of Vancouver, last Canadian in the Canadian open, by a 3 and 1 score.

Miss De Moss defeated Mrs Eddie Bush of Hammond, Ind., 4 and 2, in the other 18-hole semi-final.

But Miss Kielty was two over par on the 17 holes played. Miss De Moss went the 16 holes in her match one under par. For the gallery, that was enough to make her favorite in today's final.

Hastings Gets Series

HASTINGS, Aug. 26 (ENS)—Hastings juniors made a clean sweep of their first OASA series, defeating Keene 14-9 at Hastings park last night, after taking the first game in Keene 17-8.

Hastings were without the services of their ace pitcher West (out with an injury) but big Morley Richardson, although nervous, turned in a fine performance, and had generally good support. His greatest trouble was [illegible] showed lack of teamplay.

Hastings showed two future stars in Junior Stevenson and Wayne Dodd. Stevenson, pressed into service, turned in a starry performance, while Dodd in his first performance on the junior squad, roamed centre field like a veteran and was a real threat at bat. His running catch of a long fly from Nelson was a feature of the game.

Minor Lacrosse

PMLA playoffs for the peewees will start Monday, Tigers playing Lions in best-of-three, the winner to meet Petes in three-of-five for the city title. Schedule is: Monday—Tigers vs. Lions 9.00 a.m., Lions vs. Tigers 2.00 p.m., Tuesday—Tigers vs. Lions 9.00 a.m., Petes vs. winner 2.00 p.m.; the rest of the games then will be at 9.00 a.m. and 2.00 p.m. on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday or till a winner is declared. The tadpoles play each morning at 10.30. An open bantam and midget practice will be held daily at 3.00 p.m.

Rochester Nips Montreal In 2-1 Victory

By The Canadian Press

Roohester Red Wings moved a step nearer the International League pennant Friday night. They nipped Montreal Royals 2-1 behind the steady pitching of righthander Tommy Poholsky.

A crowd of 9,707 saw Poholsky rack up his 18th victory against four losses since joining the Wings in mid-May. He also registered his 20th complete game.

Pitcher Kent Peterson won and lost as the Syracuse Chiefs gained an even break in their doubleheader with Baltimore. Peterson was charged with a 4-1 loss in the twilight game, but came back to relieve Dave Jolly in the sixth inning of the night-cap and got credit for a 5-3 victory.

Harry Byrd held Toronto Maple Leafs to five safeties, scattered over as many innings, to gain a 4-2 decision for the Buffalo Bisons. Byrd was deprived of a shutout when Johnny Mayo rocked a homer after the Bison twirler issued his lone walk of the game in the third inning.

Springfield Cubs and Jersey City Giants, battling for fourth place, split a doubleheader. The Jerseys captured the opener 3-2 behind the effective pitching of Fran (Red) Hardy, and the Cubs pounded out a 6-2 nightcap victory for pitcher Bob Spicer.

COBA Semi-Finals Under Way Today

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 26.—President Bob Nesbitt of the Central Ontario Senior Baseball League announced Friday night that the loop semi-finals will get under way on two fronts today. In Smiths Falls, the second place Smiths Falls Royals will play host to Bata Shoemen while in Kingston, the league-leading Disney Leafs will entertain the Brockville Memos. Each game will be the first in best-of-five semi-finals. The second games will be played in Belleville and Brockville, Monday night.

Woollens Take 14-4 Win Against Ashbys

Dominion Woollens dumped Ashby's 14-4 last night at the Bowl in their Girls' Softball League round-robin playoff fray. It was the only game of the evening, as CGE had to default to Marines when not enough players showed up. Ashby's had a bad night and were really outplayed by the hustling young Woollens, though the latter had three errors, also, while the losers kicked five. L. Derry came through with a fine six-hit chore on the winners' mound, fanning five, while J. Dunk of Ashby's allowed 10 hits but whiffed seven of the opposition.

D. Dunk and J. McIlwaine shone in the field for Woollens, with E. Simmonds and L. Jordan best defensively for the other side. C. Ferguson of the victors belted out two homers, with M. Laing and R. McInroy each hitting one. C. Ferguson also had a double to make it three hits for four. M. Freeman and L. Jordan led the losers at bat with two hits each, one of the latter's being a double.

The teams:

Ashby's: E. McFadden, 2b; E. Simmonds, 3b; L. Jordan, c; M. Freeman, 1b; J. Dunk, p; P. Stewart, lf; M. Stewart, lf; S. Downer, cf, rf; G. Dracup, cf; D. McFadden, rf; D. Callan, cf; B. Callan, ss, 2b.

Boston On March Again Turns Back Detroit 6-2

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Shades of 1948 and 1949—the Boston Red Sox are on the march.

For the third time in as many seasons, the fence-busters from Fenway Park are making bold overtures to take the American League pennant after poor starts.

The Sox ran out of gas the last two years but appear well supplied for their latest bid.

Steve O'Neill's men threw the race into a four-team dog fight Friday night as they turned back the league-leading Detroit Tigers 6-2, for their 11th straight victory.

The triumph moved the Sox to within 5½ games of the Tigers and reduced Detroit's advantage over the runner-up New York Yankees and the third-place Cleveland Indians to 1½ games.

The Red Sox, however, trail the Tigers by six games in the important lost column. They also play only 18 of their remaining 34 games at home, while the Tigers play 23 of their 39 in Briggs Stadium.

Talk Of The Town

But, at the moment, the Sox are the talk of the town in Boston. A capacity crowd of 34,964 fans showed up at Fenway Park Friday night to watch as Lefty Mel Parnell defeated the Tigers on nine hits in outpitching veteran Dizzy Trout.

Young Ed Ford pitched New York to a 10-0, four-hit victory over St. Louis Browns in Yankee Stadium. He fanned seven in winning his fifth game without a loss. The Yanks supported Ford's classy pitching with a 16-hit barrage.

Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 6-2 behind the eight-hit pitching of Mike Garcia.

Chicago took a two-night doubleheader from Washington, 6-1 and 10-5, to extend the Senators' losing streak to seven games. Ken Holcombe was the winner in the opener and reliefer Luis Aloma in the nightcap.

Down Pirates

In the National League, the Philadelphia Whiz Kids continued to roll along. The league leaders downed Pittsburgh Pirates 9-7 in 15 innings under the lights at Pittsburgh.

Brooklyn's runner-up Dodgers blanked Cincinnati Reds 6-0 to remain five games back of the Phils. Don Newcombe blanked the Reds on seven hits as the Dodgers stretched their winning streak to nine games.

Chicago Cubs edged the Boston Braves 7-6. Hank Sauer smashed two home runs for the victors and doubled in the ninth to start a game-winning rally.

Brilliant relief pitching by Al Brazle featured St. Louis Cardinals' 7-4 victory over New York Giants. Brazle yielded only two hits in 5 1-3 innings to pick up his 10th victory. A defeat would have dropped the Cards into fifth place.

ANNOUNCE LACROSSE DATE

The Mann Cup series, for the Dominion lacrosse championship, opens in Toronto Oct. 9, Chuck Rowan, secretary of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, said Friday. The Minto Cup series for the junior championship will start Sept. 13, 15 and 16.

Peterborough Churches in Review

Bishop Jamot

A native of the parish of Chatelard, a small village in the diocese of Limoges, France, was the first Bishop of Peterborough, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John Francis Jamot.

Bishop Jamot began his studies for the church in the diocesan Seminary, and on October 9, 1853, was ordained a priest. For a year after his ordination he taught classics in the College d'Ajain in the diocese of Limoges. He then spent a short time in Rome after which he went to Ireland where he remained for seven months. He attended there the All Hallows College in Dublin with the purpose of becoming proficient in English. He intended to come to Canada as a missionary.

On May 10, 1855, he came to Canada, arriving in Toronto where he was to work in the diocese. He later went to Barrie where he was the first resident priest and where he remained for eight years. In August, 1863, he was transferred to St. Michael's Cathedral in Toronto and was made Vicar-General and Chancellor of the diocese. He performed his duties there for 10 years.

Early in 1874 he visited France where on February 24, 1874, in the Basilica of Notre Dame du Sacre Coeur at Issoudum, he was consecrated Bishop of Sarepta and Vicar-Apostolic of Northern Canada.

After a visit to Rome, Bishop Jamot returned to Canada where he took charge of his mission with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie and Bracebridge. His labors were a continuous record of zeal and ardour.

On the creation of the diocese of Peterborough in 1882 Bishop Jamot was appointed the first Bishop.

First Clergy

The Rev. Father J. Ahearn was the first priest to serve the Roman Catholics in Peterborough coming in 1826 however after a few months he was succeeded by Rev. Father James Crowley.

During the early days of the settlement a type of typhoid, known as ship fever, broke out. Although most affecting the Irish settlers Father Crowley fought the disease and ministered to the people whether Catholic or Protestant.

The Rev. Father Ahearn lived in a log house which was on the southeast corner of George and Charlotte streets. There mass was celebrated for the first time in Peterborough. His mission included Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and half of Hastings counties.

After Father Ahearn there was a brief lapse when Peterborough was without a resident priest but Rev. Father Crowley soon arrived. Several log houses were built by the Hon. Peter Robinson on the west side of Water St. opposite the present Peterborough Club. In one hut Father Crowley conducted mass and the other he lived in.

As soon as the growing prosperity of the town increased the value of the land, these buildings were burned and mass was celebrated in government house, at that time a small log structure, 18 feet by 24 feet.

Next a block of ground which was bounded by George, Chamber Brock and Hunter streets, was granted the Roman Catholics for church purposes. This church was a small frame, one-storey church. On March 16, 1838, it was destroyed by a fire, caused by a defective stove, destroying all the books, records and papers of the early church.

The lot was sold to Robert Chamberlain for £600 and with contributions from both Protestants and Catholics, the present St. Peter's Cathedral was built. The public grants to the Catholic church in Peterborough February 13, 1834, consisted of the ground mentioned above, described as lots 1 and 2 south of Brock St. and west of George St.; also lot 14 fronting on Hunter St. (the site of the present Cathedral) and Park lot 6 in the township of South Monghan.

In 1835 the Rev. Father John Butler was appointed to shepherd the Peterborough congregation and during his 19 years the large stone church of St. Peter was built. The church was first smaller than the present building. It was described as a plain structure with a steeple and the arches of the windows curving upwards from the base in the style known as "carpenter's gothic". It was built to accommodate 1,000 persons at a cost of $12,000.

In 1882 Peterborough, then part of the diocese of Kingston, was made the centre of a new diocese, comprising the counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland, Durham, and the districts of Algoma, Muskoka and Parry Sound.

During the summer months of 1884 many improvements were made to the church. A transept and a sacristy were added making the church cruciform in shape. The original portion of the edifice was entirely remodelled at the cost of $20,000.

On February 24, 1905, the diocese was again divided. The northern sections being placed in diocese of Sault Ste. Marie. The Rev. D. J. Scollard of North Bay was consecrated as the first Bishop.

Bishops of the Diocese of Peterborough have been Rev. John Francis Jamot; the Rt. Rev. Thomas J. Dowling, consecrated on May 1, 1887, and moved to Hamilton as Bishop of Hamilton on Jan. 11, 1889; the Rt. Rev. Richard A. O'Connor, consecrated May 1, 1889, and died January 23, 1913; the Most Rev. Michael J. O'Brien, consecrated September 24, 1913 and was made Coadjutor Archbishop of Kingston May 17, 1929; the Most Rev. Denis O'Connor, consecrated June 11, 1930 and died August 30, 1942; the Most Rev John R. MacDonald, consecrated Aug. 24, 1943, and named Coadjutor Bishop of Antigonish, Nova Scotia, April 14, 1945. The present Bishop the Most Rev. Joseph Gerald Berry was consecrated on June 1, 1945.

Sacred Heart

The Church of the Sacred Heart was started in 1907 to serve the 250 Roman Catholic families in the southend of the city. The cornerstone was laid June 14, 1908 by the Rt. Rev. R. A. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough. The contractors were Langford and Sheehy of Peterborough, and the architect, John E. Belcher of Peterborough.

The church was dedicated to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and opened on Feast of the Presentation of the Temple on November 21, 1909. The Rev. Michael J. O'Brien (later a Bishop of Peterborough and Archbishop of Kingston) was the first pastor. The present rectory was built in 1922-23 by Richard Sheehy and Sons.

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. J. O'Brien, has been the pastor of the church since 1913 when the first pastor Rev. M. J. O'Brien was appointed Bishop of Peterborough.

Immaculate Conception

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was established in 1914 as a temporary basement church. The cornerstone was laid on September 27, 1914. Bishop M. J. O'Brien laid the stone while the Rev. Nicholas Roche of St. Michael's College of Toronto preached the sermon at the ceremonies. On December 6, 1914, Bishop O'Brien celebrated Pontifical High Mass at the opening of the church and the Most Rev. D. J. Scollard of Sault St. Marie preached the sermon.

It remained as a basement church until the spring of 1933 when work was commenced on the superstructure. On December 8 Immaculate Conception Church was opened by Bishop O'Connor.

Rt. Rev. Monsignor W. J. McColl was the first pastor and when he was appointed to Lindsay, the Rev. J. J. Guiry, present pastor of Port Hope, was administrator during 1927. The present pastor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor F. J. O'Sullivan, vicar-general of the diocese, was appointed in March 1928.

With the increasing population in the southwest section of the city St. Alphonsus parish church was started in 1948 and opened for service on March 6, 1949. The people are served by the Redemptorist Fathers, led by the Rev. Father Robert Macdonald.

Get Face-Lifting

MILLBROOK, Aug. 26 (ENS). —Public buildings which have been renovated recently include the town hall, which had the auditorium completely done over by the Lions Club earlier in the year, and which last month had all the woodwork of the exterior and the steps and verandah repainted; and both the Anglican and the United churches which had new aluminum covering on the steeple in one case and on the whole roof in the other, and work is still being done on both, replacing bricks, and painting exterior woodwork. Cavan Township office in the town hall was also redecorated by Mrs. Bentley.

Noted Leader To Preach In St. Paul's

Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, or Kagawa, as he is known throughout the world, is a present-day miracle, an evidence of what God can do for a man entirely consecrated to His purpose. Born in Kobe, Japan, in 1888, his childhood was not an attractive one. Rejected and hated, frequently beaten and shut up in dark places, he knew only misery and loneliness, although his father was a man of wealth. His loneliness ended when he learned the love of God through Christian missionaries. All his pent-up longings found satisfaction in love for his new Master, and he threw himself passionately into the service of Christ. Disinherited because of his new faith, he went on with a strenuous program of studying and preaching. His efforts weakened his health and tuberculosis came. But nothing stopped him.

After finishing his school work he went into the slums and identified himself with the people there. Living among them he contracted trachoma, which nearly blinded him. He continued to preach, conduct Sunday Schools, win converts and promote cooperatives.

Recognized by the government on several occasions, when they sought his aid in social work, he served strenuously, refusing large salaries because he wished to be free to do his evangelistic work. During the recent war he remained in Japan, where he was arrested three times for statements he made that were not acceptable to the war-leaders, and at last once because he was sympathetic with the people of China.

Kagawa is one of the great Christians, not only of this generation, but of all history. It is a rare privilege that the people of Peterborough will have, to meet Kagawa and hear him on Monday evening, August 28, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, at 8 o'clock.

Millbrook

Donna Murney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Murney celebrated her 10th birthday with a party on Wednesday. The guests were: Janet and Judy Hobbs, Yvonne and Jon Scott, Nancy and Karen Powell, Kenny and Betty Ann Skitch, Peter Stewart, Gloria Smith, Gail and Larry Gibbs, Helen Wright, Dorothy Dawson, Loreen Guthrie, Bobby Powell, Derril and Brian Sanderson, David Brooks and Joan Manley. Those was were invited and could not attend were: Lenne and Jane Ouellette, Marguerite and Gloria Wall, Helen Ingham and Barry Sanderson.

Miss Dorothy Smith of the Hamilton teaching staff, who is spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, attended the National Young Peoples' conference held last week in Albert College, Belleville. She was a delegate from the Hamilton Presbytery young peoples of which she is president.

Mrs. McKee Bingham, whose death occurred in Cobourg earlier in the week was for a number of —years a resident of Millbrook. While here she was a leader in the cultural life of the community. She gave lessons in elocution, directed Shakespearian plays, and conducted operettas. She also sang in St. Thomas Anglican Church choir.

No Greater Story In History Than That Of Jesus' Mother

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

When we think of the babe born at Bethlehem, we would say "Mary of Bethlehem," but when we think of the formative years of Jesus, growing up in the home in Nazareth, Mother Mary, of Nazareth, ought to have a larger place in our thoughts.

In our emphasis upon the divinity of Jesus we sometimes forget that His divinity was revealed in a true humanity, the incarnation of the divine in a normally human life, "the man Christ Jesus" growing up from childhood to manhood. In that childhood and growth we cannot overemphasize the influence of His Mother.

If we were to seek a human parallel, near to our own time, it might be found in the childhood of Abraham Lincoln. His mother died when he was only nine years old, but during those nine years she had read the Bible to him; taught him to read it; told him the stories children love to hear; and given him precious guidance.

A stepmother, who loved him, and whom he loved, completed that motherly influence, but there it little doubt that the future greatness of the man had its secret in the influence of those early years.

Could we picture that home in Nazareth, we should see a Mother pondering in her heart (Luke 2:19) the experience of his birth and consecration. Possibly she sensed the destiny of the child in wonderment and sadness as she thought of the prophecy, "A sword shall pierce thine own soul."

We should see a mother inspiring Him with the story of Israel's great saints and prophets, of God's call and choice, and His purposes of human redemption.

We cannot begin to picture the glory of all that happened in that Nazareth home.

The New Testament records reveal Mary as the greatest of mothers, the worthy Mother of her greater Son. She was blessed among women because her character was blessed. She was among the devout souls looking earnestly and hopefully for the coming of the Messiah, "the consolation of Israel."

Her song of praise, called "The Magnificat" (Luke 1:46-55) is one of spiritual grandeur. "My soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God, my Savior."

But the supreme revelation of the greatness of Mary was in the hour of her Son's supreme sacrifice. The simple record is in the Gospel of John: "Now there stood by the cross of Jesus His mother." She was there in the hour of her Son's crucifixion.

Perhaps, like myself, you have read these words, without visualizing the actual scene.. I confess that I never saw in them their full dramatic tragedy, and glory, until during the four long years of World War II.

As I ministered to a comparatively small congregation with over 80 men fighting at the front, I looked, Sunday after Sunday, into the faces of women, whose sons were out in the battlefields of France and Tarawa. It was then that I understood motherhood. Their eyes, shining with abiding courage, devotion and faith, recalled the walk of a mother through the streets of Nazareth to the cross where her son was nailed.

Is there a greater story in all of history than that of Mary's strength and love?

Midway Plans To Move In 30 Trucks

Moving a midway miles during a rail strike takes superhuman energy, lots of ingenuity and thousands of dollars. But that's the task which faces the Bernard and Barry midway which is scheduled to leave Peterborough Exhibition at the crack of dawn Sunday. The midway is going to move on according to schedule and will leave Peterborough in 30 trucks before 9 a.m. Sunday for Dresden, Ont.

Barney Oldfield, advance manager of the midway, hasn't got as much fun out of the Exhibition here as he usually does because his time has been taken up looking for all the transports he could find. He now feels confident that the job of moving can be done but it will be an extra strain on the 50 men who build up and pull down the shows.

It's going to be tough on those men because they will have to travel to Dresend in trucks. "I've tried to charter buses but none of the companies can do that during the strike," Mr. Oldfield said to the Examiner Friday.

"We can look after the women —there are about 20— because there will be car space for them" Mr. Oldfield said, "but I'm really sorry about the men."

Leave 6:00 on Sunday

Starting five minutes after midnight, the men will work at pulling down and loading the midway, until about 6 a.m. Sunday. Then they will travel all day by truck to Dresden and set to work right away, to build up the shows again.

The midway came to Peterborough in 27 railroad cars, arriving only an hour or two before the strike came into effect.

To take it to Dresden by road will cost $5,000, just about three times as much as the cost by rail.

The crowd at the midway on Wednesday, children's day, was about the same size as on the first day last year, but on Thursday, the numbers fell off. The proprietors don't expect to make any money from the Peterborough or Dresden visits, because of the extra transport costs.

Business will be pretty bad until the Firemen's Field Day at Windsor on Labor Day weekend, when crowds cross the border from Detroit. That's the only compensating feature for Mr. Oldfield at the moment.

Summer Resort Church Sent Bobby Clark $20

The Women's Institute of Warsaw, custodians of the Bobby Clark Fund, have received a cheque for $20 from Mr. A. Ball on behalf of the members "of our little Church on the Hill" west of Bowmanville Beach.

Mr. Ball had read about the misfortune which had befallen the 10-year-old Warsaw boy.

'Last Saturday we had the annual meeting of our church. This is a summer resort for two months of summer. A few stay a little longer, but most of us close up on Labor Day and return to our homes.

"At our meeting I proposed that we send a donation to your Bobby Clark Fund. The result was that a collection was taken up, and I am sending you $20 hoping that you will have many more coming in from outside your own community.

"May God's richest blessings rest upon you and the Clark family. Is there a father living? The paper did not mention a Mr. Clark."

The Examiner has received for the Fund a contribution of $5 from Mr. R. J. Kidd of Peterborough and two anonymous gifts of $2 and $1 respectively.

JACK WOOD

Jack Wood Joins Korean Force

Another Peterborough man who has joined the special Canadian force, recruited for Korea, is Jack Wood, 22, 455 Rose Ave.

He enlisted August 18 in Toronto and was posted to the Currie Barracks, Calgary. The transport section of the special force is his immediate goal.

Mr. Wood has a wife, Virgina and a 14-month-old son Joseph. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Wood, 186 Lake St.

A former sea cadet, Mr. Wood comes from a military family. His father was a veteran of both world wars, serving in the Royal Canadian Engineers and later with the veterans guard.

Before joining up Mr. Wood was employed at Crebar's on Hightway 7.

GIRL WINS CAR

Miss Margaret Allen of Lakefield was the holder of the lucky ticket that won the fireman's car in Bobcaygeon this week. Miss Allen is employed at Lansfield Cleaners. Also profiting from this draw was Bernard Junkin of Bobcaygeon who received $100 for selling Miss Allen the winning ticket.

48 Children Pass Tests In Red Cross Life Saving

Swimming and water safety was the headline news of Lakefield, Thursday and Friday when 48 children passed the Canadian Red Cross life saving and swimming tests. These tests were the climax of a summer's instruction at the Lakefield Public Waterfront operated by the Canadian Red Cross in co-operation with the village council.

The great success of these classes was commented on by Mrs. Pansy Forbes, one of the examiners who stated that the lifesaving class was the best class that she had ever examined. All the credit for this swimming achievement day was given to the popular and extremely competent swimming instructor at the waterfront, Don Maynard, a recent graduate of the Physical and Health Education Course at the University of Toronto.

Not only has Mr. Maynard instructed swimming classes at Lakefield, but he has also organized a water safety patrol of the better swimmers under his supervision who are on duty six hours a day every day of the week. The result of this efficient organization has been a total elimination of serious swimming accidents during the summer. The senior lifesavers in this patrol are Ron Kingdon, Pat Nickels, Betty Jane Rath, Nancy Doubt, Morley Brown, Glynn Griffith, and Don Armstrong. The Junior lifesavers are Jeanette Staples, John Nickels, Bob Wannamaker, Gay Box, Helen Kingdon, Helen Hennessey and Ruth Fraser.

This year the Lakefield Public Waterfront has been improved to such an extent that it is considered to be one of the best water safety beaches in Ontario. The diving tower has been completed with a three metre and one metre board. Three sections have been roped off, with one section for beginners, one for swimming classes and one for general swimming. Surrounding these sections are catwalks for the convenience of the lifeguards. A nearby building houses two dressing rooms and a Red Cross room, which has been equipped with all types of first aid supplies. A nurse is on duty four hours every day except Sunday. Eight loads of sand were trucked in at the beginning of the summer for a sand beach.

Mrs. M. Wilford is the convener of the Water Safety Committee for Lakefield.

As well as swimming, the waterfront features beach games such as borden ball and volleyball. Diving and ornamental swimming classes are also held.

More than 70 children enrolled in the beginners' swimming classes. Twenty enrolled in the junior intermediate and senior swimming classes.

Awarded Bronze Cross

Those awarded the Bronze Cross in the lifesaving tests were Nancy Doubt, Morley Brown and Ron Kingdon. The Bronze Medallion was won by Pat Nickels, Don Armstrong and Don Mathews. The intermediate lifesaving test was passed by Jim Fraser, Gay Box, John Nickels, Helen Kingdon, Glynn Griffith, Jeanette Staples, Helen Hennessy, Betty Jane Ruth and Don Mathews. Bob Wannamaker passed the elementary lifesaving test.

This was the first year that lifesaving tests were held at the Lakefield waterfront.

The following children passed the senior, intermediate and junior Red Cross swimming and water safety tests. The tests were given by Miss Charlotte Keene, Red Cross Supervisor for Ontario:

Senior test: William Adamson, B; Helen Hennessy, B; Helen Kingdon, B; Terry McIlwaine, C; John Nickels, B; Richard Wilford, A; Gay Box, A; Frank Crowe, C; Glynne Griffith, B; Jim Fraser, B; Shirley Kidd, C.

Intermediate test: Tom Douglas, D; Derrick Small, D; Lee Thornton, A; James Calvin, A; Paul Henry, B; Nancy Henry, B; Robert Brattain, C; Agnes Fraser, D; James McIlmoyle, B; Bryden Hill, D; Robert Howden, C.

Junior test: Carol Whitney, Clarence Coons, Roderick Cameron, Sally Hurst, John Murdoff, Doug Murdoff, Donna Farrell, Eileen Dawe, Gloria Bolton, Paul O'Brien.

Fraser Secures Small Suite In Ottawa House

Gordon K. Fraser, MP, won't have to sleep on a table on the parliamentary library or out on a bench looking up at the Peace Tower when he goes to Ottawa for the emergency sessions beginning Tuesday.

Ousted from the Chateau Laurier by the walk-out of the staff in sympathy with the railway workers, Mr. Fraser telephoned a friend to try to get him some place. Friday at the Exhibition grounds he received a call reassuring him and Mrs. Fraser of an available small suite in an apartment building on Elgin St.

Two telephone enquiries came to him in concern about transportation yesterday. One was from the Ford Company of Canada. It was explained to him that the company was anxious about an early settlement of the strike, "or we'll have to close down soon."

Mr. Fraser replied that he was taking his own car for the trip. Half an hour later, the office of the Minister of Transport called with a similar question as to how he was going to reach Ottawa Tuesday. In both instances, cars would have been provided if necessary.

When he realized some days ago that the Chateau was temporarily folding its tents, he called the Lord Elgin. They were filled to the rafters, and forced to pack two or three MP's to a room.

Child Of 21 Months Injured By Car

Knocked down by a car, 21-month-old David Jones escaped with cuts to his face in an accident on Louis St. Friday evening.

Driver of the car was Angus Austin, 894 Western Ave. He told police he was driving south on Louis St., when young David darted out from the curb and hit the left door of his car.

Austin drove the youngster and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Jones, 303 Louis St., to the Clinic. There a gash over his right eye was stitched up and a bruise on his right cheek treated Constable Edward Niziol investigated.

So Sure There Would Be No Strike Railroader Took Trip To Edmonton

George Walton, a baggageman on the local CPR train to Toronto, was sure there wasn't going to be any rail strike.

He was so sure in fact, that he started his holidays last weekend. Not only that, but he decided to travel to Edmonton to visit his son — by rail.

He probably reached his destination because he left Saturday night. But while fellow employees are on strike, George is on holidays. However, what is he going to do if his holidays end before the strike ends? It isn't likely, in any case, he will be reporting for picketing duty, even in Edmonton

ELECT NEW PRESIDENT

Lionel Jones, former vice-president of Local 743, Textile Workers' Union of America, has been elected president at a special membership meeting called by the union members of the Campbellford Cloth Co. The election was required after Douglas Nicholas, this year's president, moved to Oshawa. Tobias Forrestal takes Mr. Jones' office of vice-president. There are about 230 workers in the union.

RETURNED TO PARENTS

A 14-year-old Toronto girl hanging around at the Peterborough Exhibition was picken up by city police Friday night. She was without money. Police learned she had left her home Thursday night. She was put on a bus to Toronto this morning and her parents have been called to meet her at the bus depot in Toronto.

13 Men Seek To Join Army On First Afternoon As Unit Starts Recruiting

Thirteen Peterborough and district men answered the call of the Canadian Army Friday afternoon as a recruiting office was installed in the armouries. This mobile unit from Kingston gave the men their preliminary tests. This unit, under the direction of Capt. Roy Leamen, No. 3 section (Eastern Ontario area) Administration and Training staff, on loan to the No. 5 Personnel depot of Kingston for the recruiting drive, is primarily for active service force. Capt. Leamen pointed out that the special United Nations force is nearly filled with the exception of tradesmen of all classifications.

With Capt. Leamen on the drive are Sgt. Norman Dimmell of Deseronto and Private Armand Fournier of Kingston. The unit will be in Peterborough today and Monday.

Given Several Tests

The unit interviews the prospective soldiers for their suitability for the army. They brief the candidate with basic facts about the army such as rate of pay, available openings and the rate of promotion. The men are then given the M-test for their intelligence, placability and adaptability.

Capt. Leamen emphasized that the recruits have to pass the M-test (receive 120 marks). If the test is passed and the recruit appears to be keen and conscientious he will be sent on to Kingston for medical examination and further documentation. The M-tests will be given at the armouries each day at 10:30 a.m., 4 p.m. and 8.30 p.m.

A former officer of the 30th Heavy A.A. Regiment, Capt. Leaman said two of the first 13 recruits were members of the reserve unit. These men were R. H. Reed, 121 Park Hill Road, and R. D. Green, 327 Burnham St.

Others were: R. G. Reed, 499 O'Connell Road; J. H. White, RR2 Lakefield; H. P. Scully, 468 Elm St.; James Lee, Lakefield; F. P. LaRock, 713 Chamberlain St., Maurice Michels, 690 Frank St., R. J. Bowen, 1221 Grandview Ave.; K. J. McArthur, 396 Armstrong Drive; C. J. Markwick, 736 Victory Crescent; Dale Myers, Lakefield; J. H. Eggleton, 763 Brown St.

Peterborough is the first point of recruiting for the mobile unit. During the remainder of the 12-day drive the recruiting unit will be: Tuesday and Wednesday in Lindsay; Thursday in Bancroft; Friday in Tweed; Saturday in Madoc; Monday in Marmora and Tuesday in Campbellford.

RAISE ATHLETIC FUND

To raise funds to pay for the prizes given playground children on Labor Day the Peterborough and District Labor Council is conducting a draw. Prizes are an electric stove and a combination radio and record player.

1,000 Employees Divide Up $115,000 Bonus

As their share of the year's profits, some 1,000 Quaker Oats employees in Peterborough and Saskatoon are receiving an average of two weeks' extra pay. That was the announcement made Friday by Reg. Faryon, president and general manager.

The total sum to be divided is about $115,000, which amounts to an extra three to five cents an hour for each employee.

Mr. Faryon explained that the profit-sharing plan of the Quaker Oats Co. had been in existence since 1936. To be exact, this year's bonus is 4.17 per cent of an employee's wages or salary for the past year.

It is computed on the company's gross earnings before paying taxes or declaring dividends.

Collided With Bus Driver Faces Charge

Adrian Kelly, 132 Hilliard St., was charged in police court today with drunk driving as a result of an accident Friday night in which he collided into the rear of a city but on George St. south of Hunter St.

Constable William G. Scott reported as he was arriving on the scene of the accident, Kelly's truck drove away but he overtook it at Murray and George S's.

Driver of the bus was Hamilton Humphries, 174 Hunter St.

More Home Owners Using Cellars For Extra Rooms

Opportunities to make good use of little-used space in the cellar or basement are being realized by more and more home owners.

In hundreds of homes there is ample space, even when a furnace is installed in the cellar or basement, in which to construct a recreation room, den, playroom, or study nook.

Utilization of any of a score of wall materials now on the market; modern floor covering; built-in effects; careful color scheme has produced many strikingly effective results in homes.

The transformed cellar, when properly insulated, can be made into a delightful room in which to live by the inclusion of air-conditioning equipment to regulate the temperature and humidity of the room.

Trend Evident

There has been a noticeable trend in the construction of such rooms toward individuality. Rooms of this character have been found to be very effective when a definite theme in design and decoration are carried out. The rustic charm of the "hunting lodge" motif is one popular design. In other instances a nautical atmosphere is effectively created with the appointments of a ship's cabin, with color scheme and furnishings of a like nature. Other cellar modernizations have been constructed to emulate the tap room of an old inn; the trophy room of a country gentleman; the studio of an artist; the variations are many.

Inclusion of an open hearth, both for utility as well as decoration, adds much to such a room.

The added convenience of an extra room where guests may be entertained, where privacy may be had for reading, study, or an afternoon nap, are only a few of the features of such a room. Careful planning, use of quality materials, and intelligent decoration can easily make such a room the show place of the entire home.

Landscaping The New Home

The owners of new homes, facing their first season of horticultural activities, have a problem immensely more difficult than that of seasoned land owners. Frequently lacking previous experience as well as knowledge of local soil conditions, their procedure is largely one of trial and error.

As soil conditions differ greatly in various locations, it is difficult to estimate the expense of obtaining a good lawn. If a basement has been constructed for the house and a good top soil exists, the top soil should be saved in a pile to be spread over the subgrade of the entire lot.

Almost any lawn will have a more permanent value if a certain amount of fertilizer is added to the soil. At times a more permanent lawn will be obtained if clover or some other rough legume is seeded first and turned over when the growth is heavy so as to lighten up the soil. It may be necessary to delay the seeding of the lawn one year on this account.

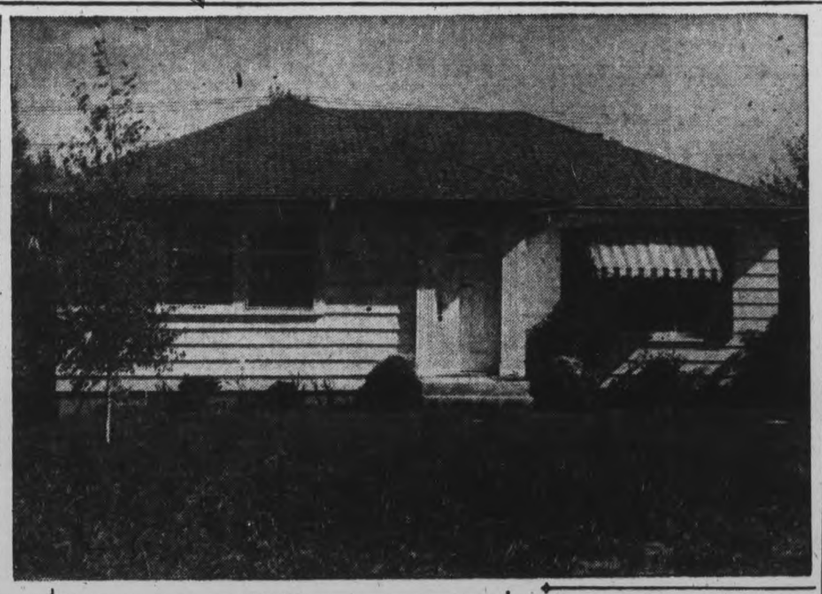
It is also advisable to get the experience of other home owners in the neighborhood as to the best methods they have found for obtaining a good lawn. No general rules can be laid down because soil conditions are so variable.

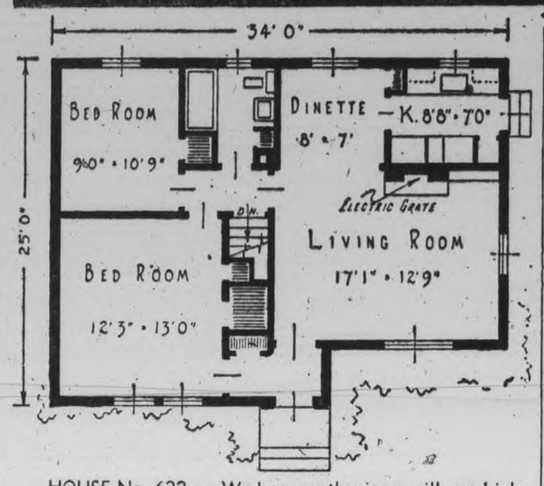
Shade Tree

The owner of a new home should set aside a small sum of money for a sizeable shade tree. It would be preferable to go to a reputable nurseryman and select a tree for this purpose, for it adds greatly to the value of the property to have at least one good-sized shade tree. A tree should be selected that will add permanent value to the property and not one that will grow so rapidly as to be seriously injured by the first wind.

An adequate number of shrubs should be selected for planting about the house and other locations on the property, preferably along the boundary line and on the front lawn so as to give blooming flowers in the summertime and berry and bright twig effects in the wintertime. Most shrubs should be planted about three feet apart so that they will not crowd each other and be so arranged about the house as to not give the apeparance of the house being set down in a wilderness of planting. Let the foundation of the house appear in certain places. The shrubs should be pruned often so that they will not become obstructions to the view.

Home owners who feel it desirable to have several fruit trees in the rear of the property should obtain these at a good size and pay an adequate price for them so they will bear fruit early and give shade at the same time.





HOUSE No. 622 — We know enthusiasm will run high about this little white cottage. Its clean, crisp lines are only part of its appeal — inside are five rooms sure to please. Hall space has been reduced to a minimum, but the necessity of cross-room traffic is the result. Otherwise the room arrangement has apartment-like efficiency — with good openings and closets throughout. If a wood-burning open fireplace was desired in the living room, rather than an electric grate, there could be a chimney to carry the furnace and fireplace flues together. The appearance of the chimney above the roof line would be an attraction. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

Another fair was held at Peterborough March 3, 1846, but the details were not reported. The Cavan Agricultural Society held its first fair at Millbrook in September 1848.

In an 1847 report, the Colborne Agricultural Society (W. S. Conger, President) stated that from 1842 to 1847, grain exports rose from 2,000 bushels to 80,000 bushels; plus 20,000 barrels of flour, from eight mills with thirty runs of stones; threshing mills had increased from one to fifty, thirty of them manufactured at Peterborough. The society had improved the breeds of cattle and sheep. "Upwards of 800 plows were made during the past year by only two establishments in this district, and now a reaping machine, almost innumerable horse rakes, drill plows, harrows, cultivators, and other improved implements of husbandry are in general use."

David Fife married Jane Beckett in 1826, uniting two pioneer families, and farmed on lot 24, con. 4, Otonabee. In 1841 (one account says 1843) he received a little European wheat from a Glasgow friend; the fall variety failed to mature, but the spring wheat was plump and rustless. Only three heads were harvested the first year, as oxen broke into the field, but within a few years Mr. Fife was able to provide his neighbors with improved rustless seed. The fame of "Red Fife Wheat" spread, and in 1847, according to the Toronto "Canadian Agriculturist," it received high awards at district and provincial fairs. Red Fife Wheat helped open the prairies to wheat growing, especially when improved in 1904. David Fife died in 1877, a deservedly famous Kawartha pioneer, but a grandson still farms the Otonabee homestead.

Timber Exporting

David Fife sent timber from his farm to Quebec, driving the teams himself to the waterfront. The Harrisons, Hills, Fowlds, and others were sub-contractors for Dr. J. Gilchrist of Peterborough. Robert Harrison, whose Asphodel reminiscences are very interesting, said: "We were the first men to take out and float square timber from the forks of the Ouse to the River Trent." Mrs. Fowlds of Westwood in a July 1848 letter wrote: "Father and the boys . . . are away in the woods all winter with a good many men, making and drawing square timber and masts with 10 or 12 span of horses, and in the spring running it down the creeks to the Trent, thence to Quebec." The boys, James and Henry Jr., took a big raft to Quebec in 1849, with their father following by steamship. Mrs. Marryat of Hastings has preserved the Fowlds accounts, which show current wages: loggers and shantymen $2C-$30 a month, less board 30c a day, skilled axemen and sawyers $1-$1.25 a day, shingle-cutting $1.50 per M, horseshoeing 55c for four shoes, and so on.

From the Upper Otonabee and Kawarthas, Hickson, Cook, Gilchrist, Gilmour and Perry were taking out timber. Many Douro masts were 100 to 150 feet long, of clear pine. Laugh Nolan of Douro was a noted pilot on drives from Lake Ketchewan to Lake Ontario, when the standard wage was one dollar a day less board. John Langton, who was in partnership with M. Boyd and J. Dunsford, in letters of May and June 1849 described how they took a raft down Bobcaygeon rapids, Burleigh rapids, and Otonabee rapids to Rice Lake, thence down the Trent and St. Lawrence to Quebec. The practice was to let the spars go one by one down the Otonabee rapids, and the men followed in boats to pull off all spars that jammed or stranded, until all were in Little Lake; the same process was repeated on other swift rivers; on calm waters, the spars were rafted and towed by boats. The losses were high, but so were the profits in good years; the cost of getting each spar to Quebec was $10 to $15, but they might sell there for $25 to $40 each. However, if the Quebec market was glutted, they had to be sold at a loss. In June Langton wrote: "The raft is now fairly at Peterborough, which by its whiskey is as great an impediment to progress as the waters of any rapid."

The sawn lumber trade did not boom until the railway came, due to the expense of transit. The Peterborough Despatch of July 29, 1847, complained: "From 25s to 30s per on is paid for goods. . . The sawmills of our town and neighborhood can cut upwards of 60,000 feet per day, but are often in a great measure idle for want of a market for lumber, owing to the expense of transit." Road and water transport as we have seen, could not handle the rapidly developing commerce of the Kawarthas.

Nearly Clean Sweep

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP)—T. S. Aicken of Belton, Ont., all but made a clean sweep of cheese awards at the Canadian National Exhibition. His cheese won six of the eight sections in the competition and was runner-up in the other two. His closest rival was F. M. Day of Atwood, Ont., with two firsts, four seconds and a third.

Conductors Laid Off

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — Most railway conductors have been laid off as a result of the railway strike. But Walter Reester of the Canadian National Railways is still in charge of a train—even though it isn't going anywhere. His train is one of the exhibits at the Canadian National Exhibition here.

Locked In Rail Car

CALGARY, Aug. 26 (CP). — Locked without food for five days in a strike-bound CPR box-car, 19-year-old Jack Macdonald of Toronto is in satisfactory condition in hospital here today. Out west to look for a harvesting job, he was released after 101 hours when children playing nearby heard him calling for help.

Fear Pulp Mills To Close Soon

MONTREAL, Aug. 26 (CP). — A pulp and paper industry source said Friday that if the railway strike continues several pulp mills in Canada likely will close next week.

A shutdown, he said, would result from the fact that the mills, producing at capacity, will have filled all their storage space.

Meantime newspapers are using up stocks on hand to jublish daily editions.

This source said that a shutdown over any length of time could produce a serious situation since demand has been such that the mills are working at capacity and there would be no step-up that could be made to overtake production lost during a shutdown period.

Lack of storage space would likely cause the closing of at least one newsprint mill in Ontario tomorrow, R. M. Fowler, general manager of the Newsprint Associtition of Canada, said Thursday nght.

Take First Prizes

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — Ontario beekeepers took all first-place prize money in honey judging at the Canadian National Exhibition Friday. K. E. Mitchell of Stayner and the Byer brothers of Markham had two firsts each. Other honors went to Alistair Adie, Guelph; Albert Judge, Durford; A. J. Benner, Jr., Englehart, and George McArthur, Toronto.

A Fast Trip

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — The Avro Canuck, Canada's long-range jet fighter, flew to Boston in 48 minutes Friday, an average speed of 555 miles an hour, officials of A. V. Roe (Canada) Lt., said. The aircraft will be exhibited at the United States Air Force Association air fair.

Badly Burned In Blast

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 26 (CP)—Badly burned in a gas explosion in his basement at 14 Bouille St., Thursday night, 32-year-old Fred Glipperton is "still in quite serious condition" in St. Joseph's Hospital, hospital authorities said Friday night.

Gets New Post

OTTAWA, Aug. 26 (CP). — Wing Cmdr. G. A. Folkins of Trenton and Calgary, has been appointed assistant air attache to Yugoslavia, air force headquarters announced Friday.

North-Central Saskatchewan May Have Oil

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. — (CP). — Porous rock formations which indicate the presence of oil have been found during drilling operations in North-Central Saskatchewan.

Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank, who recently complete a tour of drilling sites, declined to say where the porous rock was found. He told the Prince Albert Daily Herald, however, that finding the rock is "absolutely essential" to striking oil.

Interest in the northern part of Saskatchewan as an oil source has boomed since some oil companies extended their operations eastward.

Mr. Brockelbank said present drilling is centred in these districts:

The Hudson Bay region, near the Manitoba boundary due east of Prince Albert. Two companies working jointly have drilled test holes at Ceba, 18 miles north-east of Hudson Bay, and are working at Ruby Lake, five miles north of Hudson Bay. Another crew is drilling 40 miles west of Hudson Bay, near Mistatim.

Gronlid Region

The Gronlid region, about 25 miles north of Melfort.

The Richard district, east of North Battleford. (The same company is working in the Kerrobert region, 64 miles south-west of North Battleford.)

North Battleford area.

St. Walburg region, 50 miles south-west of Meadow Lake.

Mr. Brockelbank said some of the drilling crews have struck "some very interesting porosity in the rocks," but detailed information could not be made public. It was expected all outfits now drilling would work all summer.

Selwyn Institute Visits Industries

SELWYN, Aug. 26 (ENS)—The members of Selwyn Women's Institute spent Thursday afternoon in Peterborough, when they visited Radio Station CHEX, the Quaker Oats, and Canada Packers. Refreshments served in the canteen of Canada Packers, at 4.30 p.m., brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

The WI plans to entertain the grandmothers of the community at their next annual meeting, which will be held on Wednesday, September 20.

Merciless Slaughter Destroyed Passenger Pigeons Across Canada

Written for The Canadian Press By PERCY GHENT

Within the memory of living men, passenger pigeons, in flocks large enough to darken the sky, flew over many parts of Canada. Merciless slaughter for the market when tens of thousands of barrels of the birds were sold, and other causes never explained, brought the species to extinction—the last captive specimen dying in the Cincinnati zoo in 1912.

When the pigeons became rare, golden plovers were killed in their thousands for market supply. They, too, became scarce and would doubtless have suffered extermination had not strictly enforced protective legislation been introduced in Canada and the United States. Even yet, their number is small compared with that of years ago when the slaughter started.

This bird with a black crown and white markings, and with its darker body plumage with speckles of gold, is a thing of beauty. Golden plovers breed along Canada's Arctic coast and winter in South America. Spring migration is mostly through the interior of the continent; the autumn migration well out at sea. Observation suggests a continuous flight from water of Nova Scotia to Brazil.

Great Value

Tree seed, flower seed, vegetable seed, seed grain—have far more value than gold in the story of man's life and progress. His existence, in fact, depends directly or indirectly on the seed nature supplies. They are literally more precious than gold in a money sense, on occasion.

Present market price of gold is about $35 an ounce; current price of double-petunia seed is $1,000 an ounce. But there is approximately 250,000 seeds to the ounce. Price works out at 4 seeds for a cent.

Soldier, Sportsmen And Writer Joe Smith Mourned In Cobourg

COBOURG, Aug. 26 —(ENS)— Soldier, sportsman, writer, during 57 years of life that was lived to the fullest, the career of Joseph Shuter Smith of Cobourg, came to a sudden end in the private patients' pavilion of Toronto General Hospital late Tuesday night. Friday his funeral was held at St. Peter's Anglican Church in Cobourg. Monday his remains will be cremated in Toronto. Tuesday, in a private family service, they will be interred in the family plot in St. John's Anglican Cemetery, Port Hope.

High blood pressure, which prevented him from re-enlisting in the Second World War, plagued him on occasion throughout the years which followed and brought about his sudden death less than a week after he had entered Toronto General Hospital for a rest and a check-up.

Stormy Municipal Career

The people of Cobourg knew him most in his somewhat stormy municipal career, as mayor in 1948 and part of 1949. He was an outspoken man but it was an honest failing that he said what he meant and pulled no punches. He was not adept at the diplomatic retort. He spoke down-to-earth-English, with no frills on it and even his enemies respected him for frankness. He had little patience with red tape and sincerely believed in getting things done without waste of time.

When the efforts to get a new recreational centre for Cobourg lagged, he put new energy into the project and it can be safely said that without his help the recreational centre which is now enjoyed by Cobourg and district, would still be just an idea that never developed.

He started the Northumberland Ski Club on its way; founded the now famous tourist office of the Cobourg Chamber of Commerce and started the movement which led to the appointment of a recreational director for the town. His time and energy were to be found in every worthwhile venture. The last years of his life were marked by three tragedies. He and his wife and family moved into Dungannon Farm in 1945. This was the palatial summer home of Senator George Oliver of Pittsburgh.

The first tragedy came when fire destroyed this magnificent mansion in the winter of 1946 with a loss to building and contents of over $100,000. In 1947, his wife died. The circumstances which led to his handing in his resignation as mayor of Cobourg in 1949 are a matter of history. The termination of his municipal career was a sad blow to him.

Born Near Port Hope

Few have had a more varied career. He was born near Port Hope, the son of the late W. B. Smith and Mrs. Smith. He received his education in Victoria, BC and in the Yukon When World War One broke out he was with a surveying team in the hinterland of British Columbia. He hiked 100 miles to enlist with an infantry regiment at Vancouver. Going overseas he transferred to the 2nd Royal Scots, where he received his commission, eventually advancing to captain. After three years of front-line duty he was transferred to the intelligence branch of the US army on the staff of General Joe Stillwell, a warm personal friend. He was married after the war to Ada Grant Ross of Edinburgh. For a while he took hockey teams on tour in Europe. He returned to this continent and for some time was talent scout for Lester Patrick at Madison Square Gardens. After that he managed hockey teams in Victoria. He then gave up sport and travelled with his family in Hungary, Italy, France and Belgium. He resided in England for a short time and then came to Canada where they lived in Toronto from 1939 until 1941 when he went to San Fransisco. He tried without success to get in the army when the Second war broke out but was turned down because of high blood pressure. He then turned to war work and his sons John and Cecil went into active service with the US armed forces, Cecil with the army air corps and John with the navy.

Joe Smith wrote three books, one a technical one entitled "Trench Warfare" and the others of fictional nature.

He is survived by his mother; two sons, and a brother, Paul, who is managing editor of the San Fransisco Chronicle.

STRANDED D.P.'S. — More than 40 Austrian displaced persons were stranded in Calgary Tuesday when 124,000 non-operating Canadian railway employees went out on strike. They were allowed to remain in their colonist car at the Canadian Pacific Railway station until bus transportation was arranged to take them to British Columbia.

Half-Million Battle-Tried Men Mount Guard On Formosa's Coast

By WARREN WHITE

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 26 — (Reuters)— A half-million battle-tried Chinese troops, armed with Second World War American weapons, today mount guard on the 200-mile west coast of Formosa.

Well fed and clothed, they wait patiently and train hard to defend the last stronghold of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek against possible invasion from Red China.

Despite the fact that Chiang is a discredited leader in the eyes of many Asians and that many countries have recognized the rival Communist regime, morale is high in the generalissimo's military and civil ranks.

The 100-mile choppy Formosa strait separating the island fortress from the Chinese mainland prevents surprise attacks.

Optimistic View

The Nationalists believe that the Communists can muster only enough transport craft to carry 250,000 fully-equipped soldiers. The Nationalists say that in the 12 to 19 hours it would take an invasion fleet to reach Formosa's west coast at least half this force could be put out of action by available air and naval strength.

Foreign observers believe troops total at least 500,000 and possibly up to 650,000.

The air force, they believe, comprises at least 500 aircraft—fighters, bombers, transports and non-compatant training planes. It is believed to be at least 90 per cent operational and well stocked with fuel. It has about 5,000 American-trained pilots.

The same observers believe the Chinese navy has at least 20 warships of more than 1,500 tons —mostly of destroyer class. These are supplemented by a larger number of gunboats.

These observers say the Chinese Nationalist armed forces are now in a better state of training than they have ever been.

Chance to Reorganize

In the 10 months since the remnants of the Nationalist army fled to Formosa, Chiang has had breathing space to reorganize his armed forces—weeding out incompetent officers and executing those convicted of pro-Communist actions.

With no Chinese territory left from which to retreat, Chiang announced last November on resuming the presidency in the Formosa capital of Taipei he would himself die before Formosa fell.

Nationalist optimism must be tempered by two big question marks hanging over Formosa's chances of survival as an anti-Communist Chinese territory:

1. The chances of defection by Nationalist troops in event of a landing in Formosa.

2. The possibility of greater Russian naval and air support than at present believed accorded to the Communists.

Dies From Injuries

KIRKLAND LAKE, Aug. 26 — (CP)—Charles Dunn, 37, died here early Friday of injuries suffered underground at the Kerr-Addison gold mine at Virginiatown, 26 miles east of here. A mass of rock toppled on him.

Child Killed At Beach

WASAGA BEACH, Aug. 26 — (CP)—One child was killed and another seriously injured near this Georgian Bay resort Friday night when they ran from the beach into the path of a car. Marlene Carole Beverley, 5, of Toronto, was killed. Donald McKinnon, 9, of Toronto, was rushed to hospital with skull, back and chest injuries and a broken leg.

Totem Land Society To Popularize B.C.

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Add another organization to the list of agencies boosting British Columbia—the totem land society.

The organization, incorporated as a non-profit society, aims to popularize the province abroad as well as better the economic status of British Columbia's Indians.

Founder of the society and high man on the totem pole, Harry Duker says: "We want people to think of British Columbia when they think of the totem pole and vice versa."

At its first meeting the society planned to ask merchants—particularly those who export—to place small totem poles on their letterheads and possibly on their products.

The society also considered asking authorities to place 50-foot totem poles at each point of entry into British Columbia from neighboring states and provinces.

Truck Freight Increases 20%

WINDSOR, Aug. 26 (CP). — Windsor trucking companies, who have noted increases of more than 20 per cent in freight handled since the country-wide rail strike began Tuesday, have established a co-ordinating office to handle the extra traffic.

Calixte Thibodeau, vice-president of the Ontario Automotive Transport Association, has been given the job of setting priorities on goods shipped and ensuring maximum use of trucks.

Mr. Thibodeau said that truckers are working seven days a week. Firms wanting shipments will keep their shipping offices open at night and on weekends, and provincial authorities are allowing trucks to operate anywhere in Ontario, regardless of their licences, he said.

One Windsor trucking company has started a weekly run through the United States to Winnipeg, taking automotive parts west and returning with refrigerated loads of fish.

Spokesman for another company said it is building up a tank-car fleet to deliver gasoline from Sarnia to northern Ontario.

Two Ottawa Girls Chosen Top Pianists

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — Two Ottawa girls won the adjudicators nod Friday night at the Canadian National Exhibition's music festival.

Evelyn Feldman and Ann Elizabeth Robertson were ranked tops in piano competitions for pianists under 15 years and under 13 years respectively.

Placed second in the under-15 class was Robert Ormerod, Toronto, while Margaret Clairmont, Ottawa, and Virginia Wolak, of Brantford, tied for third place. Eila Minkkila, Sudbury, was second in the under-15 class and Trudy Ormerod, Toronto, third.

Susan Stephen, Toronto, took the class for pianists under 11 and Carol Ann Hebb, Port Colborne, and Barry George Devereaux, Fort Erie, tied for second.

Emergency Call

AUST, Gloucestershire, England —(CP)— Whist Drive here was crowded to the doors—and still the players arrived. An SOS was sent out to a local grocer. He backed his delivery truck to the hall door, the extra players clambered aboard with cards and tables, and everybody was happy.

Fast Times Shown In The 2:20 Class

Main money winners at the Ex. harness horse races Friday afternoon took two firsts and a second each in the 2.20 and the 2.27 classes. Pine Ridge Van, owned by J. C. Cameron of Smiths Falls, showed the way in the 2.20; while Buddy C. Gratton, C. Budd's Woodville pacer, was fastest in the 2.27. Fast itmes were marked in the 2.20, the last heat being clocked in 2.13 with the half in 1.05½. Results:

HAMILTON, Aug. 26—(CP)— Dr. Bruce Sutherland, well-known physician and amateur golfer, died here Friday. He was 65. Born in Carlton Place, he was twice Hamilton and district golf champion. He came here 31 years ago after graduating from Queen's University, and medical practice in Guelph and Edmonton.

School Rooms In Pastel Colors

MILLBROOK, Aug. 26 (ENS) The re-decorating of the school has been completed both inside and out. The doors, window frames, screens and eave troughing outside have been done in a cream color. Inside the halls are decorated in ivory and green.

In Mrs. Gray's primary room, the walls are done in pastel shades of blue and pink, with the woodwork a slightly deeper blue.

The intermediate public school room where Miss Burnham teaches has walls done in cream and pale green, with the woodwork in a slightly deeper green.

The color scheme of Mr. Hamilton's room, the senior one in the public school, is cream and a soft shade of buff.

Grade IX room of the high school part, which was decorated last year, has not been changed. In Grade X room the walls are pastel blue and the woodwork is just slightly deeper in color. The senior room is done in two shades of soft green, and the science room is pale grey, ivory and white.

Expert advice was obtained for the color schemes and the work was carried out under the direction of Mr. Ralph Innis.

An open night under the auspices of the Home and School Association is being planned, when the public will be invited to inspect the newly-decorated rooms.

Insulation Adds Comfort In Cold and Hot Weather

According to construction experts, a house which is properly insulated normally requires less fuel during a heating season than is considered necessary to heat a similar house left uninsulated. In the summer months, insulation is equally beneficial. Just as it helps to prevent the escape of warm inside air during the cold weather, insulation tends to halt the admitance of warm air from the outside when the weather is hot.

Although there are several different types of insulation, the most suitable is the one which best suits your needs from a viewpoint of comfort and economy.

In most buildings the greatest heat loss is through the roof. For this reason our climatic conditions dictate a more efficient insulation for the ceiling than for the walls.

Walls adjacent to porches or unheated garages should receive as careful attention as exposed exterior walls as a high percentage of heat loss can occur in these locations.

Cold floors and high heating expenses, common in many basementless houses, can be eliminated by insulating the floors. Houses with slab-on-ground type of foundation should be properly insulated around the perimeter of the foundation. If the house is constructed with the usual crawl space beneath, the entire floor area above the crawl space should be insulated.

An efficient vapor barrier should be installed on the warm side of all insulations as a precaution against condensation.

RhondaL.Seymour Wed In Bancrot

The Standard Church, Bancroft was setting when Rhonda Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Seymour, was united in marriage to Russell Dennis MacGregor, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. MacGregor of Brighton in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. J. S. Cooper was assisted by the Rev. Gerald Birch of Madoc.

An array of gladioli and other summer flowers and ferns banked the altar. Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Bronson. Mr. Kenneth Snider of Marmora sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Mr. Everett Seymour of Brighton, was in a gown of slipper satin with tight bodice and embroidered neck line of seed pearls. Her ginger tip veil of appliqued chantilly lace was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried roses.

The bridesmaid, Miss Lura Seymour was prettily attired in a frock of pale blue sheer with lace bodice and mittens. Her finger tip veil was appliqued lace and held by a wreath of blue flowers and her bouquet was red roses.

Two little flower girls were nieces of the bride, Sharon Divire of Oshawa wore a floor length dress of white nylon embroidered with pink flowers and Carley Seymour of Brighton wore a blue organdy dress. Each carried a nosegay of roses and baby's breath.

The groom was attended by Mr. Elmer Wannamaker of Queensboro. Ushers were Reg. Seymour and Mr. MacGregor.

A reception was held in the Legion rooms, where the bride's mother received in a dress of grey silk jersey and matching accessories, assisted by the groom's mother dressed in wine satin. Each wore a corsage of sweet peas.

After a brief honeymoon the couple will live in Brighton.

Reynolds-Carman Wedding Rites At Bride's Home

MARMORA, Aug. 26 (ENS).—At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carman, Marmora township, the wedding took place of their daughter, Zella Jeannette to Mr. Stanley Orman Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Reynolds of Madoc. The Rev. G. W. Burtch of Madoc, officiated.

The house and archway were beautifully decorated with evergreens, gladioli and other summer flowers and ferns as the bride entered with her father, Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mrs. Roy Frost of Marmora.

The bride was attired in ice blue moss crepe fashioned with fitted lace bodice, short sleeves, and a double peplum. A coronet of orange blossoms held a fingertip veil and she carried a sheaf of cream gladioli.

Miss Marilyn Sproul of Marmora as bridesmaid, wore navy seamist sheer with white accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Mr. Harold Carman, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Frost played "O Perfect Love" and during signing of the register "Because."

The bride's mother wore sapphire blue crepe with black accessories and a corsage of orchids and the groom's mother wore navy sheer with matching accessories and a corsage of roses.

For travelling the bride chose a grey suit and navy accessories and her corsage was of roses. The honeymoon was spent at Niagara Falls and they will live near Madoc.

Hand-knit Frocks Shown in Paris

The girls with the patience—and time—to develop a hand-knit suit or dress can be top style this season.

A Paris designer offers a collection of hand-knit fashions of exquisite lacy delicacy and shows a new technique in the banding that encircles bodices and skirts in puffed and puckered rows.

Two of the dresses are adapted to afternoon wear in spite of their high necklines. They are hand-crocheted and filmy as a cobweb; each weighs less than half a pounds.

"Ideal for the woman who travels," says Madame Anny Blatt.

For one, a simulated Irish lace design was developed in pearl grey. The skirt flared moderately, quite an achievement in a knitted frock.

Of palest pastel pink, the other dress was designed for more youthful clients. Through its web-like surface ran half-inch puckered bands. These, Madame Blatt explained, are made by changing needles and stitch, a job of delicate precision. Neck and cuffs were daintily ruffled.

Dr. and Mrs. A. Tanner of Ottawa visited the latter's cousin Mrs. W. M. Platt and Mr. Platt on Wednesday.

Recent guests with Mr and Mrs. Charles Ellis, Belmont Lake, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sharpe of Buffalo, NY; Mr. G. Hawkins and son Robert and Mr. Clarke and sons Jack and Gilbert of Wellville, NY.

Mrs. George Watson is a patient in the Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. H. McCabe were Mr. and Mrs John Curry and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dan O'Connor of Niagara Falls, NY; Mr. and Mrs. George Maybee of St. Catharines; Mr. Joseph Harrold of Lewiston, NY.

Mrs. G. H. Wallace returned on Thursday to her home at McLean, Virginia, USA.

Women's Section Late Opening

TORONTO, Aug. 26 — (CP) — The women's section of the Canadian National Exhibition was officially—and belatedly—opened Friday.

It took Trade Minister Howe to get things rolling.

Mrs. St. Laurent, wife of the Prime Minister, was to have done the honors. She couldn't make it. Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Hamilton West, was the substitute. Same thing. Mrs. Frost, wife of Ontario's premier, was next. She too, was unable to attend.

Mr. Howe, here for the official opening of the whole CNE, stepped into the breach. They made it—three hours behind schedule.

CAMPUS SEPARATES lead the popularity poll. Joan Hanley uses bright red velveteen for a dashing topper with back-belted fullness.

Use Grey As Foil For Fall Colors

Grey as a foil for the brilliant colors of this fall season is being offered to Peterborough fashionites in the form of velvet skirts with wide waist-moulding bands and in flannel suits and woollen dresses. In a recent style showing grey was teamed up with a jacket of plaid or purple velvet or yellow corduroy, and there were also such interchangeable accessories as plaid shoes and matching visor cap. Local shoppes have a lovely selection of crepe blouses and fine sweaters to go with the popular velvet and corduroy skirts and ar featuring the newest shades, including orange-marmalade.

Stained Glass Colors for Fall

PARIS—Although black is foremost for fall there are many brilliant stained-glass violets, blues and greens. These brilliant colors plus peacock blue, forest green and copper have a deep richness of tone in teddy bear cloths and fleeces chosen for three-quarter length top coats.

Most interesting is the opening of boxy wool velour jackets. Each edge from collar to hem is double and lined with Hudson seal on a spice jacket, leopard on a pine green. One glimpses the fur as if looking within two pages of a half-open book. The two edges fly open more or less as the wearer moves.

MANY TOES. — This kitten has six toes on each of its front paws, five on a hind paw and the normal four on the other. Owner Mrs. Pauline Serheniuk of Vancouver said the other five kittens in the litter also have extra toes. The father has seven toes on each foot and the mother also has over-sized feet.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

One of the most fascinating things about Canasta is the kaleidoscopic way the situation changes from play to play. For instance, consider this letter just received from a Chicago reader:

"In your column this morning, Mrs. J. R. S. wrote of the miserable hand she held recently in a Canasta game. If she thinks that is bad, what about this one I held last night: Both sides needed 120. My hand was joker, A, K, Q, 10, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4.

"This wasn't the first time I held a hand like this, but last night I had what you called 'extraordinary luck.' The first card I picked wss an eight, so then I had a pair. The second time, I picked a joker, but did not meld yet. The third time I picked up the pack, as an eight was discarded to me, and I melded a total of 130 points.

"As a said before, I had held many hands like the one above, but had never been lucky enough to match the right cards even when needing only 50 points. And what's worse, there wouldn't be any wild cards.—Mrs. N.J.R."

Of course the hand held by Mrs. R. was not a really bad one. Any time you are dealt one of the four jokers, your hand is not hopeless. Nevertheless, it was phenomenal that she was able to pair a card on her first draw, pick up a second joker at her next turn and then on the very next play have the only card she could use discarded to her.

• • •

A New York reader asks the following question: "I needed 50 and melded 2, Q, Q, Q, and 5, 5, 5. Before discarding, I wanted to shift the deuce over to the fives. My opponents refused to let me. Were they right?"

The answer is that they certainly were. Once a card is melded legally, it may not be shifted to another meld.

A wild card may be shifted to make an insufficient count sufficient. Suppose, for example, that the New York reader had melded 2, 5, 5, 5, and only held two queens. In that case she could put down the queens and move the deuce over since that would be the only way she could make the required count.

✧ ✧ ✧

A letter from St. Paul reads as follows: "You state on the cover of both your books 'How to Win at Canasta" and "Oswald Jacoby's Complete Canasta that they contain the official laws of Canasta. Recently I came across a small book which also claimed to have official laws, and its laws were different from yours. Who makes the laws, and under what authority?"

The answer to the question is that anybody is allowed to write a book on Canasta, and make up laws for the game and call them official, whether they represent just his opinion or that of a large group. However, responsible writers on card games recognize the need for one set of laws.

With this idea in mind, the late William E. McKenney, who prior to his death wrote on bridge and Canasta for N. E. A., Inc., suggested that a National Laws Commission be organized. This commission was organized in August of 1949.

I am chairman and Mr. Walter L. Richard of New York is secretary. The other members are John R. Crawford and Charles Goren of Philadelphia, Theodore Lightner, Albert Morehead and Ottillie Reilly of New York, Robert Lee Johnston of Los Angeles, and Ralph Michaels of Chicago.

The first work of the commission was to prepare the Standard 1950 Code, which appears in my book and in books by other members of the commission, and in books by many other writers who recognize the need for uniform laws and have agreed to go along with the commission. The laws have also been adopted by the Regency Club of New York, where Canasta really started in this country, and by the Association of American Playing Card Manufacturers.

We don't claim that our laws are perfect. We are studying them continually, particularly with the idea of simplifying them and reducing the penalties. Furthermore, our indefatigable secretary, Mr. Richard, is in South America right now, talking to South American representatives with an idea to standardize the laws for the hemisphere, and we hope to have such a standard code available in 1951.

There is no need to worry that this Hemisphere Code will change the game materially. In particular if someone states that we are going to make any radical change in the rules, he is just talking through his hat, because there just aren't going to be any radical changes.

The commission is strictly a profit organization. Although it copyrights its laws, it makes them available without charge to anyone else writing on Canasta. We can't force other writers to use our laws, but we can state that any writer who doesn't use them is just silly, and is hurting the game of Canasta, not helping it.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Laughter, Cheerfulness Neglected Virtues in Wives

I once heard a small child ask his mother why she never laughed as Mrs. A. did, as a jolly peal of mirth came from a neighboring window. Before she could answer, her husband exclaimed: "I would give a thousand dollars to hear your mother laugh like that just once," to which the woman replied by sighing and saying self righteously that she was not of the vulgar and noisy type.

Dorothy Dix

The little episode made me wonder why it is that among women cheerfulness is a discredited virtue and one they feel that they are under no obligations to practice in the home. Yet it is the one thing that their families crave of them above all others, the one thing that would do more than anything else to make them successes as wives and mothers.

When a conscientious woman tries to do her sacred duty by her family, she keeps her house clean and orderly, she serves scientifically balanced meals that contain the proper vitamins, she looks after her husband's and children's physical wants, but she only too often overlooks their need to be pepped up and she fails to realize that they would rather she made good jokes than good pies.

Easy-Going Type

For proof of this we have only to observe the women among our personal acquaintances. All of us know some one woman who is a slack housekeeper, whose windows are never as clean as they might be, whose meals are never on time, whose children generally need a patch or a darn or to be washed behind the ears, who wastes her husband's money, but who is jolly and easy-going and whose house always rings with laughter, and invariably she is adored by her husband and children and her home is the gathering place for all the youngsters in the neighborhood.

A happy home does not depend upon the material comfort in it. It depends entirely upon the attitude of the woman at the head of it. A gay and light-hearted woman can make a place of enchantment out of a hovel. A dismal, weepy woman can make a palace an abode of woe that gives every one who crosses its threshold the jitters. A cheerful, hopeful woman inspires her children to do their best and keeps them on their tiptoes. A wet-blanket mother takes all the enthusiasm out of her children and melts down their courage so they are whipped before they ever start to fight.

"A cheerful mother is the greatest blessing any boy can have, his greatest asset," said a man who had risen from poverty and obscurity to riches and fame. "We were desperately poor when I was a child. The whole family crowded in two rooms. We often had only potatoes and milk for supper. But my mother laughed us through it all, so we never knew we were undergoing any hardship. She never bemoaned the fact that we were 'underprivileged.' She made work a thrilling adventure and buoyed us up with tales of what other poor boys and girls had done and what we could do, too, if we tried. It was to her unquenchable optimism that I owe whatever I have done that was worth while in life.."

Cheerfulness is the one and only genuine follow-this-and-you cannot-fail recipe for retaining a husband's affection and nailing him to his own fireside. Beauty fades, besides a woman doesn't look good long to her husband if she wears crepe around the house. A woman ceases to be a spellbinder when she becomes a whiner and a complainer. Even good cooking palls upon a husband if it is salted with tears. No man wants as a wife a woman who looks as if she were pinch-hitting for the early Christian martyrs.

Men Have Hard Life

Life is hard on men. All day they are bullied and badgered and torn with anxieties and by night they feel that they have had about all the grief they can stand. They don't want to hear the saga of anybody else's troubles. They don't want to hear of everything that has gone wrong in the home.

They want to be met at their front doors by a wife who wears the smile that won't come off, a wife who laughs off misadventures instead of having hysterics over them, a wife who has read something funny in the papers or heard a good joke, and when a man finds a wife like that not all the good-lookers in the world can drag him away from her. Probably half the men who leave home do so in search of cheerful companionship and to get out of a place that reeks with gloom.

Moreover, cheerfulness is first aid to popularity. Gay people attract us and we just gravitate toward them. It is such a relief to get with someone who isn't going to tell us a tale of woe and beat upon their breasts while they bemoan their sorrows. We have troubles of our own that are all we can bear and we shun those who are going to add to them.

Women have always thought thought that tears were their most effective weapon. They are mistaken. It is cheerfulness. A woman with a laugh hung on a hair-trigger can always get whom and what she wants.

LITTLE IODINE by JIMMY HATLO

Sumptuous Velvet Leader In Day and Evening Wear

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON (CP)—Velvet, with its sumptuous femininity, is in the forefront among London's fall fashions.

The big ten of Britain's fashion world make use of it for everything from crinoline evening gowns to day suits, accessories and gloves.

Velvet jackets with plaid skirts are the choice for day wear. These are proving more popular than the all-velvet suit, as the old problem of "rubbed" skirts is avoided.

Norman Hartnell, the Queen's designer, shows two flare-skirted fitted coats, in black velvet with melon-shaped elbow cuffs of white ermine and mutation mink respectively. These are matched to detachable neck ties.

For Evening Wear

Hartnell uses velvet in cocktail dresses, evening gowns, negligees, hats and gloves.

A beautiful, full-skirted evening dress with matching jacket is decorated in open-work flowers outlined by rose-colored beading.

Velour is equally popular with velvet and wears better in travel clothes. A full-length velour cape by Ronald Paterson, in ginger, reversing to black, is equally suitable for day or evening wear.

A startling innovation is the full, loose coat in black and white checkerboard velvet.

For Cocktails

Velvet evening suits with beaded revers and cuffs, fitted coats and full skirts make a rich cocktail ensemble.

A midnight blue velvet dinner suit with narrow, three-quarter-length cuffed sleeves, has a dramatically-scooped neckline. The back neckline stands up like the stiffened collar of an 18th century shoulder cape, the front scoops in a high sweeping curve ending in a narrow V.

This reveals a high-necked gold lame blouse which, when the jacket is removed, is found to be backless.

Popular skirtlines are the peacock—up at the front and down at the back—and the petal skirt. the latter is especially effective with alternate velvet and satin, or velvet and taffeta, petals.

Hope to Bring Convention Back to Canada

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canadian delegates now touring England on their way to the Associated Countrywomen of the World convention in Copenhagen, Sept. 9-18, hope to bring the 1952 convention back to Canada where the organization was first developed.

The Ontario Agricultural College already has been reserved for this conference in anticipation of acceptance of the Canadian invitation.

More than 42 women representing every province are making the tour. In Denmark they will meet with hundred of other delegates from the 6,000,000-member organization for the sixth triennial conference.

The ACWW grew out of the Federated Women's Institutes founded by Ms. Adelaide Hoodless in Stoney Creek, Ont., in 1897. Since then the organization has spread all over the world.

Sound Movement

Prime Minister St. Laurent said at a ceremony honoring Mrs. Hoodless recently: "The rapidity with which the institute movement spread...is an indication of its soundness and the need which it filled."

This year's European tour will take the delegates through England, Scotland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, Belgium and France. Most of the delegates are expected to be back in Canada October 9.

While in England many of the party will accept the invitation of Lady Tweedsmuir, wife of a former governor-general of Canada, to visit her home.

During the Scandinavian portion of the tour most of the delegates will be quartered in private homes.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Popcorn, Parsley, Dumplings Spice Soups of All Kinds

Have you ever thought of dropping popcorn on piping hot soup? This is just one of many new and unusual ideas that fill "250 Delicious Soups," the sixth book in the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks, now available to readers of The Examiner.

Like the previous books in the series, this cookbook is full of new ways to pep up your menus and the many illustrations give you all kinds of serving ideas. The carefully tested recipes include many foreign soups and all varieties of vegetable, meat, fish, poultry, and legume soups. But besides this wide selection of old and new methods of preparing soup are many imaginative ways of prettying up that steaming bowl so that it comes to the table dressed in Sunday best. Suggestions vary from something as simple as a sprig of parsley or a handful of croutons to delicious marrow balls and dumplings. Here is an unusual variation of familiar dumplings:

Italian Potato Dumplings

1 cup mashed potatoes
1½ tablespoon olive or salad oil
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
Dash nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients. Mix thoroughly; sprinkle flour on pastry board and place long strips (about ½ inch in diameter) of the potato mixture on it. Roll strips carefully in flour, cut into ½-inch pieces and round into balls. Fry in hot deep fat (390 degrees to 380 degrees F.) until brown, drain well and serve in very hot beef or veal broth. Serves 6.

To get your copy of the Soup Book and to catch up with the other books in the series, Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, and Pies, simply present one coupon for each book clipped from page 2 of any issue of this newspaper with 25 cents a book to The Examiner office or your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Food Market. To obtain by mail send 30 cents (5 cents additional for postage and handling) and one coupon for each book to Cookbook Department, The Examiner, Peterborough.

NOTICE
TREASURER'S SALE OF LAND FOR TAXES
CORPORATION OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH

TO WIT:

By virtue of a Warrant issued by the Warden of the County of Peterborough bearing date the 8th Day of June, 1949, SALE OF LANDS in the County of Peterborough will be held at the County Council Chamber, in the Court House, in the City of Peterborough, at the Hour of Ten o'clock in the Forenoon, on the 3RD DAY OF OCTOBER 1950, unless the Taxes and Costs are sooner paid.

Notice is hereby given that the List of Lands for Sale of Arrears of Taxes is being published in the Ontario Gazette on the 1st Day of July, 1950, and that copies of the said List may be had at my Office.

J. A. SPURWAY,
County Treasurer.

IN THE MATTER OF THE MUNICIPAL ACT AND IN THE MATTER OF A PROPOSED BY-LAW OF THE CITY OF PETERBOROUGH TO STOP UP AND CLOSE AN ALLOWANCE FOR HIGHWAY AND SELL THE SAME TO JOHN S. BLACK

NOTICE is hereby given, pursuant to Section 498 of The Municipal Act, that the Corporation of the City of Peterborough, proposes to consider and if deemed advisable to pass at its Regular Meeting to be held at the Council Chambers in the City Hall in the City of Peterborough, on Tuesday, the 5th day of September 1950 at 7:30 o'clock p.m. a By-law to Stop Up and Close that part of Dublin Street more particularly described as follows:

COMMENCING at a point in the Northerly limit of Lot 19 West of George Street and South of Dublin Street distant Easterly fifty-one feet seven inches from the North Westerly angle of said Lot; thence Northerly parallel to the Northerly production of the Westerly limit of said lot a distance of ten feet; thence Easterly parallel to the Northerly limit of said lot a distance of twenty-five feet six inches; thence southerly parallel to the northerly production of the westerly limit of said lot a distance of ten feet more or less to the northerly limit of said lot; THENCE westerly along the northerly limit of said lot a distance of twenty-five feet six inches more or less to the place of beginning, and to sell the said allowance for highway above described to John S. Black.

AND TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that before passing the said By-law at its Meeting to be held at the time and place above mentioned, the Council of the City of Peterborough shall then and there hear in person or by his counsel, solicitor or agent, any person who claims that his land will be prejudicially affected by the said By-law and who applies to be heard.

DATED at Peterborough, this 4th day of August, A.D., 1950.
E. A. OUTRAM, Clerk.

Planes Smash Enemy Troops

TOKYO, Aug. 26 (AP). — United States and Australian planes smashed today at North Korean troops attacking United Nations forces on the east coast sector of Korea.

One pilot reported that the North Koreans were moving troops and equipment toward Pohang and Kigye. Jets promptly swung into the attack.

Up to mid-afternoon U.S. Air Force, Marine and Australian planes had flown 187 sorties, following up Friday's record assault.

An air summary said 600 dead Communist troops were found by advancing U.N. forces on an unidentified sector of the front. The toll was credited to air strikes. A spokesman said this was not connected with the massive Aug. 16 bombing of North Korean concentrations west of the Naktong.

Allied airmen made nearly 600 flights Friday. It was their most active day.

Gov't Allows Trucks Operate On Sundays

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP). — The Ontario government has agreed to let trucks operate on Sundays during the national railway strike, trucking officials said Thursday night.

They said that earlier this week the government agreed to suspending regulations which ban trucks from highways between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. on Sundays, except for delivery of perishable goods.

George Hall, Ottawa's emergency transport co-ordinator, said in Ottawa Friday that Attorney-General Porter had been asked to relax work statutes to permit use of trucks on Sunday.

Mrs. Thomas Clark Buried In Manvers

Pallbearers at the funeral on Thursday of Mrs. Thomas Clarke, 90, Norwood, were: Lawrence, Earl, Leonard, Murray and Donald Clark, and M. Clarke Fennell.

Flower bears were Ellsworth Beacock, Orville Redpath and Roy and Lloyd Clarke.

Mrs. Clarke died Tuesday after a long illness.

The funeral service was at her Queen St. home, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood Presbyterian church officiating. Burial was in Ballyduff cemetery, Manvers.

127 Die In Raid

MANILA, Aug. 26 (AP)—Defence headquarters estimated today that 127 persons were killed Friday night when Communist-led Hukbalahaps raided six central Luzon towns. The attacks were believed to be the possible beginning of a long series of forays designed to tie up the Philippine army which has offered to send troops to Korea.

Stone U.S. Embassy

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 26 — (AP)—Between 30 and 40 persons stoned the United States embassy Friday night and broke three windows. Ambassador Claude G. Bowers said he thought they were Communists. No one was arrested.

Henri Roy Dies

PARIS, Aug. 26 —(AP)—The death of Henri Roy, 77, French lawyer and former cabinet minister, was announced today by Agence France Presse. Roy died Wednesday. He was first elected to the chamber of deputies in 1906. Early in the Second World War he served briefly as interior minister in the Reynaud cabinet.

Island Raids UK-Commanded

TOKYO, Aug. 26 (Reuters).—Naval headquarters said today that recent raids on islands along Korea's west coast were "British-commanded"—not made by British commandos.

A communique said South Korean Marines landed under cover of British and Canadian guns, destroying installations and capturing three islands near the important Communist-occupied port of Inchon. The raids were intended to help enforce the west coast blockade.

A navy spokesman said "to the best of my knowledge, only South Koreans have made raids."

There have been persistent reports of British Marine or Commando parties landing from warships.

Unconfirmed reports Wednesday said British Commandos had raided the island of Palmi, eight miles off Inchon, and destroyed a radio station.

Otonabee Farmer Bred Champions

The grand champion Oxford ram and the grand champion Oxford ewe at the Peterborough Exhibition shown by Fred Trewin of Nestleton, in Durham county, were both bred by I. E. Nelson of Villier's Corners in Otonabee township.

Mr. Nelson, a sheep breeder with 50 years experience, is very proud of the wins of his stock. He also bred the dam of the two exhibition winners.

The ram which sired these sheep beat the international champion ram in competition two years ago Mr. Nelson said. The ram was killed in an accident a short time ago, but he still has its progeny.

Pope Visits Rome First In Six Years

ROME, Aug. 26 (Reuters). — The Pope made a public visit to Rome today for the first time in six years.

Large crowds gathered as the 74-year-old Pontiff was driven through the streets in a black limousine, escorted by 10 motorcycle policemen.

He was driving to three of Rome's main Basilicas on a Holy Year pilgrimage, the first time a Pope has made a pilgrimage to the Basilicas since 1870 — when King Victor Emmanuel I seized Papal Rome and imprisoned the Pope in Vatican City.

Sister Superior Dies In Toronto At Prayer

TORONTO, Aug. 26 (CP) — Sister Mary Emerita, superior of Rosary Hall in Toronto, died yesterday. She was stricken while leading a period of spiritual reading and prayer on the 33rd anniversary of her entry into the Sisters of Providence.

The former Veronica Barry, she was born at Morrisburg, Ont., entered the order at Kingston and trained in Providence Hospital at Moose Jaw. She is survived by a brother, Capt. Murray Barry of Kingston, and two sisters, Sister M. Borgis of Gananoque and Sister M. Leonard of Kingston.

TCA Says Passenger Traffic Down Friday

TORONTO, Aug. 26 — (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines reported Friday night a decrease in passenger traffic Friday. Earlier in the week traffic hit a record high in passenger and freight traffic because of the railway strike. The company said freight traffic remains above normal, with emergency medical supplies heading the list.

Unusual shipments Friday included a supply of worms for three Montreal anglers.

Blewett Horse Wins 2:17 At Exhibition

A Peterborough horse, Victory Hi, owned by Stan Blewett, was driven to three victories Friday night in the 2.17 class at the exhibition by J. McIntyre. Victory Hi raced around the laps in the second heat in a fast 2:12.8 minutes as Miss Lee Todd, owned by M. Wray, of Schomberg, placed second. Peck Abbey, owned by W. Fowler, of Apsley, had two seconds and a third in the event for $300.

Dr. Findlay's Arnprior horse, Celia Lee, was driven by the owner in the three heats of the classified trot for three top money prizes. His first time was 2:19.6 and the other two heats both 2:20.

Calumet Baldwin, owned and driven by John Rogers, of Oshawa, failed to outnose Celia Lee but outdistanced the other entrants in the three heats to take second place honors. Elmira Boy, driven by O. Fallis, and owned by the Sharpe Motors, of Oshawa, raced home in third place twice but gave way to Grey Von, owned and driven by George McKnight, of Millbrook, in the third heat. R. Miville's Gatineau horse, Mark Ormond, placed fourth in all events.

Summary—2:17 class:

Victory Hi, Stan Blewett (Peterborough)	1	1	1

Leonard Likely Take Golf Title

MONTREAL, Aug. 26 (CP). — The 36 year hunt for a homebred successor to Karl Keiffer as Canadian open golf champion appears near an end, dependent on the shot-making of Vancouver's 37-year-old Stan Leonard. And he has a tough job on his square-set shoulders.

The hard hitting Canadian professional champion—he won that title here last weekend—showed the way home to the 200 or so pros and amateurs at the halfway mark with a brilliant 10 under par 134 performance Friday. His total is just one stroke better than Jim Ferrier's with 36 of the 72-hole tournament play.

Anything can happen in the final stretch today and Sunday, but the way Leonard's woods and irons behaved Friday when he put together a 34-32 score for a sizzling 66 he has a good chance of collecting the $20,000 first-place money.

Old-timers harked back to 1914 when Keiffer, from the Royal Ottawa Club, gave Canada its last open title, as word spread Friday around the 18th green that Leonard was "hot." They figured no other player on the course could duplicate the score and practically "gave" the championship to the unassuming Leonard.

The Australian-born Ferrier, playing out of San Francisco, stayed in line with a six under par 67 following up his 68 first-round score Thursday. Between these two, they have a stranglehold on the Seagram gold cup which goes to the winner.

LOOK, NO BARS. — It took a shaking Winnipeg newspaper photographer a lot of patient and work to get this photo. His editor ordered him to get a shot of Louie the Lion at Assiniboine Park, but not to clutter it up with a lot of steel bars. Playful Louie first refused to come out to pose, then when the keeper did coax him out he lashed the photographer across the face with a soggy tail. After six attempts, the photographer got his camera between the bars and took this close-up.

Looking For Better Showing Of Hamilton Football Team

By TOMMY MOORE.

HAMILTON, Aug. 26 (CP). — This red-hot football centre is looking for a better showing by its entry in the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union this season than last when its Wildcats failed to win any of their 12 games.

Aside from the theory that the worm has to turn some time, the hopes for improvement are based on the work of a new, hard-driving coach, a brand new set of United States imports, and a combination of the home-grown talent which last year was divided between the Wildcats in the Big Four and the T.'s in the Ontario Rugby Football Union.

The amalgamation of the Wildcats and the Tigers gives Hamilton a single senior club for the first time since the war when the Big Four did not operate and the Wildcats represented the city in the ORFU. Last season the Tigers won the ORFU senior crown but went down 49-0 before Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four in the Eastern Canada final.

No Predictions

The new coach—Carl Voyles, former mentor of the professional Brooklyn Dodgers — is not predicting how his Tiger-Cats will make out.

"We will have a strong club," was all he would say as he watched his charges trample the Sarnia Imperials of the ORFU 57-0 in an exhibition game last Saturday.

If hard work means anything, the amangamated Tiger-Cats will make things uncomfortable for the other three Big Four clubs. They have been hard at work for five weeks now with 60 players taking part in workouts. It was not until after the Sarnia game that Voyles started to cut his squad.

Only One With Chance

The only American who played here last year and appears to have a chance to stick around is Robin Hood, 200-pound outside wing from Alabama University. Merle Hapes, one-time star half with New York Giants, who was playing coach with the Tigers last year, may catch on, but he has to convince Voyles that he will be more valuable to the team than speedster Bill Gregus from Wake Forest who played under the new coach at Brooklyn.

Other Americans on hand are Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, back and quarter with the professional Cleveland Browns the last few seasons; Vince Mazza, 236-pound outside who came from Buffalo Bills; Jack Carpenter, a lineman who passed up a New York offer to come to Hamilton; Stan Heath, a forward-passer who was an all-American with Nevada University in 1948 and was with Green Bay Packers last year; Al Langford, a Texan with a fine reputation as a quarterback.

Won't Be Around

Some of the Canadians who played with Hamilton last season won't be around. Quarterback George Festeryga is off the squad, supposedly after differences with Coach Voyles and his assistant, Jones. Big Gerry Walsh and Charlie Waterman turned out for three weeks and then decided to chuck it.

Two junior stars of last season —Pete Woolley and Jack Rogers —may make th egrade.

The Tiger-Cats start the schedule against the powerful Ottawa Rough Riders next Saturday at Ottawa. Their first home game is on Labor Day, against Toronto Argonauts.

Drives Car For Wager

OTTAWA, Aug. 26 (CP). — Jacque Charron, 27, of neighboring Hull, Que., was fined $100 and court costs Friday on a charge unique in court history — that of driving a car for a wager. Charron, arrested as he drove through the capital streets Friday night at 80 miles an hour, told police he was settling a bet with a friend as to the time it would take to drive from a hotel in Hull to Ottawa's Uplands Airport and back again.

First Foreign Ship

HONG KONG, Aug 26 (AP)— Authoritative sources said today that the first foreign ship to enter Canton harbor since the Communists took over control of the city arrived Friday. The sources said that it was a Russian ship, the 1,619-ton Azov. The Azov left Hong Kong Thursday without passengers.

Dock Strike Settled

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 26 (Reuters)—A 24-hour strike of stevedores at Salt River, main shipping port for the West Indies Sugar Company, was settled Friday. The dockers agreed to load sugar by bulk. The stevedores had gone on strike against the bulk loading of sugar for Britain protesting that the system reduced their earnings.

School Programs Reaching Thousands Across Canada

By VAL SEARS

TORONTO —(CP)— Bobby, Betty and Uncle Jack will be talking their way into the lives of 430,000 Canadian schoolchildren this year.

This mythical trio, characters in the CBC's nature broadcasts for the classroom, are part of a rapidly expanding program to sugarcoat the bitter bill of education.

For 30 minutes every day during the school term children in approximately 20,000 schoolrooms in English-speaking Canada gather around a radio or loudspeaker to hear their history, science, music and English studies supplemented by dramatized versions of their texts.

Started in 1942

The CBC began its school broadcasts on a nation-wide basis in 1942. Since that time 6,764 schools have applied for and received from the Department of Transport free receiving licences.

Hundreds of rural schools have simply a small mantel radio around which the pupils gather with their teacher to hear the program. In the larger schools a loudspeaker system is installed, often when the building is constructed, which permits the programs to be piped to a dozen classrooms from a central office.

W. S. Rutherford, deputy minister of education for Ontario, says the programs are very helpful in stimulating the children's interest. Ontario, he says, is rapidly expanding her receiving network.

Director of Programs

Director of the programs for the CBC is a scholarly, pleasant-faced Englishman, Richard S. Lambert.

"All the CBC does, really," he says, "is to supply the talent and the scripts for the shows. Our program for the term is mapped out by teachers and departments of education in the different provinces."

"The programs are timed to coincide with the subjects to be studied at certain times by certain grades. In most schools there is a teacher consultant who gives us the reaction of the children in the classroom and we arrange our scripts accordingly."

The overall plans of educational policy are decided by the National Advisory Council on School Broadcasting. This consists of representatives of the 10 departments of education and of teachers, parents, school trustees and universities. It meets annually in March.

This term the NAC plans seven series of broadcasts: "Voices of the Wild" (with Bobby, Betty and Uncle Jack), "Adventure Through Books," "Inland Sailors," "Shakespeare's Hamlet," "Things We are Proud Of," "Life in Canada Today" and Benjamin Britten's "Let's Make an Opera."

In addition to the school series, the CBC broadcasts a "Kindergarten of the Air," beamed at children of pre-school age. The programs, planned with the advice of kindergarten experts, consist of songs, exercises, stories and participation in play activities.

Turk Broda's Team At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Au. 26 — (ENS)—Turk Broda's All Stars played an exhibition game in Campbellford Thursday to help bolster the finances of the Campbellford Club, which is at present operating in the red.

The Broda squad was introduced by F. G. De Carrol.

The visitors engaged the local softball team, headed by Buck Crosson. Dr. F. C. Robertson, Liberal MP for Northumberland, opened the game by pitching the first ball.

Umpiring were two hockey stars of earlier days: Dit Clapper, the Daddy of the Boston Bruins, calling at the plate, and Harold (Baldy) Cotton, former Maple Leaf star, and now a scout for Boston Bruins, acting as base umpires.

People turned out in large numbers to see the game. Neither side seemed to be particularly interested in the outcome and were playing strictly for exhibition. Broda and his merrymakers gave the crowd much enjoyment with their horseplay and jovial antics. Turk, himself, went in to pitch in the final innings but suffered acute loss of control due to signing so many autographs.

The Toronto team used five pitchers but Bruce McComb went all the way for Campbellford. Campbellford led in home runs with Ken Oddie and Charles Macoun hitting homers in the sixth inning battle which netted eight runs.

Dewsbury got the lone circuit clout for the pros.

Cambpbellford Citizens mands entertained at the game under the baton of Bandmaster Donald D. Bennett.

Broda's All Stars—John Callaghan, second base; Chuck Webster, third base; Hank Goldup, centre field; Al Dewsbury, short stop; Turk Broda, catcher; Bud Poile, first base; Ed Harrison, right field; Clifford Baxter, centre field; Don Harris, pitcher; "Flen" Mackell, utility player.

Campbellford—E. Hoard, Mel McJeown, Al Taylor, P. O'Sullivan, Pat Doherty, G. Fralick, Ray Tanner, Ken Oddie, Charles Macoun, W. Blake and Bruce McComb (pitcher).

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A floating bottle on the Detroit River course may have cost Guy Lombardo and his hydroplane Tempo VI a place on the United States Harmsworth Trophy team Friday.

The bandmaster took his craft out on the course for the trial runs which will determine the three-boat team to defend the trophy against the lone challenger, Harold F. Wilson, of Ingersoll, Ont. Tempo VI had barely got under way when it struck the bottle and took a hole in its hull.

Committed to race Tempo VI at Baltimore Sunday, Lombardo immediately started the damaged craft to that city by truck hoping to mke repairs, compete there and return for Harmsworth trial runs next week. Veteran speedboat experts doubt he can do it.

Fifteen boats, headed by Horace Dodge's My Sweetie and Seattle's world record holder for the mile, Slo-Mo-Shun IV, seek the three American team places.

Slo-Mo-Shun won the recent gold cup, dethroning My Sweetie. The Seattle craft wasn't entered in the subsequent Detroit Memorial and My Sweetie won it.

United States and Mexican water-skiing experts took major honors at the Canadian water-skiing championships run off at the Caandian National Exhibition Friday.

The less-experienced Canadian entries were forced to be content with wins in the closed competitions.

Bruce Poole, of Bobcaygeon, Ont., won the Canadian boys' closed championships.

Emilio Zamudio, of Mexico City, won both the boys' trick riding and jumping championships.

The women's trick riding crown went to attractive Johnette Kirkpatrick, Cypress Gardens, Fla.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats scored a 45-0 win over the Mansville, N.Y., Eagles in an exhibtion football game at Hamilton Friday night.

It was the first game under Canadian football rules for the Eagles, a semi-pro club.

Shooting a three-over-par 74, Jack Armitage, a 53-year-old former professional, won the Ontario Seniors golf tournament at the Kitchener Westmount Golf Club Friday.

A. R. Wilson, of Hamilton, who won last year, trailed with an 80. Armitage, now a machinist at Dundas, Ont., had four birdies and eight pars in turning in a 36 and 38.

In the Class A division, for golfers between 50 and 59, D. MacLachlan, of Toronto York Downs, led with a gross 78 while E. B. Grass, of Hamilton Glendale, had low net with 83-20—63.

The Belgian Davis Cup team won a doubles victory in their exhibition match with Canada Friday night 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

The Belgian team of Phillip Washer and Jacques Brichant defeated Lorne Main, Toronto, and George Robinson, of Montreal.

Jim Bentley, of Toronto, won the Quebec junior men's singles championship at Montreal Friday when he defeated Jean Dussault, of Montreal, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. Bentley was seeded No. 1 in the tournament.

Miriam Rainboth, of Ottawa, defending junior women's singles champion, and Mariette LaFramboise, of Montreal, defending girls' singles titleholder, retained their titles.

Army Releases Draftee To Play Cricket In UK

LONDON, Aug. 26 (Reuters)— The British Army Friday got into the fight to salvage Britain's cricket reputation, badly shattered recently by victorious Australian and West Indies teams. It decided to release 19-year-old Brian Close, a draftee, because England will need him this winter to do Test-match battle against Australia.

Things Look Dark For United States Davis Cup Team

FOREST MILLS, N. Y., Aug 26 (AP).—Australia today sends the world's best doubles team, Wily John Bromwich and slashing Frank Sedgman, against the United States, needing one victory to recapture the Davis Cup, emblem of international tennis supremacy.

Things have never looked darker for Uncle Sam's court-covering nephews, their backs nailed against the wall by a brace of bold youngsters from down under who swept the opening singles matches Friday with shocking decisiveness.

First Sedgman, Australia's 22-year-old champion, polished off Tom Brown Jr., 6-0, 8-6, 9-7. Then Ken McGregor, a strapping 21-year-old athlete, stunned a crowd of 8,000 by subduing the American ace, Ted Schroeder, 13-11, 6-3, 6-4.

Great Area of Lakes, Woods One of Finest Motor Trips

By JACK SCOTT

NORTH BAY, Ont.—Here on the sandy shore of Lake Nipissing, we have our finest campsite yet.

We arrived last night after a 400-mile drive. It was a black night and we had no idea of what a choice location the attendant at North Bay's civic trailer park had assigned us.

"All the way from British Columbia?" he said. "In that case I'll have to find something special."

He directed us some distance from the orderly rows of caravans with their bright, friendly windows. "Lake's out that way," he announced, pointing into the darkness, and left us.

We awoke this morning to find that we were not at North Bay at all, but on the beach at Waikiki.

I am writing on the card table now, out under the awning, and the view from here is very Hawaiian. There's a tidy patch of green grass at our doorstep and then a small private beach with sand as clean and fine as salt. Two large willows, each leaning at a sharp angle out over the lake and looking for all the world like coconut trees, frame the view. The blue, ruffled lake stretches off into a summer mist and a tiny surf sighs on the shore.

Matter of fact, all of this country is a knockout scenically.

I always seem to have passed through northern Ontario in winter and so this great area of lakes and streams and woodland in late summer is some thing in the nature of a discovery.

North Bay, itself, which is just a town of back yards from the train window, is a pleasant spot in its own right and the hub for the lovely vacationland to its north, a country aswarm now with visiting Americans.

Direst Route

In the last two days we've come nearly 800 miles across northern Ontario from Port Arthur.

In crossing the prairies we looked many, many times at the map and that thin red line which indicates Ontario's Highway No. 11. The road runs through country uninhabited for long stretches and within 300 miles of James Bay. Indeed, in this area the rivers run "uphill" into Hudson Bay.

A great many tourists who'd come over this highway advised us against it. We seriously considered two alternatives. One was to get a boat down Lake Superior to Sault St. Marie. No dice on this, because they don't take trailers of our dimensions. We also considered the alternative of skirting the big lake through Wisconsin, but that would have meant abandoning the all-Canadian route.

Then, in Port Arthur, we crossed paths with Austin Cross, columnist for The Ottawa Citizen, who is out looking over Canada from east to west. Austin was enthusiastic about No. 11 and so we decided to do it in two long hops.

We set ourselves this goal because we've got to get a move on if we intend to complete our safari before winter sets in. Last night on the radio we heard of frost reports in Alberta and Saskatchewan. During our drive we saw many maples getting their first autumn blush. Here in North Bay there's the feeling of Indian summer in the air.

For this reason we've decided we'll have to bypass southern Ontario and try to see something of that part of the country on our way back. From here we'll cross over into the Ottawa Valley and down to the nation's capital, then on to Montreal and Quebec and into Nova Scotia and then, at Halifax, deliver our vital Pacific Ocean water to the mayor (who must get awfully tired of this sort of thing).

Meanwhile we are getting tidied up for the cities ahead. We started washing the trailer this morning. Found it has five or six different layers of dust, the final coating being a pink color that we picked up through northern Ontario.

Lonely Road

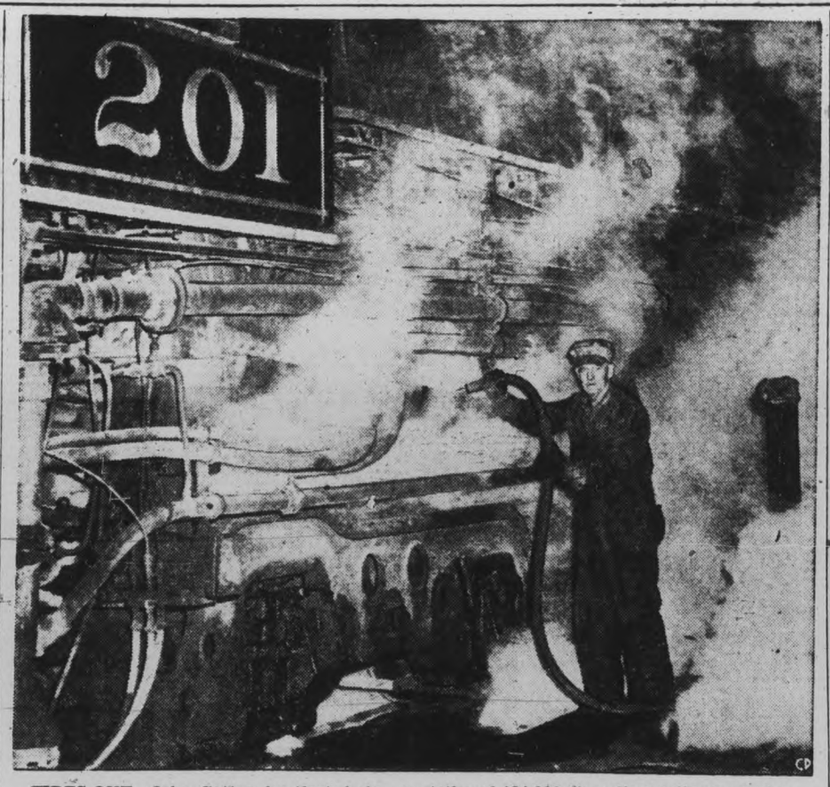
The drive from Port Arthur to here wasn't nearly as difficult as we'd been led to believe.

Of approximately 800 miles only a hundred is really bad and that because of construction work The various contractors who have the job have softened the blow somewhat by erecting large signs asking you to please be patient, explaining that all this roughness is necessary for your good driving in the future. Good public relations, that.

We stopped overnight at a place called Hearst, a kind of pinpoint of humanity in the wilderness. Not since our jaunt up the Alaska Highway have we been on a road as lonely as this one. Judy, who is our statistician, recorded a stretch of 85 miles in which we saw not a sign of humanity. One porcupine, a dead pedestrian, was the only sign of animal life.

From about 180 miles north into North Bay we hit a super-highway and again we were in the marvellous lake country where every mile presents a view that sets the spirits soaring.

On this stretch of road, by the way, we saw crews at work clearing the right-of-way for the new Trans-Canada Highway, carving a broad path through the jackpine and spruce. What a thrill it's going to be, some five years from today, to do this trip all over again and to say of the road, "I knew it when."



FIRES OUT—John Cotter, hostler's helper, hoses the fire in a giant locomotive at the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway roundhouse at Hamilton—shortly after the strike of 124,000 Canadian railway employees was announced Tuesday morning. Just in from the last run, the engine was ready for storage within 15 minutes.

Library Staff Assisted In Procuring Properties For Centennial Play

Generous help has been given to the Centennial Committee and the Summer Theatre Company in securing proper furnishings and properties for the centennial play "At My Heart's Core" by the staff of the Peterborough Public Library, and particularly by Miss Genevieve Sullivan. As the organizer of the Centennial Exhibition, Miss Sullivan has special knowledge of pioneer possessions in this district, and has been instrumental in securing the loan of these articles, many of which are prized heirlooms.

A pioneer cradle has been found and also a skillet of the type used by the early settlers of this district. The dishes used in the production are from a very large set brought to Canada by a family which first settled in the Port Hope district. Paisley shawls, ladies' caps and other articles of clothing have been lent to help in dressing the production, although most of the clothing is from a Toronto costumier. Connoisseurs of Indian workmanship will feel particular interest in the beaded buckskin wamus worn by John Primm, who plays a leading role; it is considered an especially fine example of its kind.

Pains have been taken to make the production as accurate in detail as possible, and to present an authentic picture of the dress and household equipment of the pioneers. The play will be presented from August 28 till September 2.

Injured Drivers Collect Damages From Crash Fund

TORONTO (CP).—The ancient maxim that you "can't get blood out of a stone," has been disproved to the extent of $1,300,000 in Ontario during the last three years.

In that time hundreds of motorists who have struck another car or pedestrian have been forced to pay a judgment despite the fact they apparently had insufficient assets.

This has been possible through a unique unsatisfied judgments fund—a fund which protects not only Ontario motorists, but tourists from seven other provinces and from 28 states across the line with whom there is a reciprocal agreement.

If a judgment against a car driver from any of these states or provinces has to be paid out of the fund, the driver will be forbidden to operate a motor vehicle until he repays the fund to the full amount of the judgment.

Ontario is the only authority with a full-fledged unsatisfied judgments fund. Beyond its borders the reciprocal agreements operate only to the extent of suspending drivers' and operators' licence until the fund has been compensated.

Being Studied

Authorities from New York State and Illinois have been in Toronto studying the Ontario legislation.

The province levies a 50-cent annual assessment against every drivers' licence to finance the fund.

W. M. Earl of the Highways Department, said courts don't make an order for payment on the fund until every other means has been used to collect from the offending party.

The type of person from whom the Department has to collect the unsatisfied judgment is usually considered a poor prospect.

"However," he said, "we are using every means to collect, and we have had fair success."

Plan Caravan Of 80 Cars To Cross Darkest Africa

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS—(AP)—A caravan of 80 automobiles sets out this fall on a man-sized drive across the heart of Africa.

You, too, can probe the wilds of this once-dark continent—if you have enough money, time and driving know-how.

The venture is known as the automobile rally from the Mediterranean to the Cape of Good Hope. The route leads through Algeria, French West Africa, Nigeria, French Equatorial Africa, the Belgian Congo, Kenya, Tanganyika, Rhodesia and the Union of South Africa.

The trip is open to anyone who can convince the organizers that he has a good chance to complete the journey. The people in charge don't want to get stuck with any over-age cars that might break down in the middle of the Sahara. Neither do they want any Sunday drivers who wouldn't know how to change a tire or replace a light bulb.

Promote Tourism

The tour is being organized by the Automobile Club of Algiers and an organization known as the "Friends of the Sahara."

The purpose of the organizers is to promote tourism. Actually the same route has been traversed many times by adventurous tourists familiar with the region.

There are no filling stations along the road. Hotels are scarce and primitive. At several scheduled stops there simply aren't any hotels and in these places arrangements are being made for the travellers to stay overnight in the homes of Europeans living there.

No Roads

Many of the roads, especially in the northern and central part of the continent, are of dirt but easily passable. Across the Sahara, there are no roads—only limitless sands with high pylons to guide the drivers. On the southern half of the trip many of the roads are paved.

Depending on the route taken the course varies between 9,000 and 9,600 miles. The schedule has been made up to cover 40 days of driving with five days of rest interspersed.

$1,550 Expenses

An estimate of $1,550 has been made for the expenses each driver should figure on. Passengers will get by for about half that much.

Then there's the problem of getting back from Capetown. The route could be retraced by auto but the organizers believe that most of the participants will sell their cars and return by ship or air.

The start has been set for Nov. 17.

Cars will be given a time schedule to follow and those which are most successful in meeting the schedule, avoiding accidents and completing the journey without mechanical failures will be given prizes which will recoup part of the costs. Top prizes are 700,000 francs (about $2,000) for each of three classes, depending on the size of the motor.

Bees Pay Surprise Visit At Havelock

HAVELOCK, Aug 26 (ENS)—A swarm of bees descended on a tree on Mrs William Stevenson's property recently and by cutting off a branch of the tree, Douglas Hill was able to trap them in a beehive

The swarm weighted about 25 pounds They came in a swarm on to Mrs Stevenson's tree while she was in the home of a neighbor on the opposite side of the street. She heard a humming sound like a motor running in the direction of her house. Looking out she saw a multitude of bees hovering over a tree on her lot. She called Mr. Hill who owns an apiary, and who is shown holding the bees just before he shook them into a hive.

Korean Reds Drive Back Allied Right Wing, Strong Pohang Pressure

Southern Troops Regain Some Losses With U.S. Artillery Support, Trying To Lift Sagging Defence Line

TOKYO, Aug. 29—(Tuesday)—(AP)—The Korean Reds drove back the right wing of the Allied defence line on Korea's east coast Monday, then lost some of their gains to a South Korean counter-push. But they were maintaining strong pressure on the Pohang sector Monday night. In a dispatch filed at midnight Monday from Pohang, AP correspondent Tom Lambert said that after having lost considerable ground, mileage undisclosed, the South Koreans edged back northward late Monday in an attempt to lift the sagging defence line. They had American air, artillery and naval gunfire support.

Lambert said the South Koreans had reached the southern edge of a broad valley leading towards Kigye, 10 miles northwest of Pohang, but the Reds still held Kigye and were reported making new aggressive moves after dark Monday.

Severe fighting was reported from the shattered city of Waegwan on the central front 45 miles west of the port of Pohang.

40,000 Reds Battle

Forty thousand of 64,000 Reds pressing the whole allied Korean defence perimeter were committed in the northern arc battle.

The line yielded most near Uihung, 22 miles north of Taegu, hub of central front communications, and just north and west of Pohang, No. 2 South Korean port on the east coast.

Earlier reports from the U.S. Eighth Army in Korea and Gen. MacArthur's headquarters had said the Reds had been contained.

AP correspondent Hal Boyle landed at the Pohang airstrip just before dark Monday and reported the Reds were 2½ miles from Pohang and advancing against a severe naval and land bombardment.

In a message to the South Koreans, Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, U.S. Eighth Army commander in Korea, urged them to hold, and added:

"It is my belief the over-extended enemy is making his last gasp."

Gen. Walker made his statement after expressing concern over earlier optimistic comment from line troops and officers.

Will Obey Parliament Hall Declares "But Men Won't Like It"

Cabinet Holds Morning Meeting To Draft Emergency Legislation To Be Presented To MP's At Tuesday Session

OTTAWA, Aug. 28—(CP)—Striking employees will go back to work if parliament orders it, Frank H. Hall, co-leader in the strike, said today in an interview. "If a law is passed ordering the men to go back, they will obey it but they won't like it," said Mr. Hall, chief spokesman for 90,000 international union members among the 124,000 engaged in the stoppage. "If the law requires resumption of negotiations," Mr. Hall added, "the unions no doubt will comply."

Mr. Hall's statement came as Cabinet was meeting to draft emergency legislation for ending the strike, which is to be presented before a special session of parliament convening tomorrow afternoon.

Has No Comment

Cabinet rose at 1.15 p.m. EDT after meeting 2¾ hours, but at the conclusion Prime Minister St. Laurent told reporters he could say nothing on what the ministers were doing.

The Prime Minister said he could not even state whether the Cabinet had settled on the course of action it will follow. It will meet again at 3 p.m.

Mr. Hall's declaration that the unions would resume work in response to a parliamentary order indicated it might not be found necessary to attach penalty provisions to any directives that might be issued from the government.

Nothing So Radical

Dealing with a published report that the government might abrogate certain seniority and pension rights of employees if they refused to obey a back-to-work offer, Mr. Hall said he did not think "for a minute" that the government would do anything to prejudice employees' pensions.

"Their rights in this regard are set out in industrial relations and disputes investigation act," he said. "This says that they cannot be taken away as the result of an illegal strike."

RCAF To Train RAF Pilots In Dominion

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 (CU). — Defence Minister Claxton announced today arrangements have been made for the RCAF to train RAF pilots and navigators in Canada.

Potential R.A.F. pilots will arrive in Canada beginning next Jan. 15 in batches of 25 every six weeks.

"Corresponding arrangements are being worked out for navigators," said Mr. Claxton, "and the full scheme will provide for training of 200 R.A.F. air crew in 1951."

Canada now is training 100 air crew candidates for her Atlantic Pact allies of western Europe.

Mr. Claxton said talks on the training plan started on the occasion of the Memorial Gates cememony at R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, Ont., last September.

Get More Planes

"To implement Canada's own expanded program for air crew training as well as to train the new group of air crew for the U.K. and air crew of France, The Netherlands, Belgium, Italy and Norway will require the provision of additional facilities," he added. "Additional aircraft are being reconditioned and another flying training school opened.

"The fact that our offer to do this job for our associates in the Atlantic treaty should have so speedily been accepted and is now in operation is evidence of the high standing of the R.C.A.F. in other countries."

$150,000 Blaze At Crystal Beach

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., Aug. 28—(CP)—Fire fanned by a high wind swept through a business block in this Lake Erie summer-resort town early today and caused damage estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000.

Frank Shaubel, Crystal Beach policeman who discovered the fire at midnight in the Victoria restaurant, was overcome by smoke while fighting the blaze. Another member of the force, John Sandel, suffered a severe cut to his left foot when a plate glass window fell from its frame.

Two restaurants, a general store, a hardware store and a plumbing establishment were destroyed. Apartment buildings above the stores were evacuated without anyone being injured.

Fort Erie and Ridgeway fire departments fought the fire for four hours. Firemen said it probably was caused by defective wiring in the restaurant.

Crack Train Collides 6 Killed, 25 Injured

CONWAY, Wales, Aug. 28 (AP) Six persons were killed and 25 injured in the ramming of a switch engine by the London-bound crack passenger train Irish Mail five miles west of here Sunday.

The train, 30 minutes behind schedule on its run from the Irish Sea port of Holyhead, was carrying many persons homeward bound from holidays in Ireland.

Jack Williams, an injured fireman aboard the Irish Mail, averted a possible second disaster by scrambling from the wrecked cab to halt an approaching freight train laden with high explosives.

Canada To Co-operate Barring Goods To Reds

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 — (CP).—A trade official said today Canada will co-operate to the fullest in any United States move to keep strategic materials out of the hands of Communist countries, including Russia.

He was commenting on a Washington dispatch which said State and Commerce Department officials conceded that important war potential goods have been leaking out to the Communist countries through loopholes.

Canada has maintained a "close liaison" with the United States in carrying out controls, the official here said. In no case does Canada want to be in the position of being a "back door" in the trans-shipment of strategic goods which may be destined for Russia.

Order MacArthur Withdraw War Statement

WASHINGTONN, Aug. 28 — (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman directed Gen. Douglas MacArthur to withdraw a statement on Formosa "to avoid confusion as to the United States position."

MacArthur had sent a statement of his views—saying Formosa must remain in friendly hands— to the Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment at Chicago. Later, he said he had been directed to withdraw the statement.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross confirmed today what had been surmised—that Truman himself ordered the withdrawal.

Ross told reporters:

"In order to avoid confusion as to the U.S. position with respect to Formosa, the President directed that the statement prepared by Gen. MacArthur on this subject be withdrawn".

Asked whether MacArthur might be relieved of his command as a result of the incident, Ross said, "the incident is closed."

Release Letter

Simultaneously with the announcement of Truman's action, the White House released a letter from the President to Warren Austin, U.S. representative in the United Nations. This restated the United States position with reference to Formosa so that there will be "no misunderstanding."

Truman's stated policy is that Formosa must be neutralized as far as the Korean war is concerned, but the U.S. will make no commitment other than to block any invasion attempt during the current crisis.

The incident appears certain to bring wide repercussions, involving as it does the top United States official in the Orient where prestige—or "face" is so important.

In Tokyo, MacArthur replied through spokesman that he had "no comment" when asked to expand on the circumstances surrounding withdrawal of his statement.

$250,000 Bonds Bank Loot

Three gunmen who held up the Beaverton branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce early Saturday escaped with 13,000 in cash and bonds value at more than $250,000. Bank officials said about $30,000 of the bonds are negotiable. To cover their getaway from the village the robbers scattered half a keg of two-and-a-half inch nails, puncturing the tires of several cars on the Orillia highway. Provincial police however, were not delayed by this evasive tactic. Jim McLaughlin, 22, one of the two tellers in the bank, fired two revolver shots at the fleeing, new-model car, but he was forced to stop because some children were in the way.

"I don't think I hit the car," McLaughlin said, "I fired two shots and then the car disappeared around a curve."

No Trace Of Trio

Despite an intensive search of the district the men have not yet been found. The hunt has centered in the swampy area around the Trent Canal, northeast of Beaverton. Sunday, police received a tip that a similar car to that of the trio was seen near Kirkland.

Six provincial police cruisers from Peterborough joined in the hunt as soon as the holdup was reported, shortly before 10 a.m. Saturday.

The men—two of them masked and one was wearing dark glasses—entered the bank 10 minutes after it opened. They ordered the clerks and several customers to kneel down on the floor.

Miss Money In Vault

One of the trio jumped over the counter and celaned out a till. The bandit picked up an undetermined number of bonds in the vault but overlooked thousands of dollars in securities and cash.

Thomas Lehman, 74, a Beaverton carpenter walked into the bank during the holdup and at first thought it was a joke.

"I saw one of the tellers kneeling on the floor and was just going to speak to him when a man told me to turn around and face the wall and I would be all right," he said.

Storm Rages Four Hours Ottawa Damage $40,000

OTTAWA, Aug. 28—(CP)—A heavy thunderstorm raged for four hours in the Ottawa and Gatineau valleys Sunday night causing $40,000 in fire damage and plunging nearby Hull, Que., and other communities into darkness for three hours.

Most serious fires were around Alexandria, Ont., 35 miles southeast of Ottawa, where a sawmill barn and a farm building were destroyed.

A small farm-house also was levelled on the property of Edgar Lagoie near Green Valley and close to Alexandria. The extent of the damage there has not been estimated.

In Hull, Que., low-voltage transformers of the Gatineau Power Company, controlling two-thirds of the city's electrical supply were blown out of action, resulting in a three-hour blackout before power was finally restored at midnight.

Farm Losses

Five miles east of Shawville, Que., about 50 miles north of Ottawa, lightning set fire to a barn, stables and chicken-coops on the farm of William Lucas. The $15,000 loss included 70 loads of hay, five loads of grain, and farm machinery.

At Smiths Falls, Ont., about 50 miles west of the capital, the town was without power for several minutes when a bolt of lightning cut off Hydro power. At nearby Carp, residents were without power until late into the night.

Suburban Eastview streets were in darkness for most of the night when municipal power sources were cut off by the storm.

Night Club Fire Injures 4 People

MONTREAL, Aug. 28—(CP)—Four persons were injured—one a fireman—and 125 persons escaped unhurt when a three-hour fire early Sunday destroyed two buildings housing a night club in the centre of downtown Montreal.

The spectacular two-alarm fire broke out at 1.35 a.m. from undetermined origin. Thousands of people jammed Peel and St. Catherine Sts. to watch the two brick buildings blaze.

Five men, cut off by flames, climbed out on the club window ledge and waited for firemen to take them down by ladder.

Most of the patrons were in the cocktail lounge of the Carrousel, which occupied the top two floors of a three-storey building.

Most seriously injured was fireman Maurice Theoret, who was taken from the scene unconscious after being hit on the head by debris. Hospital authorities said he was resting comfortably.

Damaged by smoke and water were the office building of Distillers Corporation, Paul Service Store, a dry cleaning plant and McCuaig Brothers, stock brokers.

Does Her Very Best To Become Soldier

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 28 (CP). —Mrs. E. Tuletz, a stocky German-born new Canadian, wants to fight in Korea as an infantrywoman.

Already refused once by recruiting officers here, she intends to keep trying to enlist for duty with the Canadian Special Service Force.

"I'm as strong as any man," she said. "One day I hope the army will change its mind."

Mrs. Tuletz said she has a "special reason for wanting to kill Communists."

"My husband was killed fighting with the German army in Russia and my little child died after Silesia was overrun by the Russians."

100 Fighters To Be Bought At Once From US

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 — (CP) — New steps to strengthen the present and potential fighting strength of the RCAF and provide it with more fighting aircraft were announced today at Air Force headquarters.

The steps are these:

1. Conclusion of arrangements to buy 100 Mustang fighter aircraft immediately from the United States.

2. Signing of one of the largest single military orders in Canada's history—for an undisclosed number of F-86 Sabre aircraft being manufactured by Canadair Limited, Montreal, at a cost "considerably in excess" of $100,000,000. Previously, only 100 of these Canadian built fighter planes had been ordered.

3. A 50-per-cent increase in the authorized strength of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets—a civilian-and-military-sponsored body. Strength of the RCAC will thus be increased from 15,000 to 22,500.

4. Formation "immediately" of an additional fighter squadron in the regular force. At present Canada has two.

Talks On For Time

Negotiations which led to Canada obtaining 100 of the single-seater, piston-driven Mustangs have been in progress for some time, and in a message today to Defence Secretary Louis Johnson of the United States, Defence Minister Claxton said the move will "greatly strengthen our immediate position, pending construction of later types on an accelerated basis, and is additional evidence of the close-working co-

Charge 8 Boys In Gang Fight

HAMILTON, Aug. 8 (CP)—As a result of a police crackdown on an outbreak of teen-aged gang fighting here during the weekend, eight youths appeared in court today charged with disorderly conduct.

Harry Burville, justice of the peace dismissed the charges for lack of evidence.

Police confiscated an assortment of weapons, including rubber hoses, truncheons, brass knuckles, chains and knives.

About 20 youths were rounded up by police Sunday night in the Dundurn Park area after residents complained.

5,000 Perish In India As Quake Still Continues

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 28—(AP)—The face of northeast India still was changing today in the wake of the devastationg earthuake of 13 days ago, termed by scientists the world's fifth most severe recorded shock.

Spreading flood waters pushed further over tea gardens in Assam province, where the quake hit hardest. The death toll was in the neighborhood of 5,000.

Minor shocks continued in the province. Millions prayed in the streets and fields.

An estimated 5,000,000 persons were reported homeless. Property damage was placed at $20,000,000. Damage to crops, farm animals and natural resources was expected to push this figure much higher.

The throwing up of the rich subsoil theatened permanent ruin to assam's tea industry, a major contributor to India's export trade. Swollen streams, their courses changed by the upheavals, also menaced the plantations and villages with water contaminated with injurious minneral oils and sulphur.

Hundreds of villages were under water. Roads, bridges and rail lines were sunken or covered by landslides. The disruption of transport hampered rescue work and surveys of the damage.

The quake area covers 35,000 square miles.

Weekend Of Terror Across Philippines

MANILA, Aug. 28—(AP)—It was quiet in this Philippines capital today—in sharp contrast to the weekend of terror in nearby communities in which 78 persons were killed in guerrilla raids.

Widely-scattered rumors that Communist-led Hukbalahap guerrillas would attack Manila proved groundless.

Guards ringed Manilla and other Central Luzon cities Sunday night—an the alert against a continuation of raids which began Friday night. National defence headquarters reported 78 persons were killed, nine missing and 66 wounded in attacks on 12 small towns.

The defence department reported 35 Huks were among the 78 slain in raids on San Rafael, 30 miles northeast of Manila, and other towns.

Police Bullet Wounds Fugitive

SIMCOE, Aug. 28 (CP). — Wounded by a police bullet after he was chased from the rear of a main street bakery early Sunday, Jack D. Henson, 36, of London is in Norfolk General Hospital under armed guard.

He was arrested shortly after 3 a.m. when three Simcoe police officers, and a Provincial constable flushed him from the laneway behind Jackson's bakery.

With police bullets whining around him the man ran more than a block before capture, half the distance with a bullet wound in the upper part of his leg.

When arrested Henson was carrying six shells for a 12-inch shot gun, a five inch hunting knife, a jackknife, a pair of pliers and a cold chisel.

A 12 gauge sawed-off shotgun loaded with six shells was found by police near the bakery, together with a 14 inch crowbar.

No formal charge has yet been laid.

Tighten Trade Controls With Russia, US Decides

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) The United States has decided to try to tighten up the system of trade controls by which strategic materials are supposed to be kept from Russia.

State and Commerce Department officials concede that important war-potential goods have been leaking out to the Communist countries through loopholes. But closing those loopholes involves a difficult problem of cooperation by other governments since most of them are in Western Europe.

Some American experts on economic policy say that what the United States is faced with is economic warfare with the Communist countries. Others contend the question is simpler, being concerned solely with preventing the Russians from getting American or Western Euorpean goods which would aid them in a military sense.

The whole matter was reviewed by President Truman's top policy-making agency, the National Security Council, last Thursday.

The first important move is expected to be taken by State Secretary Dean Acheson when he meets with Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin of Britain and Foreign Minister Schuman of France in New York September 12.

In London, a British engineering firm preparing to begin shipping £1,000,000 worth of machine tools to Russia Saturday, said today the British Government should withdraw the firm's export licence for the materials.

The firm will go ahead with the shipment unless Prime Minister Attlee acts, its chairman, Joseph Greenwood, told reporters. He is the head of Craven Brothers, a large tookmaking concern.

The Ministry of Supply conceded that several machine tool makers were filling such contracts and that Russian inspectors are permitted in the factories.

2,000 People Flown In Emergency Airlift

VANCOUVER, Aug. 28—(CP) —A hastily-organized airlift, fostered by rail and shipping strikes, flew more than 2,000 passengers and 60 tons of freight Sunday to isolated coastal points.

A majority of the passengers were flown to Vancouver Island points, their water routes hit by the national rail strike.

Shipping is all but paralyzed on the British Columbia coast. Canadian Pacific and Canadian National boat service was halted by the rail strike.

Union Steamships, last major line operating on the coast, was paralyzed Friday when deck, engine room and steward employees struck for higher wages.

Two Hurricanes Reported From Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 28 (AP) —A Gulf storm located about 450 miles south of Pensacola, Fla., increased to hurricane force during the night.

The New Orleans weather bureau said winds of 75 to 85 miles an hour extend out about 70 miles on the north and northeast sides of the hurricane. Gales extended outward about 125 miles northeast.

At 9:30 a.m. CST the hurricane was located near lattitude 23, longtitude 87.6, moving west or west northwest about 10 miles an hour.

The Gulf hurricane is one of two tropical hurricanes on which New Orleans and Miami weather bureaux are issuing advisories.

The other is a small hurricane in the Atlantic about 1,800 miles east of Miami.

The Atlantic hurricane, third of the season, blew up far out at sea. Information on it is meagre. Ships reported it about 900 miles southeast of Puerto Rico but its speed and force were unknown.

West of Havana

The Gulf storm was centred at 5:30 a.m. EDT 260 miles west of Havana and 150 miles north of the Yucatan peninsula. It moved slowly toward the west-northwest.

Caution was advised all ships to the northwest and north of the centre.

This storm lashed tiny Antigua island last Monday with 120-mile an hour winds, then busted up into a squall wave. The wave began picking up force again as it passed over Cuba. Little damage was reported from it on the island.

Western Oil Stocks Climb On Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 28 —(CP)— Western oil stocks climbed strongly as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today. The remainder of the market settled into a narrow price path. Volume for the first three hours was 576,000 shares.

Pacific Petroleum highlighted the advance in western oils, gaining 45 cents at $7.40 in brisk dealings. Interest has slackened in oils in recent sessions but buyers moved in strongly at the opening today. Anglo-Canadian, Royalite, Atlantic Oil and Central Leduc were features.

Traders were wary in the industrial list as the rail strike continued. A few leaders weakened fractionally. Ford A was down ½ at 52¾ and International Paper, McColl-Frontenac and Distiller's Seagram were among the losers. Goodyear Tire added $2 at $93 and Winnipeg Electric and Steel of Canada were fractionally higher.

Junior gold producers moved very quietly with a few leaders dropping pennies. Base metals started weaker but recovered in mid-session. United Keno Hill rose 40 cents at $7.90.

Packard Gets 5-Year Contract

DETROIT, Aug. 28 (CP)—The 13-day strike of 8,000 Packard workers was settled early today with agreement on a five-year contract and a four-cent-an-hour annual wage increase.

In addition, there will be an immediate cost-of-living raise of five cents.

Packard and the United Auto Workers' Union (CIO) jointly announced the settlement.

Packard workers are expected to return to the job Wednesday.

The settlement also provides for $125 monthly pensions (including social security), an expanded insurance program, and other benefits.

A management statement called it "one of the most liberal and progressive agreements ever signed."

Korean Reds

Thrust Contained

MacArthur's communique late Monday said the other Red thrust was contained 22 miles north of Taegu near the town of Uihung. Uihung, above Tague, was occupied Sunday by the Reds when South Korean forces retreated.

Heavy fighting centred late Monday north of Taegu, main communications hub of the Allied Korean central front.

Four other North Korean attacks splintered and fell back in the centre and left of the perimeter when American artillery blasted them out of position.

Without discounting the importance of the North Korean smash toward Taegu and at Uihung, an intelligence officer at MacArthur's headuarters said the next big drive was not yet under way. He expressed belief that one Red division, the 2nd, holds the key to it.

The 2nd, one of the elite Red shock units, is refitting somewhere around Kumchon, north of Taegu, he said.

Three other Red divisions, constituting the main mass, still were in position between Waegwan and Kunwi, northwest of Taegu.

The North Koreans applied pressure to all points of the perimeter Sunday night and Monday, but the only dents they made were on the east coast.

The Reds assaulted American lines near Haman, in the extreme south, bringing a column of 30 vehicles and artillery pieces to a newly-constructed underwater ford of the Nam river.

Scatter Column

American planes swept down on the column and it was hit simultaneously by an artillery barrage that scattered the Reds.

Farther north, at the Hyonpung bridgehead 14 miles southwest of Taegu, seven Red tanks were reported operating.

MacArthur's spokesman said patrol activity in that sector had increased by he explained that the bridgehead had been on the allied east bank of the Naktong river since Aug. 13 and the Reds had not attempted to break out of it.

American big guns smashed up another Red try for a foothold on the east bank of the Naktong six miles southwest of Changyong, where the Communists tried desperately to hold a crossing 10 days ago.

The artillery caught a Red force trying to throw another Russian-type underwater bridge across the river, and dispersed it, killing or wounding half of the force.

Inflict Casualties

The heavy guns and Allied planes during Monday cut down the Reds and inflicted casualties all along the Allied river barrier.

Weekend strikes by Navy carrier planes far up the North Korean east coast netted the biggest kill of the war for such craft.

A Navy operations summary reported pilots found and destroyed 11 new Russian-type Yak fighter planes on the ground at Yonpo.

The Yaks were covered with camouflage but were spotted and destroyed in strafing runs.

This was the largest single group of fighter aircraft discovered in many weeks in North Korea.

Possibly most significant was the appearance of corvettes, tankers and freighters in North Korea east coast ports.

The Navy said American pilots sank a submarine-chaser—or a corvette-type vessel—an ocean-going tanker, two other tankers and one corvette.

Help From Outside

These vessels indicated the North Koreans were getting help from another Communist country. They had no vessels of this type when the war started June 25.

The United States Navy set fire to nine other corvettes and six supply carrying coastal ships. Twelve powerboats were damaged. Two ships in drydock were set afire by 1,000-pound bombs.

This was the largest bag of seagoing equipment sighted and attacked since the full weight of Allied air power was brought into action on the North Korean coast.

B-29s dropped 400 tons of bombs on a steel plant 20 miles south of Pyongyang, the Red North Korean capital. They also knocked out one or more spans from eight key enemy-held bridges.

Will Obey

The union leader also reiterated that the strikers would be opposed to compulsory arbitration —reported as one means that might be used by the government to clear up the differences between the railways and unions.

Today, there are no moves in any direction towards a settlement before parliament takes action. Union leaders met here but did not take any action along this line.

Meanwhile, transport-crippled Canada almost certainly faced three more days of the strike.

The government plans no further moves on its own before parliament is scheduled to set up special machinery at its emergency session opening tomorrow, and today there were no indications of any among the strikers and railroads.

"Intervention by parliament now is inevitable," a high government authority said Sunday after Prime Minister St. Laurent had received a personal report from union heads on the collapse of new and final negotiations with the companies Saturday night.

This informant said the government would not intervene further in the strike before placing its urgent legislation before parliament, and that this had been made plain to the union chiefs in their Sunday conference with the prime minister.

Joint Settlement

Meanwhile, the country's two major labor organizations—the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—came out with a joint statement saying their membership of nearly 1,000,000 Canadian workers stands "100 per cent" behind the 17 unions involved in the strike.

The statement, issued by Percy Bengough, TLC president, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the CCL, said that Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, has been acting as chief spokesman for the Canadian Pacific Railway—"the largest privately-owned corporation in Canada."

In doing so, Mr. Gordon now was "determined for the sake of his own ambition and in the interests of the CPR, to use the parliament of Canada against Canadian workers and their families."

The two labor organizations said they are calling on all their membership to support the railway unions "because of the extreme seriousness of the situation, and because we believe that labor, which constitutes a large section of the population of Canada, will be directly affected as Canadians by the outcome of the dispute."

No New Overtures

Following the break-off of negotiations Saturday, Frank H. Hall, union negotiation leader, said the negotiators representing 124,000 strikers had neither received new overtures from the railways nor made any since Saturday night.

From all indications today the prospects were that the trains could not get rolling again before Thursday at the earliest.

Informed quarters said the government is planning to introduce its emergency legislation before the Commons Wednesday. Even granting immediate passage through both Commons and Senate, it would be physically impossible to have the government work out a settlement and get train service going again before late Thursday.

From the time the union heads gave their members the green light to report to work, it would take around 24 hours to get the rolling stock back into normal activity.

Want Blanket Authority

The cabinet planned to meet today to reach the final decisions on its course of action in the crisis, and informed quarters said it was likely this would take the form of a requisition that parliament give blanket authority to the government to use whatever methods it considers expedient to end the stoppage.

A number of courses of action, it was understood, were being considered but this was regarded as the one the government would favor before a caucus of its parliamentary members to be held Tuesday after the opening formalities of the session.

No definite information was available here on what form the government's action might take, though there have been persisting reports here that it might propose compulsory arbitration of the remaining points at issue. The unions are opposed strongly to this type of settlement, which does not appear in the Dominion's normal labor legislation.

May Lose Pensions

A Toronto paper says today that cabinet will meet today to "draft legislation which, when passed, will face railway workers with the alternative of returning to their jobs or running the risk of dismissal with any sacrifice that this might entail in regard to pension rights."

In a dispatch from Ottawa, the newspaper says legislation probably will provide:

1. An order that the men go back to work within a few hours of the time that the bill receives royal assent. After the hour set, failure to report to work without cause would be a breach of the law.

2. Provision that the railway heads and union leaders resume negotiations, this time with the railways in operation.

"3. Compulsory arbitration to follow any failure to bargain in good faith or any deadlock in negotiations."

Major Issues

The major issues, Mr. Hall said after Saturday night's collapse of the government-sponsored new round of negotiations, are the amount and the effective date of wage increases and the question of including hotel and water-transport employees of the railway companies in the same terms of settlement as the bulk of the workers.

The negotiators struck a blank wall on the unions' insistence that these groups be included, and the railways' refusal to grant them an increase only half that extended the others.

The general increase offer of the companies was four cents an hour effective Sept. 1, 1951. In the final negotiations, the unions held out for seven cents, effective last June 1.

Amnesia Victim Regains Memory

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 28. (CP) —An amnesia victim in hospital here since Wednesday has regained her memory and identified herself as Mrs. Garver James Sargent of Windsor, police said today.

Mystery surrounded the woman from Wednesday when she walked into the hospital and tearfully told attendants she must have lost her memory for she didn't know who she was.

A newspaper picture created further mystery. A London man identified her as his wife, Mrs. Alfred Switzer. Then Mr. Sargent said she was his wife and that she suffered amnesia about a year ago in Windsor. In October she had disappeared and he had been unable to trace her until he saw her picture in the paper.

Ice Cream Bricks Increased Five Cents

Ice cream will cost five cents more a brick in future. Manufacturers say rising ingredient costs, and more expensive labor have forced prices up.

Cones remain at a nickel, although there might be a cut in the amount of ice cream in them.

J. E. Weir, Peterborough manager of Silverwood's Ltd., said today that the increase is province wide and applies, as far as he knows, to all makers of ice cream.

Youth On Bicycle Knocked Unconscious

A 15-year-old bicycle rider, John McTeague, George St., was knocked unconscious when his wheel hit a stone and he was thrown to the pavement while riding down Parkhill Rd. hill beside Nicholls Oval.

He was unconscious when admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital, but it is believed he did not suffer concussion. He is being kept in hospital for observation and officials reported this morning he was in good condition.

$250,000 Bonds

"I said OK, figuring I would go along with the joke, but as I turned round to see who it was he took my face in his hands and forced me to keep my eyes away from him," Lehman related.

One of the clerks, 22-year-old Lois Clement was told to keep her head under a table.

"I was petrified," she said.

Pick Up Bonds

F. Carl Weber, formerly of Peterborough, had just opened his drugstore which is next door to the bank. He saw a man walk quickly out from the bank with a bundle of paper under his arm. Then he heard two shots and rushed outside to pick up $5,000 in savings bonds that had been dropped by the bandit.

The escaping trio jumped into their car that was parked by the bridge and started away on the Orillia highway, scattering nails as they did so.

Beaverton children later cleaned the road of nails.

At one time 25 provincial police patrol cars from Barrie, Aurora, as well as Peterborough, were hunting for the three bandits. Roadblocks were set up but the daring holdup men made good their escape.

Nurse Speaks 6 Languages Wants To Come To Canada

A Greek girl wants to come to Peterborough. Sonia Dermendjian, 27-year-old nurse living in the city of Drama in Greece has had a wonderful dream for the past three years that she would like to leave her war-torn poverty stricken country and find a new home in the peaceful country of Canada, the land of opportunity.

She has made her wishes known in letters to a Peterborough boy who has been her penpal for six years. These letters written in fluent and correct English reveal a poignant yearning to get away from a land that has only brought misery and heartbreak to this girl who lost both parents in the recent civil war. The war between the Royalists with Anglo-American support and the Nationalist Communists waged from 1945 to 1947. However since that time the country continues to be torn apart by guerrilla warfare carried on by Communist rebels.

Born In Turkey

Sonia is a trained nurse. She was born in Constantinople, Turkey, but later moved with her parents to Greece. Her father was a doctor. She has two sisters, Alice and Pipy and one brother Dimitrios. As well as losing their parents during the war, both Sonia's and her brother's ambitions and hopes for the future have been made impossible because of the terrible conditions in their country.

Speaks Six Languages

However, this Greek girl would put to shame Canadian youth who have failed to take advantage of the rich opportunities in this country. Despite the fact that she worked day and night caring for wounded soldiers during the war, she was able to educate herself to such a degree that now she has a good knowledge of the English, French, Turkish, Bulgarian and German languages, as well as her native Greek.

With this extensive knowledge of languages and her training as a nurse, Sonia believes she would make a good Canadian citizen. The hardships that she has faced in her own country would make any difficulties that might arise for her in Canada seem trivial, in comparison, she says. Unfortunately, however, Sonia does not have the funds necessary for her passage to Canada. She has made contacts with the British Embassy in Greece and has learned that she may come to Canada, if she is able to obtain her passage money and assure the Canadian Immigration Department that she can earn her living in this country.

Promised A Home

Already, the family of her penpal in Peterborough have promised to provide her with a home if she can reach this country. All that Sonia needs now is some generous and kindhearted citizen who would be willing to supply the $300 that would buy her passage to this country. The girl has stated in her letters to her penpal that this money would only be a loan that she would repay from her wages when she gets employment in Canada.

The information that Sonia received from the British Embassy in Greece stated that it might be best if any persan who was willing to finance her trip to Canada would write to her directly in order to get more information. Her name and address is as follows: Sonia Dermendjian, 8 Alitroton St., Drama, Macedonia, Greece. Information in this regard can also be obtained from Louis Yeotes, 446 Gordon Ave., past president of the Greek Community of Ontario.

New Zealand Envoy On Way To Dominion

WELLINGTON, N.Z. —(CP)— New Zealand's high commissioner to Canada, Thomas Charles Hislop, who will shortly take up his post at Ottawa, comes of a family with a long record of public service. He succeeds James Thorn, high commissioner since 1947.

Mr. Hislop's grandfather was a member of parliament and framed New Zealand's first education act. His father, T. W. Hislop, was mayor of Wellington and later minister of education.

The new high commissioner, who is 61 years old, followed in his father's footsteps, becoming mayor of Wellington in 1931 and holding the post for 13 years. Actually he entered Wellington public life in 1913 at the age of 25 when he was elected to the city council. He resigned the following year to serve with the New Zealand expeditionary force in the First World War, in which he was twice wounded.

He's Barrister

Educated at Wellington College, New Zealand, and Cambridge University England, Mr. Hislop is a barrister and solicitor in the firm of Brandon, Ward and Hislop, and a past president of the Wellington Law Society. He was chairman of directors of the New Zealand Centennial Exhibition Company which staged one of the central features of New Zealand's centenary celebrations, and has held a ver[illegible] number of public posts in [illegible]llington. He was made a CMG in 1935.

Mr. and Mrs. Hislop are both keen anglers and they are looking forward to trying out Canadian streams. They have a 13-year-old daughter Susan.

Suspended Sentence

Mrs. Aileen Glover, 143 Rubidge St., was placed on one year's suspended sentence in police court today when she pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

Acting Crown Attorney Walter Howell said the woman had come into the police station last week and said she had no means of support. She said she wanted to go to Hamilton.

Mr. Howell said he was willing that she be given suspended sentence on condition that she leave town.

Rev. Dr. J. Semple Honored By George St. Congregation

Preaching his farewell sermon Sunday morning, the Rev. Dr. James Semple brought to a close six years of ministry in George St. United Church.

The united congregations of Murray St. Baptist Church, St. Paul's Presbyterian Church and George St. United Church filled the latter church to the doors, despite the intense heat and vacation season, in a heartfelt tribute to a minister who has rendered so much service both to his church and his community.

"The Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you," was not only the text, but the essence of the message and benediction that Dr. Semple left with his congregation. Referring to the message of Paul to the Corinthians, the minister developed the concept that love, only, is important and that without love all other human attributes are worthless.

The love and grace of God can only be found in introspection. In oneself, one must find God and then approach the outer world with the true perspective. This love and Grace of God is the true essence of Christianity—it is the attractive goodness of God which stimulates man to love both God and His fellow men. Through this love, a new vision of God is experienced which is the answer to the evils of a dying world. It is our privilege and responsibility to give our love to the world.

The Early Church

Illustrating this theme, Dr. Semple drew attention to the characteristics of the early church with its "Christian communism, common faith in God, great hope and expectation of the coming day of God." From this communion grew an undying loyalty and love one to another.

Referring to his departure from the city, Dr. Semple stated that he owed a great debt to many people in the church and in the city, who had given him such splendid co-operation in his work. His greatest wish was that this same co-operation be extended to his successor.

During the service, E. L. Sackville, lay - representative for George St. United Church in the district Presbytery, paid tribute to Dr. Semple, who is leaving to take up his new charge in North Bay. In his work stated Mr. Sackville, Dr. Semple had gone beyond the church into the world of business and human relationships.

An informal gathering was held after the service in the Sunday School Auditorium where presentations and addresses of tribute werem ade to the departing minister and his wife.

Farewell Gathering

Douglas Carlyle, secretary-treasurer of the Trustee Board acted as chairman. Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Trinity United Church, on behalf of the Ministerial Association paid tribute to Dr. Semple's influence that had done much to create so fine a spirit and fellowship among the ministers of the city. He presented Dr. Semple with a book. Dr. Semple's magnificent leadership in the Church Presbytery and conferences was commented on by Mr. Sackville. P. M. McCarrell in an address on behalf of the congregation and associations of the church referred to Dr. Semple's splendid work and guidance in the Sunday School, Nursery School and the other church organizations. As well as providing the congregation with splendid sermons, continued Mr. McCarrell. Dr. Semple has brought 100 new members into church membership during the past year. Despite his extremely busy schedule, he had never failed to visit the sick of the congregation.

Mrs. Chas. Elliott, on behalf of the congregation, presented Dr. and Mrs. Semple with purses as a token of appreciation for the splendid service they have rendered during their sojourn in Peterborough.

Dr. and Mrs. Semple in their replies to the addresses expressed their sincere gratitude for the tokens of appreciation and good wishes that would inspire them with courage and confidence as they left for their new charge in North Bay.

Miraculous Escape

BETHELEHEM, Pa., Aug. 28—(AP)—Three men escaped with minor injuries Sunday night as a big trailer-truck loaded with dynamite collided with another truck and then caught fire. All three leaped clear of the wreckage seconds before the gasoline tanks of the larger truck—carrying 600 cases of dynamite—exploded.

Gets Own Blood Back

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Aug. 28—(AP)—Thelmon Hampton, 58, donated a pint of blood at a hospital Friday. It was to have gone to an ill sister. But the next night Hampton was injured in a fight and had to be given a transfusion. He got his own blood back.

Child Playing With Matches Badly Burned

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 28 — (ENS)—Donna Correy, 6, of Campbellford suffered second degree burns on the right side of her body Sunday afternoon. She had been playing with matches outside her home and her clothing caught fire.

Several neighbors heard her cries and rushed over to smother the flames. Police Constable Fred Cargin was called and he bundled her into a blanket and took her to Dr. W. M. Grant where her burns were dressed.

Later she was taken to Campbellford hospital where her condition today is "satisfactory."

Donna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Correy, were visiting friends in Stirling when the accident occurred. She had been left in charge of her grandfather and somehow obtained matches.

Rail Strike Misses Some Railways

By The Canadian Press.

Despite the strike, there still are whistles to be heard, freights to be hopped.

They're few and far between but about a dozen railroad companies in Canada are virtually unaffected by the walkout.

There's the Huntsville and Lake of Bays Navigation Company Railway, a 1⅛-mile single track in Ontario's Muskoka district, still busy with its handful of passengers and freight. And the two-mile Mattagami line owned by the Abitibi Power and Paper Company in Northern Ontario.

Also operating in Ontario are the Algoma Central, a 250-mile line between Sault Ste. Marie and Hearst, the Essex Terminal, which links Windsor industries with the larger railways, and sections of the New York Central and the Chesapeake and Ohio.

NYC has a 250-mile track across southwestern Ontario between Windsor and Fort Erie. C. and O. runs between Windsor and St. Thomas. The NYC still is running also between Valleyfield, Que., and New York and from Ottawa to Russell, Ont., 22 miles south of the capital. On that short run, however, passenger service has been suspended. The rest of a usual NYC service between Cornwall, and Ottawa is not running during the strike.

Three Trains a Week

The 97-mile Greater Winnipeg Water District Railway is in operation between Winnipeg and Waugh, on the Manitoba-Ontario border, with three mixed trains a week.

The Pacific Great Eastern, serving points along the 348 miles between Squamish and Quesnel, B. C., is affected only in that cargo is cut off between Vancouver and Squamish, its southern terminus.

The B.C. Electric has trains in operation between Vancouver and Chilliwack, 65 miles in the interior. The 150-mile Great Northern between Seattle, Wash., and Vancouver, is maintaining service on its 40 miles of track north of the border.

Nova Scotia has two railways still operating—the 118-mile Sydney and Louisburg, owned by the Dominion Steel Company, and the 15-mile Maritime Coal, Railway and Power Company line.

Find Large Deposit Of Uranium In UK

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The government has announced discovery of the largest single deposit —perhaps 1,000,000 tons—of uranium located in Britain.

The ministry of supply said the ore in Northern Wales, is of "extremely low yield." The ministry hinted exploitation might not be feasible.

The department of scientific and industrial research, however, said the ore is "in no way inferior" to deposits being worked by the Russians in East Germany. The scientists calculated the ore would yield 80 grams (less than three ounces) a ton.

TALK WITH P.M.—A. R. Mosher, left, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, and Frank Hall, chairman of the AFL International Union joint negotiating committee, leave the Parliament buildings after conferring with P.M. St. Laurent on the railway strike of 124,000 non operating employees. Railway president Donald Gordon of the CNR and W. A. Mather of the CPR, met with the PM shortl afterwards.

Hope Negotiates Studio Deal

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28 (AP).—Bob Hope, as good a business man as he is a wisecracker, has negotiated a fabulous deal with his studio, Paramount.

When I asked the comedian about reports that he was talking over a new contract with the studio, he replied: "the talks are over; everything's set. I'll do two pictures a year, one as a partner and one participating in the profits."

Hope's old deal called for three pictures a year (although he usually made two.) Two were on straight salary and one provided a split of the returns between Paramount and Bob Hope Enterprises. The new pact means that he will have some share of the profits on all his pictures.

Old Money-bags

Since Hope is Hollywood's top box-office draw, the new contract will mean a lot of moola. His current film is "The Lemon Drop Kid," but could be called "The Greenback Kid."

Film-town Chatter

Jack Beutel will stay out west for his third picture. In "Best of the Bad Men," his first film since "The Outlaw" nine years ago, he plays the youngest of the younger brothers. Although he now is 32, Jack looks no older than he did when playing Billy the Kid.

Ezia Pinza says he has no plans to play "South Pacific" in London for the simple reason that "nobody asked me." But he says he is willing to repeat his role if he has the time and if Mary Martin does her role in the London company. Pinza expects to rest after he finishes "Mr. Imperium."

Storm Damage Heavy

PARIS, Aug. 28 —(Reuters)—Three deaths and heavy damage to buildings and crops were reported Sunday night from storm-ravaged areas in central and southern France. Two children and an Italian workman were swept away and drowned when a dry river bed was turned into a torrent by a cloudburst at Saint Chely d'Apchar, in the south.

Short Visit To Austria

VIENNA, Austria, Aug. 28 — (AP) — Yugoslav Premier Tito paid a 10-minute visit to Austria Sunday—atop a mountain peak. The Austrian press agency said Tito, accompanied by several Yugoslav border guards, visited Seeberg peak in the Karawanken range, which marks the border between Yugoslavia and Austria.

Ontario Eggs Best

TORONTO, Aug. 28 (CP). — Ontario egg producers topped the country in the egg competition at the Canadian National Exhibition Saturday. The Norwich District Co-operative, Norwich and the United Co-operatives of Toronto each chalked up two firsts, while winners of remaining classes were W. J. Ralskowski, R.R. 2, Streetsville, Ont.; Irwin Kopas, Long Branch; W. A. Blackburn, Stayner and Paul Porter, Toronto.

Mrs. Thomas Clark Is Widely Mourned

NORWOOD, Aug. 28—(ENS)—Relatives and friends of Mrs. Thomas Clark, Norwood, travelled long distances to attend her funeral, which the Rev. R. D. Duncanson conducted in the absence of the Rev. E. E. Pugsley of the United church. Mrs. Clark died Tuesday at the age of 90, after a long illness. She was a member of the United church.

Born at Roseneath, Thirza Amelia, daughter of William Foreman and Mary Taylor, she would have celebrated her 91st birthday on Sept. 1. She was predeceased by her husband. She came to Norwood 29 years ago.

She leaves one brother, William Montgomery of Norwood; two sons and one daughter, Elmer Clark of Little Britain; Fred Clark of Toronto, and Mrs. Fennell (Mary) at home; also 12 grandchildren and six great grandchildren. She was predeceased by one daughter, Nellie, and two sons, Mortimer, buried in China, and Harold in France.

At her request, her grandsons were pallbearers, Lawrence, Earl, Murray, Donald and Leonard Clark and Mortimer Clark, Fennell.

There were many beautiful flowers. Mrs. Robt McDonald, Colborne, sang "Goodnight Here, but Good Morning Up There," which was loved by Mrs. Clark. She was taken back to be buried in the cemetery at Ballyduff, where three generations of Clarks have been buried, and where she went as a bride 67 years ago.

Those from out of town who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark, of Little Britain; Lawrence Clark, Mrs. Addie Bannon of Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark, Helen and Doris and Murray and Earl Clark; Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonald and Fred McDonald, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Clark, of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Fennell, of Uxbridge; Mr. and Mrs. Robt. McDonald of Colborne; Mr. Bayliss, of Woodstock; Mr. and Mrs. Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Clark and Mrs. J. Peele, of Port Perry; Mrs. J. Campbell, of Campbellford; Mr. and Mrs. E. Grills and Mr. and Mrs. G. Grills of Stirling; Mr. and Mrs. O. Redpath and family, Mrs. Turk, Mrs. Boyce, of Lakefield; Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark, Messrs. George and Frank Downer and Mr. A. Holmes, of Peterborough; Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McMillan of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Gummer, of Warkworth; Mr. Wm. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clark and family and Mrs. J. J. Clark, of Bethany.

Turn On New Unit

TORONTO, Aug. 28 (CP). — The fourth unit of the big Des Joachims power development on the Ottawa river was turned on Sunday night, Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission reported. Half the total development of 480,000 horsepower now is in operation and the balance is due to be operating by the end of January, Mr. Saunders said.

Get French Greeting

LONDON, Aug. 28 (Reuters)—Thousands of Britons Sunday night saw the mayor of Calais, France, greet them from the steps of his city hall. They were watching the BBC's first telecast from outside Britain. The hour-long telecast showed Calais celebrations of the centenary of telegraph communications between Britain and France.

Radio Operator 14 Months At Remote Post In North

Six hundred miles north of Fort Churchill on Hudson Bay is a small radio shack, a long way from home for Dave Glanville, 22, of Oak Ridge, Ont., just outside Toronto.

Mr. Glanville, an employee of the Department of Transport, spent 14 months there and is now on two months holidays, part of which he spent with his uncle William F. Potter, Crawford's Grove.

The radio station is maintained at Chesterfield Inlet by the Department of Transport to help direct ships navigating in and out of Hudson's Bay to Fort Churchill. It also helps to guide aircraft which may have wandered off course.

The radio shack is part of a small settlement of about 10 white people and a number of Eskimos, perched on the coast of an area that is a bleak flat land of rock and muskeg. In summer wild flowers blossom in a many-colored pattern. But they are about the only vegetation.

However members of a Roman Catholic mission there have a hothouse where they have been able to grow lettuce, beets and beans.

As well as the radio station and mission, the settlement has a Hudson's Bay post, a one-man RCMP station and many native huts. There are 300 to 400 Eskimos.

Caribou Shortage

A year ago the Eskimos had a difficult time because caribou failed to move into their area as they usually did every year. But this year there are plenty of caribou in the district. Mr. Glanville said you could buy a carcass for $1.50 and caribou steaks are far better than beef steaks.

Eskimos earn most of their money by trapping, but the prices they get for their pelts, mostly fox, are not enough, say the northerners, to make it worth while. But Eskimos have no other way to make money to buy guns, ammunition, tea, flour and a few other essentials.

Eskimos prefer to eat seal and walrus, and when they eat caribou, they eat it raw. The natives shoot their game now. They hunt walrus, seal, whale, caribou and the occasional polar bear.

Adopts Eskimo Dress

Mr. Glanville and his fellow radio men, often went on hunting trips with their Eskimo servant who took them about by dog team and sled. Mr. Glanville felt the intense cold when he first went north, but soon, like the other whites there, adopted the native dress of skins and was able to bear the cold. But in the dead of winter whites and natives alike hid indoors until the storms ceased and it was safe to come out again.

Fourteen months down north where you watch fantastic displays of northern lights south of you, was long enough. However Mr. Glanville said he would like to go back—in about five years.

But it isn't as far away as it seems. Once the Eskimos, who are quite used to seeing all sorts of shooting stars and meteors, came rushing breathless with excitement to tell the white men they had seen flying saucers.

Surpass Coal Quota

Will The Korean War Be Confined?

Is there any danger that the fighting in Korea will enlarge into a third world war? Yes. Already 53 nations are engaged in, or have approved of the war which chiefly the Americans are waging. These are the great bulk of the United Nations, many of whom have promised direct aid. Thus the Korean war is not localized. It is apparent, however, that unless Communist China or Russia, or a combination of them or their satellites give open support to North Korea, or break out elsewhere, the war in Korea may not set the world on fire. As long as the U.S.A. keeps out of an aggressive war, the bloodshed in Korea may not spread. We have already in these columns referred to the dangerous implications of the U.S.A.'s going into Formosa.

* * *

Russia has shown a cool interest in supporting the North Koreans. Although she trained and armed their army, it is doubtful if she ordered the aggression in Korea. She did not take any special military measures before, on or after June 25th, and her present tactics at the Security Council (taking her seat so that Malik could preside this month) indicates that Russia was not prepared for a large North Korean enterprise which would put up the backs of the western world. If she had, would she not have taken her seat again at the Security Council earlier, or delayed the date of the North Korean invasion? It seems, too, that Russia has not replaced the materials lost by the small North Korean air force since the campaign began. Russia is not yet ready to risk a world war for the sake of victory in Korea.

* * *

Red China has had no direct connection with the North Korean government. She had nothing to do with its establishment or maintenance. So far she has encouraged the North Koreans by platitudes and propaganda, nothing more. But China has a definite interest in Formosa, and may take the opportunity of stirring up trouble there or invading French Indo-China, and rousing native sympathy and support with the cry Asia for the Asians. This might lead to war in Asia, but it would not necessarily spread over the world if Russia remained neutral.

* * *

Prime Minister Nehru' said last Thursday that there is only a remote possibility that the Korean conflict will lead to world war. It is a reassuring statement from an informed, wise Asian for whom the question is specially important.

The American Political Battle Begins

American bipartisan foreign policy has been tossed to the wolves, in preparation for the autumn Congressional elections. From here on in, it's everybody for himself, and co-operation take the hindmost.

It seems tragic that Republicans and Democrats should start cutting each other's throats at a time when a united front is necessary if any order is to be injected into the present world chaos But that's the way with American politics—the world may come to an end at Christmas, but meantime there's an election coming up, and politics must go on as usual.

Apparently the Korean war will be used by both parties as a lever for prying up votes. Before the North Koreans launched their attack, all was peaceful on the American front; but with the advent of war in Asia, hostilities commenced in the United States, and bubbled over from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee right down to the grass-roots.

The Republicans revised their strategy the moment the war started, and settled down to a line which breaks down neatly into two parts: First of all, the Democrats were responsible for involving the United States in war, either through bumbling, or deliberately. Secondly, the Democrats failed to prepare the country for the war they were going to get the country into.

The Democrats, not to be outdone, produced a line of defence which points to the fact that President Truman met the Korean situation squarely and with vigour, and that, thanks to the Fair Deal and other Democratic strokes of legislative and administrative genius, the country is in fine shape to weather the storm. For offensive tactics, the Democrats revert to attacking the pre-Korean isolationism of the Republican minority in Congress.

In the middle of all this stands Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Senator Kenneth S. Wherry, Nebraska Democrat, was referring to Acheson when he stated on the Senate floor that "the blood of our boys in Korea is on his shoulders, and no one else." This accusation followed the publication of a manifesto, signed by every Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, accusing President Truman and Mr. Acheson of inviting the North Koreans to attack the South Koreans, and of bungling practically everywhere in the world.

The Democrats, of course, did not accept these attacks complacently. President Truman denounced Wherry's remark as "a contemptible statement and beneath comment," and has consistently defended Mr. Acheson against all attacks—and there have been many.

This brawling about a war is not without precedent. Republicans capitalized on both the Civil and Spanish Wars, and the Democrats benefitted from both the First and Second World War. Usually the party in power is bolstered by a war, probably because voters are uneasy about changing horses in the middle of the stream.

Probably this fact is of some comfort to those voters looking to broader things than domestic politics. As well, there are some indications that the trend after the elections will once more be towards a bipartisan policy.

"Seize The Railways?"

"Truman Seizes The Railways". It sounds decisive, authoritative, grand, in comparison with the puttering about in Canada. When mediation failed here a week ago tonight, why not then the dramatic announcement: "St. Laurent Seizes The Railways"? It would, presumably, have prevented the stoppage which has been afflicting Canada for a week.

Part of the reason is in the very oddity in the sound of the phrase: "St. Laurent seizes the railways". Canadian government is not managed in startling, dramatic fashions. Probing, compromise, deviousness: these are the means whereby the nationmakers from Sir John A. Macdonald to Mackenzie King have succeeded. It is not the Canadian way of doing things to "seize the railways." And what does it mean for the Government to take over the railways? It owns more than half of them now, and the chief Company negotiator, Mr. Donald Gordon, is in a sense a civil servant, a Government employee. The Board of Transport of the Federal Government already has a considerable measure of oversight over both railways. Finally, the Canadian Prime Minister or his Cabinet has not, like the U.S. President, the power to seize the railways.

Threats of a general railway strike have loomed over Canada on several occasions. Two years ago, for instance, the threat was particularly ominous. Each time a strike has been averted. Until it happened last week, most Canadians believed it could not. Further, there may have been a curiosity among unions, management and people to see what would happen if the strike did occur. Now we have seen, to our cost. It is time that the wheels began to move again.

The strike has demonstrated this: What is needed is not for the Government to take over the railways, as a measure of expediency. What is required—and it is Parliament's job to attend to it—is legislation making another such strike impossible, and removing forever the threats of a general railway strike which in the past have caused Canada's blood to run cold.

For the Cabinet to have acted autocratically and in a merely temporary way by "seizing the railways" would neither have cured the ills nor had the full sanction of the people. Now Parliament, the voice of the people and whose members in the last few days have amply heard their sentiments, can act. If through the mediation of the Government, company and unions do not reach agreement before Parliament girds itself, the action Parliament takes must lead immediately to a resumption of rail service, and, as a long-term measure, to legislation making a general railway stoppage illegal. The strike has been bad for the country, but this one good has resulted: the demonstrated need for such legislation. If the strike had been averted by some dramatic Cabinet action like the "seizure" of the railway companies, could permanent legislation to prevent a general railway tie-up have been justified before all the people?

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is still wise to be cautious at railway crossings. It may by chance be an American line taking a short-cut through this country, with a New York Central train on the tracks. And there is always the possibility of a cow being on any track.

Mr. Lie's Report

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE fifth annual report of the Secretary General of the United Nations, Mr. Trygve Lie, was written on July 12th, and published on August 7th. So quickly do events move in these critical days, that this short interval has been enough to make some parts of the report appear out of date.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS interval has seen the return of the Soviet delegate, Mr. Malik, to the Security Council, and his attempt to paralyze the Security Council, and prevent it by every means from pursuing its action against North Korean aggression. It is at least doubtful whether in the light of this, Mr. Lie would today uphold all he wrote four weeks ago.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is much in Mr. Lie's report which will command general agreement. Mr. Lie rightly stresses that even under the severe handicap of the "Cold War", the United Nations has done "much good and useful work" during the past year, and quotes in support among other things its role in settling the future of Libya and Somaliland, in helping in the establishment of the Republic of the United States of Indonesia, in mediating between India and Pakistan over Kashmir, in maintaining the armistice between Israel and her Arab neighbours, and in pacifying the Northern borders of Greece.

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. LIE is also right in drawing attention to important preparatory work done by the specialized agencies of the United Nations for the "vast programme of self help and mutual aid": which is needed to raise the producing and living standards in underdeveloped areas, especially in the Continents of Asia and Africa. The United Nations has at its command some of the best administrative and technical talent available in the world, and it is, unlike any single Great Power, not suspect of harbouring "imperialist" designs, and using economic and technical aid as a means for power and political ends. It might therefore provide the best framework for the great development programmes of which Asia and Africa stand in need. Alas! the intensified world crisis, and the consequent absorption of the world's resources in rearmament programmes, have probably postponed the day when these programmes can be put into practice on the scale originally envisaged; and the part of Lie's report that it devoted to them makes sad reading in the harsh light of current events.

✧ ✧ ✧

MR. LIE agrees that the preservation of peace is now the most urgent of the world's—and the United Nations'—problems. Much of what he has to say about this paramount topic is a repetition of the proposals he submitted to Washington, London, Paris and Moscow, during his journey of last spring, in pre-Korea days, when his chief concern was to end the Russian boycott of the United Nations: admit the effective Government of China; let Russia come back; make the membership of the United Nations universal; use its mahcinery for a resumption of high level negotiations on a German and Japanese peace settlement; try again for international agreement on atom control; by all and every means break the deadlock in the world conflict between the West and Soviet Russia—this, more or less, was his prescription then, and it still is his prescription now, with the single difference that the programme may now have to wait till peace is restored in Korea.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT will it be so easy to go back to the pre-Korean hopes and plans, once Korea is out of the way? Has Korea, which has changed the policy and outlook of nearly every country, made no difference to the United Nations, the protagonist and rallying centre of the war against aggression now in progress there? Russia, at any rate, does not seem to think so. Ever since the United Nations took action against aggression in Korea, she has heaped abuse on the Organization and its well meaning Secretary General; and Mr. Malik's tactics since his return to Lake Success suggest that she is resolved to sabotage United Nations action over Korea by every means in her power. It may well prove impossible for the United Nations to act at one and the same time as an effective anti-aggression league and as a universal and neutral arena and meeting place.

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS is the point where Mr. Malik's return seems to put Mr. Lies' report somewhat out of date. For the Russian performance in the Security Council since his return, suggests that the United Nations, now that Russia has resumed her place in the Security Council, may find it difficult to pursue its active leadership against aggression in the same way as it did in the Russian absence. It would be interesting to know how recent events in the Security Council and the crisis in the United Nations which they have brought into the open, have affected Mr. Lie's ideas about its future role.

In Perfect Rhythm

(Saturday Evening Post)

When seasons come I always keep in stride,
Removing duds or adding duds more suited;
In summer's sun I wisely bare my hide;
In winter's freeze I'm snugly gloved and booted.
I have no fear of sudden squalls in spring,
And autumn's winds are like a tuneful medley.
In fact, no matter what the seasons bring,
I'm set to stay their germs, however deadly.
This weather sense I make a constant show of—
And catch more colds than anyone I know of.

Waiting Room Fish

(London Times)

What really fascinates the normal person about an aquarium is the astonishing likeness its denizens bear to a number of his acquaintances, but the more exotic the fish the less close the resemblance is likely to be. Fill a dentist's aquarium with a nice assortment of dogfish, cod and pike and in the game of matching fish with friend even the dentist himself will be forgotten.

Silent Whistle Of The Strike-bound Train

(BY I.N.S. IN THE OTTAWA JOURNAL)

A RAILWAY is real and earnest. Straight steel tracks, fiery furnace, the shunt and grunt. It brings us potatoes and coal. Our life-line, some say, our spinal cord, our arteries.

All that about a railway is tremendous, but obvious. Yet a railway, too, is something we can be senitmental about, a wispy thing in our sub-conscious. English people find our engine whistles exciting and massive, somehow like Wagner or Beethoven. Canadians are not so surprised by the volume of the whistle as they are aware of its occasional note of nostalgia.

There are no whistles today, neither the near-at-hand kind that shake the kitchen cupboards by the cross-town tracks nor the long wails that come moaning over the fields at night. To some, it may be, the train whistle is just the thing that wakens them too early or fends off sleep at evening. But to many more, we imagine, a railway whistle is a personal thing, often full of memories sad or glad, somehow a companionable sound because it is familiar and reliable. Men and women on sick beds listen for the regular 7.15 message in the morning or the 11.10 at night, picture the people on those trains arriving or departing, recall some of their own cherished experiences; and they are comforted.

In the past the whistle has been there—in the background to our living—always. Now it isn't there! We'll miss it.

Indeed, this great hand that has reached into our midst and picked up our railways and the people that care for them is a most unwelcome phenomenon. The question of why it has done this or whose fault it is seems beside the point. The fact is that some way or other before our eyes and without giving us ether or anything this great indescribable has reached into our body and pulled out our intestines. We lie fascinated, oddly amused, vaguely fearful, much curious. By tomorrow or the next day we'll begin to miss that vital part of our anatomy and by week's end we'll panic to get it back if it is still dangling out of service, so near and yet so far.

IT couldn't have happened, we thought. But it did. No kind-faced porter tonight tucks tightly the clean white sheets, no kids today run up the aisles amid their trail of funnies and orange peels, no salesman tips his hat forward and sleeps bolt upright. We're not sure how people go from one town to another to bury their dead or to wish God-speed to their marrying cousins; it isn't clear what some towns will use for food or fuel. And the tourists! Who is going to count the mile posts along the lines from the Sault to Fort William and who is going to bring the ice for a disguised ginger-ale served four ways among new friend chinning behind the glass of the observation car winding over the Rockies? "Damn the tourists and their drinks!" says someone out of Leo Dolan's hearing, what about the farmers and storekeepers who count on the little locals dubbed "flyers" and "bullets" that snort and shuffle their daily runs to places like Lakefield or Lindsay, Jones' Centre or Kazabazua?

All of this gone, stopped, still. The engines (and who hasn't always loved an engineer?) not even panting. No fish being collected along the B.C. and N.S. coasts, no cargo rushing to waiting freighters at Halifax, wheat cramming the prairie elevators and jamming up the farmers' vital cropping schedule. Golfers at Dixie, the Chaudiere and the Toronto Golf Club will have a new hazard: the disturbing silence along the right-of-way; and who are the little girls going to wave at that run down the farmhouse lawns every day at 10:18, and will the collie continue his occasional dash along the fence to the corner where he chases his tail?

SOMEBODY, surely, can get all this normalcy functioning again. It may be that in the meantime some of the younger fry will get in a bit more fishing from the bridge, but what's the fun in fishing from a railway bridge if there's not likely to be a train?

They say, by the way, that the atom bomb is a pretty devastating thing. Here's betting a hat no atom bomb has been invented that could knock all our railways out at one smack. Come on boys, let's get 'em rolling again. This not only could be disastrous; it is awful silly.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. (Gen. 1: 26.)

✧ ✧ ✧

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! who hast set thy glory above the heavens.... When I consider thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars, which thou hast ordained; what is man, that thou art mindful of him? and the son of man, that thou visited him? Thou madest him to have dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet....

O Lord our Lord, how excellent is thy name in all the earth! (Ps. 8: 1, 3, 4, 6, 9.)

Letter To The Editor

STENCH DRIFTS TO POOL

Sir: When I was over at the new Lions Club swimming pool I liked it very much: so very nice for the children. The stench was dreadful, though. Why is there such a strong odour up there. Canada Packers is farther down and doesn't the East City sewage empty in farther down! Is it Lakefield sewage. Or what? How nice it will be to have everything cleaned up some day.

Yours,
MARY P.

(Ed. Note: The Lions Club pool and surroundings are themselves sanitary. The water is as pure as it could possibly be. Depending on the heat of the day and the direction of the wind some obnoxious smells may drift toward Riverside, as they do to other parts of the city.)

Car Accidents Kill 13 Over Weekend

By The Canadian Press.

Traffic accidents killed 13 persons in Eastern Canada during the week-end. Five were in Quebec, five in Ontario, two in Nova Scotia, and one in New Brunswick.

Five other persons—making a total of 18—died in other mishaps Saturday and Sunday, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

In addition to the traffic fatalities, in Ontario there was a drowning, a suicide, a man gored to death by a bull, and a baby strangled in her crib. In Quebec there was one drowning.

The worst accident was a crash near Halifax Saturday that killed Craig Cormer 15, and John Clausen 32, both of Halifax.

At Grand Falls, NB, Adolphys Labreque 67, of Limestone, Me., was killed when hit by a car whose driver was blinded by the lights of another vehicle.

Traffic Victims

Victims of traffic accidents in Quebec were: Real Roberte, 22, killed near St. Felicien when a car went out of control and turned over; Adelard Morin, 70, killed in a collision near Quebec; Claude Marquis, 20, killed in a collision near Ste. Monique des Saules Saturday; Ralph Elstone, 58, of Waterloo, Que., whose car went out of control near Glenn Sutton, and Lola Tyl, 14 months, who was hit by a car on a Montreal street.

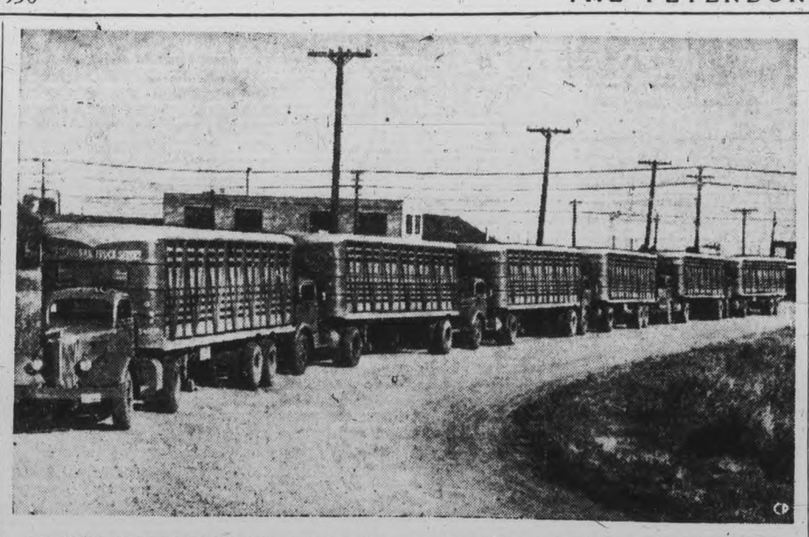
Andre Duerrier 21, of Montreal, was drowned in the St. Lawrence River near Cedars, Que., while trying to rescue his sister. She later was dragged ashore by another man.

Killed in Ontario traffic accidents were: Gerald McCullough, 18, of Pontypool, who died in hospital in Peterborough after a crash Saturday; James Bain, 81, of Hamilton, who was hit by a motorcycle while crossing the street; Robert Sinclair, 20, of Desboro, whose car left the road and turned over; Chester Stewart 34, killed in a collision near Brampton; and Mrs. Charles C. Roberts of London, who died five minutes after being taken to hospital following a collision. Her husband, driving the car, was charged with careless driving.

Walter Fosarymsky 29, was drowned in the Grand River near Brantford Sunday. A four-month-old baby, Elime Stone, was strangled to death in her crib in Toronto, and a Windsor woman, Lydia Polchawski, was found hanging from a basement beam in her home, near Bronte.

Dog Bites Girl

BONARLAW, Aug. 28—(ENS)—A collie dog with which she was playing bit Shirley Leonard of Sprinkbrook on the forehead Thursday morning. The dog was afterwards shot by its owner. Shirley was taken to Dr. Parkin's office for treatment.



TRUCKS REPLACE TRAINS—U.S. truckers take over transportation of cattle from Canada to the U.S. when 124,000 non operating Canadian railway employees went out on strike last Tuesday. A string of 11 tractor trailers shipped cattle to the U.S. Wednesday from St. Boniface, Man. These are six from Sioux City, Ia.

CCF Asks Government Makes Deal With CNR

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 (CP)—The CCF national executive Sunday called on the government to end the general rail strike by negotiating an agreement with employees of the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways.

"The Canadian Pacific Railway could do nothing else but follow suit," the executive said in a resolution made public after a weekend meeting.

The resolution said the railway executives had "walked out on negotiations" Saturday night and condemned this "arbitrary attitude."

It also said responsibility for continuation of the strike "lies squarely on the shoulders of the government."

Named Canadidate

REPENTIGNY, Que., Aug. 28 (CP).—Joseph Deschamps, 42-year-old merchant, was chosen Progressive-Conservative candidate for the Oct. 2 Federal by-election in Joliette-L'Assomption-Montcalm at an organization meeting here Sunday.

OSLO, Aug. 28 — (Reuters) — Norway's Labor government Friday proposed a new law giving the state sweeping powers — including imposition of military law and internment of fifth-column suspects—in the event of war or an emergency threatening national security.

Seek Plane Crash

CALLANDER, Aug. 28—(CP)—A Provincial Police search party headed into the bush near here Sunday night in search of a plane that several Callander residents said they had seen go down in flames. Airports, landing floats and government agencies reported they had no planes in the area.

Hold 2 In Taxi With Stolen Silver

COBALT, Aug. 28 (CP)—Provincial police stopped a taxi near here Friday night and arrested two men on a charge of highgrading silver.

Police found silver ore and milled silver, estimated by mining men to be worth $6,000, in the trunk of the car. The driver, Arthur Kennet, 27, of New Liskeard and Earl Williams, a Cobalt mechanic, with being in illegal possession of "rock, ore or minerals."

Kinsett was quoted by police as saying in a statement that a "well-known New Liskeard and Cobalt business man" hired him to drive to an unnamed place 40 miles north of Toronto.

Then the business man directed Kensett to a sideroad near Haileybury where they met Williams, police said The trunk was loaded and the business man drove off, leaving Kensett and Williams to drive on in the taxi.

Police said further arrests probably will be made today.

System-Wide Strike

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP) — A system-wide strike against International Harvester Company was called Sunday by the farm equipment division, United Electrical Workers (Ind.). The strike call, directed to 27,000 F.E-U.E. workers in 11 plants, will virtually bring the big implement firm's operations to a standstill. Nine other Harvester plants have been shut down since Thursday by another strike called by the United Auto Workers (CIO) who represent 22,000 employees. Union contracts are the issue.

Refuse Resignation

HAMILTON, Aug. 28 (CP). — Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, recently elected member of parliament for Hamilton West, tendered her resignation as a controller of Hamilton council Saturday but Mayor Lloyd D. Jackson announced he will esk her to withdraw the resignation.

Trains Meet Head-On

ELMIRA, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP) —A Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train collided head-on with a freight train near here on Saturday, injuring 12 persons. Eight were taken to hospital. The collision occurred on a curve of single track down Elmira hill, a nine-mile grade that is one of the longest in Michigan.

Blames Hospital In Woman's Death

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 28 (CP) —Robert Findlayer, delegate to London Labor Council from Local 35 Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, charged Sunday in council session that a woman accident patient died two weeks ago "through neglect" of Victoria Hospital emergency department.

At Victoria Hospital to have a cinder removed from his eye, Mr. Findlayer said he was present when a woman was brought in from an accident. He said she lay in the corridor for an hour before receiving attention.

It was "just through neglect" of the emergency department that the woman die, he said.

Commenting on complaints about the hospital, delegate Stan Dawson, Local 96 C.B. of R.E. blamed individual staff members and "lack of staff."

New Attendance Record

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 (CP)—Officials of the Central Canada Exhibition totted up figures on attendance at the six-day fair which ended Saturday and jubilantly marked up a new high. During the week, 451,771 persons attended the "ex." Last year the total was 385,993 and in 1948 it was 349,747. There was fine weather throughout the week.

Needed Slight Push

GUELPH, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Barbara Stark, 10, weighs only 80 pounds but when she leaned against a steel lamp post it toppled hitting six-year-old Linda Gray, who suffered a broken leg and face cuts. Police explained that the post had been struck by a car recently and snapped at the base. It took only a slight push to knock it over.

Sees Few Targets In Canada Worth A-Bomb

TORONTO, Aug. 28 (CP)—Defence Minister Brooke Claxton said Saturday night there are not many targets in Canada which appear important enough to warrant atomic attack by an aggressor.

But Canada is not immune from attack, he warned in a speech prepared for delivery at the national reunion of the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

He cited Russia as a potential aggressor and said:

"We must assume that some atomic bombs would be used and we must also assume that they might strike at important and vital Canadian targets."

"We know the Russians have aircraft of the B-29 type capable of delivering atomic or conventional bombs and we believe that they have atomic weapons. How many they are likely to deliver on North America depends on how many they have and how many they will need for other purposes.

Two Objectives

"Having regard to other urgent and important objectives, there would not appear to be many targets in Canada which would be sufficiently important to warrant an atomic bomb unless they have considerably more than most people believe."

Mr. Claxton said such an attack would have one and possible two obvious objectives.

The first would be to strike at some vital point such as the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, the second would be to panic the country into putting a disproportionate amount of effort into civil defence.

Halt Production In Olds' Memory

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 28 (AP) —The production lines of Oldsmobile division of General Motors and the Reo plant here will halt Tuesday in memory of Ranson E. Olds, the man who set them in motion a half century ago.

All work at the two plants will halt for two minutes at 3 p.m. when funeral services start for the automotive pioneer who died Saturday at the age of 86.

The originator and manufacturer of the first low-priced automobile, Olds also was the first to produce cars on a mass basis. His 1901 runabout inspired the song, "My Merry Oldsmobile."

In 1904, Olds sold his interest in his Lansing automobile plant, which he had moved here from Detroit two years before. It continued as an independent plant for three years before affiliating with General Motors. After the sale, Olds organized the Reo Motor Car Company combining his initials for its name.

Petes Clinch Second Place In Viaduct Baseball League

Viaduct League standing as of Saturday night, with Oshawa slated to play Dovers and Staffords on Sunday, and the Aces on Monday:

	P.	W.	L.
Oshawa	37	28	9
Petes	40	26	14
Aces	39	24	15
New Toronto	40	22	18

(Dovers and Staffords are out of the playoffs.)

Defeating New Toronto twice here Saturday by scores of 3-2 and 5-2, the Petes clinched second place by themselves in the Viaduct Baseball League, dropping New Toronto to fourth spot as their schedule ended. They will now meet New Toronto in league semi-finals, commencing later this week, as Oshawa plays off with the Aces.

One-Hit Ball

The Saturday afternoon game here saw Doug Plunkett pitch one-hit ball for seven innings, being taken out then for a pinch-hitter, Bill Dadson finishing in fine style. New Toronto got two unearned runs as the Petes fell apart in the sixth inning with five miscues. Rene Bouchard threw a six-hitter for the visitors and had better backing. Joe Lowrey led the locals at bat with two for four, as Danny Brown hit a triple and Bud Harrison drove in two runs with a lusty three-bagger. Rogerson got the lone bingle for New Toronto as Plunkett threw a lovely game, though getting poor backing. It lasted just 1:40 before a slim crowd.

Bunched Blows

The nightcap saw Bill Edger pitching steady ball, with Jack Cabot good on the other slab, and both sides fielded flashily in another speedy scrap. Bunched blows in the fourth gave the Petes their win. Howie Dalton and Joe Lowrey fattened their averages as the schedule closed with two for four each, one of Joe's being a homer into deep centre, the visitors arguing that it should be ruled a ground rule two-bagger. Al Menzies belted out a triple. Kitchen led the losers with three for four, including a triple and a double. Joe Stewart was good on first with 16 perfect chances and Dalton shone at third with heady playing, once faking a throw to catch a bewildered runner at third. The late game under lights drew a good crowd to see the Murphyites make sure of second slot in the standing.

Cricketers Out By Halton In County Play

Halton County defeated Peterborough 46-45 at Oakville Saturday in a county cricket semi-final match, the reverse being a disappointment to the local club which had been doing well up to then in competition. A. Pope was back with the club, but T. Scott and R. Rollwagon could not make the trip.

Peterborough batted first with W. Wright and E. Cotton out for one run. B. Roberts scored six and then F. Booth with 12 and A. Pope with 10 made the best stand and it was five for 34. R. Titshall 5, was out at 45 for six. S. Jennings, 5 not out, had no help at the other end and the innings closed without a run added for the last four wickets. Bowling was shared by H. Wiffen, three for eight, F. Jones two for four, D. Dewar one for 10, J. Dix three for 16, F. Booth with 12, and A. Pope 10 were the only double figure scorers.

The Halton team also found runs hard to get and had six wickets down for 43, compared with the locals' six for 45. But F. Jones 11, kept his end up and won the match with six wickets down. The opening batsman, R. Hepburn, soon scored 10 when he was run out with the score standing at 16. A. Pope had a personal triumph bowling by taking five wickets for 13 runs and the other wicket was a run-out.

The final will be Monday at USS between Lincoln and Halton Counties. The locals may arrange a return match with Oshawa for next Saturday.

Summary of Scores:

Peterborough County — Batting: W. Wright 0, B. Roberts 6, E. Cotton 0, F. Booth 12, A. Pope 10, R. Titshall 5, S. Jennings 5 not out, H. Dibben 0, W. Freeman 0, F. Dyer 0, T. Fraser 0, extras 7; total 45.

East City Gets First One Over Kingston

East City took the opener of a best-of-three series with Kingston Alcans 10-4 Saturday night at the Bowl, in the senior "B" men's softball playdowns. The teams meet again in the limestone city Tuesday, as the series continues.

Ken Guilfoyle, veteran of many softball wars, emerged the individual star of the game with an amazing feat of relief hurling for 6 1-3 innings in which he fanned 11 men, allowed but four singles, no runs and walked none. Ken had his drop working to perfection under perfect control. Lefty Doris started on the hill opposing Pat Deasy, who weathered nine innings, despite shaky work and indifferent support in spots, but Lefty retired with two away in the third.

The bats of Scriver, O'Heron, Sullivan, Wade, Jaquith and Cornwall proved too big a factor for Alcans to overcome and East City piled up the score. Sullivan and Jaquith each had three safeties, the former a homer with one aboard, while Cornwall, Sullivan, Currie and Scriver shone afield in a fine show of teamwork.

Athletics Whip Excelsiors 20-6

BRAMPTON, Aug. 28—(CP)—St. Catharines Junior Athletics came with a game Saturday qualifying for a trip west to defend the Minto Cup and the Canadian Junior Lacrosse championship, by beating Brampton Excelsiors 20-6.

St. Catharines now lead 2-0 in the best-of-five Ontario finals. Third game is in St. Catharines tonight.

Doug Smith had five goals and three assists, Jim Bradshaw four and Al Frick three for Athletics while Don Moore and Ed Howe each added a pair. Sutherland, the Caruso brothers, Balkely, Sibbald and Burton, scored for Brampton.

Australians Win Davis Cup

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 28 (AP)—The United States had held the Davis Cup since 1939, but the Australians, unimpressed with power as is the case of most youth, won it back during the weekend.

And today the Aussies begin their quest for a double—the American national championship, which has been in the United States since 1936, when Fred Perry, of England, beat Don Budge in the final for his third time in four years.

The Australians could do it, too. They have a better chance of winning the singles than they had of taking the cup which they grabbed in three straight matches. Sunday's final two singles were anti-climatic. Frank Sedgman won from Ted Schroeder, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, and Tom Brown salvaged something for the American cause by licking Ken McGregor, 9-11, 8-10, 11-9, 6-1, 6-4.

Schroeder, making his farewell in cup competition, was far below his best, but Brown played as though the entire outcome of the cup hinged on the match.

As someone remarked, if Brown had played McGregor first intended of Sedgman, the result might have been different. There was no doubt but that Brown was impressed by Sedgman's reputation. Had he whipped McGregor first, he might have had more confidence going in to face Sedgman. The 21-year-old McGregor, of course, was completely unimpressed by Schroeder's big name.

Agincourt Ousts Cobourg Team 3-1

COBOURG, Aug. 28—Cobourg lost its PWSU Intermediate A second-round playdowns here on Saturday when Agincourt took their second straight win 3-1. The game was played in 70 minutes. Cobourg's lone lone run came when Reedy singled to centre and the Agincourt fielder saw it bounce by for a home run. The winners picked up one run in the second, fourth and eighth.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

Sports centennial week makes its bow in softball here—following a nifty golf showing by Joe Kirkwood at the Peterborough Club on Saturday—with outstanding girls' and men's exhibitions the next two evenings. This p.m., it's Toronto Fuels (leaders of the senior Sunnyside girls) against the local all-stars at 8.30, and should be well worth a look. Tomorrow at 8.30 in the Bowl, it'll be the King and His Court—that famous four-man team—playing the local male all-stars, with maybe Bagnall of Oshawa hurling for the Peterborough pack, if he can be obtained. The King (Eddie Feigner) and his three helpers held Toronto Tip Tops to a scoreless tie last week, so he's really worth seeing. Kiwanis are staging this show.

* * * * * * *

Westclox girls were rubbed out of PWSU competition here Saturday aft when the Toronto lasses won their second straight by an 8-3 score. "Tommy" Bullock pitched fine ball with nine strikeouts and one walk for a better showing than her slab opponent, but her support was wobbly. The winners looked good, J. Freeman pitching nice ball and getting the backing, and D. McLonney leading the hitting. Marg Hawthorne hit a triple and double in two for the Clockers. Woollens go to Toronto in junior playdowns on Wednesday, playing here Saturday. CGE and Ashby's still have a round-robin playoff, Ashby's presently leading with two and one, Marines having two and two, and CGE a win and two losses. No date set yet for the next game.

Petes Capture A Pair

Switching to senior baseball for a moment, Ed Murphy's Petes came through in the clutches Saturday to beat New Toronto twice by 3-2 and 5-2 scores here. Assuring themselves of second place as the Viaduct schedule ended for 'em, dropping New Toronto to fourth spot. Doug Plunkett pitched grand one-hit ball in the opener (and Bill Dadson finished strong when Doug gave way for a pinch-hitter), but the Petes were very loose afield in this one. Bill Edger was steady in the second and had good support as the locals punched the pill with ducks on the pond. Joe Lowrey fattened his average ere season's close with two for four in each fray, including a mighty homer to centre. Howie Dalton got two in four in the nightcap. Joe Stewart fielded well in this one with 16 perfect chances at first. Both were okay tilts. Playoffs will start later this week, with Petes vs. New Toronto in semi-finals.

In men's softball, East City and Mutuals will resume their city finals at 8.30 Wednesday, if there are no interruptions. Mutuals lost out in the CNE tourney to Toronto St. Stans, being minus such aces as Dalton, Harrison, Menzies and Guilfoyle who were absent for other playoffs—and Bob Crowe was injured. Tough luck, the score being 7-4. The Mutuals meet Oshawa here Thursday at 8.30 p.m. in the second scrap of their OASA playdown series. East City are off to Kingston tomorrow in senior "B" playdowns, having won the first here Saturday by a 10-4 count. Ken Guilfoyle came up with a beautiful relief chore for more than six heats, and his mates—Sullivan, Jaquith and O'Heron in particular—hit hard and timely to earn the duke.

Too Shy On Man-Power

Minus Don Crowe, Joe Nolan, Jim Kinna and Dootch Vitarelli, the Petes lacrossers faded in the third quarter at St. Kitts on Saturday to drop a 13-6 decision to the A's as their OLA schedule finished. A keen contest but for that one quarter when St. Catharines drove hard, having several fresh players in against the tiring Creighton crew. O'Hearn and Bob Thorpe enlivened proceedings once by throwing fists at each other to draw major penalties. Don Ashbee led the locals at bat with two counters. Standing now has Owen Sound out in front with 42 points and St. Kitts next with 38. Hamilton is third with 34 and Brampton has 32. Petes and Mimico are drawn with 30 each but Mimico has a game to play. Toronto and Weston are out of it. Playoff arrangements will be made shortly.

Grandstandees at the Ex. on Saturday night saw some thrilling heats hammering around the half-mile track as the class of harness horse pacers and trotters fought it out in the free-for-all. A Peterborough horse, Stan Blewett's fast-stepping Victory Hi (driven by J. McIntyre), took top money with a first and two seconds, ahead of a Brighton entry which came home in front once, placed next time and was in show position the third heat. A crash marked the 2.28 event, and a track record was equalled at night. Presentations were made during the interesting program, and we must mitt Charlie Quinlan and his committee for making a fine job of it during the race meet here.

Cobourg Surprises Whitby With Win

COBOURG, Aug. 28—Cobourg pulled a surprise Saturday night when they evened their OASA Intermediate A playoff series with Whitby at one game each. Cobourg won 11-7 after losing the first game in Whitby 5-0.

Bill Samanski, who had held Cobourg in the first game, was driven from the mound in the seventh inning when Cobourg picked up six runs. Mayne replaced him. Don Paylor led the winners with three hits and Maynes had a homer and a single for Cobourg.

Kirkwood Performs At Peterborough Club

Joe Kirkwood put on a fine show at the Peterborough Golf and Country Club on Saturday to start off sports centennial week. More than 200 interested spectators saw him in competition, followed by a demonstration of his golfing wizardry and a clinic for players showing how to play and how not to swing a club. The noted pro competitor and trick-shot artist was in top form from two in the afternoon till 6:30 in the evening and made an excellent impression on the gallery.

In the nine-hole match, Kirkwood had to be good as his Peterborough opponents turned in first-class performances, also. The veteran professional finished the nine one under par, while Jack Hardill—who threw an "eagle" on the 17th—was even par, Les Reid one over, and Hugh Waddell two over.

Westclox Loses PWSU Series In Two Games

Downing Westclox 8-3 here on Saturday afternoon the Cunningham and Hill girls of Toronto swept their second round PWSU intermediate A playdown series in two straight, previously winning in Toronto. A good-sized crowd viewed a swell game with all the scoring in the last three innings, a five-run outburst in the top of the ninth settling it. Isobel Bullock pitched good ball, four of the Toronto runs being unearned as her mates fell apart at crucial times. The winners played nifty ball behind five-hit flinging by J. Freeman, who had six strikeouts to nine by I. Bullock.

J. Freeman and B. Downer for Toronto, and J. McIntyre and M. Hawthorne for Westclox went best in the field. D. McLonney led the winners at bat with a homer and two singles in five, while Marg Hawthorne topped the Clockers with a triple and double in two, the losers getting nine walks to one. Fans objected strongly to some of the Toronto umpire's calls in the keen match.

Urzetta Wins National Title

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—Sammy Urzetta, with his set of doctored-up golf cliubs bought from Caddie Money, is a champion's champion.

After the 24-year-old son of an immigrant janitor won the national amateur title Saturday, his opponent, Fran Stranahan, voiced the opinion of all:

"Sam, you are a great golfer and a great champion."

Stranahan, who has won the British, Canadian, French and other amateur crowns but never has been able to nail the U.S. diadem in five attempts, was a champion loser.

Urzetta and the millionaire's son mrom Toledo Saturday battled 39 holes in the longest marathon in the 50-year history of the national amateur meet. Stranahan's drive went out of bounds and he eventually missed a 10-foot putt to take a 6 on the final hole. Urzetta's tee shot was in a trap but was on with his third for two putts and a winning par 5.

Urzetta was even par for the distance and Stranahan was one over. Frank was never up at any time, was outdriven on nearly every hole and was forced to make a half dozen pressure putts of from 6 to 8 feet to halve holes. Four times he came from behind to square matters, but could never press ahead.

Waterloo Team Bowling Champs

OTTAWA, Aug. 28—(CP)—A team from Waterloo, skipped by W. Hilliard, Saturday won the Ontario lawn bowling championship rink competition, defeating a Simcoe team skipped by Frank Liddle 23-12.

Third and fourth places were decided in a consolation match in which W. C. Livingstone's Cannington rink edged out Ed Poupd's Toronto four by a score of 19-18.

In doubles competition, F. Bell and J. Beacom, of Kew Beach, Toronto, defeated H. G. Freeman and W. W. Jefferies, of Peterborough, 37-14, while in the consolation game F. Walmsley and J. Smart, of Niagara Falls, defeated J. H. Crawford and O. Haslegrove, of Wingham, 25-13.

A. Atkinson, of Ottawa, defeated Alex Barbour, of Toronto Lansdowne, in singles competition 21-20, while J. S. Muir, of Galt, posted a 23-13 win over W. Telfer, of Parkhill.

A cup was presented for the first time in junior doubles as Lorne Heldman and Joe Dorsch, of Waterloo, Ousteddon Robinson, and Barry McFadden, of London Elmwood, 22-20. Consolation game in that class was won by J. McCowan and D. Randell, of Toronto, with a 27-11 win over Norman Roberts and John Neilson of Ottawa.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any druggists.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press.

Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., spreadeagled a field of 122 professionals and seven amateurs six years ago today by five strokes to win the fourth All-American Open Golf Tournament at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago. It was Nelson's third victory in four times at the classic and won him $10,000 first prize, the largest purse in golf history to that time.

St. Kitts Take 13-6 Win Against Petes

The Petes suffered a severe case of man shortage Saturday night in St. Catharines but managed to hold the Athletics until the tthird. The results of too few men showed as the Athletics salted away the closing game of the Petes' schedule with a 13-6 win.

The local tribe weathered the storm in the first 2-2 and were still on even terms in the second 4-4. The Athletics then cut loose with a seven-goal scoring parade. The Petes scored a lone tally near the end. The parade was stopped by the Petes in the fourth but the damage was done. The Athletics shaded them 2-1 in the fourth scoring.

Missed Players

Peterborough was short players defencemen Don Crowe and Joe Nolan, forwards Jim Kinna and Dootch Vitarelli. The Athletics were fresher because several players appeared in their lineup who were not used here Friday night. They were Meyers, O'Hearn and Urquhart.

O'Hearn was appointed to check Bob Thorpe to a standstill. The two players earned minor penalties in the first session. Just as the bell ended the second both boys started throwing fists. They then earned major penalties.

Don Ashbee led the Petes with two goals while singles were scored by Thorpe, Arn Dugan, Sid Wright and Lou Vitarelli. Ken Croft and Harry Whipper were tops for St. Cattharines.

Lawn Bowlers Lose Out In The Finals

By HERB. MARTIN.

Playing in Ottawa Saturday, in the final stages of the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association games W. Jeffries and H. Freeman lost the final game to a pair from Kew Beach, Toronto, by four shots. In the morning they won the semi-final game from a pair from Wingham, 24-12.

True, they did not win the championship, but they must be given credit for doing so well. They began right at home and won the right to represent this club in these championship games. They next went to Bowmanville and won the district championship. From there they motored to Kingston and won the quarter-finals and that entitled them to play in the final stages at Ottawa.

When you consider that these games are for the championship of Ontario lawn bowlers and are sponsored by the Provincial Lawn Bowling Association, we think that the boys deserve all honor. And not only have they brought honor to themselves but also to our club.

When we know that there are close to 9,000 lawn bowlers in Ontario, we can at once grasp the importance of these games.

Notwithstanding so much opposition, the Family Hour tournament, Saturday night, was well attended. The winning skips were A. Aitkenhead, S. McCauley, K. Shadgett.

Cobourg Dumps Little Britain

COBOURG, Aug. 28— Cobourg juveniles sent Little Britain into the discard here Sunday night when they won the third game of the semi-final round in the Lakeshore Baseball League 12-9. The teams each had won a game previously.

The visitors had a 9-5 lead going into the eighth but the locals drove starting pitcher Tamblyn to the showers when 10 Cobourg men batted in an overwhelming six-run rally that was sparked by Chub McIvor's triple with two men on.

Bryan Hart went the route for Cobourg, and although hit hard, tightened down in the last frame to end the game by striking out W. Hall on three pitched balls.

Jim Ferrier Captures Canadian Open

MONTREAL, Aug. 28—(CP)—Big Jim Ferrier, gum-chewing Australian who makes golf his living on the big-time American circuit, headed for his California home today with the Canadian open title added to his profitable business.

The 35-year-old shotsmith clicked on his fifth attempt in the country's blue-ribbon golf classic Sunday with a 72-hole 271 score, 17 under par and three better than unknown Ted Kroll, of New Hartford, N.Y. Jim ended in the money in previous Open tries but until this year he just couldn't take the major booty.

At that, Ferrier had a spot of trouble to bag the $2,000—in U.S. funds and minus Canadian income tax—as Kroll, 31 and playing in tournament golf for the first time—made him hustle. Touring the Royal Montreal course with Ferrier, he posted a final-round six-under-par 67 against Ferrier's 70.

Loses Punch

For a time in the four-day tournament it appeared that Vancouver's Stan Leonard might give Canada its first home-bred champion since Royal Ottawa's Karl Keffer won the Open in 1914, but the Marine Drive pro didn't have it when the chips were down. He led Ferrier by one stroke after the first 36 holes with 68-66 rounds but faded badly and salvaged a fourth-place tie—and $750—with Glenn Teal, of Memphis, Tenn.

The hard-hitting Leonard appeared to crack under the pressure and his brilliant game fell apart in the final two rounds. He posted a 71-73 on the final 36 and was fighting all the way as his usually-deadly-accurate drives went haywire and his putting was far off color.

The disappointment of the tournament was Sam Snead, leading money winner of the year with $31,593, who ended in a ninth-place tie with Jerry Barber, of Philadelphia, Pa., and Tom Bolt from Durham, N.C. They each gathered in $343.50 for their 282-total.

Phillies' Prospect Gets Going Over

LINDSAY,, Aug. 28. — Ween Jamieson, back from a Philadelphia Phillies' training school at New London, Conn., was tagged for four straight hits in the first inning Saturday. The two runs that scored stood up to give Lindsay a 2-1 win over Cobourg in the first Lakeshore Baseball League intermediate three-game semi-final.

Lloyd Tamblyn of the winners led both teams with three singles. For Cobourg, Ross Zealand, with two doubles, was tops.

East Juveniles Win

East City eliminated the Northend juveniles 20-8 Saturday in a sudden-death PMBA game to qualify for city finals against the Southenders, the finals being this week at the Ex. The winner has the right to go into OBA playdowns.

The winners scored nine runs in a wild seventh inning after getting one each in the first and fifth, three in the fourth, and six in the sixth, walks, hits and errors figuring in many of the markers. The losers tallied one apiece in the second, fifth and sixth frames, with two in the third and three in the fourth.

Teams:

East City — Towns, McCarthy, Ayotte, Garvey, Baptie, Harding, Kelly, English, Hillier.

Northend — Lamore, Silvestri, Naish, Brown, Dubay, Haig, Collins, Harris, Atkinson.

Hottest Club In League Red Sox Dump Indians 11-9

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Credit Boston's bounce back into flag contention to the re-discovery of a long - lost "secret weapon"—coming from behind.

Overcoming enemy leads — something that was a lost art to the Red Sox earlier this year—plus a two-week stay at friendly Fenway Park, have combined to rekindle the team's pennant spark.

Currently the hottest club in baseball, the Red Sox have been catching up with the American League leaders at a furious pace. Twelve victories in the last 13 games have helped Boston cut an eight-game deficit in two.

They picked up half a game on the league-leading Detroit Tigers Sunday when they overcame a 7-0 Cleveland lead to defeat the Indians 11-9, while Philadelphia Athletics were holding the Tigers even in two games. The A's won the opener 4-3 and Detroit won the second 8-1.

Boston's triumph over Cleveland helped New York Yankees gain undisputed possession of second place. The defending champions eked out a 2-1 victory in 10 innings over Chicago White Sox, thanks to Tommy Henrich's pinch single to cut Detroit's first-place margin to one game. Cleveland trails by two.

Split Twin Bill

Washington and St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader. After Joe Haynes had pitched the Nats to an 8-0 first-game victory, the Browns won the second game 11-10 when Ray Coleman scored Roy Sievers from first with a triple in the 10th inning.

Philadelphia Phillies increased their National League lead to five games over Brooklyn, defeating Chicago Cubs 6-1, while St. Louis Cardinals were battering the Dodgers 13-3.

The Cubs battled the Phils to an 11-inning 4-4 tie in the second game of their doubleheader that was halted by darkness. The two teams play two games today.

Led by Stan Musial, who slammed a pair homers, the Cards pounded four Brooklyn throwers for 14 hits. Tommy Claviano and Bill Howerton also homered for the winners to halt a 10-game Dodger winning streak.

Boston's third-place Braves swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh, 7-3 and 4-1. Sid Gordon's second homer of the game followed by Buddy Kerr's circuit clout with two on in the 13th inning won the opener. Ralph Kiner banged his 40th for the Pirates.

New York Giants and Cincinnati Reds divided, with the Giants winning the opener 11-6 and the Reds taking the second game 3-1.

Today's Games:
Baltimore at Syracuse; Jersey City at Syracuse; Rochester at Toronto; Buffalo at Montreal. All night games.

Tomorrow's Games:
Baltimore at Syracuse; Jersey City at Syracuse; Rochester at Toronto; Buffalo at Montreal.

Find Nationalism In Asia Is Most Powerful

By JOHN RODERICK

LONDON, Aug. 28 (APA). — Russia is riding the bandwagon of a force in Asia that is more immediately powerful than Communism.

That force is Nationalism.

Students of Far Eastern affairs say that in its break-neck scramble to halt the spread of Soviet Communism, the West is in danger of losing sight of this important fact.

For the last 100 years of more, millions of yellow and brown people in Asia have known nothing but white masters.

They now are engaged in a titanic struggle to break the shackles of European domination.

Many Changes.

Events which will fill many pages of future history books have taken place in Asia in recent years. Tick them off:

1. India, a sub-continent of 389,000,000 poorly-fed, inadequately-housed people, was given its independence from Britain.

2. China, whose 450,000,000 people form the biggest population chunk of Asia, threw off a monarchy, adopted a republic and now has come under Communist rule.

3. The Philippines obtained independence from the United States.

4. Indonesia, one of the richest areas on earth, became a sovereign state bound by tenuous ties to her former master, The Netherlands.

Japan Reduced

5. Japan, once the aggressive leader and would-be boss of all these peoples, was reduced through war to the status of a minor power.

Countries which have failed to shrug off colonialism, like French Indo-China and British Malaya, have plunged into bloody internal revolutions.

This, then, is the pattern: a handful of big Asiatic countries slowly and cautiously getting to their feet after years under white domination. Another handful desperately trying to achieve national status.

Into this situation, the Soviet Union has cunningly and effectively intruded. It has announced that it is on the side of Asiatic nationalism.

Fighting Communism, all observers agree, is thorny enough.

Added to this, now, is a struggle to win the friendship of the little men and women of Asia.

People who ought to know say that unless this is done, the United Nations, while it may win the battle in Korea, might, in the process, lose the war in Asia.

Taxpayers' Money Wasted In UK

LONDON, Aug. 28 — (CP) — The parliamentary committee of public accounts is far from satisfied with the way the British taxpayers' money is being spent. Committee members insist there has been far too much extravagence.

The check-up, made annually, disclosed certain departmental estimates and expenditures which were described as "startling."

As an example, the home office had requisitioned an hotel at Saltdean in Sussex to serve as a fire service college at an annual rental of £10,000 ($31,000). A staff of 79 was hired to look after the 35 students. It cost £40 a week to train a fire officer.

The home office expressed its regrets. But the committee's report observed: "Regret is not an adequate substitute for the vigilance that should have been exercised, nor is it of much consolation to the taxpayer."

Poor Estimating

The ministry of supply sent 360 motor vehicles to Germany to speed up the collection of scrap metal. Only one in every five was needed. The surplus equipment was sold in Germany at an estimated loss of £250,000.

The ministry of transport estimated the cost of reconditioning two troopships as £750,000—but the final outlay came to nearly £4,000,000.

Expenditure of £50,000,000 was authorized to build 12 new towns to accommodate 50,000 persons. Estimates from the ministry of town and country planning placed the cost of building one town alone at "roughly £25,000,000."

The committee found that grants to universities and colleges had risen from £1,680,000 in 1932-33 to £23,284,150 in the current financial year. Nearly half the cost of operating Oxford and Cambridge Universities is met from this fund.

But the committee got one piece of good news. It was told that the inland revenue department was testing out a new system of tracing income-tax dodgers.

Quake In Aleutians

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 28 (AP) —A major earthquake at 12:48:20 a.m. EDT Saturday at the eastern edge of the Aleutians was recorded on the John Carroll University seismograph. Officials said the quake registered about 3,400 miles northwest of Cleveland.

Pontypool Youth Fatally Hurt, Car Rolls Over

Gerald McCullough, 17, of Pontypool, died in Civic Hospital here following a car crash in which the car he was driving ran off the road in a heavy fog early Sunday morning on the Pontypool-Millbrook road.

The youth died at 2:30 p.m. Sunday of a fractured skull and other injuries.

A passenger in the car, Lorne Horner, of Manvers Station, was unhurt. The boys were on their way home from the Peterborough Exhibition. No other car was involved.

The road at the scene of the accident about five miles west of Millbrook is straight, but the car left the roadway in the heavy fog and rolled over several times before ending up in a field. The car was almost a complete wreck.

Operation Performed.

Dr. J. W. Wright of Millbrook rushed to the scene and an operation was performed at four a.m. in the new Civic Hospital here.

Mr. McCullough is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCullough, Lot 10, Concession 6, of Manvers township.

The youth is survived by his parents, five brothers, Clarence, Oshawa; James and Murray of Toronto; Gordon, Dawson City, Alaska; and Harold at home; and three sisters, Mrs. John Banks (Viola), Toronto; Mrs. Donald Campbell, (Grace), Avonlea, Sask., and Kathleen, at home.

The funeral service will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. in Ballyduff Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the adjoining cemetery.

Constable D. Baluk of the Cobourg Provincial Police detachment, investigated.

Curtain Drawn On 1950 Fair

A crowded grandstand was present on Saturday night for the final performance and drawing down of the curtain on the 1950 Peterborough Exhibition. Pres. Hugh Stewart was in charge of the closing ceremony and thanked all who had in any way made the exhibition a success. He paid special tribute to secretary-manager G. A. Gillespie for his untiring efforts on behalf of the fair during the past three years and also mentioned the great assistance the late Thomas Brown had been to the board. Mr. Brown was the president of the fair for several years prior to Mr. Stewart.

Mayor Max Swanston congratulated the exhibition board on the success of the fair and hailed it as the best in the history of the city and county.

Presentations were made to the various race horse owners and drivers who had won special awards during the meet. The playing of the National Anthem and Auld Lang Syne brought to a close the exhibition

Long before the final act the barns had been emptied of their livestock, other exhibits were removed during the evening and the midway pulled out by truck early on Sunday.

Aldermen Set Record

For the first time in its remembered annals, the city council committees are foregoing their schedule meetings tonight to attend a theatrical production. Also for the first time, they are to see a play written for a present day Peterborough audience around a little community of pioneers of the neighborhood, and events of the background of their lives more than a century ago. This the local premiere of Robertson Davies' "At My Heart's Core", commemorating the Stewart's and the Strickland sisters, particularly, endured personalities in the history of Peterborough.

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE COOKE who were married on August 22, 1900, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at their summer home on Veressy Point, Sunday. More than 200 friends and relatives were present to extend best wishes and congratulations on this happy occasion.

Best Man At Celebrations With Couple Married 50 Yrs.

More than 200 relatives and friends attended the 50th wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooke of Harwood, at their summer residence at Veressy Point on Sunday. On August 22, 1950, Clarence Cooke and Mary Johnston were married by Rev. Mr. Ross, minister of Bethseda Church. The best man at the wedding ceremony was Mr. Alex Johnston, of Harwood who also attended the 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Cooke was born and educated in Harwood and Mr. Cooke, in Hastings. Before moving to Harwood last year, Mr. Cooke was a master mechanic with the Peterborough Utilities Commission for 32 years.

The Rev. C. Smith of Gore's Landing acted as master of ceremonies at the celebration. In addition to many gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Cooke received numerous congratulatory telegrams and letters.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have one son Gordon, of 139 Princess St., Peterbrough.

Mr. Cooke is 70 and Mrs. Cooke, 80. They are members of Harwood Church and both belong to the Loyal Orange Order.

Floor Collapses Grain Is Mixed

The granary of 1,500 bushels of wheat, oats and barley on the farm of Frank Shearer, Harwood, collapsed under the weight of grain the other day, and was haphazardly mixed by accident.

Grain men say that it would not be too complicated a job to separate the wheat from the two other grains, and, finally the barley and oats could be sifted apart. However, it is extra work and cost to restore the constituents of this undesigned feed mixture to their individual compartments.

Total Blackout Lasts 8 Minutes

Peterborough was suddenly thrust into total darkness Sunday night at 8.52 by an oil breaker blowing out near Sidney in the Trent division of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

That was the explanation received through R. L. Dobbin, manager of Utilities Commission, this morning.

Some weakness developed in a detail of switch equipment. The operator would have to locate the defective oil breaker and then hook-up the circuit to bypass it temporarily, until repairs could be made.

All that, Mr. Dobbin said, took only eight minutes.

However it was reported the rural area north of Wolsley St. was not affected.

Two-Car Collision At Charlotte-Aylmer

Two cars collided Sunday afternoon as one was starting to make a left turn from Charlotte St. to go north on Aylmer St.

William A. Shaw, 525 Bolivar St., was turning when his car met in collision witth a car driven by Harry Pearl, Toronto, west on Charlotte St.

The right rear door and fender of the Shaw car were dented. The Pearl car had a damaged grill, bumper, right front fender and headlight. Constable Allan Edmison investigated.

TOP MARKSMAN AT CAMP

Donald Grant, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Grant, R.R. 11, Peterborough, while at cadet camp this summer at Camp Ipperwash, was top marksman in the 3rd Signal Squadron. At 100 yards he earned 72 points out of a possible 75 with a .303 rifle.

13,289 Attended Fair Saturday

The final day of the Peterborough Exhibition drew 13,289 people, claimed by officials as an all-time record. Of these, 11,196 were adults and 2,093 were children.

During the four-day show, 43,858 attended compared with 45,110 for 1949. This is a drop of about three per cent in attendance. Children's attendance was down 844 and adult attendance down by 408.

Daily attendance for the show was as follows: Wednesday, 11,584; Thursday, 8,593; Friday, 10,392; Saturday, 13,289.

Two Cars Collide At Corner

About $850 damage was done to two cars which collided at Mark and Sophia Sts. Saturday evening, but no one was injured.

Driver of one car, Paul Minicola, 86 Morrow St., was travelling west on Sophia St. Half way across Mark St. his car met in collision with a car driven by Bill Harvey, RR 6, Peterborough.

About $350 damage was done to the right rear fender, door, bumper, frame, rear window and left rear fender. The car driven by Harvey suffered about $500 damage to the right front fender, grill, radiator, frame and hood.

Constable M. D. Traynor, who investigated, said there were no stop signs at this intersection.

PACKINGHOUSE TALKS

The final stage of negotiations between Canada Packers and the United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) has been reached in Toronto. Union representatives from Canada Packers plants throughout Canada are trying to reach an agreement with the company for this year's master contract. Alfred Barber, president of Local 210, is the Peterborough representative.

Fair Grounds Will Yield 5 Tons Of Paper

The exhibition is over—for everybody but the men who clean up. For them, the exhibition lasts another full week.

The grounds today are littered with paper and bits of plaster prizes won and discarded on the midway. Telephone workers were busy dismantling the outdoor kiosks by the manufacturer's building, and exhibitors were busy removing their displays.

Caretaker Jack Ridyard estimates there will be about five tons of scrap paper to cart away from the grounds. He said it would take a week to clean the grounds and buildings.

Five men working for Mr. Ridyard and another five from the parks department are loading three trucks with scrap paper. The paper will be taken to the city dump and burned.

Sunday's wind helped with the cleaning job by blowing paper and cardboard cartons to the north and east fences.

At the secretary's office, secretary-manager G. A. Gillespie and his staff were packing judges' books and records into cartons before moving them to Mr. Gillespie's downtown office.

The midway had moved all its tents and games and rides out of the grounds by 7 a.m. Sunday. Forced to move by truck because of the rail strike workers loaded the six tons of equipment onto trucks.

The midway was headed for Dresden, near Chatham, and some of the truck drivers were doubtful about getting there. One stopped at the Lansdowne St. gates and looked mournfully at the low tires on his truck. He said he didn't think he'd make it.

SUPPLY GOOD

Unless the rail strike lasts another three weeks, propane gas consumers in the city will not have to worry. It was learned today that there is about a three weeks' supply of propane gas in the city's gas storage tanks. Delivery of two tank cars of gas a week ago ensured a good supply.

Six Local Men Volunteer For Active Force

Two district and four city men applied for enlistment in the active force at the armouries on Saturday. The Canadian Army mobile recruiting unit from Kingston, under Captain Roy Leamen, started the men on the preliminary steps by interviewing and testing them.

The men were: Gerald Wallace Menzies, Havelock; Beverly Wallace Blewett, Lakefield; Delbert Edwards, 719 Walkerfield Ave., Donald Basil Thompson, 531 Douglas Ave.; Cecil Lloyd Bowyer, 109 Hunter St. east; Frank William Booth, 605 Stewart St.

The six prospective recruits brought the total number of Peterborough and district men applying for enlistment Friday and Saturday to 19. The recruiting unit began work at 9 a.m. today as 10 more men waited for their interviews and M-tests for aptitude.

Recruiting by this special unit which is taking Army applications primarily for the active force, will end this evening at 8:30, when the last M-test will be held. As yet, no one has applied for the special United Nations force. This unit is full, except for tradesmen such as cooks, driver-mechanics, driver-operators, wireless men, medical and dental men, and butchers.

Moves To Lindsay

The unit will move Tuesday to Lindsay, where Lindsay and district men will have the opportunity to apply for enlistment. The three-man recruiting depot will be there Wednesday and then move north to Bancroft Thursday. Before ending the 12-day recruiting drive next Wednesday in Kingston, the unit will have daystops at Tweed, Madoc, Marmora and Campbellford.

Seeking Man Last Seen At Coe Hill

Provincial police in Peterborough are looking for 55-year-old Chester Vipond, Toronto, who has mysteriously disappeared in this district.

He was last seen entering a restaurant in Coe Hill, Thursday noon. He was then accompanied by an unidentified man of short and heavy build.

Police say there is no indication of foul play. Mr. Vipond may be ill or possibly suffering from amnesia.

Wednesday afternoon he left his Toronto home to go downtown. On Thursday police found his locked car on Highway 62, two miles south of Gilmour. In some manner—probably in the car of his unidentified companion—he reached Coe Hill where he was identified at the restaurant.

Driving West

When last seen the pair were driving west toward Apsley in a late-model light blue car.

Mr. Vipond is a commercial traveller and knows the district well. Here is his description: Age 55; weight 150-150 pounds; five-foot-ten inches in height—with greying hair, thin on top. When he left Toronto he was wearing a grey fedora, black shoes, and a navy blue suit with a fine stripe.

Mr. Vipond's companion is elderly, short, and heavy-set. And he has grey hair.

Provincial police headquarters in Peterborough are asking local residents who have seen anyone answering the missing man's description to call them immediately.

Chosen Candidate

WELLAND, Aug. 28 (CP)—Dr. William H. McMillan, mayor of Thorold, was chosen Saturday as Liberal candidate in the forthcoming by-election in Welland federal riding. The by-election, expected in October, will fill the Commons seat left vacant by the death of Labor Minister Mitchell, Welland's federal member since 1942.

Train Ride At Exhibition Last Until Strike Settled

The only train that had been operating in Peterborough during the railway strike, stopped running late Saturday night. The persons most affected by this calamity were the children. A sleek streamliner bearing the engine number 1950, which keeps it well up to date, had been located on the midway at the Peterborough Exhibition.

The full crew on this flyer was comprised of one engineer. As it was of the latest model, the absence of a fireman may have been due to diesel power, though there was no sign of porters or conductors.

The only pickets visible near the tracks were those which constituted the fence around the small oval.

Some railway workers may have felt homesick watching the tiny train make the loop, clattering and banging over the tracks, setting up the hollow echo so familiar to the larger locomotives.

But the Train Ride, like the Ferris Wheel, Merry-Go-Round, the Moon Rocket and all other good things, had to end

A small crowd was still wandering about the midway when the demolition squad moved in. Everything was taken apart and crated, then loaded into huge transport trucks, boxcars not being available, and prepared for the next stop, Dresden, about a 300 mile trip.

On through the early hours of Sunday morning the men hammered, shouted and worked, while the residents of the city lay peacefully asleep. Though much added work was necessitated, such as hoisting huge crates by hand high up onto the trucks, the work was done smoothly and efficiently. Their departure was carried out quietly, leaving the city with memories of another great fair.

The youngsters went home happy, to stuff the piggy bank for another year.

PCVS Students Capture 3 Scholarships

A total of $1,337 in scholarships was won by three Grade XIII students of the Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School in this year's Queen's University awards for Ontario.

The largest award was won by a girl who was making her debut in the scholarship field. Always a good academic student at PCVS, Phyllis Davidson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Wilbert Davidson, 598 Sherbrooke St., won the Knight scholarship in biology. This award is valued at $825.

Prominent in school plays, Joyce Beggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beggs, 90 Lock St., received the Nicholls scholarship in French, valued at $280.

Miss Beggs has been a scholarship student at PCVS since grade 10. In that grade she won the first Nicholls scholarship for general proficiency, the junior prize for literary work in the school magazine, the Echoes, and the second English prize for academic grade 10. In grade 11 she again won the Nicholls scholarship for proficiency and again in Grade 12. In addition to the proficiency scholarship in Grade 12 she was awarded the Middle School French prize.

The third Queen's University award went to David Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs R. J Ward, 137 London St. He won the Mowat scholarship in mathematics which is valued at $232. This is his first scholarship since Grade 9 when he was awarded the fourth Morrow scholarship for general proficiency.

Miss Beggs this year in her departmental examinations received eight firsts (75 per cent and over) and one second (66 per cent to 75). Her subjects were: English Lit. I, English Comp. I, History I, Botany I, Zoology I, Latin Auth. I, Latin comp. 2, French Auth. I, French comp I.

Miss Davidson was among the top girls also with seven first and two seconds. Her subjects were: English comp. 2, English lit. 1, History 1, Botany 1, Zoology 1, Latin Auth. 1, Latin comp. 2, French Auth. 1, French comp. 1.

Mr. Ward stood second in the Grade XIII boys' results with five first, two seconds and two thirds. His subjects were: English comp. 3, English lit. 2, Algebra 1, Geometry 1, Trigonomentry 1, Physics 1, Chemistry 1, French auth. 2, French comp. 3.

Fail To Place Warning Lights

Unlighted deep cuts made on the sides of Park St. when new curbs and gutters were built as the first step in repaving the street, were blamed for an accident Sunday night.

Samuel S. Porter, St. Catharines, told police that while driving south on Park St., he met a man on a bicycle. He turned his car to the right to give the bicycle rider more room and his car dropped into a hole that the paving company had cut.

Police reported that there were no lights along the ditch to warn car drivers away.

Two Brothers Tangle In Trucks

Two brothers tangled their jointly-owned gravel trucks in an accident on the Warsaw road at the Canal bridge Saturday.

Lynden Jackson, 991 Monaghan Rd. was driving west on the Warsaw road followed by his brother Thomas Jackson, 190 Charlotte St.

Reaching the bridge, Lynden stopped his loaded truck quickly when he saw another truck entering the narrow bridge from the opposite direction. Thomas wasn't able to stop his truck in time and ran into the rear of the first truck.

No damage was done to Lynden's truck, but the second truck had considerable damage done to the front. Constable John Morrow investigated.

3 Silver Medals Presented At Flower Show

To commemorate the flower show at the Peterborough Exhibition this centennial year, the Peterborough Horticultural Society awarded three silver medals to exhibitors of the finest plants and flowers.

Mrs. Gordon K. Fraser, wife of the Federal Member of Parliament for Peterboroughh West, received one of the centennial medals from Mayor M. J. Swanston, in a brief presentation ceremony at the Exhibition Saturday.

Mrs. Fraser was presented with the medal because she had shown the best exhibit of cut flowers.

H. W. Cardwell of Wallace Point, a commercial specialist in gladioli, was another to receive a centennial medal and Ben Veldhuis of Hamilton, a cactus plant wholesaler and a newcomer to Peterborough Exhibition, was another to be awarded the medal. Klaas Vanderhout received the medal from the mayor in he absence of Mr. Velduis, who was busy exhibiting at the Toronto CNE.

The three medals, in sterling silver, were specially designed for the Peterborough Horticultural Society, of which Mrs. Fraser is president.

No Train-Car Crashes

Only 13 fatalities on roads and highways in easter Canada this weekend. It was 13 too many but the figure is nevertheless, smaller than at any other weekend during the summer.

Reason? No trains. Perhaps the only happy feature resulting from the rail strike is that no lives were lost at railroad crossings.

7 Hurt As Old Car, Truck Tangle 'Caygeon Bridge

Seven persons were injured—two requiring hospital treatment—when an old model car collided with the rear of a small tuck on the Bobcaygeon bridge, early Saturday night.

Following is a list of the injured occupants of the truck which was taking produce into the village from Dunsford:

Patrick Managhan 38, RR 1, Dunsford, left leg badly bruised; his wife Ethel, a cut knee; his two daughters—Ethel 16, and Jean, 14, were taken to Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, for observation, both of them sustaining facial cuts, body bruises and other head injuries.

The Managhan's 16-month-old son, David, escaped unhurt.

In the car, which was completely wrecked, the driver, Wilbert Coulter, 24, Bobcaygeon, head lacerations; Vaughan Kelson, 24, uninjured; Raymond Guthrie, 19, a cut between the eyes; and Bill Bray, 22, facial injuries and a cut right wrist. All four youths are from Bobcaygeon.

The Managhan truck, laden with eggs and vegetables, was just going over the Bobcaygeon bridge shortly before 8 p.m. when it was struck in the rear by the car driven by Coulter. It was knocked over on its left side on the bridge damaging to the extent of $500. Produce was spilled over the road.

The 1932 model car of Coulter's was completely wrecked.

Drs. B. E. Kelly and W. D. Thomas, both of Bobcaygeon, attended the injured at the scene of the accident. Provincial Constable Ray Lawson, of Lindsay, investigated.

Power Failure Blamed For Fire

Sunday night's brief power blackout is credited with starting a small fire that broke out in the basement of Braund's store, Charlotte St.

Somehow the large refrigerator unit seized up resulting in a fire accompanied by thick smoke. Shortly after the fire came under control ammonia fumes began to seep out.

A quantity of perishable goods—pastries in particular — were ruined by the smoke but overall damage is said to be light.

One woman who had just undergone an operation and had returned to her apartment above was taken away by ambulance in case the ammonia fumes became dangerous. She returned early today.

The stopping and starting of the electrically-operated refrigerator unit during the power failure Sunday night are believed to have caused the unit to seize up. Some of the fan belts were damaged in the blaze as well as some of the packing.

Trotter-Whitmore

In St. Paul's United Church, Bancroft, Uena Pearl Whitmore, Coe Hill, was united recently to Cecil Earl Trotter of Clydesdale. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Whitmore, Coe Hill, and the groom the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trotter, Clydesdale.

The Rev. J. R. Wheeler officiated. The altar was banked with gladioli, dahlias, and phlox. The pews were decorated with pink and white ribbon rosettes. Wedding music was played by Miss Marguerite Hawthorn. During signing of the register, Miss Vivian Walker sang "I love you truly."

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin on princess lines with inserts of lace to form a flared skirt, the bodice buttoned down the back and a high neckline with scalloped yoke of lace. Her three-quarter length lace-edged veil fell from a coronet set with pearls. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Mrs. Bert Giles, bridesmaid, was gowned in gold taffeta, princess design, and carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. Her hat was of gold colored net. Mr. Bert Giles was groomsman. Their daughters, Kay and Ann Giles, were flower girls and wore floor length gowns of pink and blue nylon with bandeaux of corresponding colors. They carried baskets of pink, sweetheart roses and sweet peas.

Ushers were Mr. Lennel Prouty of Peterborough and Clare Reid of Bancroft, cousins of the bride.

After the ceremony the guests were received in the Eastern Star lodge room where a delicious lunch was served by the bride's lodge associates.

An evening reception was held in the Coe Hill town hall, where the bride's mother received in an Alice blue gown and wore a corsage of talisman roses. The groom's mother was gowned in navy crepe with shadow lace and wore a corsage of pink roses. A large crowd attended the reception where a bounteous lunch was served and dancing was enjoyed. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

Later they left for a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, and other points. The bride travelled in a suit of blue mist shade with navy accessories. They will live in Bancroft.

Fallis-Gill Rites Held at Millbrook

St. Thomas Anglican Church, Millbrook, was the scene on Saturday of a quiet wedding when Elaine Etta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Gill of Gooderham, was united in marriage to William David Albert Fallis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lavergne M. Fallis of Millbrook.

The Rev. A. A. Chote officiated. Baskets of pink and cream gladioli decorated the chancel and there were white gladioli on the altar. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Grace Muspratt.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Mr. Neville Gill of Gooderham. Her dress was of baby blue nylon and she wore a small white hat with a white veil and a corsage of red rosebuds. Mrs. Hazel Lamb of Lindsay, was bridesmaid, in embossed shell pink marquisette with small white hat and white accessories, and a corsage of tea roses.

Mr. Kenneth A. L. Fallis was his brother's groomsman.

For the wedding trip to points west the bride chose a navy suit, hat and accessories and she had a corsage of red roses.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Fallis will live in Millbrook.

Dorothy Hardinge Wed In New York

Eleanor Johnston's Wedding First in Manvers Church Groom's Father Officiates

History was made Saturday afternoon in the Manvers United Church as the first wedding took place within it's 51-year-old walls with the bride a granddaughter of its first benefactor. The church property was donated in 1899 by Mr. James Johnston, a corner of his farm which is now operated by his son Mr. Alfred M. Johnston.

The bride, Miss Norma Eleanor Johnston, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Johnston, was united in marriage to Mr. John Knox McLeod of Hamilton in a ceremony performed by the latter's father, the Rev. J. P. McLeod of Grimsby.

The Rev. Clare Kellogg, minister at Manvers, played the wedding music, and accompanied Miss Ruth Hircock who sang "Because" while the register was being signed.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Johnston was wearing a dress of white satin with net overskirt, the strapless bodice topped with a jacket of lace which buttoned down the front from a high collar. The embroidered net veil which formed her headdress was an heirloom from England. Her bouquet was red roses falling in a cascade.

Bridal attendants were her sister, Miss Frances Johnston of Pontypool, Miss Marilyn Cavano of Bethany, and the groom's sister, Miss Dorothy McLeod of Hamilton. They were frocked alike in dresses of faille taffeta with overskirts of net in the rainbow colors blue, pink and yellow. Each wore a taffeta headband to match her dress and carried a nosegay of sweet peas.

Mr. Harold McCallum of Hamilton was the groomsman and the ushers were Ronald Pomeroy and Allan Johnston, brother of the bride.

The reception was at the bride's home where her mother was receiving in a gown of navy crepe with navy felt hat and wearing a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. McLeod of Grimsby, mother of the groom, was assisting, attired in printed crepe and a grey felt hat and wearing a corsage of cream roses. Many friends from distant points were present.

The bride and groom went away later to spend their honeymoon in Haliburton. Mrs. McLeod was wearing a smart all-black ensemble and corsage of red roses.

The couple will live in Hamilton where the groom is a member of the teaching staff and where the bride was teaching the past year.

Black African Jungle King Most Colorful Pilgrim

By FRANK BRUTTO

VATICAN CITY —(AP)— A black king from an African jungle who arrived by air with a leopard skin tossed over his shoulder still appears to be the 1950 Holy Year's most colorful pilgrim.

He was one of the many unusual travellers who stood out from the nearly 1,500,000 pilgrims who had come here up to the first of this month.

That number set a new record for jubilees in the nearly 2,000-year-history of the Roman Catholic church. Never, said Pope Pius, have pilgrims come to Rome in such multitudes.

Black, yellow, red and white, they came from the world's six continents to set the record despite the fact that for nearly 1,000,000,000 people the doors to Rome were closed by Communist regimes.

So many came on foot and on bicycles that they ceased to attract attention. Some came on roller skates. Some sought attention. But the vast majority—especially from France and Germany, which sent the largest numbers — came quietly, made their humble pilgrimages, visited the basilicas, sang their religious psalms and as quietly returned.

Nigeria's king, Idigo, arrived by air with 40 of his subjects. A leopard skin was slung over his shoulders when he alighted at Ciampino airfield. But he soon changed into less striking clothing.

None of the past 24 jubilees has seen so many come from Africa. Negro bishop Joseph Kiwanuka of Masaka arrived with a group that included chiefs from Northern Rhodesia, Tanganyika, Uganda, Kenya and the Sudan.

German Countess

German Countess Helen Hohenau, who came from Ettal, Bavaria, by turns riding and leading her Arabian mare, "The beautiful Gisella," captured Romans' attention.

June 8, in the basilica of Saint Frances of Rome, named for the foundress of the Benedictine Oblates, the countess became a member of the order.

The Holy Year's oldest air pilgrim on record was Msgr. Thomas Langan, 98-year-old Vicar General of Ardagh, Ireland. April 28, he stepped spryly from the plane that carried him on his first air ride and said: "It was very pleasant. Just like the train to Dublin."

The noisiest pilgrimage was that of Italian scooter riders who buzzed into Saint Peter's Square June 3 to get the Pope's blessing.

One Italian cyclist pedalled with his two wooden legs from Genoa to Rome—about 375 miles.

Fred Kendall husband, vagabond, harmonica-playing poet, left Britain with a couple of pounds in his pocket and managed to tour Italy for months.

Joseph Hummingbird, 16-year-old Pueblo American Indian, appeared for a papal audience togged out in full Indian regalia, including feathers and a store-bought tomahawk.

U.K. Man Seeks Country For Immigrants to Settle

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — H. Wilton Crowe, retired Manchester businessman, has left for Canada, on the last lap of a British Commonwealth tour to prepare a personal report on migration prospects.

When he returns to England in November he will report to his two sons—one of them an Olympic athlete—two nephews and three friends, on which seems to him the best country for people from England to settle in. He will give them his personal impressions, statistical data on taxation and price levels, and show them thousands of feet of movie film he has taken during the journey.

The group includes an architect, a printer, a farmer, a horticulturist, an automobile engineer, a doctor and a glass manufacturer.

Good Capital

"We have quite a bit of capital and we're willing to work as long as you like," Crowe says, "But we want to live in a country where we can reap what we sow. We're fed up to the back teeth with controls, permits and crippling taxation."

His son Kenneth is a prominent track runner and was in the British 400-metres squad for the relay at the 1948 Olympics.

So far Crowe has visited South Africa, Rhodesia, Australia, Malaya and New Zealand, and is now en route to Canada to examine prospects in the oldest dominion.

Which Best?

And which country does he think best? "Oh, but I haven't finished the tour yet," he says. "In any case it's up to the lads when I make my report. They'll decide."

But he has some preliminary impressions. Rhodesia rates very hgh. He doesn't like the risk of a native uprising, but he found the people the most spontaneously happy of any he has seen and taxation and prices low. He thought the country wisely governed, with people largely left to live their own lives, and there was a hopeful, buoyant outlook.

In South Africa, in contrast, he said British people were openly despised in some quarters. Australia he found a land of great opportunity and kind people. He felt that the British had lost face in Malaya and white prestige had declined.

New Zealand comes high on his list. It takes first place so far geographically, and he found the people happy, healthy and friendly, though taxation is high.

Would-be Actors Face Stiff Test In CBC Audition

By VAL SEARS

TORONTO —(CP)— The CBC is setting up its mikes for Canada's biggest talent hunt.

From September to June in CBC studios from coast to coast more than 700 men, women and children will be given a change to see what they can do in front of a microphone. If you're a regular CBC listener you will hear about 70 of them.

This is what happens in a typical audition in the Toronto studio:

The applicant is received by Joan Reany, an attractive, University of Toronto graduate, who calms the artist's jitters and sets the stage for the test.

If the candidate is interested in drama, Joan provides a supporting actor or actress; if he is a vocal artist she gets an accompanist.

Use Point System

From the auditioning studio the candidate's voice is piped into another room where a panel of three judges evaluates his ability by a point system on a scorecard. The judges—all professional artists—do not see the applicant or know his name.

The maximum of possible points is 80, graded under headings such as personality, tonal quality, showmanship and emotional appeal. A score of between 70 and 80 means the applicant is ready for broadcast work. A mark between 60 and 69 indicates that the candidate shows promise but needs more training. Below 60 and he's out.

If the applicant has a 70 to 80 rating he is placed on a call list, something like a model agency, and he is told CBC will send for him when he can be fitted into a program. A 60 to 69 grade means the applicant is given the opportunity to audition again in six months.

Need Top Rankers

CBC's top dramatic shows like "Stage 50" are constantly requiring new talent, Miss Reany says, but it must be of professional quality.

"CBC does not develop talent by teaching radio arts, but by providing a paid outlet for top Canadian artists," she says. "Producers, however, will groom new talent if the artist shows ability."

While hundreds of adults performers turn up for auditions with CBC, suprisingly few children apply, she says.

John Dunlop, supervisor of children's programs, needs young artists for shows like "Doorway in Fairyland" and "Cuckoo Clock House."

He says a number of otherwise talented children score low marks in auditions because they orate instead of talking and acting before a microphone as children normally would.

Busiest Centre

Vancouver is one of CBC's busiest audition centres for announcers. Between 150 and 200 voices are tested each year.

Candidates not only read news, but commercial continuity, light and classical music continuity and drama narration. No trick scripts are used.

Most CBC announcers are requested to have university training and at least two years of practical experience in radio.

In addition to the regular auditions, CBC's weekly talent contest "Opportunity Knocks" gives amateur talent a chance in front of the mike. Ninety per cent of the announcers heard on the show have been placed in station jobs.

VITAMIN D

Exposure to sunlight results in the formation of vitamin D in the body, but the best natural source is the liver of salt-water fish, especially cod and halibut.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD A. SUTTON

Phyllis Thackeray Marries Donald Sutton of Oshawa

St. Luke's Anglican Church was the setting on Saturday for the wedding of Phyllis Lenore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Thackeray, 465 Stewart St., to Mr. Donald Anson Sutton, son of Mrs. Elsie Sutton of Toronto and the late Mr. Sutton.

The Rev. Walter Gilling performed the marriage and organist Mr. Morley Coombs played the wedding music. "Because" was sung before the bride entered by the soloist, Mr. Robert Dowson, and during signing of the register he sang "Through the years." Baskets of beautiful gladioli and ferns were flanking the altar.

The bride's gown was a lovely model with bodice of Alecon net over satin, the sleeves coming to points over her hands, and the skirt was in gores of Alecon lace and net which were longer at the back, forming a graceful train. Her veil of tulle illusion with Alecon lace trim was in fingertip length and was caught to a pearl-studded tiara. She carried a bouquet of rubrum lilies and white gladioli.

Mr. Thackeray gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her sisters, Miss Helen Thackeray as maid of honor and Miss Lola Thackeray as bridesmaid. Miss Beverley Bowen was her flower girl.

The attendants' frocks were of pink and blue net with Alecon lace insets and they wore net mittens to match and halos of braided net and pearls. Their bouquets of white gladioli were tied with pink and blue ribbon. The flower girl was dressed in yellow organdy made over taffeta with off-the-shoulder neckline and finished with a sash. She had matching mittens and wore a headdress of braided organdy and pearls. Her flowers were mauve asters and gladioli.

Groomsman was Mr. Howard Sutton of Toronto. The bride's brother Lyle Thackeray and Harry Ward ushered.

For the reception, held in the YWCA Green Room, the bride's mother chose a dress of blue crepe and a hat of pink straw and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother was gowned in brown silk and wore a white straw hat and pink roses at her shoulder.

Leaving later on a motor trip through western Ontario the bride was wearing an ice blue crepe dress with bodice of Alecon lace. She had navy accessories and a white gabardine shortie coat and her corsage was of rubrum lilies.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutton will live in Oshawa at 215 King St. E.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Annoyed to Learn Husband Gave Wrong Age

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man, maried to a beautiful and charming girl. I deceived her about my age, for I am a few months younger than she is, but by some unfortunate accident she found my birth certificate and since then she refuses to talk to me and spends the time in tears and gloom. We were so happy together until this happened. Now all is changed and we are miserable. What can I do?

Dorothy Dix

G. A. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think your wife must be singularly lacking in good old, hard horse sense if she is letting such an insignificant thing as a few months' difference in age wreck a happy marriage. If she had found out that you had another wife, or that you had some terrible blot upon your past, or that you were a drunkard, or took dope, she might feel that you had inveigled her into marriage under false pretenses and that she had cause for grief. But when your secret is nothing more serious than a birthday, it is to laugh.

Are More Important Factors

There are a thousand things more important to consider in picking out a husband or wife than his or her age. And the way a marriage turns out depends upon the congeniality and suitability and characters and manners and habits of the contracting parties, not upon which has the most candles on his or her birthday cake.

Of course, when December weds May, disaster is bound to ensue. But, leaving out a great disparity of years, it doesn't make a particle of difference whether the wife or the husband is the elder so far as the success of the marriage goes. As a matter of fact you cannot go by the calendar in judging the real age of an individual. There are men and women who are mere girls and boys at 70, and boys and girls who are senile at 17. It is our dispositions and "ways" that keep young and flexible or get wrinkled and stiff and have rheumatism in their joints.

This holds good for the man marrying the woman older than himself. If he is old for his age and she is young for hers, they meet on a common ground and age becomes negligible. Nor is there any reason why a man should not marry a woman older than himself if he is of the mother-complex type. Many such marriages are most happy, because the older woman can give the husband a love and tenderness that no young wife could.

The objection formerly made to such marriages was that women aged quicker than men did, but this is not true now that women make a cult of youth and good looks. And most of them stay a perpetual 39.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What is your advice to a girl who seems to have assumed the role of fairy godmother to her crowd? I am a good-looking girl, popular with the boys, but solely as a mother confessor. They confide their love affairs to me. When they have trouble with the girl friend they get me to straighten out things. I have to press-agent them to the girl's family, and so forth. Of course, I like to help some one in trouble, but I would like to be the girl friend myself sometimes instead of the confidant about how much he loves her. The only men I seem to attract are confirmed bachelors who just want an interesting companion.

M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The next time a boy commences telling you how much he loves another girl just yawn in his face and tell him that other peopl's sentimental affairs are of no interest to you — that you have heart troubles of your own. When you become nothing but a confidante and little Miss Fixit, you put yourself out of the running.

Probably your trouble is that you are more mature and sensible than the boys and girls with whom you run. That is why they come to you for advice instead of love-making. And there is nothing you can do about that, for nothing is more absurd than a sensible girl who tries to act kittenish.

In reality, you are in luck that you attract the older men instead of the boys, because the older men are the marrying men. Nor is there any better fly with which to bait your hook than being an interesting companion. The girl who carries an entertaining line of conversation and who can keep a man interested and amused has a charm to conjure with. Once you have made a man depend on you for companionship and find everything flat without you, it is all over except sending out the wedding invitations.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have given my heart to a man who still has four years of college. I believe him to be sincere and true, but when he confessed that he had loved eight other girls before me I began to lose faith in him. Do you think that after he graduates he will still be true to me?

PAT.

ANSWER: Possibly, but it is a hundred-to-one-shot you are taking on a wedding ring if you are depending on him to supply it. Four years is a long test of any man's faithfulness, especially when he goes off to college. For in that time he is thrown in a new environment, with new people, new interests, new aspirations, new thoughts, and he comes out a changed man. Besides, any youth who has had eight previous sweethearts shows that he is fickle and that he has too much facility in loving.

THE HONEYMOON OVER—Donald Dorey and his bride had a longer honeymoon than they expected when 124,000 non operating Canadian railway employees walked off the job. The Brantford, Ont., couple talks with a Canadian National Railways policeman about getting a refund on their return fare from Halifax.

Rural Indian Gals Do Own Cosmetics

LAKE COUCHICHING, Ont. —(CP)— Make-up is a ancient art in India.

Mrs. Soma Banerjee, lecturer in the Women's College at the University of Calcutta told the Canadian Institute of Public Affairs here that Indian women have been wearing make-up for centuries and in some cases mix the ingredients themselves, using ancient recipes.

One of the best formulae is the preparation of eye-shadow, when sometimes as many as six ingredients including soot obtained from burning camphor and purified butter, are used.

"Some of the eye-shadow used by our women," she said, "is medicinal and girls wear it from the time they are babies.

"In some villages and rural areas women even mix their own powder and lipstick, but they don't wear it as often as women do here."

As for dress, "women's dresses are very convenient here, but I think ours are more graceful."

Mrs. Banerjee was dressed in a 113-foot sari, 45 inches wide, which she wore around her from ankle to shoulder.

"I still like to dress up in a pair of slacks when I do my housework," she said.

Perfect Couple Have No Quarrels

HOVE, Sussex, England (CP)— Chosen by a marriage agency as the "perfect couple," Mr. and Mrs. Percy Walder live up to the billing.

In a year of marriage they have never quarrelled.

"We have nothing to quarrel about," said Walder. "We have the same tastes and interests. In our experience this is the best way to find a partner."

Walder, a 44-year-old master plasterer, and Alberta Holly, 35-year-old audit clerk, were chosen by a panel of psychologists, psychiatrists, medical and social experts as the perfect couple.

They have only one difference of opinion. One is Conservative, the other Socialist. They don't discuss politics.

Stewardess Logs 250,000 Miles

LONDON —(CP)— Ann Freestone, a Canadian stewardess with British Overseas Airways Corporation, has logged more than 1,000 flying hours and flown about 250,000 miles.

Daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Freestone of Moncton, NB, Miss Freestone was educated at Rothesay, NB, and later lived in Halifax.

After serving with the Canadian Red Cross, she joined a British air-charter company shortly after the war. She has recently completed a BOAC training course and now works on the Britain-to-Johannesburg run.

Woman Carpenter Happy With Job

EDMONTON — (CP) — The woman of today no longer ties herself to the kitchen stove and the scrub mop. A good example of a woman doing a man's job and doing it well is Miss Marie Kolasa, an Edmonton carpenter.

Since 1934 Miss Kolasa has been working in the sash and door department of a lumber and millwork company. She forms and finishes combination doors and windows.

Now assistant to the department foreman, Miss Kolasa says "I wouldn't want another job for anything."

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Use Salads As Appetizers, Main Dishes or Desserts

The seventh book of the Culinary Arts Institue series of twenty-four cookbooks, available through The Examiner, has just made its appearance and is entitled "500 Tempting Salads and Dressings." This lavishly illustrated cookbook is full of old and new ideas for colorful, enticing salads for everyday use, for dressup entertaining, and for casual snacks.

Here is one attractive example of a salad that could be a satisfying luncheon main dish for the calorie-watcher, or an attractive addition to the Sunday-night buffet table:

Fruit and Cottage Cheese Mold

2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
3 tablespoons canned pineapple juice
2½ cups cottage cheese
Lettuce or other greens
Sliced pineapple
Strawberries
Lemon French dressing

Soften gelatin in pineapple juice and dissolve over hot water. Stir into cottage cheese, pour into 1 large or 6 individual oiled molds and chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce or other greens and garnish with sliced pineapple and halved strawberries. Serve with the French dressing. Serves 6.

Mold cheese in ring mold and fill centre with orange segments and pilled black cherries. Garnish with half slices of pineapple and cube of lime jelly.

Lemon French Dressing

½ cup olive or salad oil
½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne
2 tablespoons sugar or honey

Combine all ingredients and shake well before using. Make 1 cup. See variations page 48.

The dressing is subject to all sorts of variations that you yourself might choose. If you lack imagination in that regard, the Salad Book itself lists a whole column of ways of doctoring up this basic dressing.

You will be sure to want this sensational salad book as even a glance through it will give you new ideas for serving, new ideas of preparation, and new ideas of things that can go into salads. All you need to do to own this cookbook is present a coupon clipped from any issue of The Examiner with 25 cents at the Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Food Market. If you would rather order your copy by mail send the coupon with 30 cents (5 cents additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, The Examiner, Peterborough.

3 Evangelists Under Arrest

VAL D'OR, Que., Aug. 28 (CP) —Three Baptist evangelists were arrested during the weekend in this northwest Quebec town on charges of obstructing traffic when they attempted to hold a public meeting.

Arrested here and taken to jail at Amos, Que., were Marguerite McCradie, a teacher in the French Protestant school, Lasarre, Que., Jean Cloutier, Val d'Or farmer, and Ernie A. McWilliams, of Val d'Or.

The arrests brought the number of Baptist evangelists held in the Amos jail on obstruction charges to 12. Those arrested previously refused to pay fines on the grounds they were innocent of any offence. They are serving alternative jail sentences. They were arrested following distrubances at four consecutive Saturday night meetings held in the town.

Police said the weekend arrests followed a similar pattern to previous occasions. The evangelists holding their meeting on a street corner were told to move on, refused and were arrested.

Oshawa Man Wins Horseshoe Pitching

TORONTO, Aug. 28 (CP) — Dean McLaughlin, 29 of Oshawa tossed a steady string of ringers Saturday night to retain the Canadian singles horseshoe-pitching championship.

Competing against 35 of Canada's top experts, McLaughlin compiled a brilliant 81 per cent score in the 11-game round to win his fourth national title. He first won in 1938, repeated in 1939 and regained the crown in 1949.

$500 Grant Voted To Support Rail Union

WINDSOR, Aug. 28—(CP)—A grant of $500 in support of the striking rail unions was voted Sunday at a membership meeting of Local 200, United Automobile workers (CIO).

The union, in line with a previous move by the parent UAW body, said it would also lend "moral support" to the rail unions.

The union voted to gain complete affiliation of its more than 11,000 membership with the Ontario Federation of Labor (CCL). Previously about 4,000 members of Local 200 were OFL affiliates.

The meeting also voted to spend $10,000 in support of a co-operative store, which will be Windsor's first consumers' co-operate.

Dash Through Fire To Get Baby In Crib

WALLACEBURG, Aug. 28 — (CP)—Two men dashed through flames to snatch one-year-old Patricia Christian from her crib when fire destroyed her parents' home Saturday night.

Mrs. Robert Christian carried three of her youger children from the house and the two older ones ran out themselves. She then realized the baby was still inside. Jack Hainer and Harvey Monmey entered the house and rescued the child.

Expensive Junk

HONG KONG, Aug. 28 (AP). —A Hankow junk store bought 16 tons of scrap iron including three old Japanese torpedoes from the Chinese Communist government. Workers were breaking up the scrap Friday when one torpedo exploded. The toll, as reported today by the Hong Kong Ta Kung Pao: Twenty-five dead, three missing, 20 seriously injured, 13 slightly injured, 31 houses demolished, and scores of homes damaged.

Report Timber Thefts Around Missisagi

BLIND RIVER, Ont., Aug. 28. (CP)—Timber thefts were reported today in the Mississagi River area burned over in forest fires in 1948. The J. J. McFadden Lumber Company has protested to the Lands Department that some independent contractors, who have the rights to salvaged damaged timber, are cutting its standing trees.

The company says the loss is serious and threatens the life of the town, located 96 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Menzies Gives Australia 3-Point Plan

CANBERRA, Aug. 28 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies today gave Australians a three-point program for countering the "diabolical" threat of international Communism.

Broadcasting after his recent world tour, he said "aggressive international Communism" was trying to weaken the democracies by creating scattered dangers, dispersing their efforts, and creating economic burdens designed to produce conditions favorable to the spread of Communism.

He said Australia should not be put on a total war footing to counter the threat. It would mean a diversion of manpower and materials. Development would be checked, and inflation would become "a greater danger than ever."

Three Tasks

The three tasks Australia must face were:

1. Create higher living standards and get on with national development.

2. Increase output to stabilize costs and prices and defeat inflation.

3. Increase military production and strengthen the armed forces.

"We never know where danger may present itself," Menzies said. "We must be ready, and instantly ready, to defend things that mean everything to us."

If the Korean campaign were lost there would be other thrusts "involving serious dislocation of the world-wide strategy of the democratic powers and exposing all to increasing dangers."

Lumber Company Has Big Layoff

BLIND RIVER, Ont., Aug. 28. (CP)—The J. J. McFadden Lumber Company, chief industry in this Northern Ontario town, announced today about 550 of its 600 employees will be laid off temporarily this week. The continuing rail strike and slow currents in the Mississagi River were given as reasons.

C. E. Smith, resident manager, said 100 men in the planing and shipping departments would be laid off Wednesday if the rail strike continues. He said there was no more storage space available and loading by trucks was too expensive.

The 450-man layoff be blamed on slow currents in the river which delayed movement of logs from cutting stations. He said the mill would be out of logs by the beginning of next week. He said the current had been slowed by the dam at the new tunnel development of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario.

Paper's Presses Roll First In 11 Weeks

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (CP). — The New York World-Telegram and Sun, one of the largest afternoon dailies in the United States, rolled off the presses today for the first time in 11 weeks.

The newspaper was shut down last June 13 by an American Newspaper Guild (CIO) strike, settled last Wednesday with the higning of a new two-year contract.

A management spokesman said about 600,000 copies would be printed today. This was the approximate circulation of the big Scripps-Howard newspaper when the strike began.

A series of special comic strips telescoping developments missed during the strike and bringing readers up to date in the comic stories, began in today's issue.

Fewer Days Lost In Strikes, Lockouts

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 (CP). — Fewer days were lost as a result of strikes and lockouts during the first seven months of this year than in the corresponding period of 1949, Labor Minister Gregg announced today.

In the Jan. 1-Aug. 1 period, preliminary figures showed there were 91 strikes and lockouts, involving 21,189 workers and a time loss of 210,322 days. In the corresponding period of 1949, there were 78 strikes with 28,615 workers involved and a time loss of 729,737 days.

Gas Shortage Reported In N. Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 28 (CP)—A shortage of gasoline exists in most Ontario communities north of North Bay but so far it is not serious and few restrictions have been imposed on sales. Elsewhere in Ontario, supplies are adequate.

But spokesmen for major Canadian oil companies said that if the rail strike continues much longer, the pinch will be felt in Northern Ontario and northern Quebec.

An official of the Ontario Motor League said that pleasure driving north of North Bay was not being recommended by the league.

At Timmins, some service stations have restricted sales but, for the most part, any amount of gasoline can still be obtained if the buyer is willing to shop around for it.

Too Much Hoarding

Some Timmins garage operators said that no restrictions would be necessary if customers would stop hoarding. They said that a number of persons living outside the town were storing gasoline in barrels, bathtubs, cans and any container that would hold it.

A measure of assurance that the shortage would not reach serious proportions came from Hearst today where permission has been granted the Algoma Central Railroad to load gasoline direct from tank cars to tank trucks, a practice prohibited under ordinary conditions.

The A.C.R., one of the few railroads still running, loads gasoline at Sault Ste. Marie for the run to Hearst. From Hearst trucks will travel round-the-clock to supply Timmins, 150 miles southeast, and other Northern Ontario communities.

Appeal Court Revokes Appeal

NEW YORK, Aug. 28. (AP)— The US Court of Appeals today revoked the bail of the 11 convicted American Communist leaders and gave them 30 days to try to stay their jail terms.

The order was in a 2-to-1 decision by the three-judge court.

US-Attorney Irving H. Saypol said the ruling in effect gave the Red leaders a 30-day stay of their prison terms.

During the time, he said, the convicted men may apply to the US Supreme Court for a further stay of sentence pending determination of their case before it.

The Court of Appeals, at the same time, denied a petition by the Red leaders for a rehearing of their appeal.

The 11 Communists were convicted last fall of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the US government.

All but one of the 11 have been free on bail totalling $260,000 which would be continued for 30 days under the decision.

Eugene Dennis, general secretary of the Communist party, already is serving a one-year jail term on a separate conviction for contempt of Congress.

Failed To Leave Town Man Is Fined $10

First brought to the attention of police Sunday because he was reported eating tomatoes and other vegetables in a private garden in the west end, Fred Crosse, no fixed address, was fined $10 and costs or 10 days in police court today.

Constable Andre Dalton testified he had gone to Walkerfield Ave., after receiving a report that there was a man in that vicinity acting strangely. He found the accused knocking on the door of a house there.

Crosse was taken to the police station, questioned, and then taken to the edge of town and told to be on his way.

But at 9.20 a.m. this morning Constable Dalton saw Crosse on George St. He arrested him on a charge of vagrancy. He had in his pockets $1.43 and a Salvation Army meal ticket.

Asked about the affair by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., Crosse said, "I have chances of a job."

Rivermen, Police Hunt Body At Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, NY, Aug. 28 —(AP)— Rivermen and police were on the lookout today for the body of a man they believed plunged over Niagara Falls Sunday morning.

Several tourists said they saw a man answering the description of Orunzo D'Amuro, 49, of Niagara Falls, NY, wade into the Niagara River and go over the Cataract.

A note found with D'Amuro's coat and wallet on a bank said he "could not stand the pain." A sister, who identified the effects, said he had been ill.

Free-For-All Captured By Victory Hi

Victory Hi's name suits the horse to a "T." Stan Blewett's horse with J. McIntyre at the reins brought home top money in the free-for-all event Saturday night at the Exhibition by winning the first heat and placing second in the two others. Peter Aubrey, owned by H. Ingles, of Brighton, placed second in the event with a first, second and a third.

The Peterborough horse was top money horse in Friday night's racing as he paced across the finish line first three times.

J. L. Van, owned by H. J. Waples, of Midland, shared the glory Saturday night with Victory Hi by equalling the track record set two years ago by Blacklock. The Waples horse breezed to a thrilling win in the last heat of the free-for-all in 2:08.8 minutes, tying Blacklock's record.

Tom's Girl was on her best behaviour Saturday night in the 2:30 class. Owned by Fife and Waples, of Midland, Tom's Girl, driven by Keith Waples, brought home money in the three heats. A local horse, Turnabout, owned by James McIntyre, placed second three times while Dark Mercury, owned by R. Ingles, of Brighton, came third three times.

Luella Guy edged Ruth Benedict in the afternoon racing in the 2:28 class for $200. The Ingles horse had two firsts and a second while the young Miss, owned by W. A. Ament, of Brighton, had a first and two seconds.

A Track Crash

A crash in the first heat of the 2:28 class provided several tense minutes. Lena Direct Belwin, owned by M. Post, of Peterborough, and Wee Jack, owned by Sharpe Motors, of Oshawa, collided at the three-quarter mark. Except for a severe shaking, horses and drivers were uninjured.

Prize money in the 2:22 class for $250 was shared by Margelwyn, owned by Gollogly, of Kingston, and Miss Lee Todd, owned by M. Wray, of Schomberg. Margelwyn had a first, second and a fifth while Miss Lee Todd had a first, third and fourth. Wanda Harvester, owned by E. R. Jefferis, of Waubaushene, placed third twice and second in the other.

Presentations made Saturday night were: driver with the fastest time in the free-for-all event, Keith Waples, of Midland, $20, donated by Nelson and Roche, of Keene; best-dressed drivers, first to Keith Waples, a blanket donated by Eaton's, second to Harry Ingles, of Brighton, a Ronson lighter, by Knox; best driver over the four days, Keith Waples, a cooler, donated by Thompson Brothers' Garage; driver winner of free-for-all, James McIntyre, of Peterborough, $50 credit note, donated by Hudson, of Lakefield.

Miss Margaret Greene Federation Officer

Miss Margaret Greene, Home Instruction Teacher employed by the Peterborough Board of Education, was elected first vice-president of the Federation of Women Teachers Association of Ontario at the 32nd annual meeting during the past week. The meeting was held at the Royal Ontario Museum, Toronto.

Miss Greene has been a teacher in Peterborough since September, 1928. Before that time she taught in rural areas in Frontenac and Hastings Counties. Her work in Peterborough consists of teaching children who are physically unable to attend school.

During the summer, Miss Greene gave lectures at a Summer Course in Remedial Work in Toronto.

The Federation of Women Teachers Association was attended by more than 250 women teachers from all parts of Canada.

A LEGEND COMES BACK—Here is Lt. Col. Jim Stone, DSO and bar, MC, the man who rose from private to officer commanding his regiment, The Loyal Edmontons, and built up a legendary reputation as a fighting man during the second world war. The Salmon Arm, B.C., officer, now is commanding the second battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry in Canada's Special Force, slated to fight communist aggression in Korea.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Today is the last day for powerboats to qualify for the United States Harmsworth Trophy team which will defend speedboat laurels against Harold Wilson's Miss Canada from Ingersoll, Ont., next Friday and Saturday.

The selection committee, however, is still looking for two boats to be running mates for Stan Sayre's Slo-Mo-Shun.

The record-holding craft from Seattle, turned in a qualifying speed of 96.72 miles an hour for the test distance of 15 miles. If no other boats qualify by the end of today's trials, the selection committee will probably name boats on their past records.

In that case, likely choices would be My Sweetie, who won the 1949 Gold Cup and Guy Lombardo's Tempo VI.

My Sweetie was out on the Detroit river course Sunday, breaking in a new engine. Lombardo raced at Baltimore Sunday and was slated to have Tempo in Detroit today for its trial run.

Russia's track and field team closed out the European championships at Brussels by winning their only track event of the five-day meet and with it the unofficial team title.

An Associated Press count gave Russia 112 points compared with 108 for Great Britain, which won eight titles. Russia had six firsts in all, the other five coming in field events.

France, winning four titles, was third with 107 points. British athletes dominated the last day's activities Sunday, capturing four finals.

A crowd of 20,000 gave the Soviets a big hand as balding Nikolai Karakulov, anchor man of the 400 Metre relay team, overhauled the leaders on the last leg and hit the tape in 41.5 seconds.

The Russians' success gave rise to speculation that the Soviets might compete in the 1952 Olympics at Helsinki. In recent years they have avoided international competition.

George Bevan of Winnipeg on Saturday headed a strong international field to capture the Canadian National Exhibition's two mile Canadian Amateur Swimming Championship.

The smooth-stroking Winnipegger covered the Lake Ontario course in 49 minutes, 14 seconds to finish two minutes ahead of George Park of Hamilton, Ont. George Joe Mishko of Tonawanda, N. Y., was third.

The win gave Bevan, Ontario one-mile swimming champion last year, possession of the Men's Ross Gold Trophy.

Manitoban went into the lead right from the start and was never headed. At the mile he held a one minute lead over youthful Bob Eason of Stratford.

Eason was tired near the end and wound up sixth behind two Detroit entries, George Leduc and Bernard Serrester, who finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

The Canada and Belgian Davis Cup teams split the final two singles matches of their exhibition tennis series at Toronto on Saturday.

Phillipe Washer, Belgian's No. 1 player, defeated Brendan Macken of Montreal, Canadian champion, 9-7, 6-1, 6-3 while Lorne Main of Vancouver whipped the other Belgian player, Jacque Brichant, 6-3, 10-8, 7-5.

Main's victory was Canada's only triumph in the four singles and one double match played over three days.

More than 200 junior tennis stars from various parts of Canada and the United States are in Ottawa, ready for the Canadian Junior Tennis Championships which start today at the Rideau Lawn Tennis Club.

Despite the rail strike, most of 150 out-of-town entrants arrived, by plane, bus and automobile. About 20 juniors from the Maritimes will compete. The Buffalo, N. Y., Country Club has 10 entrants and others were scheduled to arrive from Montreal, Toronto, Quebec City, Cornwall, Ont., Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

James Scriben of Halifax, Nova Scotia junior champion, is seeded No. 1 in the junior men's singles tourney and Jim Killeen of Vancouver is No. 2. Barbara Wood of Vancouver leads the junior women, with Miriam Reinboth and Diana Lowe of Ottawa second and third.

270,000 Chinese Troops Ready Aid Korean Reds

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 28 (AP) — Nationalist China's defence ministry said today it has been "definitely established" that 270,000 Chinese Communist troops are concentrating on the Manchurian border "and in the territory of North Korea" ready to help the Korean Reds.

The Chinese Nationalist ministry, in an official statement, reported that these troops consist of eight armies, two cavalry divisions and one artillery division.

It added that three Russian-equipped armies, under Gen. Lin Piao, are "known to have crossed the Yalu River last month."

The Yalu is the boundary between North Korea and Manchuria.

The ministry said the Chinese Reds are reported to have constructed "permanent" defence works along the Yalu.

Chinese Communist aid for the North Koreans, the ministry added, was decided at a Soviet-sponsored military conference in Peiping last month.

Have 200,000 Men

By this account, the Chinese Reds—on order of the Kremlin—are to supply 200,000 combat troops to aid the Korean Reds and to maintain that figure at all costs.

The troops are to be commanded by Lin Piao, commander-in-chief of the Chinese Communist Fourth Field Army.

The Nationalist ministry made these assertions:

1. As early as March, 1948, some 50,000 war veterans of the "Korean corps" under Lin Piao were sent to North Korea after receiving Communist political training and seeing action on Manchurian fighting fronts. The ministry added that the "Korean Corps" totalled 145,000 officers and men.

2. In February this year, another 50,000 men from the corps were sent to North Korea.

Tactics used by the North Koreans, the ministry went on, clearly demonstrate the effects of Chinese Communist training. Their mobile, infiltration and flanking movements were tactics used by the Chinese Reds on the mainland against the Nationalists.

Prisoners Play Outside Team

KINGSTON, Aug. 28 (CP)—An all-star team of prisoners from Kingston Penitentiary played a softball doubleheader Sunday with one of the top teams from the Kingston district. It was reputed to be the first time in Canada that a penitentiary team engaged in a sports event with outside competitors.

The penitentiary squad split the doubleheader played in the big prison yard, with most of the prisoners cheering on the sidelines.

The morning game was won 3-2 by the visitors, Parham, finalists in the Kingston Amateur Softball Association. The prisoners won the afternoon match 7-3.

The penitentiary nine was made up of all-stars chosen from the six teams which play regularly in the prisoner house league. The Parham team comes from Parham, Ont., 45 miles northwest of Kingston.

Three convicts, interviewed after the games, said the league had "made a big difference in the general morale." They said "sports are the best thing that ever happened around here."

Dies From Injuries

LISTOWEL, Ont., Aug. 28—(CP)—Pitchard Kincaid, 51, died Saturday in hospital here from a brain haemmorhage suffered in a fall at his home in Drayton earlier in the week. Police say they believe he injured himself when he fell to the floor after a weak spell.

NEWSPAPER DELIVERY—General Manager A. F. Mercier not only helps publish Le Soliel, Quebec daily newspaper, but delivers some of the editions. An emergency plan was set up to carry the news to the big area the newspaper covers, despite the strike of 124,000 non operating Canadian railway employees. Now, employees' cars and company trucks cover the 2,500 miles daily. Mr. Mercier is loading his car for a run west of Quebec into Portneuf County.

Old Geezer Soaks Up A Few Flat On Back At Ex

By JIM ENGLISH

Flat on his back in the St. John's tent at the Exhibition Saturday afternoon was a familiar figure. His straw hat was carefully hung on a chair and just outside the flap of the tent smouldered the butt of his black cigar.

The nurse walked out for a moment as we came in and the old fellow lifted one eylid.

"Hi buster. Didn't think you'd find me here, did you?" No, we said, it was the last place we'd look.

"I'm a case of heat prostration, buster," and the old parasite smiled. "Figure I'm the only professional at it in the world. Started it in the depression. But you gotta have talent for it—actin' talent." Foolishly we asked him how come.

"Well, I'm by nature thirsty and broke too. This here's one way a fella can get a drink without buyin' it. I faint six, seven times a day at a big fair where they don't know me. Girls here know me. Yesterday they give me a glass of water." He shuddered.

"Once I saw a fella come in here and he'd fainted. He'd spent all afternoon in a pub before he hit the Ex, and when the girl offered him a drink, he said no. I snuck it off the table myself.

"Like I said, you gotta have talent. Gotta know where and when. Fella can't go fainting in front of the girlie show every day. He's gotta be real careful. Take me, now. Today I pulled one right in front of the tent. That was to start off. This is my second try. Did this in front of the grandstand while one of the races was on.

"I'm gonna take it easy today though. This here girl recognized me this time. I'll have to wait until she gets a replacement down.

"Things are gettin' tougher. Cost of livin' hits this business just like any other. Fifteen years ago they'd give you a slug of rye that would pretty near knock you over. Now they give about half as much and a fella has to faint just that many times more.

"It's hard, too. I'm getting old and not likely to last more'n four more years at this faintin' business. I'll just have to improve my talent, and start gettin' heart attacks.

"Some places they give you brandy instead of rye. Them's the places I hit first. One of them has real good brandy. I guess they don't have very hot weather there. Not too many fainters, either.

"Then there's the dry fairs. Far as I'm concerned, they just don't exist. It's a pretty poor thing when a fella faints and all he gets to revive him is a glass of water or a wet towel on his forehead. I hit one by accident my second year at this. Very soberin' experience it was.

"So after that I went to all the fairs and found out just which ones was dry. Last ten years I haven't seen one. Fella's gotta know how to go about this, y'know." The old fellow sat up and swung his legs over the side of the cot, picked up his hat and started out the door.

"Guess I'll go to the Toronto ex. They got real beds there. None of this cot business, and they have so many there they don't recognize a fella comin' in for a second. Take it easy, buster."

Alouettes Whip Rides 14-7; Argos Winners

By The Canadian Press.

Saskatchewan Roughriders have found the ideal way to start a football season.

They scored a touchdown Saturday the first time they got the ball this season, and kept right on scoring them for a 25-12 victory over Calgary's famed Stampeders.

In the other opening game of the Western Conference, the surprising Winnipeg Blue Bombers licked Edmonton Eskimos 18-7.

In the east, Montreal Alouettes 1949 Grey Cup champions, came from behind to set back Ottawa Rough Riders 14-7 while Toronto's rebuilt Argonauts crushed the Ontario Union's Sarnia Imperials 47-0 in an exhibition game.

Al Bodine went crashing across Calgary's line for a major to culminate Roughriders' first-quarter 65-yard touchdown drive. Ken Charlton went for two more touchdowns—both of them on passes—and Tony Hungle got another for Riders at the end of a lateral from end Johnny Bell. Jack Hartmann kicked the four converts.

Copeland Scores

Royal Copeland, who moved west from Argos this year, scored the two touchdowns for Stampeders. Vern Graham and Keith Spaith converted them.

Tom Casey, former Hamilton Wildcat, contributed two touchdowns to Winnipeg's victory over Edmonton, both of them in the second quarter after Edmonton had built up a first-quarter lead on a major by Morris Bailey and a convert by coach Annis Stuckus.

Jacobs kicked a field goal, three singles and two converts for Winnipeg. Ken Moore kicked a single in the final quarter for Edmonton's other point.

Lead Shattered

Ottawa built a 7-0 lead before falling before the Alouettes. Bruce Cummings and Buck Rogers kicked singles. Tom Clavin bucked three yards for an unconverted touchdown. Then Montreal went to work.

Johnny Taylor dashed 65 yards for a touchdown when the ball went wild on a blocked placement attempt by Eric Chipper. Rod Pantages converted and Nick Scollard kicked a field goal to put them ahead by the final quarter. Pete Thodos scored on a one-yard plunge in the final quarter.

In the exhibition game, the main interest after the first few plays was whether Argos would beat the 57-0 licking Hamilton Tiger-Cats gave Sarnia the week before.

The Toronto club found weak spots in their pass defence. But Billy Bass went for two touchdowns while Ulysses Curtis, Gerry Tuttle, Doug Smylie and Ernie Becker each got one. Nick Volpe converted six and Bob Heck one.

Finish Excavation For Hall Foundation

MARMORA, Aug. 28 (ENS).—Work on the Sacred Heart church hall is progressing at the front and centre of the church, where the excavation has been completed to the necessary depth.

Seven large steel beams 27 inches deep and long enough to reach from one side of the foundation to the other, have been placed under the floor of the church.

The furnace room will be at the north-east corner and the entire building will be heated by oil. A large kitchen fitted with modern conveniences will occupy the south-east corner.

The hall will have a stage.

Village Democracies

NEW DELHI—(CP)—A scheme to train more than 100,000 officials to man about 16,000 village councils in Madhyapradesh was put into operation on Aug. 1. The councils will be the basic units of the future democratic set-up in the area.

Girl On Way To Dance Robbed By Four Men

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 28—(CP)—Believing she was on her way to a dance in Kitchener, a woman from Preston wound up in London Saturday night, robbed of her money after she accepted a ride with four strange men.

The girl told London township police she believed she was being taken to Kitchener—until the men took her purse containing three dollars and pushed her out of the car in the Broughdale area.

Only a year in this country from Europe and employed as a domestic, the young woman had arranged to meet a girl friend at a dance in Kitchener, she said. Police said they were not sure how she came to be picked up by the men but they had not harmed her.

Police sent her back to her employer in Preston by bus.

Gored To Death By Angry Bull

BRONTE, Aug. 28—Gored to death by an enraged bull, the body of a 49-year-old Bronte farmer was found in one of his fields here Sunday by his son. Doctors believed Joseph Samborski of RR No. 1 had been killed two hours before his son Edward 14, located the body.

When found, Samborski was completely naked and his clothes were torn to shreds beside him. There were no witnesses to the accident.

Provincial police said Samborski had been moving his cattle from the orchard into a pasture on his 20-acre farm when the 2½-year-old Durham bull suddenly turned on him. He died less than 500 feet from his barn. An autopsy will be held and an inquest is pending.

Samborski came to Bronte from Montreal last winter. He leaves his wife, a son Edward, and a daughter, Elsie, 10. Provincial Constable John Bunce of Oakville is investigating.

Rochester Edges Toronto In 7-6 Victory

By The Associated Press

Rochester Red Wings are on the verge of clinching their first International League pennant in 10 years.

The Wings lead the second-place Montreal Royals by 10 games and the third-place Baltimore Orioles by 11. The leaders have 14 games to play, the Royals 13 and the Orioles 14. If the Wings win four of their remaining games they are in, even if Montreal and Baltimore win all the rest.

Rochester took a big step in the right direction Sunday by beating Toronto Maple Leafs 7-6 in 10 innings while Baltimore dropped a doubleheader to Syracuse Chiefs and Montreal split with Buffalo Bisons.

Del Wilber tripled and scored Rochester's winning run on Roy Broome's fly to give veteran Johnny Wittig his eighth victory.

Lose Doubleheader

The Orioles bowed 4-2 and 5-4. The Chiefs piled up a 4-0 lead in the opener for Ed Blake but veteran Ken Burkhart was called upon to douse a ninth-inning flare-up.

Burkhart gained credit for the nightcap victory.

Jim Hughes pitched the Royals to a 12-4 victory over the Bisons in the opener but old Jake Wade stopped Montreal 5-1 in the nightcap.

Jersey City Giants and Springfield Cubs split a doubleheader in their battle for fourth place, the last playoff berth. Jersey City took the opener 6-4 but the Cubs bounced to grab the finals 4-0.

Ship Goes Aground

OTTAWA, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Loaded with 4,500 barrels of gasoline en route to Ottawa where supplies are threatened by the railway strike, the Imperial Oil tanker "Imperial Lachine" ran hard aground on a sand bar in the the Ottawa River near suburban Rockcliffe today. The tanker carried Capt. A. G. Knight and a crew of 18. River men said it probably would not be possible to refloat the ship until today.

Montana Experts Clear 100 Acres In Eight Hours

By MERRILL ENGLUND

HUNGRY HORSE, Mont., Aug. 28 —(AP)— Two California contractors are rivalling the exploits of that legendary woodsman, Paul Bunyan, with their "high-ball" method of clearing timber land.

Two diesel tractors grind through the dense forest, each paying out 1½-inch steel cable. Attached to the centre of the cable loop is a 4½-ton steel ball.

When up to 1,800 feet of cable has been reeled out, the machines are anchored against trees. Winches reel in the line.

The cable, crashes through the timber as fast as a man can walk.

Trees caught in the cable loop are felled as if they had been hit by a hurricane.

S. L. Wixson and John Trisdale of Redding, Calif., startled federal officals by offering to clear a major part of the Hungry Horse reservoir area for nearly $2,000,000 less than other bids.

Clear 100 Acres

Wixson and Trisdale say that, under ideal conditions, two tractors pulling one ball snagged down all the trees on a 200-acre heavily-timbered area in four hours. Average daily production for two tractors and one ball has done 100 acres in eight hours.

Last year, using the cable alone, the two completed about 95 per cent of a contract to clear 7,210 acres, to be covered by water backed up by Hungry Horse dam in the Flathead River's south fork, here in Northwestern Montana.

Work on that $1,733,880 clearing contract will be completed before Dec. 20, 1950, the contractors promise.

This spring the two got contracts to clear 14,725 more acres.

The contractors figured the cable would hang up on stumps and rocks. Hence the steel balls, eight feet in diameter, which keep the cable from being hung up. The cable, riding four or five feet above the ground, has more leverage when it hits a big tree. A tree four feet in diameter is uprooted easily.

Eastern Reserve or Coolness Startling To The Newcomer

By JACK SCOTT

NORTH BAY, Ont. — At a small roadside restaurant in Geraldton, Ontario, an American tourist and his wife were ordering their lunch. The American looked up at the waitress, a slim, dark, attractive girl.

"We'll have a peanut butter sandwich and a hamburger," he said.

"No meat," the waitress said.

"Oh, well, make it a fried egg sandwich and a couple of pieces of apple pie."

"No pie."

"Oh. Says pie on the menu."

"Sold out."

"Hummm. Well, have you anything sweet? Like doughnuts?"

"Nope."

The American burst into laughter and said okay, then, they'd just have the sandwich and coffee. When the waitress had gone to the kitchen the American turned to us and grinned. "They never waste a word do they?" he said.

I mention the incident because I'm about to risk making some new enemies, this time in eastern Canada, by suggesting that there really is a laconic, Percy Kilbride type of small town easterner who, with "foreigners" holds up his or her end of conversation with "Yep" or "Nope" or, in cases of extreme doubt, "Mebbe."

The waitress is one of many examples we've encountered in the past few days. She was neither rude nor short with the American, as the bare dialogue might suggest. If a fellow had a couple of weeks to get acquainted she'd probably be real friendly. But that reserve or coolness, compounded of pride and independence, is a little startling at first in its abruptness.

And Words

On the basis of a few encounters I suppose it's silly to say that easterners in a small town are any different than westerners and, yet, isn't there every reason in the world for them to be that way?

In the west you have a relative newness. People are, in many cases, only a generation or two from pioneer days. They talk of what their town will be like some day.

In Ontario, on the other hand, we've run into people whose ancestors from far back lived right there. They are conscious of a tradition as few western small town citizens are. And this, it seems to me, reflects in their attitude.

Certainly this seems evident in terms of semantics. Again, it may be just coincidence, but the use of the word "reckon" (as in "Reckon she'll rain before noon") is one example of a word we've heard in conversation a great many times in the last few days, but rarely in the west.

We also came across and honest-to-goodness use of the phrase "I swan," which I personally haven't heard since an aunt of ours from Brockville visited us in Vancouver.

When I showed an elderly garage attendant through the trailer he said, "I swan" and it seemed to me to have a purely "eastern" ring to it. I asked the old gentleman what the phrase meant, but he didn't know either. It's a dandy, though, and I have been using it with great success since then.

The rather withdrawn manner of these people has its own appeal.

We westerners like to talk of our easy manner and it's not unusual, of course, to call the garage man "Joe" merely because his name is written on his overalls. You wouldn't do that with any of these we've met in these parts.

Automatically you seem to be two men sizing each other up and no undue familiarity seems called for until the sparring is over, if then. In some cases I'd be willing to bet it'd go on for years.

Short Cut

As an example of this Reserved or You-Do-the-Talking approach I offer a one-sided conversation I had in the town of Ignace with a garage owner I'll call George. When he was filling out my credit card book George noticed I worked for a newspaper and this got us into a discussion about Les Callan, the cartoonist for the Toronto Star.

"Know Les Callan?" George asked suddenly.

"Why, yes, I sure do," I said. "Les was a great friend of my family. One of the nicest fellows I know."

This outburst should logically have been countered by George. After all, it was his subject. But he seemed finished with the topic, thus swinging the whole onus onto me.

"Do YOU know Les?" I asked.

"Yep," George said.

I gave him a good minute. He'd had me again.

"How come?" I asked.

"Born here," George said.

"I haven't seen Les in a long time," I said. "Hope to look him up when we get down to Toronto."

"That so?" said George.

I decided to let is go at that, signed the credit slip and went out of the car. George followed me out and stood with his arms crossed to watch us drive away.

As I put the car into gear George said, "Les was a nice fellow." I nodded and droye off.

Later I told my wife that I thought I'd scored a victory because I'd got the last silence, but she didn't know what I was talking about.

17 Houses Burned

BERLIN, Aug. 28 — (Reuters —Fire destroyed 17 houses and 22 farm buildings Friday in the village of Gingst, on the east German Baltic island of Ruegen, the East Germany news agency ADN reported today. Fire-fighters were rushed from the mainland. The agency did not give the cause of the fire.

Doctors Run Radio Clinic To Help Patients At Sea

By GEORGE PALMER.

ROME, Aug. 28 — (AP). — On a warm summer night a seaman aboard the American tanker Burgan complained of severe abdominal pains. His ship was in mid-Atlantic, there was no doctor aboard.

But before the vessel reached its destination, the seaman's ailment was diagnosed as appendicitis. He was treated and cured by radio.

Relating the story during an interview, Dr. Guido Guida, Italian throat specialist, said: "The Burgan is an old patient of ours. We have many American clients."

Some months ago, Dr. Alexander Dubinsky Van Eyck, an American specialist practising in Rome and a colleague of Dr. Guida, went on the air to halt an epidemic aboard the tanker Saguaro in the South Atlantic.

A terse message from the ship's captain said: "In my crew of 42 men, 36 are suffering from a bad rash. The itch accompanying it is almost unbearable. What shall I do?"

All Hands Cured

Dr. Van Eyck spoke to the captain by radio. What had the men eaten? Had the ship just been painted? Had anyone a rash when it left port?

Finally, the captain tapped out a Morse message. "A storm of butterflies came aboard before we left port."

Dr. Van Eyck, who spent 11 years in the Dutch East Indies, was familiar with tropical diseases. He promptly prescribed an old native cure. Two days later the Saguaro reported "All hands cured."

The rash, the appendicitis victim and 195 other sick and injured merchant seamen were diagnosed, treated and cured in 1949 after their skippers sent out urgent "Medrad" signals.

Takes Priority

"Medrad" — short for medical radio—is "the SOS of the sick." It is the cable call for a non-profit organization in Rome known as the International Radio Medical Centre. A "Medrad" message stops all commercial wireless traffic and takes priority over all messages except the SOS.

The idea of CIRM was conceived in 1935 by Dr. Guida, who comes from an old seafaring family of Trapani, Sicily.

Dr. Guida explained his plan to 39 other medical men. All agreed to co-operate with CIRM and offer their services free of charge.

Today, as he has done for 15 years, Dr. Guida acts just as an "assignment man" does in a news room. When a message is received, he assigns the "case" to the colleague best-trained to carry out a diagnosis on the basis of the frequently sketchy symptoms provided by the ship's captain.

Navy men operate the sending and receiving station in Dr. Guida's apartment in the centre of Rome. Dr. Guida pays the big monthly electricity bill.

East-Germany Saddled With 1-Man Rule Again

By TOM REEDY.

BERLIN, Aug. 24 — (AP). — East Germany is saddled with one-man rule again.

This time it's not a Nazi—it's a Communist.

He is cold and ruthless. He smiles without mirth. When he enters a room, conversation dies.

He tries to look like Lenin, but doesn't quite make it. He tries to appear unobtrusive and does not quite make that, either.

This is 57-year-old Walter Ulbricht who has slugged his way to the top of the Communist heap in the Russian zone of Germany.

Ulbricht isn't chairman of the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) Party. He isn't even Prime Minister of the "German Democratic Republic." He's only Deputy P.M.

Follows Stalin

But the spade-bearded Communist of 30 years' loyalty to the Kremlin vaulted into the role of boss just as Stalin did. He whipped the SED Party from within its central committee until he finally got the job he wanted — Secretary-General.

Ulbricht's creed:

Destroy all opposition within the Soviet zone.

Spread Communism westward by any means.

Crush all Germans who turn their backs on the Russians and the German Communists.

He even threatens "People's Court" trials of the West German Chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, and other elected representatives of the rival republic west of the Elbe River.

Ulbricht probably believes he will be in a position to do that some day.

Ulbricht started life in Leipzig as a youth who wasn't a good table finisher in a cabinetmaking concern.

Just Ahead of Police

As a Social-Democrat under the Kaiser's regime, he was usually just a step ahead of the Imperial Police.

Lenin, meanwhile, made several trips to Berlin and Ulbricht became a convert.

Out of Lenin's clandestine trips to Berlin grew the old Spartacus Society. Ulbricht was right in there, along with Wilhelm Pieck, Rosa Luxemburg, and Karl Liebknecht.

The Spartacus Society became the first Communist Party in Germany modelled after the new Lenin-Trotsky-Stalin show in Moscow. Out of early rioting Liebknecht and Frau Luxemburg were killed. Pieck and Ulbricht survived. Today Pieck, at 74, is President of East Germany without much to say, while Ulbricht handles the political hammer and anvil.

50% of Korean Imports From USSR In 1949—Arms

By CLARKE BEACH

WASHINGTON, Aug 28 (AP) —More than 50 per cent of Korean imports from Russia during the last year or two have consisted of armaments and machinery.

Imports from Russia are North Korea's major source of outside supply of all commodities. North Korea's economic plan for 1950 was for 77 per cent of North Korea's foreign trade to be with the Soviet Union.

This information comes from a United States Government report that has never been made public and for security reasons cannot be specifically identified.

The statistics are of special interest in view of the Russian's denial that they are furnishing arms to the North Koreans. They admit selling them some before they withdrew occupation forces in 1948.

Made In 1949

American forces, however, have captured from the North Koreans large quantities of Russian military equipment marked as manufactured in 1949 and 1950.

The government report reveals that North Korea, completely dominated by the Soviet Union, is the most docile of all the satellite states; in the five years the Russians have been in North Korea there have been no purges, since no dissident elements have emerged.

The men who run North Korea now, under Russian direction, are practically the same ones the Russians chose for the job in 1945. The Premier, Kim Il Sung, and the top Communist party administrator, Ho Kai, used to live in the State of Kazakstan, in the USSR. Others, worked with the Chinese Communists in Yenan. Many served in the resistance movement in Korea and Manchuria.

Direct Policies

Here are other things the report says:

Major policies are directed by the Soviet Union.

In foreign policy the Soviets have dealt more arbitrarily with the North Koreans than with any other of the satellites. They set the policy and to a large extent carry it out.

They permit the North Koreans to have little contact with the outside world.

The Russians watch jealously the relations of North Korea and Red China. Besides being next-door neighbors, they are natural economic partners. One of Russia's diplomatic policies in the Far East is to see to it that North Korea doesn't drift into the Chinese orbit.

Smuts Up Around

PRETORIA, South Africa, Aug 28—(AP)—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts was allowed to get up for a while Friday. His doctors said the 80-year-old former prime minister was making good progress toward recovery from an attack of influenza he suffered this week just as he was getting over a serious case of pneumonia.

Red Troops Knife Behind Pohang Lines

Report Heavy Fighting As Enemy Seeks Break-Through

TOKYO, Aug. 29—(AP)—A North Korean force whipped behind Allied lines at Pohang today, cutting the road to Yongchon—near the eastern anchor of the 120-mile Korean battlefront. A spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said, however, the Reds had lost all chance of a relatively safe "end-run" to Pusan, the main Allied seaport on the southeastern tip ofr the peninsula. Red forces of 40,000 to 60,000 men still were building up for a big push against the Allies.

A United States 8th Army communique announced the Communist infiltration and road-block three miles southwest of Pohang by a Red force of undetermined numbers. But it said a South Korean division had retaken Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang.

Near the central sector, South Korean forces were attacked Tuesday afternoon by elements of 20,000 North Korean troops four miles south of Uihung, 22 miles north of the central front hub city of Taegu.

Regain Positions

On the southern flank before Masan, U.S. infantry counter-attacked at noon Tuesday and regained positions in the Sobuk hills which had been lost Tuesday morning.

Noting a building Red mass on the central front above Taegu, the spokesman said Allied ability to move reinforcements quickly to any threatened point of the box-shaped defence perimeter, plus added troops including British infantrymen who arrived Tuesday, removed all chances of the Reds reaching Pusan in a quick thrust.

To cripple Red efforts at a build-up for the anticipated big drive, Superfortresses dropped 230 tons on enemy rail yards at Chongjin, Communist supply centre 60 miles from Soviet Siberia. Light bombers plastered supply lines on the west coast from Kyomipo in the north to Sunchon in the south.

While the situation appeared improved, the MacArthur spokesman warned of the dangers of a

Russia Opens New Propaganda Drive

Charges American Aggression Against Red China In Formosa

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 29—(AP). — Russia opens a new propaganda campaign before the United Nations Security Council today, charging American aggression against Communist China in Formosa.

Russian delegate Jakob A. Malik, council president until the end of the month, notified other delegates he would fight to put such charges on the agenda for today's council meeting. Even if he loses his fight, he still has the chance to make another long speech attacking the United States.

The United States already has said that Communist China's charges last week of U. S. aggression in Formosa are "ridiculous falsehoods" and that the Americans are ready for an on-the-spot inquiry immediately. But while welcoming the inquiry on Formosa, the U.S. still maintains that the council first must take up her own charges of Communist aggression in Korea.

On the Soviet side, Malik, since taking the council presidency at the beginning of August, has opposed the U. S. resolution to localize the Korean war and simultaneously has charged the U. S. with aggression in Korea.

Although the U.S. was not expected to oppose Malik's attempt to bring Formosa into his propaganda blasts, other council members were reported ready to combat putting this on the order of business. They insist on clearing up the Korean question which Malik has blockaded.

The Chinese Communists have complained to the U.N. that the U.S. seventh fleet, acting under orders of President Truman to protect the approaches to Formosa, is intervening in China. They claim Formosa is territorially a part of Communist China.

U.K. Soldiers Land In Korea

By HAL BOYLE and DON WHITEHEAD

A SOUTH KOREAN PORT, Aug. 29—(AP)—British ground troops in their jungle-green battle dress stepped ashore today to give the Commonwealth its first fighting force in the United Nations action against North Korean Communists. Tan and hardy Scotsmen and lean young warriors from the London area disembarked from the aircraft carrier Unicorn and the cruiser Ceylon to the cheers of South Koreans and Americans. The carrier Unicorn touched the pier at 10:20 p.m. EDT Monday. The bagpipes played "The Glen Aurel Highlanders" as B Company of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders Regiment trotted down the gangplank of the cruiser Ceylon.

They were cheerful, these men from Britain who were brought here from their station at Hong Kong. Sgt. Ian Bell of Paisley, Scotland said: "The lads feel we should have been here sooner."

CSM. Robert Murray of Glasgow commented, "We are quite happy. We can handle the mountain fighting. We have always taken it—so we can carry on."

Full of Fun

One laughing soldier said: "I am just an immigrant."

And another put an identification tag in his eye, as if it were a monocle, and inspected Korea.

A moustached soldier called to an American on the pier and asked: "Any gum, chum?"

Pte. Patrick Boyd of Port Glasgow yelled "are there any pubs here where a mon can get o drop o' drink?" He looked a bit sad when he was told the staple native drinks are sake and unguaranteed apple brandy.

As the carrier slid up to the pier, an American army band played "God Save the King." It was a moment of high emotion for those watching.

On the decks of the carrier, the Britons came to attention. They stood at the rail, tall and straight. And then, as the notes died away, they cheered.

Welcomed By Chorus

A South Korean band also welcomed the British force and a chorus of South Korean girls sang "God Save the King." Most of the girls had fled Seoul, capital of South Korea which fell to the Reds early in the invasion.

The first officer ashore from the Unicorn was Maj. R. A. Gwyn of Scotland.

"Our men want to know what they have got to do — and they are ready to do it," he said briefly.

The Ceylon touched the pier a few minutes after the Unicorn, and the wild music of bagpipes swirled across the water. They were playing "The Barren Rocks of Aden."

Bancroft Driver Killed On First Trip In 22 Years

BANCROFT, Aug. 29—(ENS)—Archie Sexsmith, 47, of Bancroft, starting his first holiday trip in 22 years, was killed Monday night in a bus-auto collision at Rockport, 26 miles east of Kingston. His wife suffered a fractured left kneecap and other injuries and his daughter, also in the car, was unhurt.

Thirteen others, passengers in the bus, were injured. One, Morris Warner of Morrisburg, was still unconscious this morning from head injuries, nature of which has not been determined.

Headed For Brockville

Mr. Sexsmith and his family were bound for Brockville, as was the bus.

He operated a Canadian Tire Co. store in Bancroft and formerly ran a hotel and service station in Coe Hill.

Driver of the bus, Winfield Down, 46, of Brockville, was credited by provincial police with saving "a lot of lives." He is in Brockville hospital with a broken left kneecap and other injuries.

Send Sub Experts Hidden In Ships

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Daily Herald in a story from Stockholm today says Russian submarine officers are sailing secretly in Soviet merchant ships to all parts of the world.

"They are under orders to achieve pinpoint navigational skill and learn snapshot recognition of foreign vessels in the shortest possible time," the dispatch says.

A. J. McWhinnie, the Herald's mainder were built for purely dehis facts were "pieced together from three authentic sources of information."

"My information is that the total of Russian submarines has reached 380, and the prefabrication plant could produce 45 to 50 new boats each month if the trained crews were available," the dispatch says.

It adds that 120 of the 380 are obsolete and that half of the re-Stockholm correspondent, says fensive operation around the Russian coastline.

"So Russia's long-range operational underwater strength at this moment is 130 submarines," the dispatch says. "Fifty of these are believed to be in the Baltic and 60 in the Pacific."

2 Big Labor Leaders, St. Laurent Confer

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP)—High officers of Canada's two major labor congresses made representations on the general rail strike to Prime Minister St. Laurent at a meeting Monday, it was learned today.

The conference in Mr. St. Laurent's east block office was among himself, Labor Minister Gregg, Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor.

Mr. Bengough was reluctant to discuss the meeting today but, in response to questions, he confirmed that the officers had set out labor's views against compulsory arbitration. It has been reported the government will propose this form of settlement for outstanding differences between the railways and their unions.

8,100 Join Brigade

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 — (CP). — The Army said today that its special brigade, which may see action in Korea, now has a strength of 8,100 men. Originally the target was for between 4,000 and 5,000 men, but the Army decided to keep on recruiting, particularly of men in the trades and specialists classes. This type of recruiting still is going on.

32 Passengers Unhurt In Crash

BOWMANVILLE, Aug. 29 (CP) —Thirty-two bus passengers escaped injury in a three-vehicle tangle Monday on wet highway pavement just outside Bowmanville, about 40 miles east of Toronto.

Jerry Tuepack of Kingston, driver of the Colonial Coach Lines bus, was credited with preventing a more serious collision by pulling his vehicle over to avoid hitting a truck.

Drivers of the three-ton truck which struck the rear of the Toronto-bound bus and the bus said the pavement was too wet to use brakes. The three-ton truck hit the bus after being sideswiped by a panel truck.

Scouring Highlands For Italian Cooks

LONDON, Aug. 29—(Reuters) —The highlands of Scotland were being scoured today for cooks who can prepare Italian food.

So far the search has been unavailing—and already there are rumbles of discontent from Italy, where the La Scala Opera Company is preparing to leave for its visit to the Edinburgh Musical Festival.

The demand for Italian cooking came from La Scala's general manager, Antonio Ghiringhelli.

He telephoned the company's London manager to say: "It is impossible to make the good performance on the English food. If we can't do the thing properly we won't come at all."

The London manager, Sandor Gorlinsky, says he will provide the Italian food somehow.

Nova Scotia Man Gets Job Of Stockpiling Materials

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP) — A former trade commissioner in Johannesburg, linked with Canada's mutual aid program during the Second World War, soon will take over the job of stockpiling strategic materials for Canada's defence.

He is Stanley Vincent Allen of Yarmouth, N.S., a one-time commercial buyer and veteran trade commissioner. In his 17 years of government service, Mr. Allen has absorbed a wealth of munitions and resources training in Ottawa, London and Washington.

The man who in his time has worked as trade commissioner at such points as London, Hamburg and Cape Town will take over some of the work formerly the responsibility of Sydney D. Pierce, it has been learned.

Mr. Pierce vacates the position of Associate Deputy Minister of Trade to become Canada's representative at the Organization for European Economic Co-operation, with the personal rank of ambassador

Mr. Allen's appointment, likely to be that of "director," comes at a time when Canada is giving increasing emphasis to the need for expanding stocks of goods, scarce and vital during times of war.

These goods include such items as antimony, tin, rubber and quartz crystals, and although Canada considers her stocks of these commodities in good shape, there may be a new move to extend it in view of the possibility that the war in Korea may spread over far eastern areas, source for much of these items.

At the same time, there may be a move, too, to extend the list of strategic materials to other undisclosed commodities.

Poor Cows Nervous If Alone In Dark

WANTAGE, Berkshire, Eng., Aug. 29—(CP)—Elizabeth Henriques, 24-year-old Danish research worker, has returned to her native land much wise about the life and habits of the British cow.

With a team of six men she took her turn sitting in a Berkshire meadow in a non-stop vigil stretching over several days and nights, to find the ideal conditions in which a cow should live.

The watchers were doing a stint of exploring in behalf of the National Institute for Research in Dairying. Their findings were expected to have a long-range bearing on the world's milk production.

This is what they found: The average cow grazes 6½ hours a day, takes 20,000 bites of grass, lies down for nine hours, has 8½ hours chewing the cud and four good drinks a day.

They also discovered that the cow suffers badly from nerves if left alone in the dark.

Canadians Bombard Korean Bases

3 Destroyers Active In Last 2 Weeks, Aid In Landings

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP)—Canada's three destroyers in Korean waters now have all made substantial contributions to the "devastation and harassment" of North Korean forces and ship morale has reached a new high, the divisional commander, Capt. J. V. Brock, today disclosed in a report to naval headquarters.

Capt. Brock, who also commands the Cayuga, disclosed details of the activities of that destroyer along with its companion warships, the Athabaskan and the Sioux.

During the last two weeks, he said, the Athabaskan has carried out six bombardments of Communist installations, firing 540 rounds of four-inch ammunition.

It was the Athabaskan, too, that took part in two landings off enemy territory, giving medical assistance to wounded Korean civilians.

Aid Refugees

The Sioux also carried out the bombardment of enemy installations. Most of the shots were observed to have fallen on target areas. At the same time the destroyer carried out patrol and blockade duties. A number of junks were intercepted. These were found to be loaded with refugees fleeing from North Korean forces. The Sioux gave them food and brought them to safety in South Korean ports.

First In Action

As reported previously, the Cayuga was the first Canadian warship to see action in the Korean theatre. Accompanied by a Royal Navy frigate, she penetrated an enemy-held port on the South Korean coast and destroyed or heavily damaged ships, rail terminals and harbor installations.

This contact with enemy lines has wreathed the navy in smiles. Helping to make things bright, too, especially aboard the Sioux, are new messing and sleeping arrangements, unique in destroyers of the Canadian and United Kingdom navy.

Bunks have replaced hammocks aboard the Sioux. A cafeteria messing system has been introduced. Sleeping accommodation has been separated from dining spaces.

Panic Buying Frightens Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel, Aug. 29—An sIraeli government SOS today brought an unofficial American mission flying here to help stop a runaway inflation.

While crowds stormed stores in panic buying and banks for heavy withdrawals, black marketeers did a thriving business.

Men's suits, without ration coupons, are selling for as much as £100 ($310) each, shoes bring £20 a pair, a package of American cigarets 7s, 3d ($1.04). Soap is 5c a bar on the free market.

The almost-hysterical rush to convert cash into goods apparently is due, for one thing, to a public fear that the government is about to extend its rationing decree.

The Israeli finance ministry, which has been cooing public reassurances, blames "false reports" in the Swiss press for starting a run on the banks.

An overseas appeal from Premier David Ben Gurion is bringing some 40 American Jewish leaders by plane from the United States for conferences with the premier next Sunday

Caught By Monsoon

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Aug. 29—(Reuters)—Five RAF planes today were searching off Ceylon's west coast for about 1,500 fishermen in a fleet of outrigger canoes hit by a violent monsoon gale along the coastal area Monday night.

Refuse To Be Bound

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—John L. Lewis advised A.F.L. president William Green today his coal miners won't be bound by any no-strike pledge. The government has not asked labor groups to forgo strikes during the Korean fighting and defence-building period ahead, but Green and some top C.I.O. officers have indicated that such a pledge would be given if it was asked.

Announce Names For Elizabeth's New Daughter

LONDON, Aug. 29—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth's new-born daughter will be named Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise, it was announced officially today.

A birth certificate was taken to Clarence House, Princess Elizabeth's London house, to be filled out by the child's father, Prince Philip.

An identity card and ration book also were taken along for the baby.

Princess Anne was born Aug. 15. She is the second child of the heiress-presumptive to the throne and her naval-officer husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

Follows 2 Great Queens

The new Princess will bear the names of two great queens of England—Elizabeth, who reigned from 1558 to 1603, and Anne, who held the throne from 1702 to 1714.

The choice of the name Elizabeth also was a tribute to the grandmother of the baby Princess, the present Queen Elizabeth.

Alice and Louise are names common in recent generations among members of the Royal family.

Alice also is the given name of Prince Philip's mother, who is known formally as Princess Andrew of Greece, Andrew being the name of her late husband.

Alice is one of the names of the Princess Royal, the dowager Countess of Harewood, who is the sister of the King.

Alice also is the Christian name of the Countess of Athlone, the aunt of the King and the wife of the former Governor-General of Canada.

The baby's proper title and name will be: "Her Royal Highness Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of Edinburgh."

Edinburgh is the name taken by Prince Philip when the King named him Duke of Edinburgh just before his marriage to Princess Elizabeth in November, 1947.

The method of announcing Princess Anne's name came as a surprise. It had been thought that, as in the case of Princess Elizabeth, she would not be named until her christening, the date and place of which have not yet been announced.

Playing It Safe

TOKYO, Aug. 29—(Reuters)—British troops which landed in Korea today will eat American army rations, it was reported here. U.S. rations or not, the Tommies were playing safe. They brought their own three-month supply of tea with them.

Gov't Asks Unions Temporarily Take Best Offer So Far

If Settlement Not Reached In Two Weeks Ottawa To Name Arbitrator Whose Decision In Dispute Will Be Final

OTTAWA, Aug. 29—(CP)—The Canadian Press learned today that proposed government legislation will order both the railways and the unions to get Canada's strike-crippled railroad operating immediately. The legislation, to be introduced in parliament this afternoon, also will ask the unions —on a temporary basis only— to accept the best offer on the main points in dispute made to them by the railways in the long series of negotiations which collapsed here Saturday night.

It also will instruct the two sides to negotiate a settlement.

If this settlement is not forthcoming within a short period—believed to be 10 days to two weeks—the government will appoint an arbitrator whose decision in the dispute will be final.

The arbitrator will deal with all points in dispute, including those on which the unions will be asked in effect, to immediately, but temporarily, accept the best offer made to them thus far from the railways.

The arbitrator's decision, in effect, will be law. Presumably, there will be penalties provided in case either side refuses to accept it.

Will Go Back

Frank H. Hall and A. R. Mosher, co-leaders of the 124,000 strikers, said Monday that if the employees were directed by a parliamentary order to go back to work, they would do so.

Constitutionally, the order for an immediate return to work cannot be effective until the bill has been adopted by both the Commons and the Senate and given royal assent—in other words, until the bill becomes law.

However, the government is believed in well-informed sources to be hoping—and expecting—

Hold Inquiry Into Store Fires

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont., Aug. 29 —(CP)—Investigation of the cause of Monday's $150,000 fire in a business block here started today.

Inspectors from the Ontario Fire Marshal's office poked through the ruins of the Dalton block and questioned witnesses about the early-morning blaze. Fire Chief George Pietz said the inquiry probably will last until late Wednesday.

The fire is believed to have spread from the Victoria Restaurant to other business premises in the building, the chief said. Five families were made homeless.

Michael Duminick, proprietor of the Victoria Restaurant, suffered a heart attack when he revisited the fire scene shortly after the blaze and found that his Saturday and Sunday receipts, left in a counter drawer at the restaurant, had been destroyed.

West Germany and Formosa Get Priority On Big 3 List

LONDON, Aug. 29 —(AP)—Curtain-raiser talks prior to the coming Big Three foreign ministers' conference will begin in the United States within the next few day

Diplomatic officials today reported that two subjects certain to figure high on the agenda of the American, British and French ministers will be:

1. West Germany's role in the defence plans of the 12 Atlantic pact partners.

2. The future status of Formosa.

The diplomatic chiefs are to meet in New York Sept. 12.

In preparation for this, their expert assistants will get together either in New York or Washington within the next few days.

Lewis Douglas, United States ambassador to Britain, is flying to Washington Wednesday to attend these talks.

An official statement issued by the United States embassy here said today that Douglas had been called back "on official matters." He will be absent from London for about three weeks.

Douglas has been the American representative on a three-power group looking into West Germany's political and economic future

The entire German question is expected to have an important place in the Big Three talks.

In addition, the foreign ministers will cover the entire "cold war" question, including:

How to bolster Yugoslavia in her fight with Russia and the Cominform countries.

How to dovetails, and carry out, their often-conflicting policies throughout Asia.

How to speed a Korean settlement, militarily and politically.

Throne Speech Sets Record For Brevity

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP). — Immediate introduction of legislation to deal with the rail strike was forecast today in the speech from the throne read at the opening of an emergency session of parliament.

The 200-word speech—probably a record in brevity for a throne speech at the opening of a session —also forecast new defence legislation and expenditures. It was read by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General, to members of parliament assembled in the Senate.

"You were summoned to meet somewhat earlier than was anticipated because of the disruption of railway transportation facilities resulting from the dispute between the railways and the unions representing the non-operating employees of the railways," said the speech.

"A measure to deal with this situation will be introduced at once."

The speech said that originally a special session had been scheduled to deal with measures for increased national security and international co-operation required by the fighting in Korea.

Railways First

The railway strike now will be dealt with first.

"You will also be asked," said the speech, "to give urgent consideration to the measures for increased national security and international co-operation required

Violent Storms Lash Ontario

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29 (CP). —A series of violent electrical storms lashed western Ontario late Monday flattening standing crops and doing widespread property damage.

With gusts of wind of upwards of 60 miles an hour, accompanying the pouring rains, the shingles, lifted by the winds, allowed rain to pour into many homes.

Embro suffered the worst electrical blackout, with power off for five hours. Crops were flattened during the half-hour storm.

Hydro and telephones were out in rural areas surrounding Drumbo for an hour.

Petrolia's hydro was off and on for five-minute periods. Drains and cellars were flooded, and standing crops were pounded.

Himalayas Mountains Found Growing Higher

NEW DELHI, India, Aug. 29—(AP).—The Himalayas Mountains are growing higher, says the Indian government's geological expert, Dr. M. S. Kirshnan.

He reported today that Mount Everest, highest peak in the world now is 29,200 feet high—200 feet higher than it was reported to be during the last 100 years.

Kirshnan said the rise was due to the movement of the earth's crust.

The geologist discounted reports volcanic activity in the Himalayas accompanied the violent earthquake two weeks ago that killed 5,000 persons in Assam. He said northeast Assam would continue to feel aftershocks of the quake for months.

Court Approves Motorist's Left Hand Turn

Berdean Garside, 980 Western Ave., was found not guilty in police court today of a charge of failing to see that he could make a left turn in safety and failing to make a signal.

"I do not find he signalled with his hand," Magistrate W. R. Philp KC said. But, he added he believed Garside had crossed the centre line making his left turn before David Ormond, 206 Stewart St., driving his motorcycle in the opposite direction had entered the intersection.

On that basis the magistrate thought Ormond should have been able to avoid a collision.

The accident occurred at Charlotte and Aylmer Streets about 10:30 p.m. July 28. Garside was travelling west on Charlotte Street and was turning south when the motorcycle hit the right front fender of his car.

Ormond suffered two fractured ribs, a sprained wrist, and scraped leg. His passenger sitting behind him, Keith Welch, suffered a bruised and scraped left leg.

Ormond said he did not see Garside's car until both he and Garside were just about to enter the intersection. He said Garside did not signal a turn and drove directly into his path.

Constable Sherman Keliele, who investigated, said debris on the road and the position of the fallen motorcycle indicated the impact occurred two or three feet south and west of the centre lines of Charlotte and Aylmer Sts.

Donald Tripp who was in his car facing south on Aylmer St. behind another car waiting for the stop light, said just at the instant of the impact, he looked and saw the light had just changed from red to green for northbound and south traffic. He said he watched Garside making a normal left turn at a very slow speed.

He said there had been no traffic immediately in front of the car or motorcycle and both had clear vision.

Leo Delaire, a taxi driver, parked on Aylmer St. facing north, said he did not see Garside make any signal with his hand. He said Garside was making the turn cautiously.

Heard Motorcycle

He heard the sound of the motorcycle "hitting the railway tracks". He looked down and saw the motorcycle on the east side of the tracks. When he looked back, he saw Garside almost in front of him. He said the motorcycle was coming "considerably fast".

Mrs. Julia Neary said she was waiting on the north-east corner for traffic to stop to walk across the corner. She said she saw the light turn and she thought the motorcycle was going to stop, but it didn.t.

Garside testified he had been approaching the intersection slowly waiting for the light to turn green for him. When the light changed he put his car into second gear and went ahead. At the crosswalk, he put his left arm out and back again to make the turn.

Saw No Traffic

He said he saw no traffic approaching and the motorcycle could have "dropped from the sky" for all he knew. He said his right front wheel was just crossing the crosswalk yellow line on the south side of the intersection when his car was struck. He hadn't seen the motorcycle at all.

Mrs. Garside saw the motorcycle at the CNR tracks about 100 yards away when her husband had almost completed the turn. She said she didn't say anything to her husband, because she knew it interrupts a driver to be spoken to.

Magistrate Philp said he paid little attention to the defence witnesses except for Delaire. He said he thought neither driver was keeping a proper lookout.

Ex-Rail Chief Drayton Dies

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP)— A former Canadian Finance Minister died Monday as the country's railway system, whose difficulties he once helped to solve, lay paralyzed by a strike.

It was as chairman and chief commissioner of the Dominion Railway Commission that Sir Henry Drayton was knighted in 1915 for his work in organizing Canada's financially - harassed railroads into an efficient supply-line for the Allies in the First World War.

As Sir Henry died in his 82nd year at the Muskoka hotel where he was spending his vacation, the railways were grappling again with the problem he faced as railway commissioner from 1912 to 1918—how to operate its widely-extended lines successfully in a thinly-populated Dominion.

During the war years, he also served as a commissioner to deal with ocean freight rates, expedited shipment of food and supplies to Europe from Canada and the United States and directed evacuation of women and children from Europe to the United Kingdom.

After the war, Sir Henry entered the Unionist Cabinet of Sir Robert Borden as Finance Minister and Receiver-General, playing a prominent part in Canada's post-war reconstruction. His term ended with the defeat of the Conservative Government of Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen in 1921, but he sat in the House of Commons as a private member until his retirement in 1928.

Prices Up Strongly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP). — Prices climbed strongly as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Leading industrials found strong support as traders forgot their wariness of recent sessions and moved in with buy orders. Volume for the first three hours was 670,000 shares.

Paper stocks led the industrial climb. Reports indicate that the paper companies, generally, have been able to continue operations despite the rail strike. Traders at first, felt that this group of companies was especially vulnerable. Steels also gained and agricultures, textiles and refining oils brightened. Aluminum was the outstanding gainer, rising 2⅛ to a new high at 84¾.

Base metals broke through into new high ground with United Keno Hill, Noranda and International Nickel leading the way. The list last week sold at the highest average price levels as measured by th exchange's index, since 1937.

Western oils, yesterday's feature, bounced well ahead in early dealings but encountered mild profit-taking as the session progressed. Gains ranged up to about 10 cents.

Golds were quiet and slightly firmer with a handful of junior gold producers adding pennies.

The bagpipers were resplendent in kilts and sporrans, with cocky Glengarries perched on their heads.

As the music ended, a bull-necked Sergeant-Major waved a stick and shouted at his men: "get back there, Baker company. Get back to your gear."

And the men began shouldering their packs and weapons to disembark.

Teacher Shortage Ends

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP)—A 17-per-cent increase in the number of graduates from Ontario's normal schools has ended fears of a shortage of teachers in the province, Education Minister Porter told a directors' luncheon at the Canadian National Exhibition Monday.

break-through still existing in the east.

Under Heavy Pressure

The British troops, first of a large group of ground forces officially promised by other members of the United Nations, arrived at a moment when the United Nations line—held until now by United States and South Korean infantrymen—was under heavy pressure on its northeast wing. And a giant Communist offensive plainly was building for another and possibly the greatest effort to smash through the whole position.

MacArthur's spokesman described the quick-changing situation on the east coast as confused.

South Korean troops attacking hard for the second day drove forward near Kigye, one of the keys of the allied communication system in the east.

AP correspondent Don Huth at United States eighth army headquarters in Korea quoted front dispatches as saying Kigye had been recaptured. But MacArthur's headquarters said the South Koreans appeared to have reached a point west and northwest of Kigye.

Smash Ahead

They straightened their lines and wiped out a Communist pocket occupying high ground. The Reds hammered the position Monday night but failed to attack. Tuesday the South Koreans smashed ahead to the new positions.

But on their right the Reds sent a patrol to the outskirts of Pohang. The South Koreans wiped out the patrol. Pressure there appeared to be lessening.

American naval and ground artillery concentrated around Pohang pounded the North Korean troops. A naval spokesman said Marine fighter pilots added the weight of their bombs and rockets to the battle.

The Red forces described by American intelligence as "security regiments" were reinforcing the North Korean units attacking Pohang. They were estimated at 6,000 men. An intelligence officer said their assignment normally is to guard rearguard areas.

Fighting On All Fronts

Fighting raged along the whole northern face of the defence wall. The spokesman said the ground there, particularly south of Uinang, 22 miles north of Taegu, offers the easiest avenue for a break-through. Wider valleys than the Kumhwa "bowling alley," where the Reds were defeated last week, lead south toward Taegu.

The Reds hit one South Korean division with a powerful attack Monday and drove forward 2½ miles near the village of Hwabon. The Red attack was halted Tuesday. But American intelligence reported signs of reinforcements for the Communists in the rear. Two Communist divisions — the 13th and 15th—are not far away. The officer said they could be quickly brought into action in the event of a break-through.

The spokesman believed the focus of the expected offensive would be definitely determined as soon as the crack North Korean 2nd Division, now refitting in the rear, is returned to the battleline.

Heading For Front

Traffic moved from Red back areas to both these sectors Tuesday. A heavy movement of pedestrians, likely bearing disassembled guns and war supplies, headed toward the front.

In order to prevent Lt.-Gen. Walton H. Walker, U.S. 8th Army commander, from pulling units out of one part of the line to backstop the others, intelligence officers said the Reds would try to keep the whole 120-mile long perimeter under pressure at the same time.

The newly-arrived British brigade may give the American commander an extra force that can plug any hole that may develop.

"You will be asked to approve additional appropriations for national defence and the meeting of our obligations under the United Nations charter and the North Atlantic treaty."

It was learned that Prime Minister St. Laurent planned to introduce the strike legislation in the Commons shortly after the Governor-General opens the third session of the 21st parliament with the reading of the speech from the throne.

The legislation would be proceeded with immediately.

Find Missing Plane

EDMONTON, Aug. 29 (CP)—A light plane missing in Northern British Columbia since Sunday has been found at Finlay Forks, B.C., and its three occupants are uninjured, the RCAF reported Monday night.

TRANS-CANADA HIGHWAY

The present Trans-Canada highway has no grade in excess of five per cent and no curve in excess of four degrees.

Stealing Car Noisy Business

EDMONTON —(CP)— George Federuk may have the most handsome automobile in Edmonton but it is certainly the most theft-proof. It's equipped with a burglar alarm.

At the first sign of tampering the car horn will begin to blow. If one tries to open the doors or the hood the horn will blow. Put your foot on the starter and once again the horn will blow.

When the proper ignition key is used the alarm system connecting the hood, trunk and starter is turned off.

The entire system is connected to the battery and you can't reach that without lifting the hood. So there's absolutely no hope for anyone bent on stealing Federuk's 1940 model car.

"The door alarm can prove very embarassing," says Federuk. "Even I can't get in without sounding the horn."

Government Asks

that the mere fact that such an instruction has been placed before parliament will be sufficient to bring the strike to an end.

If the disputants settle their differences before the time limit set for appointment of a government arbitrator, parliamentary sources suggest the legislation likely will be modified and its terms softened.

The offer to which the bill refers was believed to be that laid before the unions by the railways in the final series of negotiations that collapsed Saturday night.

Last Offer

This contains:

1. A four-cents-an-hour increase to become effective Sept. 1, 1950.

2. A five-day, 40-hour week to begin Sept. 1, 1951.

3. A two-year contract to run from Sept. 1, 1950.

4. There would be no overtime pay up to 48 hours a week in the event of a national emergency.

5. Hotel and water-transport employees of the railways would not be included in the main terms of the agreement but would be given a separate one-year contract effective Sept. 1, 1950, and providing for an increase of two cents an hour.

6. Certain rule amendments sought by the railways originally as a necessary prerequisite to their compromise offers, would be negotiated separately.

Unions Holding Out

At that stage of negotiations, the unions were holding out for a seven cents an hour wage increase effective June 1 last.

They also wanted the 40-hour week with the same take-home pay as for the present 48 to become effective next June 1—three months before the date proposed by the companies—but they were willing to accept a three-months' "transitional period" during which no overtime would be payable up to 48 hours a week.

The unions were insistent, too, that the hotel and water-transport employees should be included in the main terms of any settlement.

Meanwhile, parliament tomorrow will embark on three sittings daily.

This was arranged Monday night by Prime Minister St. Laurent in a meeting with leaders of the three Opposition parties.

Mr. St. Laurent outlined the procedure the Government plans to follow, gave the Opposition Leaders a summary of the railway situation and is believed to have acquainted them with the substance — but not the precise terms—of the government's strike legislation.

Up to Government

A Liberal Party caucus has been called for 6 p.m., when the legislation undoubtedly will be discussed. However, the Bill will come before Parliament before it goes before the party caucus because Mr. St. Laurent feels this is a situation in which the government itself must take full responsibility.

The Cabinet met this morning to clean up final details for the session.

Parliament is expected to follow this procedure today:

The two Chambers— Commons and Senate— will meet in Senate Chamber at 3 p.m., to hear the reading of the Throne Speech by the Governor-General.

The Commons then will return to its own quarters and, with the briefest of formalities dispensed with, Mr. St. Laurent will introduce the strike legislation. It will be proceeded with immediately.

Tributes to deceased members and debate on the Throne Speech will be deferred, probably until tomorrow.

Rushed to Ottawa in the last few days with the help of airline priorities and a government airlift, members of parliament are on hand in the usual strength. There have been no reports of absences because of lack of transportation.

The union chiefs said Monday that if this action calls for the men to go back to work and resume negotiations while the railways are running, they will do it.

This undertaking came in an interview from Frank H. Hall, who leads the 90,000 international union members involved, and A. R. Mosher, chief spokesman for the 34,000 Canadian-union members on strike.

"If a law is passed ordering the men to go back, they will obey it but they won't like it," Mr. Hall said with the concurrence of Mr. Mosher.

Against Dictatorship

Meanwhile, the Canadian Congress of Labor, which Mr. Mosher heads, and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada issued a call to all their approximately 850,000 members to rally against any "arbitrary and dictatorial" government measures to end the rail strike.

"Let the government know that the people's parliament is not to be used as a bludgeon in the interest of private corporate enterprise," the congresses advised all their member organizations in a letter asking them to hold joint mass rallies supporting the rail strikers in every community.

In addition, the major labor unions, in a statement issued today urged strongly that the principle of compulsory arbitration be not allowed to apply in the present railway strike

The statement was issued jointly by Percy R. Bengough president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada; Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor; Gerard Picard, president of the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, and A. J. Kelly, chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee of the Railway Running Trades.

It described compulsory arbitration as an embryo form of "police state," and said it would lead to 'illegal and wildcat' strikes and involve industrial relations in politics.

B.C. Meets B.C. On Scottish Trip

EDINBURGH—(CP)—Youthful John Fraser of Vancouver felt right at home when he visited Edinburgh with a party of Canadian air cadets.

Heading the welcoming party was Cmdr. Charles Donaldson, also of Vancouver.

Donaldson, who now works for a Scottish tourist bureau, is a graduate of Vancouver's King George School—from which Fraser has just received his senior matriculation.

Fraser is a warrant officer first class and has been with the 135 (Vancouver) squadron since February, 1946.

Suffolk Farmhand Hatches Two Eggs

KNODDISHALL, Suffolk, Eng. —(CP)—Will Charter, 60, became a foster parent to two pheasant chicks while harvesting at a local farm.

The mother pheasant was accidentally killed, leaving a nest of 11 unhatched eggs. Will put the eggs in his shirt and carried them home.

On the way two chicks hatched. "I felt a few little pecks at my tummy," said Willy.

An obliging hen hatched out the other nine chicks.

Robin Builds Nest On Mechanical Ride

CALGARY—(CP)—Two baby robins hatched at a Calgary amusement park were flying before they were out of their nest. Mother Robin built her nest in one of the supporting arms of a mechanical ride.

For several hours a day the ride whirled its plane-type seats around at a dizzy speed. But the nest remained firm and the birds soon got used to it.

When Mother Robin first built the nest the ride operators tore it out. But the persistent bird rebuilt the nest. The operators then left well enough alone.

Stephen Harrington Funeral At Windsor

The funeral service for Stephen Harrington, 73, of Windsor, and formerly of Peterborough, who died on August 23 at his home, was held Friday at Our Lady of the Rosary Church at 9 a.m. Windsor. Burial was in St. Alphonse Cemetery.

He leaves his widow, Katherine O'Reilly Harrington, two sons Michael of Windsor and Stephen Jr. of Riverside, four daughters, Mrs. Leo Killen (Pearl) of Windsor, Mrs. John McGarritty (Nora) and Mrs. Charles Graham (Eileen), both of Detroit, and Mrs. Maurice Beausoliel (Theodora), three sisters, Mrs. Maurice O'Connor of Detroit, Mrs. James Hoar of Peterborough, and Mrs. Elizabeth Ducie of Toronto.

St. Pierre Renews Navigation Aids

ST. PIERRE —(CP)— This French-owned island off the south coast of Newfoundland has the best system of navigational lights on the North American continent, according to a government official here.

During the last two years, renewed interest in the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon by the French government has seen a complete overhawl of the light and fog alarm system here and the most modern equipment available has been installed at most danger points.

Most up to date is the light on Gallantry Head on the south coast of the island. It is an important beacon for transatlantic shipping. The Gallantry Head station is in operations 24 hours a day.

Pilot Shortage

MONTREAL —(CP)— A shortage of pilots is plaguing ship captains on the St. Lawrence. Capt. Alfred Levesque, superintendent of pilots here, says the shortage is caused by retirements and sickness. An appeal for mariners has been sent out.

Hungry Fish

MAGPIE, Ont. —(CP)— Fish story of the week: Steve Evans threw a line in the Magpie River here and a huge northern pike ran away with the plug. Evans replaced the lost plug and cast again. Half-an-hour later he reeled in a pike with his original plug dangling from its mouth.

U.S. Files Suit For 14 Million Against Vessel

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29 — (AP).) — The United States on Monday filed a maritime libel action asking $14,000,000 damages from the Luckenbach line as a result of the sinking of the hospital ship Benevolence on Friday night.

The suit, filed in Federal District Court, also asked seizure of the freighter Mary Luckenbach, which collided with the Benevolence in a dense fog off San Francisco's Golden Gate.

Eighteen persons are known to have died as a result of the crash. Thirteen others are unaccounted for pending a final check, and 492 persons were rescued.

The government's libel action listed eight counts of alleged negligence on the part of the freighter's officers in charge. These are:

Excessive speed on the part of the freighter; failure to sound any or proper whistle at the time of the collision; failure to have on watch proper lookouts; failure to have on watch competent officers attentive to their duties; failure of the ship to change course to avoid the collision, as provided by the applicable rules and law, failure of the freighter to keep on her own starboard side of the channel; failure to stop her engines and reverse in time to avoid the smash-up; and failure to use her radar or other navigational aids to avoid the crash.

Hoard Elected Chandos Reeve

Clive Hoard, a former councillor, is the new reeve of Chandos. In Monday's election for the reeveship he edged out the other candidate, Edward Everett.

The poll is reported to have been a very small one. At press time early today the total vote was not available as telephone lines were out.

Glen Nichols, reeve of Chandos for the past two years, resigned in June as he was moving into Peterborough. This forced an election in the township.

A familiar face in municipal politics has returned to take the vacant seat in council. He is Albert Hall, reeve of Chandos for nine years, who temporarily left politics two years ago.

Mr. Hall went in by acclamation taking the place of Mr. Everett, a sitting councillor.

The complete Chandos council is now: Clive Hoard, reeve; and councillors Theodore and Lewis Post, Albert Hall and George Tanner.

John Henry Gravelle

The funeral service for John Henry Gravelle, 71, of Bridgenorth, who died in a Peterborough hospital Wednesday, was held on Saturday from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral, where requiem mass was said at 9 a.m. The celebrant of the mass was the Rev. J. J. Garvey. In the sanctuary was the Rev. V. J. Gillogly.

The pallbearers were Harry Gravelle, Gilbert Gravelle, Peter Gravelle, Phillip Gravelle, Peter Gravelle, Sr., and Irwin Emery.

Interment was in St. Peter's cemetery. Graveside prayers were said by Father Garvey.

Newsprint Mills Amazed, Still Operating

By Forbes Rhude
Canadian Press Business Editor

Thus far in the week-old rail strike, Canadian newsprint mills have remained in operation.

This is contrary to what was expected early in the tie-up, when it was thought some closures would come quickly. They have been avoided, it is stated in circles close to the industry, by "amazing methods" of operation and storage.

Canadian mills produce about 102,000 tons of newsprint in six working days, of which some 76,000 tons ordinarily is shipped by rail.

In the last week this tonnage has been taken care of mostly by extraordinary storage but also to some degree by substitute shipping methods, including the use of trucks, ships and barges in increasing measure.

They are, in major degree, expedients, and are, of course, far from replacing rail shipments; but it still appears that most mills can operate two or three weeks, though their may be some shutdowns this week.

Surprise Themselves

Newsprint men say the mills have "surprised themselves and have learned some things which may continue in practice when normal service is available."

There probably has been some falling off from peak production in the emergent conditions; and to the extent that this is so there will be that much less newsprint. It can't be made up by extra production later, because mills ordinarily are working at capacity anyway.

Also, when rail service resumes, many other industries will be competing for cars and it will take a while to catch up on normal movements to market.

However, at the end of July United States publishers had 41 days' supply on hand, and any early end to the strike should prevent hardship.

Allow Army Unload Cement For Huts

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 29 (CP)— Members of the Canadian Army were Monday allowed to cross picket lines of striking railroad employees here to unload 400 bags of cement for use in construction of huts at Barrifield Military Camp near Kingston.

The carload of cement was en route to Kingston when a mechanical breakdown stranded it on a Belleville siding last Monday. Local 126 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (CCL) agreed to let the Army unload their portion of the shipment if the Defence Department would issue an order stating the cement was for necessary construction.

Council Agrees To Move Meters

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 — (ENS)—The parking meters are to be removed from the streets by the town and the Mi-Co Meter Company's engineer will come to Campbellford to remove the standards and repair the sidewalks, after the town has taken down the meter heads.

Boxes and crates have been sent to Campbellford by the meter company for the town council to return the meter heads to Montreal. This was decided upon at a meeting of the town council Monday, when a letter from the meter company, asking that these arrangements be carried out, was read.

Following the removal of the meters, which are being taken away after a year's trial period, a new parking bylaw was passed.

There are few changes but one obselete clause pertaining to the parking of mares, stallions, geldings and jackasses, was dispensed with. The bylaw regulates downtown parking to one hour.

The council decided to add $250 deductable collision insurance to the insurance covering the town truck.

807 Children Lost In Day At Exhibition

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP) — Some 807 children found their way to the lost children's shelter. By midnight, 25 of them were still unclaimed. With tags around their necks, they were sent home in taxis.

For tired officials, it was all part of children's day at the Canadian National Exhibition.

In spite of the thousands of children who poured over the big grounds, attendance for the day—172,000—was 25,500 below the same day last year. It left the CNE with a total attendance of 546,000 so far, 18,000 below attendance for the first three days of last year.

Sports events today provide one of the big attractions in today's CNE program.

Topping a program that includes championship archery competitions, softball and waterskiing demonstrations is the men's 15-mile professional swimming race for the championship of the world. A total of 70 crack marathoners had entered the event seeking close to $13,000 in prizes.

Took Over Grounds

Undeterred by heavily-overcast skies, youngsters big and small literally took the CNE grounds over Monday. They swarmed onto the midway, tramped through miles of industrial and educational exhibits, and both watched and participated in swimming and track meets, yo-yo competitions and even for special prizes for the boys and girls with the most freckles.

Except for occasional thundershowers, the weather man treated the youngsters pretty well. The majority of youngsters—weary-legged and sleepy-eyed—had tumbled into bed before a near-cloudburst flooded the grounds just as the late stragglers were heading for the exit gates.

Beat Her To It

WESTWOOD, Mass., Aug. 29 — (AP) — Catherine O'Riley, of Somerville, Mass.—after years of scrimping and saving for the great moment—was all set to move into her new home. But when she arrived, she told police, she found that thieves had stripped it of all its furnishings, leaving nothing removable but a bedroom set. Miss O'Riley is a totally-disabled paraplegic war veteran.

BRIGADIER COACHES—Brig. J. M. (Rocky) Rockingham, commander of Canada's Special Force slated for United Nations work in Korea, makes his first inspection of the artillery men of his brigade. He gives some pointers in marksmanship to Gunner N. L. Urquhart of Verdun, Que., during his tour of the Shilo, Man., camp.

Church Honors Rev. Greenwood

Rev. W. B. Greenwood, who has pastored the Pentecostal Church for the last four years, has resigned, and will preach his farewell services on September 3. He and his wife and daughter Donna will leave for their new home in Belleville next Tuesday.

Monday night, there was a farewell gathering at the YMCA when about 100 were present from the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church congregation. They had a pleasant time with an impromptu program. Mr. Ray Bishop was master of ceremonies. Mr. Frank Cunningham led in several choruses and there were solos, duets and a trio. A couple of readings were heard.

The Rev. and Mrs. Greenwood and Donna were invited to the front. A fine address was read and a presentation made. A lovely bouquet of roses was presented to Mrs. Greenwood, Miss Donna received a beautiful locket for which she thanked the people and said: "I do not want to leave Peterborough." Mr. Greenwood was presented with a large diploma as a reward for work and schooling in Peterborough. When the large roll was opened it was found to have on it the words, "God Bless You" written with 85 dollar bills and a fan of new dollar bills, 10 in number.

Mrs. Greenwood thanked the people and spoke of her stay in Peterborough and of how hard it is to leave the lovely home that the church had provided. Mr. Greenwood also spoke with thanks and appreciation for the privilege of ministering to a fine group of loyal Christian workers. Lunch was served by the ladies.

Rev. Mr. Greenwood has been acting as district superintendent for the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada in the district of Eastern Ontario and Quebec for the year. At the last district conference he was asked to leave his pastorate in Peterborough and enter full-time in the work of assisting and supervising the churches in this district. They expect to build about 10 new churches this year.

The new pastor coming to Peterborough will be Rev. Fred H. Parlee from St. John, NB, and he will be here to take up his new duties September 16. He has a wife and three children. Mr. Parlee besides being a gifted preacher is a gifted musician and noted radio preacher.

Baptist Union To Investigate Quebec Arrests

MONTREAL, Aug. 29—(CP)— The Rev. J. R. Armstrong, of Montreal, secretary-treasurer of the Union of Regular Baptists of Ontario and Quebec, said he will leave today for Val d'Or, Que., to make a personal investigation of incidents which have sent 12 Baptist evangelists to the Abitibi county jail in recent weeks.

Mr. Armstrong said the evangelists had been put in jail "on the technical charge of "obstructing traffic." Actually there had been no such obstruction, he said.

He said a report will be made public after his investigation.

"We feel we now are going to have to make the whole matter known," Mr. Armstrong said. He said he would visit Baptist evangelists in jail and other northwestern Quebec communities where disturbances have been reported.

He said a protest had been made to Justice Minister Garson who is reported to have said the matter was one for provincial authorities. He did not say if a protest had been made to the provincial attorney-general.

English Couple Marks Fiftieth Anniversary

NORWOOD Aug. 29 (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLoughlin of Walney Island Barrow-in-Furness, England, parents of Mrs. Lionel H. Edmunds, Norwood, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary recently.

About 100 people attended a party and included the mayor, Ald. Mrs. P. Winn and country councillor G. H. Foster.

The Co-Operative Guild, of which Mrs. McLoughlin is a member, presented a gold brooch to Mrs. McLoughlin and tobacco to Mr. McLoughlin.

A founder member of the local branch of the Old Age Pensioners, Mrs. McLoughlin was presented with a bouquet at an afternoon meeting.

Fournier Returns

QUEBEC, Aug. 29 (CP). — Works Minister Fournier arrived here Monday aboard the Empress of Scotland on his way to Ottawa to attend an emergency session of parliament, called to study the railway strike. Accompanied by Mrs. Fournier, the Minister was returning from Geneva where he represented Canada at meetings of the United Nations' Economic and Social Council, July 3-Aug. 16.

Blame Shortage Of Milk On Margarine

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Shortages of fresh milk in many Canadian cities during winter months may result from increasing competition of margarine with dairy products, the Dairy Farmers of Canada said Monday.

In a brief to the conference of Provincial Ministers of Agriculture, the council said a steady deterioration in the dairy situation would result in eventual milk shortages unless a ban were placed on the manufacture and sale of margarine.

The brief said butter takes about half the milk produced in Canada. If butter consumption decreased, the demand for milk would decrease in proportion. Less demand would mean smaller herds and the result would be shortage of fluid milk and higher prices in the low-yield winter months.

Erect Stop Sign

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 — (ENS)— A stop sign is to be placed at Kent and Wellington Sts., following a decision of the town council Monday evening.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO...

100 Years Ago, Lumbering Was The Leading Industry In Peterborough County.

The glamour and romance of logging days on the Otonabee have gone, when rafts of "squared Pine" passed through Peterborough on their way to Quebec and on to England for naval uses. Motor trucks and improved roads have made possible sawmill locations nearer the sources of supply.

Peterborough County and its forested areas still contribute substantial supplies of lumber to the industry. The Peterborough Lumber Company and its predecessor the Dickson Company have been "lumbering" over 110 years.

We hope you will enjoy reading about our operations in Peterborough County and City and that through this medium, we will be able to place before you, our ability and experience to serve your interest and need when it is Lumber or Building Supplies — as we have for over the last 110 years.

Railway Men And Their Unions Are Not Goats

In their bewilderment and anger over the railway stoppage people are saying harsh things about the railway workers. There has to be a goat in every bad situation and the workers and their unions have been made it for the simple reason that if the workers were not out, and the unions had not proclaimed a strike, there would have been no disruption of Canadian life. We point out the following as a splash of cool water on hot tempers, without at all moving from our stand that, first, the situation should never have come to the impasse of a strike, secondly, the railways must be opened to traffic immediately, and thirdly, Parliament must devise some means whereby the complete railway system of Canada shall never again be immobilized.

• • •

The 125,000 non-operating union men, and tens of thousands of other railway workers involved, represent a large chunk of Canadian citizenry. As a group they are respected, patriotic people. They and their families are good, staunch citizens. For instance, when Communists tried to get into the few picket lines which the railway men have set up, they were forcibly removed by the proper pickets. The railway unions have long since freed themselves from Communist influence and do not want their name to be tarnished by Reds.

• • •

There has never been a general railway strike in Canada before. The last rail strike, by the old Grand Trunk employees, took place as long ago as forty years (July and August of 1910). This railway company, now part of the C.N.R. system, paid its employees lower wages than the C.P.R. and the workers were striking for equalization of rates. All these years the railway unions have had a high sense of responsibility. Canada has been pretty free of the threats of strikes and the strikes which have badgered the U.S.A.

• • •

The chief union leaders are men of ability and not rabble-mongers. It is a great pity that on the Monday night (August 21st), the strike could not have been averted, when the gap between the union leaders and the Company executives was so nearly closed through the efforts of the Government mediator Dr. Mackintosh. Pretty sharp criticism was levelled at both groups by Dr. Mackintosh when he reported that both unions and management displayed a "childish" attitude, marked by bitterness. Dr. Mackintosh, an academic, restrained man, does not exaggerate. If he found them childish and bitter, they were. It was not the occasion for such attitudes.

• • •

It is being widely said that the striking railway men are the highest paid workers in Canada. This is not true. The men who actually operate the trains have long had a very favourable position in Canadian labour. Their wages are relatively high. But it is not these men who are on strike for higher pay and shorter hours. It is the non-operating workers. Elsewhere on this page we publish a summary of wages paid railway men. It will be noted that ordinary railway labourers get 85 cents an hour, labourers in packinghouses 98 cents an hour. The Steel Company of Canada pays $1.02; the coal mines in Alberta $1.26 an hour. The Canadian General Electric company's minimum hourly rate in Peterborough for unskilled male workers who have been in its employ two months is $1.02.

• • •

In the negotiations up to the eve of the strike, the railway companies offered the workers a five-day week effective October 1, 1951, with the same take-home pay as for six days; a wage increase of four cents an hour effective almost immediately, and bonuses for increases in the cost-of-living. Nevertheless, the negotiations broke down, and now Parliament has to step in.

• • •

We are interested in seeing that the railway workers get a fair deal, but the first consideration must be for the welfare of the people of Canada as a whole. The railway companies are not gold-minters, as the Canadian taxpayers know who have subsidized them since 1867. It happens, too, that the railways are essential services on a national scale. Somehow or other the railways must be kept in continuous operation. If this involves denying railway workers the right to strike, then they must be deprived of it. However, other means may be found without undermining a creed so dear to union men. (And what democratic government can force a man to work?) If Parliament has to enact special legislation restrictive to railway workers it is because their job is special. The strike has demonstrated that a general work stoppage on the railways cannot be permitted. Whatever way Parliament wields the big stick this week is for the good of the whole country. It arises from need, not from bitterness or anger directed against the railway workers or their unions.

Needless Mercy Missions

An American flying a small plane over the Atlantic set down in the sea a hundred miles out from New York and was taken on board by a Polish liner. The captain of the liner radioed the Coast Guard to come and pick up the American and his plane. The Coast Guard refused.

We think that the Coast Guard quite properly refused to waste its time and the people's money chasing a hundred miles out to sea to pick up some creature who had no business being there, and was already safe. An urgent, humanely inescapable mission of mercy is a different matter. At such times and for such purposes the cost should not be counted.

There have been in Canada during the last several years quite a few calls on army or naval doctors, Government departments and others for aid to rescue the perishing or heal the wounded in hinterlands or at sea. Some of the calls have been unnecessary: the doctors or rescuers have been flown in at great risk to themselves and the air crew, the patient was being looked after anyway, the doctor could do no more, and the cost of such an expedition has amounted to ten or twenty thousand dollars.

Last year a Canadian naval surgeon was called out to sea on a "mercy mission" to do a routine operation on an appendix. Among the passengers on the afflicted person's ship were some D.P. doctors, fully trained and as able to do the job as the naval surgeon. But they were not licensed to practise. The cost of that expedition, a cost borne by the taxpayers of Canada, was reputed to have been $20,000.

We are growing a little tired of these "mercy missions" to the Arctic or the wastes of the Atlantic. Because an Eskimo or bushwhacker who is already dying of senility or tuberculosis cracks his toe-nail is no reason for the Canadian people to send a doctor flying 4,000 miles up and back, at the risk of his and the crew's necks, and at great public expense.

Blow Away

An advertisement in the Nippon Times, a Tokyo daily, receives a good-humoured snort from the Kingston Whig-Standard. The Pearl House, located two blocks from the Ernie Pyle Theatres pushes its wares thus: "Dear Ladies: Do you want Shoes? We have them. Do you want Dresses? We have them. Do you want Nylons? We have them. So you want Cosmetics? We have them. We have practically everything in ladies ready-to-wear, shoes, jewelry, cosmetics Styles: Terrific! Prices: Low! Low! Low Your Boat!"

It is the language learned of Ernie Pyle's America, piled into an overloaded boat. Blow, blow, blow the ad down

The Far-Flungs Arrive

Getting M.P.'s together on short notice in this sprawling country is a big chore—as big as getting M.P.'s of the U.K. parliament together, for instance. Not that the bigness of Canada presents unusual difficulties. People can go from Vancouver to Ottawa in a shorter time than it takes a train to bring a British M.P. from Glasgow to London. But M.P.'s, like others, go off to visit relatives in some mountain or forest fastness; others hide away at fishing in some remote lake; yet others travel to the corners of the world. So the call to Parliament caught up with Mr. George Drew somewhere in Italy. Leon D. Crestohl, Liberal M.P. for Montreal Cartier was on board the east-bound Empress of France, and destined to visit Israel. He reached London Friday afternoon at three o'clock, and three hours later was on his way back to Canada by plane. At least he had time for afternoon tea in England. Today, the M.P.'s are back in Ottawa, ready to discuss a remote peninsula in Asia, and the railways of this country which none of them used in their flight to the capital.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We are not at all startled by the reports of the tremendous speeds of planes, even if a jet may some day take off from London with passengers who have already lunched, and arrive in New York in time for an eleven o'clock cup of morning coffee. Why, ten years ago firms were advertising "The car of tomorrow Here today". Jets won't go as fast as that.

Mei Lan-Fang "King of Actors"

By O. M. GREEN

A NOTE from Peking that Mei Lan-fang has been appointed with acclamations dean of the Chinese Opera Research Institute has an interest for many far beyond China.

For Mei Lan-fang "King of Actors" as he was acclaimed many years ago by an overwhelming majority of Chinese theatrical connoisseurs, had a world reputation before the war. In the Chinese theatre female roles are taken by men, and Mei in the heyday of his career was the greatest of female impersonators. In 1930 he visited America where he had an almost royal progress and was made a D.Litt. by the University of California. A few years later he was invited to act in Moscow and other European capitals.

He is a skilful painter as well as actor. He has acted in 400 plays of which he wrote 100 himself. Most remarkable achievement of all, he has raised the status of actors, traditionally regarded in China as (with barbers) the lowest of all social ranks, to one in which its members mingle in polite salons and may bandy words with scholars.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHERE exactly the line is to be drawn between opera and drama in China it seems difficult to say. The Chinese theatre is very old, springing in early days (say 4,000 years ago) from the union of dance and song that is found in folk history all over the world. Under the Han dynasty (roughly 200 B.C. to 200 A.D.) the acting of definite stories began. Then came the heroic drama of the T'ang dynasty; the introduction of singing in the Sung dynasty (A.D. 960-1119); and then the grand age of the Mongol Emperors when amid hundreds of plays still in performance (if the Communists have not banned them as "not serving the purposes of the revolution") some of the masterpieces of Chinese playwriting were produced.

✧ ✧ ✧

TO this period belongs the favourite "Little Orphan of the House of Tchao" on which Voltaire afterwards founded his "L'Orphelin de Chine"; and "The Western Chamber", which might be described as the Chinese parallel to Tristan and Isolde, and Romeo and Juliet. An English translation of "The Western Chamber" was published shortly before the war by S. I. Hsiung, who also brought to English and Continental theatres that delightful comedy "Lady Precious Stream", attributed by some to the Mongol age, though others put it much farther back.

✧ ✧ ✧

SINCE the Mongol dynasty no great novelty has occurred. In modern times women have begun to appear on the stage, but modern plays are poor stuff.

But in the vast majority of Chinese plays music is as important as the dialogue, if not more so, and in many of them ballet, too. A Chinese stage fight is pure ballet, in which the actors armed with huge swords perform the most intricate gyrations and somersaults, thrilling to behold.

Chinese music is hard on most Western ears. The basic instruments, flutes, mouth organs, with 17 pipes, and stringed instruments resembling zithers and immature violins sound to most non-Chinese very thin. But on the stage they are reinforced and the dialogue punctuated with drums, bells, trumpets and cymbals, which make a terrific row.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE singing too, is strange. The actors who play the female roles cultivate a falsetto, rising as high as any Patti or Melba. Mei Lan-fang was particularly famous for his singing which roused his audiences to wild enthusiasm. Such moments prove that, after all, Chinese audiences are paying attention to what happens on the stage. For the strangest part of a Chinese theatre is the apparently uninterested behaviour of the audience, talking, cracking melon seeds, drinking tea, and continually mopping their faces with hot towels.

✧ ✧ ✧

TWO thousand five hundred years ago Confucius edited 1,800 folk songs that had descended from antiquity and rejected all those of an improper character. He was the first Dr. Bowdler (19th century editor who expurgated Shakespeare) in history. It is perhaps for this reason that Chinese plays are rich in moral purpose, suffering emerges triumphant, villainy is suitably punished. But all classes of society come within the playwright's scope and the characterization is rich and vivid.

As is, perhaps, generally known, there is no scenery; a curtain, a few cushions, and stools, these are the main "props", arranged as required by the attendants in full view of the audience. But the mime of Chinese actors is as graphic as their dresses are gorgeous. And with a little practice one may tell at a glance what each character is going to do (he also kindly announces himself on entering). The heroine is dressed in flowing robes and undulates as she walks to indicate grace and innocence; the hero has red and white cheeks (for youthfulness) and walks with manly stride; the warrior pads his chest to enormous size, he is heavily bearded and speaks in a deep throaty roar; and so on.

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR all the strange accoutrements of the Chinese theatre and the unfamiliar language, great acting in it is as discernible as on any stage in the world. In private life Mei Lan-fang is a quiet, unassuming man, who likes Western clothes. On the stage he is transfigured, the depth of emotion he displays, the realism of the character that he portrays thrill one through and through. So it was too with another great female impersonator, Cheng Yan-chu: some put him above Mei Lan-fang, especially in his singing. What can one say but that they were different (they are too old now to act) yet each in his own way supreme?

There have been two or three cultural conferences in the past twelve months in Peking, at which writers, artists and theatrical and cinema managers were pledged "to serve the cause of the revolution". Mei Lan-fang was mentioned as being present. One hardly visualizes him as a Communist. He happens to be a very genuine philanthropist and has probably thrown in his lot with the new rulers because, like many other intellectuals, he sees in them a real hope of better days for China.

AUGUST 29

1920 A $300 fire damages the Lindsay fire hall while all the brigade but the chief are at church.

The price of sugar here drops $2.00 a hundredweight to $18.75.

L.O.L. 80 holds a moonlight excursion 15 miles down the Otonabee River.

1930 Sugar is selling in Peterborough stores now at $4.75 a bag.

B. W. Edwards of Warren, Ohio, catches a 27-pound muskie while fishing off Oak Orchard.

1940 Six English children, evacuated because of the war, arrive here and are entrusted to the care of the Children's Aid Society.

Major James Turnbull is named second in command of the S. D. & G. Highlanders.

The death occurs in Toronto of Walter Strickland, 77, a former resident of Lakefield.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us. Hereby know we that dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit....

And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him. Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgement: because as he is, so are we in this world. (I John 4: 12, 13, 16, 17.)

Wages Which Were Paid the Striking Railway Men

(Ed. Note: The following summary was prepared by the Ottawa Journal from official statistics supplied by the Department of Labour.)

WAGES formerly paid members of the striking Canadian railroad unions, vary widely, according to the type of work the men are engaged on. Some are paid hourly rates, others daily rates, and earnings of other branches are calculated by the month.

Workers of the running trades which are not actually on strike—locomotive engineers, firemen, conductors, brakemen, baggage workers—but by union agreement will not cross strikers' picket lines, are calculated not by the hour or by day but per mile travelled.

Railway wage rates today are at the same level as in 1948, a year in which increases were granted almost all along the line. Nearly all classes of workers now on strike have been working on the basic eight-hour day with time and a half for overtime except for locomotive shops which work a 44-hour week.

Wages paid various branches of the striking unions are as follows, according to official Federal Government figures.

Telegraphic Services, per month:

Train despatchers	$313.36 to $355.36
Telegraph operators	$203.00 to $221.50
Agents	$213.00 to $233.50
Assistant agents	$156.00 to $162.50
Linemen	$227.50 to $250.00

Maintenance of Way (Sectionmen), per day:

Extra gang foremen	$8.66 to $9.16
Section foremen	$8.26 to $8.56
Sectionmen (classified)	$6.72 to $7.28
Sectionmen	$6.48 to $6.88
Signalmen	$6.64 to $6.80

Yardmen:

Foremen	$10.15 per day
Helpers	9.66 per day
Switch tenders	8.20 per day

Locomotive and Car Shops, per day:

Mechanics	$9.76
Other carmen	9.20
Helpers	7.92
Electricians	9.76
Electrician linemen	9.44
Electrical groundmen	8.96
Electrical operators	8.40
Coach cleaners	6.96
Shop labourers	$6.56 to $7.12

Union officials in their brief to the Federal conciliation board declared that wages paid labourers by railways were much lower than those paid labourers in other industries. The railway labourer is paid 85 cents an hour compared with 98 cents an hour for packinghouses, $1.04 an hour by the Steel Company of Canada, $1.02 an hour by McColl-Frontenac Oil, $1.15 an hour by the Chrysler Corporation at Windsor, and $1.26 an hour in the coal mines in Alberta.

Wages paid the "running trades" of the railways are considerably higher than other groups of railway workers, due to the hazard of their occupations and to the irregularity of their lives. Pay of the running trade workers is fixed by the mile. This is converted to a daily rate by multiplying the minimum daily rate by 150 for conductors, brakemen and baggagemen, and 100 for other running trades.

A "floor wage" of $10.23 per day is fixed under wages of locomotive engineers and $8.66 for firemen. Wages of engineers also depend on the size of the locomotive they drive. With large locomotives and lengthy runs, engineers and firemen's wages at times more than double the "floor" wage.

Mileage rates for some of the running trades are:

Freight engineers	10.2 to 11.2 cents
Passenger engineers	9.2 to 9.9 "
Freight firemen	8.2 to 9.7 "
Passenger firemen	7.7 to 8.6 "

Running trades whose mileage rates are multiplied by 150 for a minimum day's pay are:

Freight conductors	9.5 cents
Passenger conductors	6.9 "
Freight brakemen	8.1 "
Passenger brakemen	5.4 "
Baggagemen	5.5 "

Overtime is often a major factor in bringing the wages of the running trades to very substantial levels.

Wages paid to employees of C.N.R. hotels are complicated by the fact that value of meals consumed by employees is included in the daily or weekly pay-envelope. They are also complicated by the factor of tips which range from "chicken-feed" in some hotel positions to amounts equal to or more than salary in others. C.P.R. hotel staffs are not on strike.

Examples of hotel wages per week picked at random from official figures are:

Cooks (male)	$35 to $45
Cooks (female)	$26 to $30
Dishwashers (male)	$32
Dishwashers (female)	$27.50
Chambermaids	$27
Chefs	$70
Waiters	$35

Both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railway operate coastal and inland ships in addition to rail lines and hotels. Wages on these ships conform to standard scale in the industry. Examples of these wage categories all of which include board and lodging, are:

First officers or mates	$66 a week
Second engineers	$65 a week
Oilers	$40 a week
Cooks	$38 a week
Stewards (Chief)	$50 a week

Operators of buses which form part of the railway systems are paid in accordance with prevailing wages of the districts in which they are located.

How We Can Meet Our Defence Bills

(CALGARY HERALD)

LAST spring, Mr. Abbott forecast a budget surplus for 1950-51 of $20,000,000. By the end of July,—i.e. after four months,— the actual surplus of revenue over expenditure noted by the treasury was no less than $252,-900,000—almost as much as last year's, despite increased defence expenditures.

This surplus is not likely to last out the fiscal year. During last session, Parliament voted an additional $200,000,000 for defence, to permit some long-term contracts to be awarded, but did not expect much of this money to be spent during the current year. The increasing pace of rearmament means that a good deal of it will, in fact, be spent before the year is out; and the special session to be held in the fall will almost certainly vote additional funds on top of that.

Nevertheless, the present rate of defence spending will not absorb much more than the amount of the surplus, especially since the cost of the federal government (apart from the defence department) was cut by economy measures from $624,000,000 to $609,000,000 during the period from April to July.

This proves, at least, that the bureaucratic machine was carrying a good deal of fat which could be cut away without damaging efficiency. Now that the nation is about to be committed to much heavier defence expenditures, the government should look over the machine again and see where other economies could be effected. We suspect that if really determined economies were undertaken, the whole cost of the rebuilding of our defences could be found without resort to new and heavier taxation.

The nation is sound in wind and limb. As the editorial below points out, our foreign trade is as healthy as it has ever been. There is little doubt that we could take full-scale rearmament in our stride providing the government is prepared to dispense with a few non-essentials. What we cannot do is to spend vast new sums on defence and go on maintaining other government services as if they were the first and only charge on the taxpayer's pocket book.

The interim national balance sheet, therefore, contains valuable lessons for the government if it will take the trouble to read them. The lower taxes can be kept, the more buoyant the economy will be. The higher they are, the more discouragement there will be to incentive and the more upward pressure on our already-rising price structure. We hope the government will read the true meaning of its own arithmetic.

Farm Prices

(Ottawa Journal)

A report from the Ontario Department of Agriculture compares the average price received by Ontario farmers for their produce on July 15 in the years 1935 to 1939 with the price on July 15 this year. Most items more than doubled in that time, and some tripled, the sole exception being horses which dropped from $116.22 to $75.44—showing the extent to which Ontario farms have been mechanized in the past decade.

Letter To The Editor

ANOTHER POINT OF VIEW

Sir: In a recent issue of your publication appeared an interesting article by Richard F. Choate under the title "Channel blasted out in Rebellion years becoming closed area to Stony Lake visitors". Mr. George Douglas and I, who have long been interested in the Gilchrist Bay-Indian River region, journeyed to it today to see if all the statments and implications in Mr. Choate's article could be substantiated.

We found that Mr. L. A. Bryan is the lessee of the property, on which he has a store and a couple of furnished cabins to rent to tourists. Mr. Bryan is also caretaker of an adjoining property and cottage. The entire region is kept neat and clean, with sanitary toilet accommodations and facilities for garbage disposal, stoves for campers and picnickers, and wheels upon which fishermen's boats can be quickly portaged to Indian River and White Lake. Prior to these arrangements for supervision of the property the activities of campers in leaving camfires, garbage, etc., were a public nuisance and danger.

The name Gil-Crest Park, which Mr. Bryan has given to the locality, is pretty close to the proper pronunciation of "Gilchrist". Mr. Bryan says he gave it that name because strangers usually called it Gilchrist, with the Biblical name accented. The name Gilchrist will be perpetuated in the bay, and it is hardly essential that the park have the same name.

It is incorrect to say that the area is "becoming a closed area to Stony Lake visitors", for anyone, as in earlier times, may carry his canoe across the portage without charge or interference. Mr. Douglas has visited the region since 1887 and I have had contact with it for some 35 years, and we consider that Mr. Bryan is to be congratulated for providing a public service.

Sincerely yours,
EDWIN C. GUILLET.

Juniper Island.

Catch-Words

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

We too are prone to the use of such catchwords. Many of us use concepts such as "freedom", "democracy", "the free world", "socialism", and even "Communism", as mere abstractions to bridge the gulf between reasoned belief and mere feeling. This tendency rots both ideals and language. Ideals which cannot be defined in terms of our own systems of thought and belief cannot be defended either; and language which means nothing eventually will wither away. The Communists use "democracy" to describe the system of government they propound; we use "democracy" as a synonym for the system we prefer: Neither the Communists nor a large number of us admit that democracy is not an all-embracing, unchanging thing, but an attitude towards life, a way of living, which varies from person to person.

Compulsory Arbitration Danger Stressed By Labor Organizations

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP). — Following is the text of the statement issued today by a number of labor organizations regarding compulsory arbitration:

"The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the Canadian Congress of Labor, the Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, and the joint legislative committee of the railway running trades wish to make it very clear to the government and people of Canada that we all desire an early re-establishment of normal railway operations.

"At the same time we are unanimous in our desire to see a fair and reasonable settlement of all issues in the dispute. We do not believe that such a settlement can be brought about by compulsory arbitration. We are determined to do all that we can to forestall any such procedure being accepted as a practice in the settling of industrial disputes in Canada for railway, public service, or any other group of employees, under Federal jurisdiction.

"We are unalterably and unequivocally opposed to compulsory arbitration for the following reasons:

Extravagant Demands

"1. Compulsory arbitration removes the sense of responsibility which both unions and management have developed, but it is collective bargaining which has developed this sense of responsibility. Compulsory arbitration means the end of collective bargaining. Neither management nor unions will bargain in earnest when they know that the decision will ultimately be taken out of their hands. Responsibility will be shifted from the parties to a government-appointed tribunal, and both parties will be encouraged to make extravagant demands accordingly.

"2. Compulsory arbitration is no use unless the awards can be enforced. This might require substantial police action to make the workers remain on the job and work. Who will do the enforcing? How? We will not accept the police-state even in this embryo form.

"3. Compulsory arbitration would, in most cases, require the appointment of arbitrators by the government. Experience suggests this would generally mean judges. Our judges are eminently qualified for their normal work. But, with few exceptions, they are not equipped to deal with the complicated matters involved in most industrial disputes. They are usually drawn from a sector of our population which has little or no knowledge of workers' problems. Those who are appointed to sit in judgment on such matters ought to have a knowledge understanding of labor-management problems.

Wildcat Strikes

"4. Compulsory arbitration would lead to illegal and wildcat strikes. Negotiated settlements are accepted because they reflect the will of the rank and file. Imposed settlements involve submission, not acceptance. This will lead inevitably to industrial unrest.

"5. Compulsory arbitration puts industrial relations into the arena of politics.

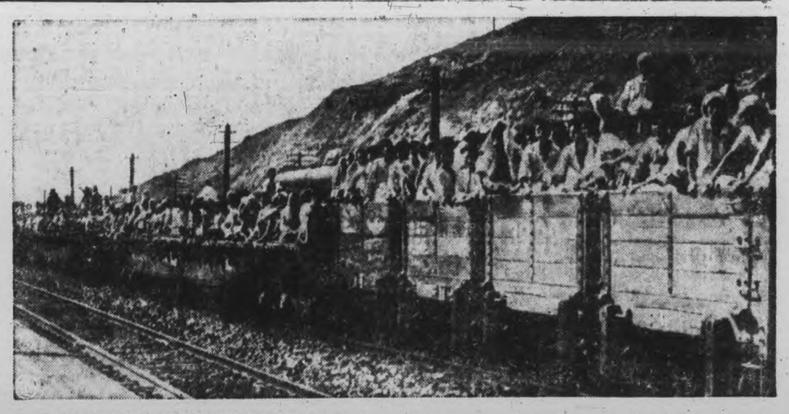
"6. Compulsory arbitration will not work. Australia has had it for 46 years. Australia has a smaller population than Canada. But, in 1948, the last year for which complete returns are available, the number of strikes and lockouts in Australia was 1,141. In Canada, it was only 154. The number of persons directly affected in Australia was 301,025, while in Canada it was only 42,820.

"In Canada, in 1949, the total number of strikes and lockouts was 137 and the total number directly affected was 51,437. Australia, in the first nine months alone, had over 600 stoppages, with more than 227,000 persons directly affected.

Reasons for Opposition

"These are the reasons why we oppose all legislation seeking to establish compulsory arbitration as a basis for settling industrial disputes.

"Our present labor laws have brought a wide measure of industrial harmony. We want that further improved. Until now we have never experienced a nation-wide tie-up of our railways. This is the first. Crises call for cool heads. Government and Parliament should not allow this one case to drive them in panic into drastic, repressive legislation from which all, labor, management, and ordinary citizens will suffer for generations to come."



REFUGEES FLEE FRONT LINES—Packed onto freight cars like a subway rush hour crowd, these South Korean refugees are being evacuated from the Naktong River bulge, where heavy fighting has been in progress.

Trains To Start In Three Hours After Strike Is Settled

TORONTO, Aug. 29.—Canada's railroads will be in full swing again in a matter of hours—once the strike is settled. According to officials of both the CNR and CPR, the first trains will pull out of Union Station three hours after the strike settlement. The regular train timetable will come into effect right away, connections will be made on regular schedule and inside 12 hours trains will be operating normally across the nation.

Although every inch of track across Canada is now heavily coated with rust, maintenance foremen from both companies say no serious damage has been done to property. Switches and signals have been kept oiled during the strike by repair crews who were not part of the striking employees.

Coaches Ready

Passenger coaches and freight cars were for the most part left in sidings when the strike was called and no delay is expected when trains are to be made up for regular runs again. All engines were left in their regular roundhouses or in main yards. Their engineers are on a constant two-hour call ready to report for duty when the strike is settled.

All heavy locomotives are fitted with an oil blower to ignite fuel in their boilers and they can get steam up immediately.

Most serious aftermath of the strike will be found at railway crossings, officials say. With motorists at present passing right through all crossings without a thought of any trains coming, it is feared they will keep on doing that when the trains are running again.

Newfoundland As Isolated As 400 Yrs. Ago

By RUPERT JACKSON

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 29 — (CP). — The Canada-wide railway strike has made Newfoundland almost as isolated as she was 400 years ago.

There are no worth-while roads in the sea-girt island, and the entire population depends for transportation on the Canadian National Railways and its coastal steamer system. For communication, they depend on Canadian National Telegraphs. Only the large settlements have telephones.

When the first settlers moved into Newfoundland from England in the late 1500s and early 1600s, they sought out the best fishing grounds and settled near them. And so the settlements remain today — scattered all round the island near the fishing grounds and connected only by the CNR coastal steamers, which normally move between the settlements on a regular schedule.

No Communications

In an island railway strike before Newfoundland became a province of Canada, transportation was tied up so tight that communities began to run short of food. Corner Brook, the supply depot of the west coast, ran short of several basic commodities. But then the communities could get word of their plight out by cable and supplies could be flown in.

In the present strike, they have no means of communicating with the outside world. If they run short of food there will be no fast way of letting anyone know of their plight.

Should the strike continue for any length of time, it will seriously interfere with the build-up of goods to carry the northern settlements over the winter freeze-up, and this could have far-reaching effects.

But no food shortages have been reported from inland settlements as yet.

Mrs. Joseph LeMay Buried In Lakefield

Martha Lemay, 84, one of the original members of the Ladies' Aid at Lakefield United Church, was buried in Lakefield Cemetery on Sunday. Widow of John LeMay, who died in 1940, she was the former Martha Helena Jory, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Jory, of Douro.

She was a member of Lakefield United Church, and had lived in Lakefield for many years, and in Toronto for six years. She died last Thursday at her son's home in Toronto.

She is survived by one son, Cephas, of Toronto, one sister, Mrs. C. McCoy (Tillie) and one brother Samuel, both of Vancouver.

Funeral service was conducted by the Rev. Harry Frost. Pallbearers were Ed and Bill Watson, George Spence, Russell Little, Roy Robinson and Stanley Richardson. Flower bearers were Charles Bickell, Howard Beavis, Clayton Jory and Bruce Dunford.

Help Out Neighbor

NAPANEE, Aug. 29 (CP)—Although confined to hospital, former reeve Frank Ham of South Fredericksburg has a full barn today, with his crop all in. Seventy neighbor farmers from a radius of 13 miles brought in 5,000 bushels of grain in one day. General storekeepers kept the harvesters supplied with soft drinks and ice cream while housewives provided pies and coffee.

Gum Black Market

LONDON, Aug. 29 (Reuters)—Britain's latest black - market racket is in chewing-gum. Main sources of black-market gum in candy - rationed Britain are American air bases and depots. Racketeers approach the American service men with the question made famous in the war—"Any gum, chum?"—buy up all available stocks and resell it at three times its value to British teenagers.

Refining Own Oil

TEL AVIV, Aug. 20—(AP)—Israel now is refining oil for her own needs. A government announcement said oil refineries in Haifa resumed operations Monday for the first time since the shutdown two years ago when Iraq cut off pipe-line supplies during the Palestine war. Israel is buying crude oil from British and American companies to meet its annual consumption needs.

"South Pacific" Berated By Communists

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (AP). —Those who are in love with a show called "South Pacific" may be surprised to learn that it is bristling with social significance, both good and bad.

This will no doubt surprise Messrs. Rodgers, Hammerstein, Logan and Michener, who fathered the stage sensation. I, too, was amazed when my attention was called to a letter in the Daily People's World, Communist organ on the Pacific Coast. It shows the weird workings of certain minds.

Reader A attacked Reader B's critique of "South Pacific" as being "completely asinine" and "insulting to the readers of a people's press." Reader B was said to have distorted with wisecracks "the reactionary as well as the progressive content of the play. He completely ignores, for one thing, the rampant male supremacy of certain sections, notably some of the lines of "There is nothing like a dame." (The song is a lament by a group of sailors for the comfort of female society.)

Chauvinism

"B does not at all make clear that the dynamics of the play's Chauvinism in the Joe-Liat relationship (a romance between a marine and a native girl) are that the play resolves the 'problem' of miscenegation with the romantic and reactionary device of killing off Joe instead of reuniting (the lovers) as Emile (Ezio Pinza) and Nelie (Mary Martin) are reunited."

But there is a silver lining, says Reader A. He commends "the dignity and humanity with which the Tonkinese woman, 'Bloody Mary,' is endowed."

Another mistake by Reader B: He "implies that the play places in a sympathetic light the naval commander's imperialist harrying of Mary and the other souvenir sellers when just the opposite is true."

And here we thought that "South Pacific" was just a solid evening's entertainment!

Back Rail Strikers

MONTREAL, Aug. 29 (CP) — Sam Baron, international vice-president and Canadian director of the Textile Workers Union of America (CCL-CIO), said Monday that 20,000 textile workers are behind Canada's striking railway men and warned that "repressive action" by the federal government "would turn the clock back 100 years and make world Communism dance with joy."

Hold Special Session

CHARLOTTETOWN Aug. 29 (CP)—The Prince Edward Island legislature will hold a special session Sept. 7 to discuss "questions arising out of the present railway strike," it was announced Monday. Chief topic of discussion is expected to be the tie-up of the Borden-Tormentine ferry, P.E.I. link with the mainland. The island provinces claims the terms of confederation require that the federal government maintain a link with the mainland.

Director Disappears

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (Reuters)—Leo Bauer, director of the Soviet-controlled East German radio station in Berlin, has mysteriously disappeared, station employees stated Monday night. Bauer, a member of the (Communist) Socialist Unity Party, was last seen Aug. 22 when he left the broadcasting station building in the British sector of the city. Officials at the station said they believed he had fled to West Germany or had sought political asylum in West Berlin.

Comes Out Best

CHICAGO, Aug. 29 (AP)—One of the three young thieves who stole $27 from James Christ's grocery store lost money in the robbery. After grabbing the money from the till, the three fled with Christ in pursuit. They outdistanced him. But one of the robbers forgot to jump on his bicycle. Police said the bike was worth much more than $27.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Tommy Anderson, coach of Oshawa Generals, became mentor of Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League Monday.

Anderson succeeds Aldedge (Baz) Bastien, former all-star goalie of the Hornets who took over in mid-season last year. Bastien will become the Pittsburgh business manager, in place of Johnny Mitchell, now coach of St. Louis Flyers.

John H. Harris, owner of the Hornets, said he chose Anderson because of his familiarity with the style of play employed by Toronto Maple Leafs, with whom Pittsburgh has a working agreement.

A speed upwards of 90 miles an hour will be needed to win the Harmsworth Trophy speedboat race here next weekend.

That became apparent Monday as more United States boats took trial runs seeking places on the three-boat team that will defend the trophy against the Canadian challenger, Miss Canada IV.

So far only Stanley Sayres', Slo-Mo-Shun IV, of Seattle, Wash. has definitely won a place on the defending team. The Seattle craft, which has done better than 160 miles an hour in straightaway tests, hit 97.26 miles an hour in one five-mile lap last Saturday.

Monday Al Fallon's Miss Great Lakes, of Detroit, with 21-year-old Bill Muncey at the wheel, got the boat up to 96.81 miles an hour.

Yet to be tried out, however, are Horace E. Dodge's My Sweetie and Miss Pepsi, owned by Walter and Roy Dossin of Detroit.

The trials originally were scheduled to end today, but the selection committee waived a few more rules and decided to clock Guy Lombardo's Tempo VI Wednesday morning.

Don Campbell sent his speedboat, Bluebird II, over Lake Coniston at better than 150 miles an hour Monday but his attempt to smash the American-held world's speed record was balked by a tiny piece of driftwood.

Campbell was midway in a run along a measured mile when his temperature gauge flashed a warning that the engine was overheating.

"I was travelling at more than 150 mph," he said. "I immediately took my foot off the accelerator."

Back in the boathouse a check showed that a small piece of wood had become lodged in the water intake scoop of the cooling system.

Campbell said he intends to make another attempt to crack the record of 160.32 mph today if the weather remains favorable.

Jockeys went on strike for brief spells at two Canadian race tracks Monday.

At Stamford Park, Niagara Falls, N. Y., the little guys struck for 17 minutes. They went back to work only after the stewards modified their suspension of apprentice jockey Jack Bromby.

In Vancouver, the jockeys refused to ride until the management agreed to pay them $11,660 for equipment lost in a fire which destroyed the park's jockey quarters Aug. 18. Races were delayed at Exhibition Race Track for 45 minutes before the management came around.

A Saturday race at Stamford was the point of controversy in the Ontario strike. Bromby was suspended six days by the stewards who charged that he rode wide on Anglesea, causing the horse to lose by a nose to Maple Wood in the Demetre Memorial Handicap. The protest brought modification of the penalty to $100 fine and two days' suspension.

Eric Barber, president of the Jockeys' Guild, and officers of the association said it wasn't the first time Anglesea had drifted in the stretch. They said photos showing Bromby standing when Anglesea crossed the line did not mean he was pulling the horse in.

Menzies Leads The Petes With Neat .350

Al Menzies, Petes' classy catcher, led the locals at bat this season with a .350 average in 32 games. He was topped only by Manager Eddie Murphy, who wasn't a regular. Eddie batting an even .500 as a pinch-hitter in seven games. Danny Brown, smart shortstop, finished second among the regulars with .339, and Howie Dalton also made the charmed circle with .327, as did Lefty Bill Dadson with .311, who performed for a time at first and later as a pitcher. A comparatively newcomer in the Viaduct Baseball League, Bud Harrison hit a healthy .296.

Bill Edger and Gunner Whitehill proved best for the Petes' pitchers, Edger having 10 wins and four losses, while Whitehill came through with nine victories and but three reverses. Doug Plunkett had six wins (one a no-hitter) and four losses, while Bill Dadson and Joe Lowery each won and lost one game. Following are the batting averages for the schedule:

	A	AB	H	Av.
Murphy	7	6	3	.500
Menzies	32	117	41	.350
Brown	34	112	38	.339
Dalton	28	107	35	.327
Dadson	22	61	19	.311
Harrison	20	81	24	.296
Estlick	34	110	31	.282
Lowrey	39	143	40	.280
Edger	29	81	21	.260
Wilson	37	143	33	.231
Garvey	36	136	29	.213
Plunkett	14	29	5	.172
Stewart	34	105	17	.162
Whitehill	16	34	5	.147

PCVS Gridders Start Pre-Season Drilling

For the third successive year the PCVS senior football squad is conducting a week of pre-school conditioning and practising.

Coach G. B. (Bev) Goulding said today that Monday's group of 24 last year's seniors, juniors and newcomers to the game was the largest attendance in the three years at the week's workout. More will be out with the team when school begins next Tuesday.

The large turnout this year, said Mr. Goulding, indicates a greater interest in football in the school this year, the boys taking a week of holidays to work out.

The footballers dress each day in the school gym at 9.30 a.m. and practices start at the Oval at 10 a.m., continuing until noon. After an hour for dinner they have another hour of practice. Today the boys trained in the school gym.

Some of the work outlined for the boys is: excercises, blocking, going down after kicks, and ball-handling for the back-fielders.

St. Peter's Win Out On Homer In Ninth

In a hotly contested Parish Softball League final playoff before a good-sized gallery at the Orphanage diamond last night, St. Peter's Yanks defeated St. Alphonsus Sox 10-8. It put them two up in as many starts of the best-of-five playoffs for the title, the third game being Thursday night at 6:15 in Trojan Field.

Fr. Ray Garvey, who pitched for St. Peter's, came through with a two-run homer in the ninth to settle the issue. He also pitched a neat game, and Charlie Russelle of the Saints pounded out four solid hits in five trips. McGuire pitched good ball, too, for the losers, and Corkery led them at bat with a perfect night, having five for five. Williams came through with three in five tries.

Teams:

St. Alphonsus — Williams 2b, Hamlin ss, Heffernan 3b, Gordonier 1b, Corkery c, Griffin cf, McDonald lf, Forestell rf, McGuire p.

St. Peter's — Marrocco ss, Cuoli c, Ferren cf, Fr. Garvey p, Hayes lf, Russelle 2b, O'Rourke 3b, Bond 1b, Driscoll rf.

Umpires—O'Toole and Naish.

Southenders Win

Southend Peewees trimmed East City 16-2 last night to open their best-of-three city baseball finals, the next one being tomorrow night at the Ex. Dugan hurled one-hit ball for the winners, fanning four in the five-inning fray, and his mates bunched blows and cashed in on walks to score eight runs in the second, one next inning and seven in the big fourth. East City got a run in the third and one in the fifth. Teams:

East City: Towns, Dorrington, McCarthy, Garvey, Ayotte, Harding, Lafave, Fitzgerald, Innes, English.

Southend: Masterson, Orr, Mahoney, Dugan, Beggs, Doleman, Parnell, Rowe, Halcrow, Cairns.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Seldom have we heard so much pre-game talk—especially for an exhibition tilt—as we've listened to lately over the tussle at 8.30 tonight in the Bowl. If the weather should clear, that is. It's the show between the local all-stars of the men's softball loop, plus maybe Bagnell of Oshawa, Danny Brown and Joe Lowrey of the Petes, against the King and His Court. The Kiwanis Club arranged to bring King Eddie Feigner and his famous four-man team here, and it promises to jam the park. The guy (Feigner) hurls and he has a hundred different types of windup and pitches. A terrific thrower and showman, and his side nearly always wins. Something different in the sports world.

* * * * * *

In tonight are the Petes' batting averages with the Viaduct League ball schedule over. The loop scorer hasn't released those of other clubs, so we don't know as yet who led the circuit. But Catcher Al Menzies topped the Petes' regulars with a swell .350 mark, being a consistent smasher up there as well as a smart receiver. Ed Murphy did mighty well, too, in a pinch-hitting role, showing that class will tell even after retirement as a player. Danny Brown—he of the terrific throwing arm—batted a dandy .339, while Howie Dalton again hit away up there with .327 and Bill Dadson was good for .311 in the charmed circle. Big Bud Harrison almost made it, too, in a fine show, while Joe Lowrey and Paul Estlick did pretty fair at the plate.

Bill And Gunner Lead

The pitching marks show Bill Edger and Gunner Whitehill most effective, Bill winning 10 and losing four, besides playing often in the field. The veteran Gunner got hot in mid-season and finished with a total of nine wins to three losses, still being the best curveballer in the loop. Doug Plunkett had six wins—remember that no-hitter?—and four reverses, whilst Bill Dadson (who was used most of the season at first because of a sore shoulder) had one and one, same as Joe Lowrey, who helped out a couple of times, leaving his centre field garden. The team as a whole did real well, finishing second to Oshawa, and it shows the old COBL must have been a bit better than Toronto senior ball.

A bowling item indicates that summer is fading. Down at the Playfair, they're taking entries and have nearly enough now for their major league. Team captains meet there next Tuesday at 7.30. A team is allowed seven bowlers, whose names are to be sent at once to Bill Flint (phone 8192), who also takes entries. Only two City League players to a team, three games constituting a city leaguer, or one of the latter must be out of that loop for a year. Entries in so far are run by: Ray Bennett, J. Wilson, Cy Hughes, Dex Pilling, Ted Bryans, F. Hurley, D. Coughlin, M. Donaldson, C. Brown, N. MacMurchy, Bert McCarrell, Toots Collins, Geo. Stevens, Jack Wade, Frank Wood, Phil Pryde, T. Caccavella, Reg Mongraw, Phil Weir, D. Rutledge, Bill Jones, Bert Bailey, Art Tighe, J. Scroat, Joe Frost, Roy Suddards, Tom McPhate, O. Lunn and J. Meyette.

New Toronto And Petes

Viaduct Major League ball playoffs start right away, the loop officials ordering three-of-five semi-finals to be cleaned up this week. OBA insists on a league winner by a week from Sunday, but it's going to take some humping to do it, especially if rain washes out a few frays. Oshawa and Aces are in one semi-final bracket, while Petes meet New Toronto in the other. The locals were slated to play them in Millen Stadium, Toronto, tonight, and back here tomorrow eve at 8.30 in Riverside—that's Wednesday—and again here on Friday night. Fourth, if necessary, in New Toronto on Saturday aft. Today's rain may ruin the tilt this eve, but fans can look for a swell senior ball playoff here on the morrow.

* * * * * *

Bowl d'Ashburnham is abrim these nights with games or rain puddles. At this writing we hadn't heard if tonight's tilt was on or off. With East City at Kingston tomorrow, the girls may stage their last round-robin playoff, but no word was received on that today. Oshawa plays Mutuals at 8.30 Thursday p.m. in the Bowl in their OASA intermediate "A" playdown scrap, and it should be a hot struggle. Third, if necessary, here Saturday night,. Woollens are in junior PWSU play tomorrow in Toronto and back here Saturday aft. Friday night so far is open, and the men's city finals may resume along about then. It's a busy place these nights. Local all-stars looked real good there last e'en in holding Toronto Fuels to a 6-5 score.

Toronto Fuels Edge Out All-Stars, 6-5

Toronto Fuels, top senior girls' team of Toronto, had to hustle plenty last night here to edge out the local all-stars by a 6-5 count, a homer by B. Sanderson in the ninth settling it. The locals looked good, though held to seven hits by M. Robolack, while I. Bullock and M. Hodson split slab duties for the homesters. Seven of the All-Stars went down on strikes to three on the other team. Each side kicked a few in the field. It was a good exhibition as part of sports centennial week.

H. Ferguson led the winners at bat with two for four, while J. Hart topped the losers at the plate with two in two tries. C. Ferguson had three fine catches in the field, and M. Behan, M. Hodson, M. Freeman and I. Bullock all looked good defensively. For the victors, M. Ryan, J. McCann and M. Robolack stood out in the field.

The teams:

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Our boys did pretty well on Saturday at the different tournaments. Up at Kew Beach, Toronto, H. Wilson, J. Cullen and R. Hopkins, skip, won all three games, came in first, and won the beautiful Algie Trophy. At the same tournament, B. Willshaw, D. Willshaw, and N. Staunton, skip, came in for high one-game winner.

Over at Port Perry, P. Moore and A. Mander came in for high one-game winner.

Charlies Renaud's rink won two games at the Boulevard Club, Toronto, but was just one point short of the prize department.

The greens are closed tonight.

Now just a word about to-morrow's tournament. It's going to be a long day. Please co-operate by being on time.

Pedlars Edge Toronto

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP). — Oshawa Pedlars pushed across one run in the eighth inning to edge out Toronto Diamonds 1-0 and advance to the semi-finals of the Canadian Senior Men's Softball championship Monday night. Pedlars will meet North Bay on Saturday in one of the semi-final games. The other semi-final brackets will be filled later this week.

Tigers Take First

Tigers defeated Lions 7-4 yesterday in Miller Bowl to open their best-of-three peewee lacrosse playoffs. Pace, Anthony and Ketcheson counted for Tigers in the first, with Ketcheson and Pace each having an assist, also, while Scharfe scored for Lions. Jay and Anthony rang the bell in the second, the latter and Ketcheson having an assist apiece. Jay tallied in the third while Reid got a pair for Lions. In the fourth, Trudeau scored for Lions and Jay got one more for the winners. Teams:

Tigers: G. Heffernan, Pace, G. DeNoble, Ketcheson, Jay, R. Anthony, Murduff, Heard.

Lions: D. Kent, Reid, Atkinson, Scharfe, Patterson, Trudeau, Casey, V. Kent, Turner, Chapman.

Red Sox Come From Behind Beat Out Indians 15-14

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

So you thought those recent two-team dead heats in the American and National Leagues were hot stuff?

Pooh! They were just routine finishes compared to what may happen this year for those who are looking for real spine-tingling excitement. How about a four-way deadlock for first place?

Don't shoot. It could happen. The way the American league race has been moving along it wouldn't cause too much of a surprise if Detroit, New York, Cleveland and Boston wind up even Oct. 1—the regular season's final day.

Get a close-up of the last two days of the campaign. The Tigers will be host to the Indians Saturday, Sept. 30, and Sunday, Oct. 1. On the same two afternoons, the Red Sox will tangle with the Yankees in Boston.

Should the four contenders enter the final weekend all knotted up, and should they split those series, the baseball world would would witness an unprecedented four-way playoff for the American League flag. The World Series—which probably would be played around Christmas time—would be an anti-climax.

Only Three Games Apart

Thanks to the Red Sox comeback and the Tigers' skid, only three games now separate the four clubs in the first division. Here is the picture: Detroit is on top with 34 games left to play. New York is second, one game behind, with 32 left to play. Cleveland is third, one game behind New York, with 30 games to play. Boston is fourth, one game behind Cleveland, also with 30 games to go.

Boston was the only one of the Big Four to win Monday. The Red Sox came from a mile—12-1 —behind to outlast the Indians 15-[illegible]ed to Philadelphia's oft-beaten Athletics 4-3 Chicago White Sox upset the Yankees 6-4.

Philadelphia Phillies increased their first-place margin over Brooklyn in the National League to 5½ games. The Phils split a doubleheader in Chicago while St. Louis Cardinals were taking the second straight from the Dodgers, 3-1.

Three consecutive homers by Hank Sauer gave the Cubs a 7-5 victory over the Phils in the first game. Solid slugging by Del Ennis and Andy Seminick and another brilliant relief performance by Jim Konstanty helped the Phils win the second game 9-5.

Homers Help

Homers by Stan Musial, Tommy Glaviano and Del Rice accounted for all the Cards' runs. Gerry Staley won his 11th while Preacher Roe suffered his eighth loss against 17 victories.

A home run by Homer Howell with two out in the last of the ninth gave Ewell Blackwell and Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 victory over New York Giants. It was Blackie's 13th victory against the same number of defeats.

Young Jim Pearce pitched shutout ball for eight innings as Washington defeated St. Louis Browns 9-3 in the only game played at night.

Pittsburgh and Boston Braves were idle.

Bombers Edge Calgary In 7-4 Triumph

By The Canadian Press.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, out of the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs for the last two years, are entrenched in first place as a result of two early-season upsets.

The Blue and Gold club Monday night edged last year's western champions—Calgary Stampeders—7-4, while Edmonton Eskimos applied a 15-9 licking to Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The Edmonton victory placed Winnipeg, with two victories in two starts, two points ahead of Saskatchewan and Edmonton.

In its two starts this year Winnipeg has had its two largest crowds in history. Monday night 7,700 attended, while 8,000 were on hand Saturday.

Only Touchdown

Tom Casey provided the only touchdown of the Winnipeg-Calgary tilt Monday night. The Winnipeg half went over the Calgary goal line after taking a hand-off from quarterback Jack Jacobs at the Calgary 45 in the first quarter.

Jacobs' attempted convert failed. Later in the quarter he kicked a 37-yard single, and added another single in the last quarter.

Keith Spaith put Calgary on the score card in the second quarter by hoofing a 70-yard single. Vern Graham, league-leading scorer last year, booted a placement in the third quarter.

Calgary was without the services of half Chuck Fenenboch — out with a fractured rib—and back Normie Kwong. Both were hurt last Saturday at Regina, the latter suffering a sprained ankle.

Montreal Clips Buffalo 7-5

By The Associated Press.

Maybe Branch Rickey, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, was wrong in sending outfielder George Shuba to the minors. His replacement, Cal Abrams, still is looking for his first hit as a Dodger this year. He's failed in 12 times at bat.

Shuba, on the other hand, is going strong for Montreal Royals. He slapped a three-run homer with two out in the ninth inning Monday night to give the Royals a 7-5 victory over Buffalo.

It was a vital victory for Montreal, as third-place Baltimore also won, shading Springfield 4-2. The Royals thus retained their half-game edge on the Orioles.

Jersey City picked up a game on Springfield in the battle for fourth place—final qualifying spot for the playoffs—by taking an 8-1 decision from Syracuse. Norm Fox held the losers to three hits. Jersey City now is three games ahead of Springfield.

Rochester and Toronto were rained out.

Morris Facing Tough Job Build Beaches

By WILFRED GRUSON

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP)—Toronto Balmy Beach, shunted this year to the role of farm club for the city's other senior team head into the Ontario Rugby Football Union season determined to show they're not as bad as they look at first glance.

It's going to be a man-sized job for Beaches' new coach, Teddy Morris, who has nothing to work with except a good number of green-as-grass Canadians and a few American imports whose ability is still of unknown quality.

Never before in his coaching career has the former Toronto Argonaut pilot had so little talent to shape into a team. Nevertheless, he thinks he can produce an ORFU title-winner if the imports turn out as good as they claim.

It was Morris who coached Argos to three straight Dominion championships with all-Canadian teams in 1945-46-47. He was replaced as coach after failing to get the scullers into the Big Four playoffs the last two seasons. He then was persuaded to become the club's manager for this season but gave up that job to become Balmy Beach coach. Shortly afterward Argos announced an arrangement for "an exchange of players" with Beaches in return for financial help.

Wants Young Team

Morris is bent on having a young team, with the idea that some of his inexperienced players will "find themselves" during the season and show perhaps that they are future stars. The club will be a mixture of former junior and intermediate players, imports, some of last year's squad and one or two who played previously with other senior clubs. It opens the season at Sarnia, Sept. 4.

Except for outside wing Oliver Hubbard and middle wing George Gilchrist, who failed to win a berth with Argos and Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four, the imports are castoffs from Hamilton Tiger-Cats, another Big Four club. They will be the basis of the first-string team.

Halfback Carl Galbraith and outside wings Oattem Fisher and Rube Ainsworth were cut from the Tiger-Cats last week. Fisher, who played at one time for North Carolina State College, may be converted to a halfback to do some of the passing.

Ainsworth, a junior in the United States, was with Hamilton Wildcats last year. Galbraith at one time also played with North Carolina State. Gilchrist came to Canada after starring with Tennessee State College and Hubbard previously performed for Morgan State College.

Among Candidates

Among the Canadians being considered for the starting halfline are quarterbacks Andy Thompson and Bill Scott and halfbacks Art Scullion, Bob Dunlap, Billy Hadleton, Dave West and Gary Smith, a shifty runner who was with Hamilton Wildcasts in 1949.

Possible first-stringers from among the Canadian linemen are snapback Tom Harpley; insides Babe Levantis, Ken McKim and Ted Gieruszcak; middles Pat Patterson and Blair Jarvis and outside wings Ian Hampton, Boyd Hendry and Don Lech.

Morris expects to pick up some players who will be cut from Argos this week. He has an idea who they are and believes they're unlikely to be much help.

"Altogether we have 12 or 14 good boys and we won't be too bad as long as our first team is out there," Morris says. "If the Americans are any good we'll surprise a lot of people and perhaps win this league."

IT'S REAL! IT'S HUMAN! GREAT ENTERTAINMENT!
Dear Folks...—
I'd like to tell you about a picture we've made at M-G-M, "Stars In My Crown." It's what a newspaper friend of mine calls a human interest story ... it's not the story of one man or one family—it's about all the folks in this town or any town ... the good and the bad ... the dramatic things and funny things that happen to them.
Like pretty Ellen Drew—she's my wife in the story. She sort of runs the whole shebang from the sidelines. And there's young Dean Stockwell as John. Watching him is like growing up all over again. Then there's Alan Hale, a man who loves a fight or a prank, and Lewis Stone who's the old Doc and handsome James Mitchell who's the young Doc. And well, there's characters like Uncle Famous and Chloroform and the bully—every town has them, for better or for worse.
It's different and it's real. I sincerely hope you like it.

LABOR DAY—
A HOLIDAY FROM LABOR
Labor Day is a day of deep significance for all of us. On the first Monday of each September, as we pause and take a holiday from our daily work, we can look back with pride on the accomplishments of our people. From their labors has resulted this abundant land of freedom . . . this Canada of ours! Our pride in our homeland is justified . . . and will continue to be so if we strive at all times to follow the principles of "Good Citizenship".

Some Grocers Ration Sugar

Sugar rationing has been introduced this week by some city grocers in order to avoid shortages which might occur if the rail strike continues. There is no shortage now but some storekeepers feel it is better to allow a maximum of 20 or 25 pounds to each customer rather than run the risk of running short.

One city grocer reports there has been a fairly heavy demand for tea recently, but customers have still been allowed to buy all they want.

The larger stores, which receive their supplies by truck, have not found it necessary to limit purchases. Even the smaller stores report they have supplies which would be sufficient for 30 days.

Mrs. J. E. Armstrong Is Buried In Norwood

The funeral service for Mrs. James Elmer Armstrong, 49, of Janetville, Ontario, who died on Friday in Peterborough Hospital was held Monday at the Nesbitt Funeral Home.

Mrs. Armstrong was born Corah Florence Sloan, daughter of the late David Sloan and Ellen Sedgwick of Dummer Township. She has resided in Janetville for the past 25 years.

She leaves her husband, James Elmer Armstrong; two sisters, Mrs. Norman Andrus (Ella) and Minnie, both of Norwood, and three brothers, Malcolm and Walter of Norwood and Everett of Lakefield.

The Rev. F. W. Craik of St. United Church conducted the funeral service, which was largely attended.

The pallbearers were H. Armstrong, J. Megginson, E. Stinson, H. Andrus, M. Andrus and M. Kirk. Burial was in Norwood Cemetery.

Quick Work

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP). — A police cruiser with two detectives was travelling in downtown Toronto Monday when they heard a report on their radio that an S. S. Kresge store nearby had been robbed of $2,200. They saw two men running along the street stepped out of the cruiser and arrested Joseph De Fede and John Dendy in connection with the robbery.

Caesaria Farmer Has Best Potatoes

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP) — William Edgell, Caesaria, Ont., took two first and three seconds Monday to top the potato section in judging of farm products at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Fred Goring, Scotland, Ont., took two of the three remaining first prizes for potatoes and the fifth class was won by the Davidson Brothers at Agincourt.

Norman Schmidt, Mildmay, Ont., won two first prizes for oats and topped the malting barley class, while M. E. Hooper, St. Marys, Ont., won first for corn, barley, winter wheat and feed turnips.

Mrs. Emma Pugsley Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP) — Mrs. Emma Decew Pugsley, active in temperance work and in the Baptist Church, died Monday, aged 89.

Born in Haldimand County, she was a member of one of the Niagara peninsula's best-known families. Her grandfather was Captain Abner Decew who lived at Decew Falls near St. Catharines where Laura Secord warned British troops of an impending American attack in the war of 1812.

Widow of the Rev. William Pugsley, she was formerly Ontario president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and served on the dominion executive. She was editor of the evangelistic page of the White Ribbon Tidings, WCTU publication.

New Career Girl

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP)—Rose Alexander, 17-year-old daughter of Canada's Governor-General and Viscountess Alexander, has become a career girl. The dark-haired girl joined the staff of a local insurance company a couple of weeks ago as a typist. Folks at Government House say she is getting along fine.

Plow Gets Boost

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP)—Brig. E. C. Plow, CBE, DSO, 45, was named Monday night to head the army's eastern command with headquarters at Halifax. He succeeds Maj.-Gen. Harry W. Foster, CBE, DSO, 48, who is appointed to a senior post with the Imperial War Graves Commission in Europe.

"GOD BROUGHT THE PLANE IN"—So reported the pilot of this American Airlines DC-6 after landing in Denver with its fuselage torn apart by a wild propeller. The prop tore loose and slashed through the plane's cabin while it was flying over the Rockies, en route to New York from Los Angeles with 52 passengers and a crew of five. One passenger died of a heart attack and seven others were injured.

Non-Striking Rail Men Eligible For Insurance

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 (CP).—The Unemployment Insurance Commission announced Monday that members of railway unions not involved in the railway strike will be entitled to unemployment insurance benefits.

These are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, the Order of Railway Conductors of America, and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

"Members of these unions, and non-union members working under the collective bargaining agreements held by these unions, will, as a general rule, be entitled to benefit and should apply at offices of the commission for benefit if they so desire," said the commission.

Members of the 17 unions involved in the strike and non-union members in the same occupations as the union members will, as a general rule, be disqualified from receipt of unemployment insurance. The strikers are all in the non-running trades of the railways.

The commission said that if a striker wished to apply for benefit his application would be taken in abbreviated form and would receive consideration. However, unless there are some special circumstance no benefit would be paid the striker.

Railmen Will Get Pay When Strike Over

MONTREAL, Aug. 29 (CP). — Railway and union spokesmen said Monday that close to 200,000 Canadian rail employees will probably not be paid wages and salaries owed them for the first two weeks in August until the rail strike is settled.

Railway spokesmen said the money, ordinarily paid on Sept. 1, cannot be paid until clerical employees come back on the job to make up payrolls and pay cheques. They promised to speed up payments as soon as a settlement is effected.

A. R. Mosher, spokesman for the striking employees, said the unions are not planning any general strike pay to replace the delayed salaries. Local strike leaders have been given emergency funds to assist needy families.

Weiner Roasts In City Parks

A lot of folks have been missing out in a lot of fun, according to the Parks Department of Peterborough.

The gentlemen down on Townsend St. think that they have just the setup for corn and weiner roasts and that the people of Peterborough haven't been taking advantage of these facilities at their disposal.

Both Riverside and Nicholls Oval parks are equipped with smoothly operating outdoor fireplaces that seem to have been completely ignored by roast parties in the two parks. Not only are these fireplaces at the disposal of the public without cost, but the Parks Department supplies the fuel free of charge as well.

These fireplaces can be used for firm, group or private weiner roasts. All the Parks Department asks that any person wishing to hold a roast get in touch with the department office — phone 23603 — in plenty of time, so that they may make sure that there will be a sufficient amount of wood on hand.

Make Clean Sweep In Apple, Pear Class

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP) — The Drummonds of Waterdown, Ont., almost made a clean sweep of the apples and pears competition in judging at the Canadian National Exhibition Monday.

D. R. Drummond and his son, W. H. Drummond, won 10 first prizes and nine seconds, including a clean sweep of the four classes in the fall apples division, and the pears division.

William Bachus and Lewis Bachus, both of St. Catharines, swept the peaches division and dominated judging of plums. Entries by William Bachus took four first and two seconds, while Lewis Bachus notched three firsts and five seconds.

Other first prizes went to G. F. Hibbert, New Toronto, and Robert Murdoch, St. Catharines.

Unable To Get Compensation

HAMILTON, Aug. 29 (CP) — Walter Rollo is in hospital here recuperating from a leg amputation—unable to draw compensation under the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act which he played a big part in improving when he was provincial labor minister some 30 years ago.

Mr. Rollo, now 75, raised the amount of compensation and extended it to include more men, but his own illness is not covered. He has been working as part-time school assessment reviser.

He was named labor minister in the Drury government after he was elected to the legislature for Hamilton West in 1919.

An ulcerated bunion has necessitated removal of Mr. Rollo's right leg below the knee.

Bert Duffus Collapses On Hastings Trip

HASTINGS, Aug. 29 (ENS)—Bert Duffus, Peterborough funeral director, was suddenly taken ill today, while visiting Hastings for the funeral of Timothy Crowley.

Mr. Duffus collapsed at the Crowley's home early this morning and although an ambulance was dispatched from the Kaye funeral home, Peterborough, he was too ill to be brought back to the city. He was still at the Crowley's home early this afternoon.

The funeral of Timothy Crowley was to have taken place at Mount Carmel Church, Hastings, at 9:30 a.m. today and Mr. Duffus had gone with his son Egbert and nephew Joseph, to take charge of arrangements. He collapsed before the funeral time and the service was delayed about an hour.

Dr. W. M. Grant of Campbellford was called and Mrs. Duffus left for Hastings shortly afterwards.

Railway Bridges On Canal Open

Very few boats are blowing their horns in this district of the Trent Canal System. The three railway canal bridges in Peterborough and Nassau have been open since the beginning of the railway strike last Tuesday.

This is the first time that the bridges have been left open in the recollection of the superintending engineer, T. J. Ryan, who has been in this district for the past 23 years.

These bridges are normally operated by railway men, who open and close them for the boats travelling through the canal. However, they opened the bridges just before the walkout at 6 a.m. Aug. 22 and they have remained open during the past week. It is expected that this situation will continue until the strike is settled.

In the meantime, canal men are standing by for any emergency.

Tourist Season Draws To Close

The 1950 tourist season is definitely drawing to a close and it is expected that the Labor Day holiday weekend will bring the last tourist influx for this year. During the past week only 24 calls were made at the Junior Chamber of Commerce booth on Charlotte St.

August 21 was the best day with 79 people making inquiries, but gradually the number decreased until Monday, with only 24 asking for information.

Bill Duignan, who has operated the booth during the summer, expects to leave on Friday and it is believed it will close its doors for this year immediately following Labor Day.

29 Men Enlist In 3-Day Recruiting Drive

The three-day recruiting drive, by a special Canadian mobile recruiting unit from Kingston, ended Monday with 29 men for the active force and two men for the special United Nations force. The unit moved to Lindsay at noon today for a two-day stop there.

Monday was the busiest day for the unit under Captain Roy Leaman. They interviewed 32 city and district men, accepted 12 (10 for active force and two tradesmen for the special force), rejected 13 (mostly on M-tests and failure to meet requirements), had five doubtful and two decided not to join.

Capt. Leamen said he was pleased with the response from the local men. The results were even better than expected.

During the three-day period only two men were accepted for the special United Nations force. The line duty portion of the special unit has been filled and the unit was only enlisting men with certain classified trades. The two men were Robert Frank Reid, 638 Park St. north and Roy Cameron, 100 Bethune St.

The recruiting unit was primarily interested in men who wished to join the active force. The 10 men who will be sent on to Kingston for medical examination and further documentation are: Robert Charles Livingston, RR 11, Peterborough; Leonard Harold Vyse, 683 Lyttle St.; Edward Richard Gandy, 322 Winona Drive, Toronto; Rayfield Gordon Ennis, RR 1 Lakefield; Clare Raymond Cavanagh, 604 Stewart St.; Charles Robert Viner, 426 Water St.; Donald Edison Mouncey, Hastings; James Robbie Slessor, Hastings; William Ralph Richardson, Hastings; George Edward Ashe, Hastings.

First Night Audience Greets Historic Comedy With Joy

By HERBERT WHITTAKER
(Specially Written for the Examiner)

Peterborough is indeed a city to be congratulated. It is to be congratulated not only on its centenary but on the manner in which it celebrates that centennial achievement. What other town in Canada can claim the distinction of celebrating its first hundred years of existence by the performance of a wise and witty play especially written by Canada's leading playwright for the occasion?

And Robertson Davies' new drama, At My Heart's Core, which opened Monday night at the Peterborough Summer Theatre, is both wise and witty. Now it is not perhaps difficult to be wise on such occasion. Indeed, it does not demand a man of Mr. Davies' intellect to gleam some wisdom from a hundred years of successful community life. We would think ill of him if he did not, and feel that Peterborough was sorely used indeed.

But wit is another matter. The history of Canada's early struggles throughout the past hundred years does not often give rise to observations which give rise to mirthful enjoyment. There are those that would say that Canadian life at no time is a laughing matter. All the more remarkable, then, that Mr. Davies' play is so full of laughter, and so little given to the dourness of spirit which is generally supposed to be the fitting expression of pioneer life.

Mr. Davies is dealing with genuine pioneers—and ones of whose respectability and integrity there is ample proof in the literary annals of the country. His chief characters are no less than Mrs. Susanna Moodie, Mrs. Catherine Parr Traill and Mrs. Frances Stewart, wife of the Hon. Thomas Stewart, MLC and JP.

No Monuments

But Mr. Davies has refused to regard these worthy ladies as figures suitable only for monuments.

Rest assured, he has not treated them disrespectfully, as playwrights have been known to use the eminent ladies of history. Instead he has seen to it that they are ladies of human foibles as well as graces, capable of personal temptations as well as the stalwart courage and unceasing labor we know they possessed as first ladies of Upper Canada.

And on that word temptation hangs the tale Mr. Davies has concocted. "The devil, having nothing else to do . . ."—perhaps you know the old rhyme? And it is a figure remarkably devilish in his charm and quickness of mind that supplies the temptations for these three ladies of Douro settlement on a December day in 1837.

In the guise of a Mr. Edmund Cantwell, the devil happens on the ladies while their husbands are away putting down the rebel, William Lyon Mackenzie. They have nothing more serious on their hands than the proper instruction of a young Irish girl,

Rail Stoppage No Holiday For Strikers

Railroad men out of work because of the more than week-old rail strike are having a far from idle time at home. Many of them have been put to work by their wives on jobs waiting attention for months.

"I've been busier than I usually am at work," commented Johnny Hodson 628 Park St. He dismantled his wife's washing machine and repaired it. He fixed cellar steps that have needed repairing some time and has been doing some painting around the house.

He has also been helping Mrs. Hodson look after their four small children. But his wife would rather see him at work again. For one thing, she said, she accomplished more when she didn't have her husband's help.

John Garven, 14 Wallace St., is another railroader who walked out of one job into another. He has been landscaping around his new home to prepare the ground for a lawn.

Rae Hetherington, 742½ George St., doesn't believe in overdoing things. He has helped his wife some, but when asked about his activities during the lay off, he said he had just been interrupted in his reading.

Not all the men have been pressed into service by their wives. Some have gone to their cottages for a second holiday Of course they probably won't get off scott free there either.

PROFESSIONAL YO-YOER

Annie McNaughton of Peterborough knows all there is to know about the professional handling of a yo-yo. Twirling her yo-yo in a spectacular fashion at the Canadian National Exhibition Monday. Annie captured the prize of $210 in her contest class for girls under 12 .

Boorman Wins Third Title At CNE Swims

A young Peterborough girl, 9-year-old Carol Howe, thrilled the CNE waterfront spectators Monday as she placed second in the under 10 years 50-yard free-style event for girls. Making a bid for laurels in her first large competitive swim she led the swimming pack until five yards separated her from the championship.

John Boorman, international and Ontario swimming champion, the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Boorman, 378 Downie St., won the under 14 years 50-yard free-style event for the second straight year. Actually this is his third CNE title, as two years ago he won the under 12 years 50-yard free-style championship. He walked away on Monday with the title from the other 22 swimmers.

Won First Heat

Donald Wood, Ontario backstroke champion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wood, County Court House, won the first heat in the event for swimmers under 16 years 50-yard free-style. In the finals he placed fourth.

His best showing was in the CNE one-mile swim where he won a medal for placing fourth. During the last quarter of a mile with a burst of speed he changed positions from tenth to fourth.

Bill Lech, Lions Club pool swimming instructor, said that another half-mile and the championship would have been won by the Peterborough swimmer.

Boorman's winnings this summer at swimming meets from Watertown, New York, to Fergus, include: two international championships, two Ontario championships and the CNE championship. Wood won the outdoor junior men's 100-yard backstroke championship for Ontario in Fergus.

Besides Mr. Lech the swimmers were accompanied by Coach Gord Minty of the YMCA Swimming Club.

Notable Audience At Premiere

Official premiere of "At My Heart's Core" at the Queen Mary playhouse had a representative and capacity audience. Guests of the Centenary Committee sponsoring this week's performances of the new comedy by Robertson Davies included Mayor Max Swanston, Minister of Lands and Forests H. R. Scott, the City Council, the Board of Education, the Reeves of the County, and heads of various civic departments.

Metropolitan drama critics were on hand for the opening and many other people came from out-of-town. Among the most interested and interesting spectators of this play about pioneer Peterborough and writers Mrs. Susanna Moodie and Mrs. Parr Traill were three grandaughters of Mrs. Traill who live in Lakefield: Mrs Todd, Miss Annie Atwood and Miss Florence Atwood. Mrs. Todd remembers driving up from the lakeshore with her mother in 1886, to live at Mrs. Traill's home. A grandson of the Honourable Thomas Stewart and Mrs. Stewart whose first Auburn home is the setting of the play, came from Toronto for the premiere. Other relatives of the Strickland sisters (Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill) and the Stewarts were in attendance.

During the intermissions the foyer buzzed with excitement and talk. It was as brilliant a first night as Peterborough has witnessed.

There were numerous curtain-calls, and cries of "Author. Author." brought Mr. Davies to the stage to receive the warm applause of the audience.

Co-operative Society Based On Christian Ethics Urged By Japanese Divine

Considered one of the world's greatest Christians, Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, Japanese theologian, brought a significant and inspirational message to more than 1,000 people who filled St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Monday evening. A co-operative society based on Christian ethics is what the world requires to defeat the sweep of communism, according to this dynamic Oriental leader. Unwinding this theme in a list of illustrations, Dr. Kagawa used the example of his own country to point out that Christian communism has been the sole stimulation that has saved his country in post war years.

National Contentment

Through Christian communism the evil results of "lack of food, bad morality, bad government and defeat in war" had been eliminated. In a series of land reforms, there was a levelling of Japanese wealth with the result that 98 per cent. of the Japanese people possess a piece of land. This brought national contentment which saved the country from a serious revolution and an inrush of communism.

Throughout his message Dr. Kagawa stressed the idea that this application of Christian ethics to realities, can only develop out of a "God or cosmic consciousness". This consciousness rises above class or personal egoism and manifests itself in a true living of Christian ethics.

The reason that this cosmic consciousness has been so late in being achieved by man is the misunderstanding of the meaning of Christ's life, death and resurrection. Continued blunders from the time of the apostles to the present day has retarded its development. From the death of Christ, the people of the world must allow redemption from the symbolic infusion of Christ's blood. Then Christianity will stand for the glory of God and will defeat class consciousness based on materialism.

Only Way to Beat Communism

In this way and this way only will communism be defeated and the Kingdom of God will reveal itself in a new society.

The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church, in his introduction of the speaker, paid tribute to Dr. Kagawa's richness of service and wealth of knowledge and learning both as an author and a preacher.

In reply to this introduction, Dr. Kagawa expressed his sincere gratitude for the financial help given to the Japanese missionaries in the work of spreading true Christianity.

Dr. Gordon was assisted in the service by Major Cyril Everitt of the Salvation Army.

50 Men Laid Off Campbellford Pulp Company

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 — (ENS)—First effects of the rail strike were felt in Campbellford Monday as the Gair Company of Canada was forced to lay off 50 men due to lack of work. Supplies for the wood pulp company are somewhere on their way to the factory but are on a siding until the end of the strike. The company will not open until the strike is over.

Monday the firm shipped two transports of wood pulp to Montreal, 16 tons per load. On Sunday six transports left Campbellford for Battlecreek, Michigan, with wood pulp used in the manufacture of newsprint and boxboards. Toronto received three truckloads on Friday.

On hand at the present time the company has 125 tons of pulp wood, enough to fill three boxcars or eight transports. The office staff worked Monday.

Early in the spring the company experienced a slack period and some employees were laid off.

Fresh Meats Trucked To Sault Ste. Marie

Shipments of fresh and smoked meats are being sent from Canada Packers to Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury by refrigerator truck

These two cities—the most northly points in the Peterborough firm's territory—are usually supplied by rail The refrigerated rail cars carry up to 35,000 pounds of fresh and smoked meats while the large trucks have a capacity of about 24,000 pounds

This method of shipping will probably be continued until the current railroad strike is over.

A Canada Packers spokesman said that production won't permit them to ship to other than their usual customers. The regular method of shipping to Montreal and Hull is by truck and in a pinch both northern cities have been serviced that way before.

For long hauls however the rail method has been found more economical.

Warr-Hutchinson Nuptials Held Westwood Church

A double-ring wedding ceremony in the St. Andrew's United Church at Westwood on Saturday united Helen June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hutchinson, and Mr. Bruce Cardwell Warr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Warr, all of Westwood.

The Rev. N. Cole officiated in the exchange of rings and vows. Miss Doreen Graham played wedding music and Mr. Fred Mortlock was soloist. Before the bride entered he sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and during the signing of the register "Through the Years."

The bride's gown of white satin was made with fitted bodice, buttoned at the back, long pointed sleeves and the skirt enhanced with insertions of Chantily lace. Her fingertip veil was trimmed with matching lace and caught to a tiara of pearls. She carried a bouquet of deep red roses. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister Miss Laura Hutchinson, frocked in nylon marquisette over blue taffeta with matching gloves and headdress, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses.

Gromsman for his brother was Mr. Herbert V Warr, and the ushers were William Warr and Esli Herrington.

The reception took place in the Westwood Hall where the bride's mother was receiving, in a gown of romance blue crepe with French lace and a picture hat of black felt, with pink carnations in her corsage. The groom's mother, also receiving, wore navy crepe and navy felt hat and a corsage of red carnations.

Leaving later on a wedding trip to the United States the bride was wearing a wine suit with navy accessories and carrying a fur neckpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Warr will live in Westwood.

Sea Stewardess Ready to Retire - - On Conditions

VANCOUVER (CP).—Sea-roving stewardess Mary Peck says she'll settle down — but only on conditions.

She wants a home overlooking the sea, time to entertain her seafaring friends and the chance for an occasional short cruise.

"I'd settle for that," says the brown-haired stewardess, who has visited all the continents, seen all the seas, and sailed through both the Panama and Suez canals.

Miss Peck, who resumed her maiden name after her husband's death eight years ago, has spent five years as stewardess on Swedish and Norweigian ships. She is visiting her eight-year-old daughter and parents at nearby New Westminster.

Hard To Cure

Although she admits that sea fever is hard to cure, Miss Peck says she's "really going to have a stab at staying home." She says she is looking for a shore job, preferably "something exciting."

"I'd like to remarry, settle down and have my little girl live with me," she said. Linda has been staying with relatives in New Westminster.

Difficult Question

Asked if she would consider a proposal from a sailor, Miss Peck said, "That's a difficult question to answer — I know so much about them."

Born in Edmonton, she had never seen a ship before she was 21, and was seasick on her first trip to sea.

"I'll always remember the customer who asked me for pie a la mode and coffee," she said. "I just turned on my heel, and ran." But she added that was the only time she has been bothered by mal de mer.

Sixty-two days is the longest time she ever spent without seeing land and the longest time she's been ashore in the last five years were the nine months she spent working at different jobs in Australia. There she canned fruit in a factory, helped make alarm clocks and looked after stores for a machinery company.

Miss Peck's conclusion after five long years of knocking around the world? "There are more nice people than the other kind. Grouches miss a lot in life."

3 Attend Isabelle Northey Bride of Harry B. Adams

An array of summer flowers in the Wesley United Church, Smith, Saturday afternoon was setting for the wedding of Isabelle Georgina, daughter of Mrs. Millan Northey of Lakefield and the late Mr. Northey, to Mr. Harry B. Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Adams of Hamilton

The Rev E. W. Rowland of Peterborough performed the ceremony, with Mr. Kenneth Stewart, who is in charge of the church, assisting. Wedding music was played by Miss Mary Nichols and Mrs. Roy Northey was soloist. Before the bride entered she rendered the "Lord's Prayer," and during signing of the register sang "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Sherman Sweeting of Lakefield. Her gown of white satin had a deep yoke of nylon sheer and a frilled bertha collar of lace and satin on the fitted bodice with long pointed sleeves. The gathered skirt was in panels of lace and satin with the centre back panel of satin extending into a train. Her fingertip silk illusion veil was edged with Chantilly lace and caught to a tiara, hand-beaded with tiny seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Maid of honor, Miss Melba Pavy, and bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Palmer of Detroit and Miss Eleanor Northey, were in bouffant frocks of aqua, pink and yellow net, made with inserted lace trim and jackets of net with cap sleeves and Mandarin necklines, and they wore large hats of matching net and ribbon. Miss Pavy carried a bouquet of pink roses and the bridesmaids' nosegays were of yellow and pink asters.

Groomsman was Mr. Robert Selman of Hamilton and the ushers Ronald Sweeting, Smith, and Frank Adams, Detroit.

The reception was at the bride's home where her mother received in a gown of black sheer with hat of matching color with openwork and she wore a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother, also receiving, was gowned in blue crepe with matching hat, and also wore red roses.

The wedding supper was served in a large tent on the lawn which was decorated for the occasion. About 60 guests were seated at the four large tables, daintily set with pink lace doilies and centred with flowers. Members of the bride's Sunday school class, Leona Harris, Velma Garbutt, Melva Pearson, Lenore Armstrong, Beatrice Tully and Doris Jopling, were serving, and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hayward, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sweeting and Mrs W Bullock prepared the plates.

The bride and groom left later on a motor trip to Ottawa, Gananoque, Detroit and Hamilton. For travelling the bride chose a grey suit with black velvet trim and matching hat, also trimmed with the velvet, and had black velvet shoes and accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will live in Smith Township.

United Church In Marmora Has 3 Weddings in Day Rev. G. D. Young Officiating

MARMORA, Aug. 29 (ENS).—Three pretty weddings were solemnized at St. Andrew's United Church, Marmora, on Saturday, the Rev. G. D. Young officiating at each. The sacred edifice was decorated with gladioli of assorted colors.

✧ ✧ ✧

Wallace-Nickle

At two-thirty o'clock Laura Margaret Nickle, Reg. N., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Nickle of Malone became the bride of Grant Hamilton Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace of Campbellford. Wedding music was played by Miss Ann Nichols of Campbellford. As soloist, Miss Marion Wallace, sister of the groom, sang before the ceremony "O Perfect Love," later, "The Lord's Prayer" and during signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in powder blue lace. Her shoulder length veil was in coronet shape with seeded pearls and her bouquet was of white fleur d'amour and pink carnations.

Bridesmaid, Mrs. Borden Cripps of Toronto, wore rose crepe with white accessories and a corsage of rose and white gladioli. Beverly Joy Cotten of Harold and Carol Anne Johnston of Madoc, nieces of the bride, were junior bridesmaids, dressed in pink and yellow sheer with lace trimming. Each had a nosegay of gladioli.

Groomsman was Alex Johnston of St. Catherines and ushers were William Nickle, brother of the bride, and Edward Smith of Campbellford.

A reception was held in St. Andrew's hall, the banquet being served by members of St. Andrew's WA. The bride's mother wore a gown of taupe grey with black accessories and a corsage of red roses. The groom's mother chose navy crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Later the bride and groom left for a trip to the Lake of Bays, the bride travelling in a blue dress with white accessories.

They will live near St. Catharines.

✧ ✧ ✧

Jenhunen-Koski

At four-thirty o'clock Aino Elja Koski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Arvi Koski of Deloro was united in marriage to Teuvo Ten hunen M.D., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Tenhunen of Toronto. The bride, a medical student, has one more year of study before graduation which added interest to the ceremony.

Mrs. A. F. Fraser was at the organ and before the ceremony played a Finnish wedding composition in deference to the oculple's Finnish parentage.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore ice pink tulle over taffeta covered by lace. The neckline was finished with a bertha collar of lace. Her floor length veil of ice pink tulle was caught to her head in bonnet effect and she carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and bouvardia.

Her sister, Miss Ruth Koski, was maid of honor, frocked in blue nylon. Bridesmaids were Roseanna Wholtun and Tertiv Tenhunen who were dressed in yellow and mauve nylon lace with tulle and carried multi-colored bouquets.

Ray Tyynela was the groomsman. Ushers were Wm. Koski, brother of the bride, and Keiju Sappala.

About 100 guests, many of them from Toronto, attended the reception at Deloro Hall marked with a sumptuous buffet supper.

The bride's mother received in a gown of grey crepe trimmed with lace with a hat of grey straw and a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother gowned in chocolate brown crepe trimmed with lace and wearing a brown hat and corsage of roses.

Finnish marriage customs were introduced following the toast to the bride. This included singing a Finnish hymn.

Congratulatory messages from Finland and other parts were read in the Finnish language by Keiju Sappala, and then translated.

Dr. and Mrs. Tenhunen left later for a trip to Ottawa.

✧ ✧ ✧

Courtney-Wright

In a candle light ceremony at seven o'clock Marion Kathleen Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wright of Marmora exchanged vows with Edwin Ralph Courtney, son of Mrs. R. Carr and the late Harold Courtney of Frankford.

Mrs. A. F. Fraser presided at the organ. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Percy Gray sang "Until" and during signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was in a gown of white satin with embroidered lace neckline in flower pattern with seed pearl trim. Her finger tip veil of net had floral embroidery and was coronet shape. Her bouquet was of red roses and white gladioli.

Miss Betty Marie Wright as bridesmaid for her sister, was frocked in powder blue brocaded satin and net. Her veil was of blue embroidered net in shoulder length with floral spray headdress. She carried a pink gladioli and 'mums.

Groomsman was Donald Davis of Frankford. James Howard and Sherwood Reid of Frankford were ushers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Her mother received in a dress of grey faille with black hat and matching accessories, and corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother, who also received, wore wine faille with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Out-of-town guests present included: Aafke Streekatra, Mr. and Mrs. James Reid, Muriel Powell, Sherwood Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carr, Boyd Carr, Karen Carr, Donald Davis, James Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet McFarline, all of Frankford; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Courtney, Robert Courtney, Clara Smith, Tweed; Mr. and Mrs. Everett King, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Scalia, Port Credit; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peever, Toronto.

Later the couple left for a trip through northern Ontario. For travelling the bride's choice was a blue gabardine suit with which she wore navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. On return Mr. and Mrs. Courtney will live at Frankford.

What's Right?

You have a friend who is moving to a town in which another good friend of yours lives.

WRONG: Give the one who is moving the other's name and address and say: "Be sure to look her up and tell her you are a friend of mine."

RIGHT: Write the friend who already lives in the town and ask her to get in touch with the newcomer.

✧ ✧ ✧

You want to compliment a woman on what she is wearing.

WRONG: Say: "You certainly are dressed up tonight."

RIGHT: Tell her how becoming her dress is. The comment about how dressed up she is will only make her feel self-conscious.

Village Girl Likely Chosen As Miss America of 1951

By JAMES P. HACKETT

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP). — There are more good-looking girls in small towns than in big cities.

And that's not because there are more small towns than there are big cities, either.

Proof of this beauty pudding is in the looking. It's getting on to Miss America time again and this year most of the entrants are from small towns.

Oh yes, there are some big city girls in the contest. As usual, 54 girls will compete in the Miss American pageant from Sept. 4 to Sept. 9. They'll represent 46 States (Rhode Island and West Virginia are missing); four cities, Washington, D.C.; New York; Philadelphia and Chicago; and Canada, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

They will vie for the Miss America title won last year by Jacque Mercer of Phoenixville, Ariz. The winner will be dubbed "Miss America, 1951" instead of "1950."

Up To Date

The change was made so the title would be up to date during the reign of the winner.

To get back to the small town beauty, here's a preview on some of the girls.

Did a girl from Cleveland or Cincinnati win the "Miss Ohio" title? No, sir, it was 19-year-old Irene Farren of Grand River. How about Louisiana? New Orleans, you say. None. It's Rowena Taliaferro of Winnsboro who represents the state.

Canada's entrant is 19-year-old Margaret Eleanore Bradford of Windsor.

From Alaska

One girl went a long way to get into the Miss America contest. She's Maxine Cothern, born in Portales, New Mexico, 23 years ago. She attended Graceland College at Lamoni, Iowa, and will come to the pageant from Fairbanks, Alaska, as that territory's first competitor.

Of the first 45 girls selected to compete there are 24 brunettes, 16 blondes, four black-haired and one red-haired.

To get the judges' nod as Miss America, the winner must not only please with figure and face, but she must show poise, personality and talent. All the girls are judged on that basis, the public viewing the figure, poise and talent. Figures are revealed in bathing suits, poise in evening gowns, and talent on the stage of huge Convention Hall.

Face Less Important

Face has taken on less importance in recent years, much to the dismay of spectators. Many voice their disappointment in the selection of Miss America, arguing any number of the other girls are "prettier." The judges mark score cards on personality after breakfasting three mornings with the contestants. During the public showing, the scorecards are marked for figure, poise and talent.

The 15 girls with the highest number of points become finalists. They are scored all over again until five are chosen. From the five, Miss America is selected.

DOROTHY DIX

If Husband Loves Another Wife Should Set Him Free

DEAR MISS DIX: Five years ago my husband fell in love with a young girl. He tried to be honest and fair about it and told me of it and pleaded for his freedom. He admitted that I had been a good and devoted wife, but he had just lost all affection for me. Advised by relatives and friends and chiefly because I loved him so dearly, I fought desperately to hold him and refused him the divorce. Today, although I still have my husband and my home, I have neither. My home is just a house. I am a wife in name only. I am miserable. My nerves are shattered. My health gone. My good looks going. My husband's hatred of me grows daily. He still loves the girl whose happiness and his he says I selfishly ruined, for she is married to someone else and is miserable also. Now I offer him his freedom and he says it is too late.

Dorothy Dix

A BITTER WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There are as many angles to divorce as there are to individual personalities, and what is the wise and the right thing for the wife to do when her husband asks her for his freedom depends upon the individual temperament of the man.

Some Are Philanderers

There are men who are born philanderers and who are constitutionally incapable of ever being faithful to any one woman. There are other men who are good and kind and desirable as husbands, but who are fatally weak where women are concerned and whom any designing adventuress can have for the taking. Many a middle-aged man who has been a devoted husband and father falls into the hands of a girl who makes him believe that he is too young for his wife and that he will turn into a gay lad again if he marries her. And when his wife sees that he is about to commit mental and moral suicide by marrying a girl young enough to be his daughter, or some hard-faced grafter who cares for nothing but his pocket-book, she is justified in refusing to give him a divorce until he has had time to get over his infatuation.

But there are other marriages in which a man finds that his wife is not his mate. They have nothing in common. There is no spiritual correspondence between them. His love for her dies because it has nothing to feed upon. She bores him, is distasteful to him.

Then Fate throws in his way the woman who is his other self and to whom his very soul goes out, who gives meaning to life for him. And when this is the case, when a wife knows that some other woman can give her husband what she is powerless to give him, that this other woman can make him happy while she makes him miserable, then all she can do in kindness to him and for her own self-respect is to let him go. For you cannot coerce love. You cannot make a man love you because it is his duty to. And to hold hold the body of a husband after his spirit has escaped you is like binding oneself to a rotting corpse. When we do that which makes another unhappy, we only make ourselves miserable.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a business girl, quite attractive and with a good job. My problem is this: All my life I have dreamed about a tall, handsome man whom I expected to meet some day and marry, but I find myself engaged to a young man who is neither tall nor handsome. He is kind, thoughtful, loving. We have more or lesst the same education. Like the same books and are quite companionable. But while he is devoted to me, I only care for him in a lukewarm fashion. We are to be married soon, but I hesitate because I am wondering if I am going to be happy married to a man who is not my ideal if, perhaps, I may meet some one after I am married who will be everything I dreamed about.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My dear child, don't you know that every girl that ever lived has this same dream of marrying a Fairy Prince who is tall and slim and has golden curls and a Greek profile and a romantic line? A girl begins seeing this vision about the time she becomes boy-conscious, and she goes on thrilling over it until the hero's picture is obliterated by that of some stocky, freckle-faced double-fisted lad who hasn't an ounce of sentiment in him, but who somehow is her man whom she marries and lives with happily ever after.

But you have taken your adolescent fancy seriously. You set up an impossible standard that no mortal man could possibly measure up to, and if you are going through the world still looking for your ideal, even after you are married, you are certainly headed for trouble.

My advice to you is not to marry until you find some man who looks better to you than any other man on earth. There is enough disillusion in marriage even when you start out thinking that you have caught the world's wonder for a husband.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy 17 years old and very powerful. I have a bad habit of knocking down everybody, even my father, when they displease me. I do not mean to be mean or rough and didn't notice it until I broke my older brother's arm swisting it. What can you suggest that I do?

X. Y. Z.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Use your strength gently. But you seem to be the White Hope. Why don't you make use of your unusual gift by going into some occupation in which your great strength will count?

ENQUIRY COLUMN

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I read your column each day, and at present am making a collection of your lovely recipes.

However, in today's edition I have read your pickling recipes, and would appreciate it if you could send me various pickling recipes. Could you send me a recipe on how to pickle onions (sweet mixed)?

I have settled here permanently. I have come from Boston. I have no knowledge of pickling.

I would like to ask you when I seal the jars with pickled food, do I have to boil the jars in a canner for a few minutes like I do in preserving fruits and other vegetables?

Looking forward to an immediate answer and thanking you in advance,—Mrs. P. J.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Sweet Pickled Onions

Peel small white onions, cover with brine, allowing one and one-half cups salt to 2 quarts boiling water, and let stand two days; drain and cover with more brine, and let stand two days and again drain. Make more brine and heat to boiling point; put in the onions and boil 3 minutes. Skim out the onions and put in sterile jars, interspersing them with bits of bay leaf, peppercorns and slices of red pepper, or whole small hot peppers, and whole cloves. Fill each jar to overflowing with spirit vinegar which has been scalded with sugar, using 1 cup sugar to each quart of white spirit vinegar. Seal at once.

Yes, all jars must be boiled 20 minutes before being used to can pickles; th,s includes tops, rubbers, and rings. Watch every week for pickling recipes.

Vitamin E — This important vitamin, while not conclusively proven to be so, is generally believed by scientists doing vitamin research to be necssary for normal reproduction. Where Vitamin E is lacking pregnancy failures are common.

Good dietary sources are common, however; wheat germ, wheat germ oil, whole wheat flour, whole rye flour, butter, corn, corn oil, cottonseed oil (used for making many commercial mayonnaise dressings), eggs, meat, peanuts and peanut butter and peanut oil.

One interesting fact is that the use of rancid fats if eaten at the same time as Vitamin-E-containing food may destroy the Vitamin E. But this is not likely to happen because no one eats rancid fat if he is aware of it.

Watch this page for data on Vitamin K next week or the following one.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: From time to time I have a lot of mother form on vinegar, and have always strained the vinegar and thrown the mother away.

I understand people, years ago, used this mother to make more vinegar. I do not expect you would know just how to do it, and I know it is a very difficult request.

However, if you happen to know any place I could write to obtain this information I would be ever so grateful.—Mrs. Gordon C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think I can help you with this. Would you watch this column next week for method of making home-made vinegar, please.

Meat Emergency May Make Some Good Meat Cooks, Yet

By MARY MOORE

The fact that yours truly was in town was sufficient excuse for a party. A party means food; food means meat; meat means money.

But nothing daunted my beloved friends met all of the requirements with flying colors, and flying flavor too.

I have all of the details of cost and the number of people served from

Gracie's Dish

Which I strongly advise you to try, for, for flavor, it is tops, and what is more, it served eight people generously at a cost of $1.08.

(This meat emergency may make good meat cooks out of us yet.)

Buy a 2-lb. piece of veal shank —which should be high enough on the shank to be a little better than half meat. Cut the meat from the bone and cut into 1-inch dice. Saute these in 3 tablespoons butter to brown the surfaces. Put these into a simmering kettle and rinse out the frying-pan with sufficient hot water to not quite cover the meat. Add a slice of lemon, 1 clove garlic uncut, a little salt and pepper, cover tightly and simmer over as low heat as possible for 1½ hours. About 5 minutes before serving time add to stew one-half lb. sausage meat made up into 1-inch balls sauteed for 5 minutes and the juice of half lemon.

Now my hostesses served this mouth-watering dish with spaghetti in tomato and cheese sauce; and a wonderful tray full of such specials as pitted ripe and green olive, pickled pearl onions, tomato wedges, cucumber sticks, radish roses.

Dessert? Melon ball fruit cup and Homemade Mocha cake.

Ground Beef Broiled on Toast.

Here is a dish that used to be an old favorite in the days when my mother was a girl. I forgot about it until I was looking up some dishes for an invalid and came across Scraped Beef on toast. For well people this is a hearty version of the same thing:

Toast white bread on one side, providing one slice for each person to be served — or two if you have husky appetites to appease. Spread the untasted side lightly with fat or butter and sprinkle Season the ground beef or ham-generously with salt and pepper. burger with salt and pepper and to each pound of it add 3 tablespoons cream or evaporated milk. Spread each slice with raw meat at least one-quarter inch thick on the untoasted side, spreading it to the very edge. Broil under direct heat for about 6 or 7 minutes or until golden brown and barely cooked through. I like the meat to be slightly pink so do it only 5 minutes under very hot broiler burner. Children love this, and while I am not one to economize on meat, this does make it stretch.

Genuine Irish Stew

Ask your butcher for lean yearling lamb or mutton — 1½ lbs. (If he does not have it ask him to order it for you when he next orders from the packing house.) Cut the meat in one-inch cubes. Dredge with salted and peppered flour; saute with 2 chopped onions barely cover, cover tightly, and in 3 tablespoon fat. Add water to barely cover, cover tightly, simmer 1½ hours or until tender. Mutton takes 3 hours, lamb half of that time. Add 4 each diced potatoes and carrots, 1 small turnip and cook until vegetables are tender. At last minute add 1 or 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Watch next week for lead article on pickling.

New Princess Cover Girl Before Walking

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

LONDON, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Princess Elizabeth's new baby seems bound to become a cover girl before she can walk.

From the date of her first picture—expected about one month after her birth—she is assured of world renown. Right from the start, everything she wears, does and says will be copied and recorded.

British newspapers already forecast she will become "the most photographed girl in the world."

Before she can count, the value of her jewelry will run into many figures. Her great-grandmother, Queen Mary, is said to be laying aside part of her magnificent collection as a christening present.

Stress Simplicity

Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh are expected to follow royal custom and buy their daughter a jewelled brooch. The happy couple may also follow an old-time custom and start a string of pearls to which a further stone will be added each birthday.

Although the young princess will undoubtedly receive many expensive jewels, her first gift is a simple strand of coral beads. It comes from her mother who wore it herself as a baby.

In this gift, Princess Elizabeth shows the keynote of her children's upbringing, simplicity. It is her firm intention to follow as far as possible, the wise freedom of her own childhood.

Directions:

I was talking to a Maritimer regarding the merits of lake fish versus salt water fish. Naturally, I lost the argument—except when it came to eating bass on the shore of a Muskoka lake which had been caught less than one hour previously and cooked swimming in butter by yourself over an open fire. But one thing he did tell me I want to pass on. When you buy such delicious lake fish as trout or salmon trout the best method of cooking is to broil it, spread with butter, lemon juice, salt and paprika until it is just barely done. If any should be left over, chill it well and when it is to be used next day, spread it with butter and reheat in slow oven. I have never tried this, but my informant says it is even better than served hot the first time.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Tomato Mold Will Frame Vegetable, Meat, Fish Salads

For good basic salad recipes or for unusual fillings for tried and true aspics, you must see The Examiner's seventh book in its series of twenty-four cookbooks, "500 Tempting Salads and Dressings." Like the first six books in the series, Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, and Soups, you will never run short of new ideas if you have this cookbook on hand.

For a tasty, sound tomato aspic, you might try the following:

Red Mold

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
2 cups canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
1 stalk celery, chopped
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon onion juice

Soften gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes. Heat tomatoes, add seasonings, bay leaf and celery and cook 10 minutes. Strain and add gelatin, vinegar and onion juice and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Pour into a mold and chill until firm.

If your color scheme is such that you do not want the brightest spot on your table to be the salad, this cucumber mold could easily be the framework for a more elaborate meat or chicken salad:

Molded Cucumber Salad

1 cucumber, pared and diced
½ teaspoon salt
½ sweet pimiento, diced
½ teaspoon lemon juice
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup cream, whipped

Combine cucumber, salt, pimiento and lemon juice. Soak gelatin in cold water 5 minutes; dissolve over hot water and mix thoroughly with whipped cream. Add cucumber mixture and pour into molds. Chill. Serves 4.

To get your copy of the Salad Book all you need to do is present one coupon from any issue of The Examiner and 25 cents at The Examiner office or from your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Food Markets.

SECRET WAS SIMPLE

"Isn't it amazing what children notice? Last night my little girl said, 'Mommy, why is Granny's washing whiter than yours?' I swallowed my pride and found out today. The secret's a swish or two of Reckitt's Blue in the final rinse for it's Reckitt's Blue that prevents clothes turning yellow. There is no pure white without blue. Costs only a few cents a month, and means I take no chances with anything that may damage fabric. It is the safe way to keep clothes snowy white." A-1-R

Hamilton Rain Sets A Record

HAMILTON, Aug. 29 (CP).—The heavy rainfall here Monday night set a record dating back officially to 1937. The Ontario meteorological bureau here recorded a fainfall measuring 3.04 inches in the period from 5.30 p.m., Monday to 8 a.m. Tuesday. Official records for the Hamilton area date back only to 1937.

Approximately 13,000 Hamilton residents were without electricity for more than five hours as a result of the rain.

Piles of garbage through city streets, uncollected because of the strike of garbage collectors, were turned into a soggy mess as the cardboard cartons in which the refuse was stored disintegrated in the rain. Some of the garbage was washed into gulley drains, blocking them and flooding the streets.

Striking Rail Unions Allow Ferry To Run

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 — (CP). — Striking rail unions today agreed to permit operation of the Prince Edward Island car ferry, major link between the Island province and the mainland. Frank H. Hall, strikers' spokesman, said enough union workers will be made available to permit the unrestricted use of one ferry on the run between Borden, PEI, and Tormentine, NB.

Obituary

MRS. JOSEPH POYSER

OMEMEE, Aug. 29—(ENS)—Mrs. Joseph Poyser, formerly Julia Cooper, died Monday at her home in Omemee in her 78th year. Born in Kent county, England, she was the daughter of the late Alfred Cooper and Eliza Fridd.

She came to Cooper's Falls, near Washago, where she resided for years, later moving to Omemee, where she lived for 31 years until her death.

She was active in women's work at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Omemee, and was a member of Omemee Coronation Lodge.

She is survived by her husband, six sons, Walter, William, Milton and Arthur of Washago, Wesley of Midland, Charles of Omemee; two daughters, Mrs. C. Fenton (Agnes) Brecken, Mrs. R. Justin (Pearl), of London, Ontario, and one brother, Alfred, of Brecken. One daughter, Mrs. C. Lofhaw (Eliza), predeceased her.

Funeral service will be held at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at 3 p.m. Wednesday, the Rev. H. Kaye officiating. Burial will be in Emily cemetery.

Farmers Pleased Steady Rainfall Before Plowing

That post-harvest rain doesn't rate in the million dollar scale of rough estimates of value to agriculture in this district, but it will be a great aid and boon to farmers in preparing their land for the seeding of winter wheat.

There may be an odd field of wheat still standing, but most of the summer's work is done in this area. Some combining of oats is about all that remains of the harvest job. Farmers who are equipped with their own outfits have taken off the crop and are getting ready for the planting of the wheat that will not be garnered until the summer of 1951.

The wheat yield this year is averaging somewhere between 40 and 50 bushels. A minority of farmers mention less than 40 bushels, many of them are up around 50 bushels, and some fields are credited with close to 60.

Recent concern has centred on the dry ground, resulting from the weeks of only occasional rain, a stretch of weather that was favorable to the main job of the year. Today's saturating downpour that began in the night will leave the land in ideal condition for plowing and tilling.

Meanwhile there have been accumulating chores and odd jobs such as fence building and repairing that have been getting recent attention. Some farmers have been investing in registered wheat seed.

"Just what was needed, and could hardly have been more timely," was the comment of Cliff Curtis about the quantity of rain that soaked the land today.

Two Men Steal Chicken Crates

Two men pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of stealing six wire chicken crates from the poultry building of the Exhibition Park, August 12.

The men, John Whaley, 272 Westcott St., and Kenneth Grady, 498 Park St., were each fined $20 and costs.

In fining the men, Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said a fine in the case of a theft was very unusual unless the circumstances were out of the ordinary, or the articles stolen of little value.

Asked for an explanation, Whaley said "I had been drinking. I wouldn't have done it otherwise."

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum said the men went into the open poultry building shortly after one a.m. They got a car to pick up the wire crates, but they were caught about two blocks from the exhibition grounds. There were many other crates of the same type used at exhibition time in the building.

Send MacArthur Policy Statement

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP).—President Truman today sent Gen. Douglas MacArthur a statement of American policy on Formosa, and also a commendation of the General's direction of the Korean campaign.

Truman's move, following up his week-end order for MacArthur to withdraw a statement on Formosa, appeared to have a two-fold purpose although there was no official comment.

1—To clarify MacArthur's own understanding of the whole situation and give him an implied reminder not to get out of step again.

2—To ease the sting of the incident to the General and also help maintain MacArthur's prestige in the Far East.

Princess Elizabeth Thanks Fred M. Young

A speedy royal thank-you came to Fred M. Young, Red Cedar Lodge, Clear Lake, on August 19. On August 15, Mr. Young cabled his congratulations to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh on the birth of their second child.

As August 15 is also Mr. Young's birthday, he was prompted to send his congratulations that night, a Tuesday. The message of thanks is dated August 16, and reached Mr. Young the following Saturday.

Text of the message, sent from Clarence House, St. Jame's, follows:

"Dear Sir:

"I am desired by Their Royal Highnesses The Princess Elizabeth and The Duke of Edinburgh to send you their most sincere thanks for your kind message of congratulation of the birth of their child."

The note is signed by the comptroller of the royal household.

LATEST IN NESTS

SOUTH KILLINGHOLME, Lincolnshire, England (CP).—A family of blue-tit birds has nested in a slot-machine in front of a store.

First Night

who has had a baby by her stepfather but won't go home to him until he removes the body of his dead wife from his roof-top, a gesture he has made through altercation with the parish priest, but more on the principles of refrigeration than those of religion.

I presume that such lively touches of color are of Mr Davies' own invention rather than from the annals of Peterborough's history. Just as I presume this Mr. Cantwell to be a figment of the lively imagination of the playwright. I am sure that if the devil did have residence in this Dominion at that date that he was to be found in Lower rather than Upper Canada.

Three Tempted

But in At My Heart's Core, here he is—and a very busy day he has, too. In the short space of the second act, he tempts Mrs. Moodie with a dream of literary eminence; her sister, Mrs. Traill, with distinction as a naturalist, and Mrs. Stewart, with the dream of a more elegant life and love back in her native Ireland.

As you see, he tempts each with the thing which lies close to their hearts and thus sows the seeds of discontent in a land where everything else grows with much more difficulty, and with far more work.

The first act has given us the disquiet of any playgoer before a drama recounting pioneer days—the reminder of labor and privation so hard that we can only feel embarrassed, and the picturing of characters determinedly colorful.

But here with this second act we have a delightful predicament to watch and enjoy—the devil working his will on the noble and virtuous. How will it all end, we wonder. Can successful temptation be confounded?

It turns out that it cannot, but we have a most delightful trial before we find that out, for the Hon. Thomas Stewart, MLC and JP comes home with news of the victory over Mackenzie (and Mr. Davies' own observations on that victory as a world-shaking event). And it is himself who conducts the inquiry, all legal-like.

The devil needs no advocate to prove that he tempted on good evidence. Mrs. Moodie and Mrs. Traill must bear the punishment of discontent with their life here in Upper Canada, although there is some hint of reprieve for Mrs. Moodie, Mrs. Stewart defeats the devil, in respect for the traditional triumph of an abiding love, and we leave her at the final curtain secure in the affection of the Hon. Thomas Stewart, considerate man and loving husband.

View On Culture

Although he has given this story to hold us dramatically Mr. Davies has also given us plenty of the observations of wisdom on the state of cultural life here in Canada, which might apply only to 1837, but still just conceivably might apply to the present day. And, oh yes—delightful plum—he has thrown in a song and an imitation of the great Grimaldi himself. When Donald Glen as the Hon. Thomas struck up with the imitation of Grimaldi, I really believed in the play, the period and Early Peterborough.

Mr. Davies has rehearsed the players himself and done a remarkably good job of it. I say remarkably good, for playwrights paradoxically are not always the best directors of their own work But Mr. Davies pointed the wit of his play, did not insist rudely on its wisdom and had plenty of time over to warm it with his emotion.

Admirable Cast

The cast was admirable. John Primm gave such charm and subtlety to the role of Cantwell that we forgave him his wickedness and the wavering of his Irish dialect. His quoting of Mrs. Moodie's own poetry to confound her was a moving moment, for the devil can use eloquence to his own ends. Mr. Glen was hearty and humorous as the Hon. Thomas, and far more theatrical than the devil, while Frank Perry was a lively intruder as a surprisingly sharp-witted Irish poet and peasant.

The ladies of Early Peterborough would have been proud of their representation at the centennial. Brenda Davies had a part one could well believe was written especially for her, and which she played with warmth, grace and affection. As Mrs. Moodie, Clarine Jackman played with power and control and a thinking way to her that made her quite acceptable as the author of Roughing It In the Bush. Kate Reid has some fine moments or self-recognition, but her moments of self-relevation seemed somewhat exaggerated and I am not sure that her moon-struck air was altogether suited to a pioneer lady scientist. But her handling of the humor which falls her way was very much to the point.

Then there was a cheerful, bright Irish maid—or rather mother—from Pat Atkinson and a rather odd squaw from Marjorie Root. I could not decide whether Mr. Davies' sole Indian had befallen the fate of all stage Indians or whether the fault was in the playing—but certainly I did not believe in her.

Setting In Key

Margaret McDonough's setting was charming, and not too literal in its solution to the demands for an outside as well as interior scene. It seemed to me to be very neatly in key with Mr. Davies' writing. It was a pity that the snow effects didn't come off on first night, but then perhaps it was just as well as all of the ladies seemed to venture out of doors without wraps in a fashion which seemed hardy even for such notable pioneers.

A delightful form of celebration is At My Heart's Core, and one would venture to say, as much an ornament to its literature and history as Mrs. Moodie's great work.

Union At CGE Voices Support For Rail Strikers

The militant left-wing United Electrical Workers is the first local union to protest any government plan that would force 124,000 striking railwaymen to return to work.

In a letter sent today to G. K. Fraser, M.P., Local 524 UE stated they wanted no repetition of the 1910 railway strike after which some workers were blacklisted and refused pensions. Local 524 is the bargaining agent for some 3,500 production workers at the CGE plant.

"Our union considers that the demands of the railway workers are just," says the letter, "and urges you to do everything in your power to see the strike settled by direct negotiations without any threat of an enforced return to work hanging over the heads of the strikers."

The Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada have issued a joint call to their members to fight any "arbitrary and dictatorial" government measures to end the walkout.

Local 524's letter to Mr. Fraser signed by the secretary, Thelma Deck, states the union will throw its "full support" behind the strikers "and any action they take to protect themselves from repressive legislation."

"During the 1910 railway strike the government openly broke the strike, blacklisted workers and deprived them of their pensions."

This must not happen again, continues the UE Local, as it would set a pattern for private companies to refuse to bargain with their workers.

Ban Publication Of News Stories On Love Drama

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 29 (AP) —The government today banned publication of news dispatches concerning the stormy Romeo-and-Juliet love drama on the Island of Crete, where a blood feud over the affair threatens to burst into civil war.

Newspapers which publish dispatches about the abduction of the 19-year-old Juliet of the Cretan story can be fined up to 10,000,000 drachma (about $725), the public prosecutor announced here. The ruling holds until the government's investigation is completed.

Rumor, conjecture and official denials dominated today's chapter of the drama.

The government announced that, contrary to some reports published abroad, semi-martial law had not been declared on the island as a precaution to a revival of a bloody family feud.

Fear Outbreaks

Outbreaks were feared after 19-year-old Stassoula Petrakogiorghis, daughter of a Liberal member in Greece's Parliament, was kidnapped and taken to a mountain hideout by her sweetheart, Constantine Kephhaloyannis.

Constantine's brother is a Populist member of Parliament. Political rivalries have sharpened the bad blood which has existed between the two families for generations.

In an attempt to prevent seething passions from erupting into conflict, Premier Sophocles Venizelos Monday suspended sections of the constitution covering personal liberties, assembly, and search on Crete.

There was no confirmation of another report published abroad that Constantine and Stassoula had been married in their hideaway cave on ancient Mount Ida.

MacArthur Message Sent British Troops

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP). — The Daily Mail publishes a personal message from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the British public welcoming the arrival of British troops in Korea.

"I cannot over-emphasize the gratification and assurance the arrival of Brigadier Coad and his advance party of British officers gives me," the message says.

"I have always had a sense of security when British soldiers were at hand as I know from long experience they will never fail me.

"These troops will add further lustre to the great traditions of the past, and I am proud indeed to have them in this United Nations

"May a merciful God be with them in the trying days ahead."

Demand Charge Put In Writing

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29 (CP)—William Loveday, chairman of Victoria Hospital Trust, demanded Monday that a London labor council delegate put in writing a charge that an accident patient died two weeks ago "through neglect" of the hospital emergency department.

Robert Findlater, Local 35, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, made the charge at a meeting of the LLC Sunday.

In a statement Monday Mr. Loveday said: "Something has got to be done to stop these slanderous statements." He said the Hospital Trust was "very happy" to receive constructive criticism, but "this continuous razzing of us by members of London Labor Council is unfair."

Mr. Loveday said in his statement: "No deaths occurred from the emergency department on the day Mr. Findlater received treatment (August 14). One accident case did die the following morning, but this patient received medical attention within a few minutes of arrival at the hospital. The Hospital Trust will demand that Mr. Findlater substantiate his statement in writing, which if not true would appear to be slanderous."

Thinks Trucking Firms Should Get Break

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP) — The good job trucking companies are doing in keeping supplies moving during the railway strike is reason why the federal government should not take over control of highway transportation, A. H. Muir, president of the Canadian Automotive Transportation Association, said Monday.

He said both the railways and the railway unions have brought pressure on the government to "legislate the trucking industry out of existence."

In a letter to members of parliament, Mr. Muir said, "the recommendations of the railways in respect to meeting motor transport competition are economically unsound and politically undemocratic."

Urge A-Bomb Shelters

Having Rough Time

EDINBURGH, Aug. 29 — (Reuters)—Having hiccups for four days is bad enough, Harry Renton said Monday —but having to stifle the things for that length of time is worse. Renton is Chief Electrician of the Gateway theatre in Edinburgh, where many of the events of the Edinburgh Musical Festival are being held. His marathon bout of hiccups started five days ago—and there was nobody to take his place at the theatre. His job, operating the stage-lighting, requires silence—so he has had to carry on with his job, hiding his secret from the audience. Monday, he went to hospital to see if the hiccups could be stopped. They disappeared on the way. When he went back on the job Monday night, they returned—and Renton resumed his stifling..

Bush Workers Granted Raises

TORONTO, Aug. 29 —(CP)— Wage increases for bush workers employed by 19 Ontario pulpwood-producing companies were announced today.

They are provided for by an agreement signed after 10 days' negotiations between the companies and the Lumber and Saw Mill Workers Union (AFL).

Principal changes from the former contract include a general increase of 50 cents a day for day workers, with comparable increases for piece workers. In addition, piece cutters again will receive a cutting bonus of 55 cents a cord. Other improvements include liberalized vacations with pay and time-off benefits. As a result of increased costs, the charge for board is raised to $1.75 a day from $1.65.

Norwood Girls Win 17-6 Over Warsaw

NORWOOD, Aug. 29. (ENS)—The Norwood girls after several weeks of being idle defeated Warsaw here on Monday night 17-6. The game was keenly contested and the only circuit hit was made by S. Rusaw.

Warsaw	213 00—	6
Norwood	143 54—	17

Teams: Warsaw — V. Clements, B. Eddie, N. Payne, A. Watts, D. Davidson, M. Banks, M. Darling, J. Freeburn, B. Payne.

Norwood — R. Baskin, I. Wannamaker, H. Wilford, F. Hogg, S. Rusaw, R. Richardson, E. Gill, E. Hall, J. Waldon.

Kingston Has Annexation Plan

KINGSTON, Aug. 29. (CP) — The city of Kingston, outgrowing its boundaries, Monday night took a preliminary step in seeking room for expansion.

Its city council gave first reading to three bylaws providing for annexation of the village of Portsmouth, the Butteril farm in Kingston township and other sections of Kingston township including the plant of the Aluminum Company of Canada.

If annexation goes through, the city of 35,000 would get an additional 3,500 population in Portsmouth and 6,000 to 7,000 in Kingston township. The 100-acre Butteril farm, covered in one bylaw, is slated for a provincial-dominion housing development.

Portsmouth, site of an Ontario hospital and a federal penitentiary, has indicated it will not oppose annexation which would help it solve its financial problems.

Kingston township has indicated it will not oppose the Butteril farm annexation. However, it has not expressed any view on the plan to take over other sections of the township.

Funeral At Hastings For H. J. Steckenreiter

HASTINGS, Aug. 29—(ENS)—Herbert John Steckenreiter, 51, who died Saturday in Gravenhurst, was buried Monday in Trent Valley Cemetery.

Born in Kitchener, Mr. Steckenreiter moved to Brickley in Percy township at an early age, and for the past two years has been living in Gravenhurst. He was a carpenter.

He is survived by his widow, the former Pearl Taylor, two children, Garnet, 8, and Beverley, 5; three sisters, Katie of Windsor, Annie and Mrs. Perry Butter (Nettie) of Toronto of Toronto; two brothers, Joseph of Alberta and Norman of Brickley.

The funeral was conducted by Canon C. R. Spencer at St. George's Anglican Church, Hastings. Pallbearers were C. Seeney, J. Lockhart, F. O'Reilly, J. Doherty, J. Convey and A. MacDonald.

Woman Tourist Killed In Jeep Accident

WINDSOR, Aug. 29 (CP) — Anne C. Cummings, 21, of Rochester, N.Y., was killed and a companion injured Monday night when their converted army jeep ran under the back of a truck about 20 miles east of here.

Martha Coachman, 20, of Ballston Spa, N.Y., is in hospital here. Her condition is not considered serious. She suffered deep facial lacerations when the windshield of their vehicle was swept off by the rear of the truck.

Police said the two women were following a truck driven by William Gray, who slowed to turn into his home. The top portion of the jeep was sheared off by the truck platform and the two women were thrown clear.

Schools May Delay Opening In Nfld.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 29 — (CP).—School opening in many parts of Newfoundland may be delayed as a result of the railway strike, Education Minister S. J. Hefferton said today.

"With the breakdown in communications and travel difficulties it is hard to say what the situation really is at the moment," Mr. Hefferton said.

Schools in most areas were scheduled to open the first week of September, and with the strike likely to last until Thursday at least, it might be impossible for teachers to reach their schools in time for the opening.

Winnipeg Dikes Work Begins

WINNIPEG — (CP) — Work has begun on an emergency diking scheme to protect greater Winnipeg from recurrence of this year's disastrous Red River flood.

Preliminary engineering has been completed in east and west Kildonan and the Kingston Crescent area and is going ahead in other parts of Winnipeg and adjoining St. Boniface, Man. Diking is to start almost immediately.

The aim is to dike against a flood level of 24.5 feet and providing a solid foundation on which higher barriers can be built in a hurry. This year the "topping" would have had to be about six feet to hold back the 30.3-foot flood.

A federal-provincial agreement has been signed by which Ottawa will pay three-quarters of the diking cost, except the cost of buying diking rights on private property. The province has offered to pay one-eighth, leaving one-eighth to be paid by municipalities.

2 Million Outlay

The total outlay has been estimated at $2,500,000 and the dikes are supposed to be completed by November. Work on pumping stations will continue through the winter.

Meantime, plans are being made for surveys by the federal resources department for over-all control of flood peaks on both the Red and its tributary Assiniboine which joins it opposite St. Boniface.

Such control will be a long-term, multi-million-dollar job. Because the countryside is so flat, it is impossible to build control reservoirs. One plan, suggested by Premier Douglas L. Campbell, is to build a huge spillway to carry Red River water around the greater Winnipeg area in a second, man-made channel.

Ape vs. Man Wrestle Brushed Off By Zoo

SYDENHAM, Kent —(CP)—Percy Stock, a six-foot, 225-pound local wrestler, is working off a peeve after London zoo authorities brushed aside his challenge to a bout with one of their largest apes.

Stock insisted he could make any monkey holler for help. All he asked was that the ape should be muzzled and have its nails clipped. He for his part, undertook not to gouge, kick or otherwise main the animal.

Commenting on the zoo's refusal, Mrs. Stock said she was greatly relieved. "It's just as well. The ape would probably have strangled him."

Falls 4 Stories

JERSEY CITY, N.J., Aug 29—(AP) — Two-year-old Lawrence Payton fell four storeys to a cement sidewalk from his front window Monday night. Doctors said he suffered only minor cuts.

Lost—An Aeroplane

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29—(ENS) — Robert Nicholls of Campbellford has lost an aeroplane. He was flying it — a black and yellow three foot model — at the high school grounds Sunday.

The machine was performing excellently when it vanished out of sight. It was last seen circling the high school about 500 feet up and heading north west from Campbellford at a speed of 45 m.p.h. It had gas for seven minutes' flight.

Launching Tricky For Lake Tanker

FORT WILLIAM — (CP) — A lakehead shipbuilding company has an engineering problem: how to slide a boat 620 feet long, 68 feet wide and weighing 5,000 tons into a dock 713 feet long and 98 feet wide.

R. W. Sutto, superintendent of the company (Port Arthur Ship-Building Company) admits it will be a tight fit—but he is confident the launching will come off succesfully.

The vessel is the largest ever built at the lakehead. It is the Imperial Oil Company tanker Redwater. Both the Redwater and her sister ship, The Leduc, now are under construction at Collingwood.

When they slide down the launching platform next fall, they will be the largest freshwater tankers in the world.

The Redwater will be launched sideways. Engineers are taking precautions that waves she causes will not destroy the shipyard. Buildings will be barricaded and reinforced. Everything which might be floated away will be removed.

500 Workmen

About 450 men are working on the Redwater and perhaps another 50 will be required. The keel was laid March 13 and, although bad weather has slowed progres, work on the vessel is proceeding almost on schedule.

Both tankers are expected to be ready for launching next October. Through the winter they will be fitted out inside and are due to go into service with the opening of navigation next spring.

They are being built specifically to convey Albert oil from the terminus of a 1,180-mile pipeline at Superior, Wis., to Ontario refineries.

Oldest Phone Girl

PORT TALBOT, Wales, Aug. 29 (AP)—The oldest telephone girl in the British Isles died Monday at the age of 87. She was Mrs. Margaret Jane Bale, who first went to work on a switchboard in 1900. She was still on the job when she was taken fatally ill last week.

Let Serum Through

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 29 (CP) —Railway pickets agreed Monday to allow delivery of much-needed serum through picket lines to patients critically ill in London hospitals. The serum had been stored in strikebound CNR freight sheds.

Seek Murderer With A Drawl

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP) —A tall young man with a "southern drawl" was sought by police today as the prowler who shot and killed eccentric 76-year-old Anthony Skotzke early Monday.

The retired merchant was slain in a gun fight before two granddaughters in his old, castle-like home at 5:30 a.m.

Evidently the intruder climbed up a ladder and through a window, after pacifying three dogs which guarded the house.

A high wall and a spiked iron fence protect the home. Neighborhood gossip has been that Skotzke kept a large sum of money in the house.

The granddaughters, Jane Barger, 19, and her sister, Margie, 15, said they were awakened in their beds by a light flashed in their faces.

"Shut up or I'll kill you," they said they were told.

"We screamed anyway," Margie said. "Grandpa came running upstairs."

The girls said that Skotzke exchanged shots with the man, who fled. Skotzke fell dead of a shot in the heart.

Excess Profits Tax Urged Pay For Raises

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Charles Millard, vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said Monday the federal government should grant the demands of striking railway workers and then impose new excess-profits taxation to pay for them.

Mr. Millard, Canadian director of the United Steelworkers (CCL-CIO) made the statement in an address to the Toronto Labor Council.

He said the Canadian railways should not be run on a profit-and-loss basis. They should be considered a national service and, if necessary, financed by other means. He said industry now is enjoying an unprecedented boom and should be taxed to provide the other means.

Moore Family Meets For Annual Reunion

NORWOOD, Aug. 29 (ENS) — The annual Moore family reunion was held Sunday at Chard's Bridge. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Moore, Mr. Terry Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wrightly and Marvin, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wrightly, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moore, Larry and Marie, of Havelock; Mr. Alman Moore of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Sam McDonald and Donna, Miss Isabel McDonald and Mr. Bernard McDonald of Campbellford, Miss Betty Wrightly of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Tackaberry and Diana of Baltimore, Mr. and Mrs. Herb. McKay and Miss Franz of Indian River, Mr. Carl and Lawrence (Bud) Wrightly of Brantford, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wrightly, of Norwood, and Mr. and Mrs. German Moore of Stony Lake.

Wallacetown Girl Heads Piano Class

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Elaine Keillor, Wallacetown, Ont., won first place in the class for pianists under 17 years at the Canadian National Exhibition music festival Monday.

Ronald Schmoll, Toronto, took second place and John Robertson, Ottawa, third.

Young Toronto pianists dominated the classes under nine and under seven years with Mary Reichert winning the former and her sister, Linda, the latter. Edith Bundy, Brantford, placed second in the under nine class.

Post Office Victors

Post Office yanked out a 13-12 Civic Softball League decision over the Bus Drivers last night, five runs in the sixth doing the trick after they had shoved over three in the first, four in the third and one in the fourth. Busmen tallied one in the first, two next time up, three in the third, four in the fifth and a brace in the sixth of an exciting scrap. Teams:

Bus Drivers: O'Dette, 1b; Brown, p; Gordon, cf; Edmondson, ss; Sage, rf; Parnell, c; Grey, 3b; Simmons, 2b; Clark, lf.

Post Office: Bryan, cf; Adam, rf; Phillips, p; Loucks, 2b; Wallwork, lf; Coombes, c; Hay, ss; O'Toole, 1b; Moore, 3b.

First Arboretum Set Up On Coast

VANCOUVER (CP)— Canada's first civic arboretum—that's a museum of trees and shrubs—is boasted by Vancouver.

Canada has eight of the some 90 botanical gardens and arboretums in North America with the size ranging from five to 1,200 acres, mostly in horticultural experimental stations and the botanical gardens of Montreal and Hamilton.

Vancouver got hers when an industry decided to identify itself with cultural civic development of a non-political character. Result was the generosity of the pulp and paper industry in the province combined with co-operation of the park board, turning 35 acres as a start into the Queen Elizabeth Arboretum.

Another 110 acres, all of it overlooking the sea, will be added later.

The knowledge of shrubs and trees gathered will be handed on to universities and schools as well as professional and amateur horticultural groups.

Rail Strikers Ask Gordon Withdrawn

TORONTO, Aug. 29 — (CP) — A meeting of local railway strikers Monday passed a resolution asking for the withdrawal of Donald Gordon, president of Canadian National Railways, as one of the railway strike negotiators.

Letters will be sent to heads of political parties in Ottawa "demanding the removal of Mr. Donald Gordon as a negotiator, since union men have lost confidence in him."

Report Hit-and-Run Police Make Checkup

What was described as a hit and run accident, was reported to police Sunday by A. Mattucci, 530 Chamberlain St.

Mr. Mattucci showed police his rear left fender had been dented and scraped.

Two witnesses told police they had seen the accident and one reported he had followed the car which ran into the Mattucci car and got its licence number.

Constables John Conlin and George Moore-Gough investigated.

GRATEFUL FOR HELP WITH CONSTIPATION

"My husband spent much money seeking cures for constipation. Not until he began eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN for breakfast did his trouble disappear!" So writes Mrs. Fernand Boudreault, 11 rue Hôtel de Ville, L'Abord-à-Plouffe, Conté Laval, P.Q.

One of many unsolicited letters. If you suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, do this: Eat an ounce of toasty KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water. If not completely satisfied with results after 10 days, send empty box to Kellogg's, London, Ont. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Report Sewer Now Completed

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 29 — (ENS)—Completion of the new sewer for the south west section of the town was reported by the Road and Bridge committee to the town council Monday. Council voted the committee an additional $2,000 to complete sidewalks.

The T. Sismak Company is to receive a tax rebate of $53.90. The company overpaid in that amount this year.

H. Townsend, assessor, drew the council's attention to the new Assessment Act which allows the municipality to charge taxes on however, that tenants were re- Dominion property. He advised, sponsible for paying the tax and because of this, he doubted the advisability of charging taxes, unless there was some way in which it could be obtained from the Government. The tenants were already paying rent and careful consideration should be given before charging taxes.

Alec MacColl, town solicitor, said the proposed pension plan for municipal employees needed certain amendments before it should be adopted. Parts of the plan contradicted other clauses, he said. The council decided to obtain more information before adopting the plan.

Mrs. H. O. Fisk

The funeral service for Mrs H. O. Fisk of 204 McDonnel St., who died on Friday in hospital, was held Monday at her late residence.

The Rev. Dr. James Semple of George St. United Church conducted the funeral service.

The pallbearers were Grant Miller, Court Miller, John Boyd, Norman Crowe, Kenneth Hanbidge, Henry Toole. Burial was in Little Lake Cemetery.

'Pop' Dionne Gives Brush-off To Roving Newspaperman

By JACK SCOTT

CALLANDER, Ont.—The five stolid 'teenage girls who set the world on its ear 16 years ago by getting born are living a quiet and almost anonymous life in behind a ten-foot steel mesh fence topped by barbed wire.

Jack Scott

In Callander, which calls itself 'The Fisherman's Paradise,' and has long since taken the miracle for granted, a faded sign says, "To see the Dionne Quintuplets Turn Right 300 feet."

Short of a letter from the Pope you have about as much change or an accident (as in our case) of seeing Marie, Emilie, Anette, Cecile or Yvonne as you have of seeing the Hope Diamond.

They say that ten or twelve years ago when you followed that arrow into the country two miles east from Callander on a Sunday there's be as many as 8,000 cars in the broad, concrete parking area at the scene of the birth.

Oliva "Pop" Dionne was always the star of the show in those days, I'm told, scrawling his autograph at 25 cents the customer and watching with pleasure as the tossed quarters piled up in two milk buckets. Today he's a sharp-tempered, unpredictable man and when we met briefly yesterday I got one of the classic brush-offs, his customary treatment of the press these days.

It was Pop's fight to take his five daughters from the public gaze (he once bluntly announced that he hoped the public would henceforth keep its nose out of his affairs) that has now earned the girls their strange and unnatural privacy in behind the "Keep Out" signs.

In less than two years the five sisters will split $1,500,000 from Ontario's trust fund under the "Quintuplet Act." What use it'll be in their prison is anybody's guess.

Show Over

To visit now the scene of Mama Dionnes little surprise is somewhat like looking at a circus in winter quarters.

You round a bend of the highway and find that the asphalt road fans out to six or eight times its normal width and with buildings on either side. One lone car with Ohio license plates was pulled up in the area when we made our visit.

To the left we saw the high wire fence and behind it, stark and institutional, the huge, buff-colored brick, Georgian-style home in which the Dionnes live. A blue Madonna stands in one second-storey window. The story is that "Pop" Dionne was asked to choose from a portfolio of architectural designs and selected this style in spite of the advice that it would look weird in this rough northern terrain.

Also in the enclosure are the chapel where the nuns, who teach the quints are living. Beyond is what was once the Dafoe Nursery, where some five million tourists ogled the infants. It is now known as Villa Notre Dame, the schoolhouse for the five girls and a small, carefully-chosen group of Canadian girls of their age.

Directly across from the stark Dionne home is the dreary little homestead where the girls were born. It is the home now of one of the older Dionne boys and his family, and is in almost theatrical contrast to the foreboding brick mansion across the way. Fronting both places are large "No Admittance" signs.

Down the road apiece is the souvenir stand with a sign across its facade: Oliva Dionne's Booth—Souvenirs, Gifts, Refreshments." Another booth, operated by Madam Legros, "Midwife to the Quints," is at the far end of the parking area.

The goods on display are relics from another decade. Pictures and postcards of the girls show them as babies. There is dust on the cash registers with the name Olive Dionne printed on them. The Ohio tourists, I saw, were examining a doll that must have lain there 10 years.

Nearby was the wooden bin, once filled with stones which childless couples carted hopefully away. It is empty now, for the pilgrims no longer come to the shrine for fertility.

Pop Says No

Writers and editors of The North Bay Nugget, who have chronicled the Dionne story from the beginning, said I would have no chance of talking with "Pop" or any of his famous brood. Perhaps rightly so, in view of his long fight for control of the quints, he's a suspicious and short-tempered man. I thought I'd have a try at it anyway.

As I approached the "No Admittance" sign the Chinese red door of the mansion opened. "Pop" Dionne and two of the quintuplets emerged and walked to the two-car garage. They skirted a big black Buick sedan and climbed into a panel delivery truck.

The girls were identically dressed in blue slacks and green sweaters. Their black hair was uncovered. From a distance they seemed slimmer and more graceful than they do in pictures.

I went through the barrier as the car came down the driveway. It stopped and Dionne, whom I recognized from pictures, bounded out and said, "Where do you think you're going, Mac?"

He is a slim and almost handsome man. His brown worsted double- breasted suit must have cost plenty of quarters. The girls were out of sight in the van.

"I'm a newspaperman . . ." I began.

"Yeah, I thought so," Dionne said. "Can't you read signs?"

"I'd like to arrange an interview," I said. "Your telephone isn't listed and I had no way of contacting you."

"Well, you can't see Mr. Dionne," Dionne said abruptly, apparently deciding I hadn't identified him. "He's out of town." He turned and got back into the car and drove on down the road.

I followed it down to the high wire fence. Two pairs of dark, curious eyes looked out from the narrow rear window of the truck.

Where Men Are Men

KUHMO, Finland —(CP)— Could a Canadian lumberjack do this? Expert log rollers at lumberjack's competitions here were required to take the "floaters oath," that is: stick a pike into one end of a free-floating log, circle around it twice without looking down and then drink a swallow of river water from the other end of the log.

Feathered Watchdog

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa — (CP) — Dr. D. W. Marten's blue crane, Jock, has been appointed "duty bugler" of his watchdog patrol. Jock covers one-half the ground and Dr. Marten's dogs the other. If strangers approach, Jock gives the alarm with a loud rasping call. The dogs then come running.

NO SMILES—The four main participants in Canada's railway strike of 124,000 non-operating employees pose grudgingly after a joint negotiation meeting in Ottawa Friday, after the strike had been on six days. It was the first meeting of the two parties since negotiations broke off Tuesday. From left to right are: A. R. Mosher, head of the two Canadian unions involved; W. A. Mather, president of the CPR; Donald Gordon, president of the CNR, and Frank Hall, head of 15 international unions.

Officer Injured

OTTAWA, Aug. 29 — (CP) — Maj.-Gen. F. F. Worthington, Co-ordinator of Civil Defence, fell and injured himself painfully on Sunday night while running for shelter in a driving rain storm. He will be confined to his home for some days. Gen. Worthington hurt his right side. No bones were broken.

Immigrant Drive

CANBERRA, Australia (CP)— Australian immigration minister Harold E. Holt says Australia hopes to keep on absorbing 200,000 immigrants a year despite the end of the displaced persons program next year. The country needs people to fill the 110,000 vacant jobs registered with the Commonwealth employment service, he said.

Getting Old

MIDDLESBROUGH, England —(CP)— Mrs. Emma Toomey, 81, hopes to cycle 500 miles to Land's End. She once cycled to Margate, 146 miles in one day, but: "I was a youngster then, only 65."

First Time Railway Strike Has Halted CPR Trains Out Of Peterborough

The present railway strike is the first in which CPR trains in and out of Peterborough have been halted because of labor differences.

Since 1910 there has not been a rail strike which seriously affected Peterborough. Then, the Grand Trunk Railway workers struck for higher wages from July 18 to August 2.

At that time, GTR employees were paid by the month and their earnings were lower than those of CPR workers. CPR workers at that time were paid on a mileage basis, and GTR workers sought equalization of wages and working conditions.

Management ordered the workers to return, and some did. When they tried to resume service, there were minor disorders at Brockville and Belleville.

W. L. M. King, then minister of labor, was active in urging arbitration of the strike, and James Murdock, later a minister in a Liberal cabinet, was one of the strike's leaders.

After conciliation and arbitration the majority of the strikers accepted the offer made by management. With these offers, their working conditions and wages were brought up to the standard of pay and conditions on the CPR.

Cancel Convention

TORONTO, Aug. 29 (CP) —A convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, scheduled to be held at St. Andrew's, N. B., Sept. 6-8, has been cancelled due to the railway strike. Managing director W. E. McCartney of the CWNA made the announcement Monday.

DREW CALLS FOR RAIL ADMINISTRATOR

Furious Fighting Wrecks Pohang Outskirts; Small Gain Costly To Reds

Both Sides Attacking Simultaneously As UN Troops Hold Port Firmly; Hurl 40,000 Communists Against 2 Cities

TOKYO, Aug. 30—(AP)—Furious fighting wrecked the outskirts of Pohang Wednesday and cost North Koreans heavily in men for a few yards of ground. At times both sides attacked simultaneously. United Nations troops held firmly to the No. 2 South Korean east coast port and roads leading westward to threatened Taegu, heart of the Korean central front. Forty-thousand Communists howled down on the two cities. More were on the march to the battle zone.

Northwest of Taegu, U.S. troops attacked Reds on the highest hill in the Waegwan area.

And on the southern end of the 120-mile long battleline U.S. and South Korean forces retook battle mountain near Haman, 10 miles northwest of Masan port. It was the eighth time the dominating southern hill changed hands in two weeks—twice Wednesday.

20,000 Attack Pohang

Twenty-thousand North Koreans were engaged in the Pohang battle.

Twin Communist drives from the north and northwest were aimed at the port city.

The Communists were fighting furiously but were far behind in their schedule to wipe out American and South Korean forces by the end of August. They were commanded two weeks ago to achieve this goal by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung.

Another force of 20,000 Reds fought today toward Taegu, in the heart of the central front.

Main Effort In East

The Reds kept some pressure on the west and south sections of the rectangular Allied defence wall, but their main effort still was in the east.

An estimated 110,000 North Koreans were at the long front.

The Reds were trying desperately for a break-through.

They recaptured shattered Kigye, nine miles northwest of Pohang, and inched toward the port city. It was the third time in 48 hours that Kigye changed hands.

Kigye fell to the Communists at dawn Wednesday after a Red attack three hours earlier had been repulsed.

A spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said South Korean troops hold high ground about half a mile south of Kigye. These hills and not Kigye itself command a highway network and

Attlee, Bevin Discuss Plan Boost Defences

LONDON, Aug. 30 (Reuters).—Prime Minister Attlee and Foreign Secretary Bevin today discussed plans for increasing Britain's defence effort.

They based their talks on the work of the North Atlantic Pact deputies here during the last few days.

Attlee, who returned to London today from a short holiday in Scotland, is expected to announce tonight in a country-wide broadcast plans for increasing draft service in the armed forces from 18 months to two years.

He also is expected to give details of new pay increases designed to encourage recruits.

Discuss Criticisms

Attlee and Bevin are also believed to have discussed Conservative leader Winston Churchill's broadcast criticisms about the supply of British machine tools to Russia.

The government has already stated that Britain has not been supplying Russia with anything essential for building up war potential, but if Attlee decides any further explanation is necessary on this point he will probably broadcast it in a second radio talk Saturday.

The two ministers are also thought to have discussed the program which will go before parliament when it reassembles in emergency session Sept. 12 to discuss defence.

Colony Votes For First Time

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Aug. 30 (AP)—The former German colony of Southwest Africa voted today for the first time as part of the Union of South Africa in an election in which the future of Prime Minister D. F. Malan's Nationalist Government is at stake.

The territory, mandated to the union after Germany's defeat in the first world war, has virtually been incorporated in South Africa in defiance of the United Nations. Under a law pased by the Malan government it will send its first six representatives to parliament according to the results of the election.

Since the Malan government now has 80 seats to the combined opposition's 73, a grand slam for the United Party of Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts would reduce the government's majority to one and force its resignation, in all probability.

Princess Elizabeth Up And Around Again

LONDON, Aug. 30—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth is up and around again, 15 days after the birth of her daughter, Princess Anne, her doctors reported today.

Doctors Sir William Gilliatt and Sir John Weir said in a bulletin:

"The excellent progress of her Royal Highness Princess Elizabeth and her daughter has been maintained and their condition is very satisfactory. Her daughter has been maintained and their condition is satisfactory. Her Royal Highness has been getting up for the last few days. It is not intended therefore to issue any further bulletins."

Toronto Bus Driver Committed For Trial

BRADFORD, Aug. 30—(CP)—Patrick Patterson, Toronto bus driver, was committed for trial Tuesday on a manslaughter charge laid in connection with a highway accident near here July 7 in which six persons (five from a Norwood family) died. Constable Claude Corvell, of the Ontario Provincial Police, testified the southbound bus was in the wrong traffic lane and collided almost head-on with the car carrying the six victims.

Haliburton Camp Burns

HALIBURTON, Aug. 30 — (CP)—A $30,000 fire Tuesday destroyed Northland Camp at Moose Lake 13 miles north of here, an hour after four busloads of boys and camp counsellors had left for Toronto. The lodge was owned by the Young Men's Hebrew Association of Toronto.

Five Men Killed In Emergency Crash Landing

NORTH BAY, Ont., Aug. 30 (CP)—Five men were killed today when an Ontario Provincial Air Service plane crashed and burned near Timagami about 50 miles north of North Bay.

The plane, from the air service's base at Biscotasing 75 miles northwest of Sudbury, crashed in the driveway of a tourist resort as the pilot sought to make an emergency landing on Milne Lake, a small lake 11 miles south of Timagami.

The dead:

Pilot Sid Hutnick, from Air Service's Biscotasing base;

Air Engineer W. E. Geddes, also from Biscotasing;

C. D. Perkins, Fonthill, Ont., employed by the Ontario Lands and Forests Department at North Bay;

R. Phillips, Toronto, on the research staff of the lands and forest department;

J. Tyrell, Air Service engineer based at Timagami.

Seen In Trouble

The Norseman plane, one of the fleet the Air Service has stationed throughout Northern Ontario for forest protection work, was seen to be in trouble before the crash.

The pilot was only a short distance from the lake when the plane hit the ground, near the main provincial highway, No. 11, which stretches from North Bay through Northeastern Ontario.

Forestry crews from Timagami rushed to the scene and put out the fire.

The crash occurred about 11:30 a.m.

16 Coast Guard Men Feared Crash Victims

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP) —Sixteen coast guard men of two countries were feared dead after ship accidents in widely-separated European waters last night.

In the Adriatic, a Yugoslav patrol boat collided with the American cargo ship Eugene Lykes. Nine guard members were believed drowned.

Off the Swedish coast, a coast guard tug capsized during a 55-mile-an-hour gale. Ten were saved but one was listed as missing and six more were believed drowned.

93 Fishermen Lost

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Aug. 30 — (Reuters)—Ninety-three fishermen were missing today out of 1,500 in a fleet of outrigger canoes hit by a violent monsoon along Ceylon's west coast Monday night. Two deaths have been officially reported. Authorities believed most of the missing found their way into remote coastal shelters.

Children of Korea Capture Hearts of US Soldiers

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, Aug. 30 (AP)—The United States Army is being captured—almost against its will—by a younger and more numerous force.

It is slowly becoming the prisoner of the children of Korea.

In every country in which the American soldier has fought, he usually has made fast friends of the kids first. To them he is a military croesus with endless stores of chewing gum, chocolate bars and candy mints.

It wasn't altogether generosity on the part of the soldier, although he was and is notoriously soft-hearted to children. But he learned quickly that through the kids he could win his way into favor with their families—generally families with pretty daughters.

But the formula hasn't gone that far in Korea. Few have found either temporary or permanent girl friends and most have taken no part in the life of the country.

The frank truth is that most Yanks came here to a disagreeable duty that has taken them longer than they hoped, and they want to leave as soon as it is done. But slowly the Korean children are winning him over. I suppose it is their plight that has touched him.

As the war goes on, more lost and homeless children, paying the price of a war they don't understand, drift into the cities and beg on the streets. It hurts your heart to see these tiny ragamuffins stretched sleepily all alone on a filthy path.

CCF Requests Resignation Of Gordon

Usefulness Ended After Actions Coldwell Declares

OTTAWA, Aug. 30—(CP)—M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, virtually called in the Commons today for the resignation of Donald Gordon as President of the Canadian National Railways for his action in rail-strike negotiations.

Mr. Coldwell told the chamber he believed Mr. Gordon's "period of usefulness as president of the C.N.R. has come to an end."

Mr. Gordon had "lost the confidence" of the union members, and, said the C.C.F. leader, "I believe that he will never regain that confidence."

It was, Mr. Coldwell added, "unpardonable" that at 7.30 p.m. last Saturday evening, after the two sides had recessed to clarify their positions, Mr. Gordon had "abruptly" brought the negotiations to an end and prevented any possibility of settlement before parliament met.

Want Action

Mr. Coldwell said every member of the House was anxious to see an immediate resumption of rail services. The striking employees would be glad to resume work tomorrow if they were assured they would receive consideration of what they regarded as their just claims.

It was obvious now that the House was in for a fairly prolonged debate on the issue while the rail lines were paralyzed and a great sector of the economy suffered.

He recalled that Angus MacInis (CCF—Vancouver East) phoned him a week ago and suggested that he get in touch with the prime minister. Mr. Coldwell had seen Mr. St. Laurent last Wednesday and told him every effort to reach settlement should be made before a special session of parliament was called.

He had suggested then a step the prime minister had followed, that is calling in both union and company heads in an effort to bridge the gap. This was done but the gap wasn't bridged.

Doesn't Like Bill

Of the measure before the House, Mr. Coldwell said: "I do not like this bill."

He said the preamble had led him to believe it would contain a settlement along acceptable lines, but the bill itself contained much more than appeared on the surface.

"All the matters between the railways and the men are thrown into the bill," he said.

This meant that such matters as rule changes sought by the railways, which were removed from the area of immediate negotiations by the disputants only last Friday, could go before a government-appointed arbitrator.

"This bill in reality will throw the fat in the fire, and we shall

Marine Raid Saves Civilians

ON THE KOREAN FRONT, Aug. 30—(AP)—South Korean marines, in two commando-type landings on the south coast Tuesday, rescued civilians about to be forced into the Communist army, it was learned today.

The marines landed between Tongyong and Kosong, 10 miles southeast of Masan. This is the area where other marines hurled back a North Korean thrust Monday at Pongyong, south of Kosong.

In the latest landings, the marines hit unexpectedly and withdrew in boats, taking the civilians with them.

The size of the raiding force and the number of civilians rescued was not reported.

South Korea forces here said the raid left the enemy "in complete confusion," with Red units firing on each other in the excitement after the South Korean withdrew.

South Korean marines first landed in the area nearly two weeks ago and still hold a beachhead.

ERP Balloons Penetrate Iron Curtain

Dozens of Replies Being Smuggled Out From Russian Satellites

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 30 — (AP). — Little toy balloons riding the west wind are taking the gospel of the European recovery program into countries behind the Iron Curtain.

American officials of the economic co-operation administration today cited these two evidences that the balloon propaganda barrage is getting results:

1—Dozens of replies have been received from people in Communist-ruled countries.

2—The Communists have shown their irritation by a counter - propaganda attack. They charge that the printed messages carried by the balloons are infected with poison bacteria and that the balloons are a trick by western war plotters to test wind currents for poison attacks against Eastern Europe.

But the replies coming into ECA offices from people in Communist areas indicate that the messages are being read despite the Communist warnings.

For example, the Copenhagen newspaper Nationaltidende has quoted this reply from a farmer in Eastern Germany:

"Your balloon reached that part of Europe where man dares not talk about the ideas for which you are working and which you want to carry through. We, too, are longing for the day when we can live as Europeans."

About 100,000 balloons have been sent up from ECA exhibits in Denmark and Western Germany.

Hundreds are known to have reached the Russian zone of Germany and a few answers also have been received from Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, and Lithuania.

The balloons are sent up by individuals attending the ECA exhibits, where Europe's recovery under the Marshall Plan is demonstrated.

The balloons are not aimed solely—or even primarily—at countries behind the Iron Curtain. They are to publicize the Marshall Plan throughout Europe—wherever they fall.

Jan Bata Jailed In Lawsuit

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(CP)—Jan Bata, 51, head of a world-wide shoe manufacturing organization, is being held in jail here on a civil charge arising from a dispute over ownership and control of the huge concern. Bata was arrested last Thursday and held on $250,000 bail on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Mary Bata, widow of Thomas Bata, founder of the Bata organization and half-brother to Jan. His lawyers, who described the bail as "unheard of" and charged the order of arrest was "improper," said Bata was unable to raise the bail since most of his assets are in Brazil, of which he is a citizen, and could not be withdrawn.

His arrest was the latest development in a long-drawn suit involving control of the various Bata corporations.

Jan Bata's control was based on a document found after Thomas Bata was killed in an airplane crash in 1932. This stated he had sold his shares to Jan.

Not Legal Contract

Early this year a New York court ruled the document did not constitute a legal contract. The judgment now is being appealed.

It stemmed from a suit brought by Thomas Bata's widow and her son, Thomas, Jr., who set up Bata's Canadian corporation at Batawa, Ont., to obtain control of the stock of the holding corporation which originally controlled the old Bata corporation. The stock had been held in escrow in New York.

Jan Bata's lawyers have been unsuccessful in an effort to have the present order against Bata vacated. They have appealed the court's ruling on this point, and will seek permission to have Bata freed at least until the appeal is heard.

The high bail was set by Justice Thomas Corcoran of the Supreme Court after Mrs. Bata's lawyers pointing out that the action involved assets of $10,000,000, said Bata might leave the court's jurisdiction.

Thousands of Mountaineers Hunting Honeymoon Cave

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 30—(AP)—Thousands of mountaineers searched vainly today for the honeymoon cave of a hot-blooded, two-fisted Romeo whose swashbuckling abduction of his 19-year-old sweetheart has threatened to fire a family feud into a Cretan civil war. Although the Greek government clamped down to prevent an explosion, the sparks were being fanned long-distance, all the way from the United States.

Said Hercules Petracogeorgi, Detroit chemical plant worker, of unconfirmed reports that his sister, Stassoula, had married her kidnapper, Constantine Kephaloyannis:

"My lovely sister never liked this bum, never will like him, and would be happier dead than married to him."

Definite Risk

Calling Constantine a "bum," in the opinion of those acquainted with the determined lover, has a definite risk in Crete. Member of a prominent family, not required to work for a living, Constantine is regarded as a "palikari"—a general term among the Cretans for a bold, brave, tough guy with a chip constantly on his shoulder.

Compounding his challenge after a $65 telephone call from Detroit to his father's business partner here, Hercules was quoted in dispatches as doubting his sister had married her kidnapper.

"This cannot be," he said. "Once in a while there are kidnappings among peasants. But it is a disgrace to have it happen to a family like mine.

"Behind my father stand many loyal fighters and the Liberals, the biggest party.

Just No Good

"I do not want civil war. But I do not want this Constantine as a brother-in-law. No one but a Cretan could understand this fully. He is a bum."

George Petracogeorgi, father of the girl, is a Liberal member of Greece's Parliament. Kephalopannis' brother Manuel, is a Populist (Royalist) member of Parliament.

Both have just left Athens for their homes on Crete, where their powerful families have feuded for years.

Predict Blue Skies For Southern Ontario

TORONTO, Aug. 30—(CP)—Blue skies should be smiling over most of southern Ontario today and Thursday, the weatherman predicts. The public weather office says—with fingers crossed—warmer weather may be headed toward the province by Friday. But, the hurricane now boiling up from the Gulf of Mexico could complicate the whole continental weather picture.

The weather office reports the rains which fell Monday night, and Tuesday were "about average" for this time of year.

Cloudy skies and rain now in the James Bay, White River and Kirkland Lake areas of Northern Ontario are expected to bypass the lower part of the province.

Big Hurricane Heading North

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30 (AP) —The Gulf hurricane, grown in intensity, blew toward Louisiana today and weather bureau officials hurried to raise hurricane warnings all along the Gulf of Mexico.

The hurricane, after sitting nearly still in the gulf for almost two days, jumped forward overnight and was moving in a north and northwesterly direction.

W. R. Stevens, chief forecaster for the New Orleans bureau, said that "this is now a big hurricane and will probably strike the mainland around Burwood or Grand Isle."

Burwood is a tiny settlement in the southwest pass at the mouth of the Mississippi River about 50 airline miles south of New Orleans. Grand Isle is a lush beach resort about 50 miles south southwest of New Orleans. It is connected with the mainland only by a low-lying causeway.

Stevens said that normally the weather bureau tried to get hurricane warnings at least 24 hours in advance, "but this time we may be a little shy of time."

Say Buckoski Guns Not Used On McKays

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP). — Police said today that RCMP ballistics tests show none of the five guns found on Frank Buckoski when he was arrested recently in Los Angeles was used to kill Robert and Gloria McKay.

Buckoski, 24-year-old Toronto mechanic, is being held in Los Angeles on a murder warrant charging him with shooting Alfred Layng during a groceteria holdup here 13 months ago.

Following his arrest, police said they would question him about the shooting of the McKays, slain the same weekend as Layng.

Russia Has Asked Visas For UN Group

MOSCOW, Aug. 30 (AP).—The United States embassy announced today Russia has requested visas for the first group of members of the Russian delegation to the United Nations General Assembly meeting opening Sept. 19 in New York.

Western observers here said it was likely that either Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky or his first deputy, Andrei Gromyko would head the delegation.

BULLETIN

LONDON — (Thursday) — (Reuters)—The government today announced extension of the draft service period from 18 months to two years. This will mean that all youths reaching the age of 18 will have to do two years' service in the armed forces instead of the present 1½ years.

Planned Romance Backfires Rhinos Won't Co-Operate

CHICAGO, Aug. 30 — (AP) — The planned romance between Kashi, a Brookfield zoo rhinoceros, and Miss Kamala Rhinoceros, was a dismal failure yesterday, the same as it was a year ago.

Director Robert Bean, who has been waiting two years for the members of the Indian rhinoceros family to fall in love, planned their date—their first since last summer. And, like last year's meeting it ended in a fight.

After being admitted to Kamala's enclosure, Kashi polished off his breakfast of hay and soybeans. Kamala was in her bathtub, so Kashi edged himself into the tub with her.

There were a couple of loud grunts and water and mud began to fly. Kamala, showing some agility despite her 4,500 pounds, scrambled out of the pond, with Kashi close behind. She smashed through a fence shattering heavy timbers, and dropped into the moat with an unladylike thud.

Kashi was halted by a keeper.

Bean expressed his disappointment: "It was murder. That guy (Kashi) ought to be in an asylum."

Two Parties Join Forces Change Bill

CCF Asks Maximum Railway Offer Granted To Strikers

OTTAWA, Aug. 30—(CP)—The C.C.F. party today joined the Progressive Conservatives in the Commons in an attempt to have the government change its legislation to end the nine-day rail strike. Both parties moved amendments.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, moved that the government withdraw its legislation and that consideration be given to a measure that would provide for the appointment of a national railways administrator.

The administrator would operate the railways pending final settlement of the current wages-hour dispute through the free process of collective bargaining.

Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre) said his party felt the amendment had some good features but did not go far enough.

He moved a sub-amendment which asked that the administrator be instructed to grant immediately to the railway workers the maximum offers made by the railways.

Criticizes Features

Mr. Drew's amendment seconded by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC-Hamilton West), was moved after he had criticized various features of the government legislation introduced at the opening of the emergency session Tuesday.

He said section five of the bill —that providing for appointment of an arbitrator—"definitely and without any reservation provides for compulsory arbitration."

Many people believed in compulsory arbitration, but it was "not something which should be established as a principle in dealing with an emergency of this kind."

Prime Minister St. Laurent had said Tuesday night that this was

Lodger Admits Slaying Five

EAST GREENWICH, R.I., Aug. 30 (AP)—A young lodger told today, police charged, how he slaughtered one by one a family of five—three children, the husband and the young wife who, he said, was going to have his baby.

The family, Fred J. Dusza, 39, his wife, Beatrice, 31, and their children, were found Tuesday in the ruins of their burned house.

Held as their slayer was Edwin H. Reynolds, 27, who had lodged with the Duszas since he and his wife separated last Christmas.

Police Chief Charles R. Johnson said Reynolds will be arraigned later today on charges of murder and arson.

Johnson said Reynolds told him he fought with Dusza and beat him to death after an argument Monday night in which Reynolds said he was the father of a baby expected by Mrs. Dusza in October.

18 Translators Begin Modern Bible Version

LONDON, Aug. 30 (CP). — Eighteen translators, many of them university professors, have undertaken an exacting and long-range task—production of a modern version of the Bible. The translations are being made from texts in the original Hebrew and Greek.

The Right Rev. J. W. Hunkin, Bishop of Truro, chairman of the joint committee sponsoring the work, said the "best modern English" will be used for the new version. It had been felt that the language of the present-day Bible was often difficult to understand without considerable study.

"Modern cliches will be avoided and we hope to produce a Bible in timeless English," he said. "The most scholarly texts available will be used by the translators."

Black Trophy Tourney Has Big Entry

Nearly 200 lawn bowlers from 25 clubs started play this morning in the fourth annual mixed doubles tournament for the Peter Black Memorial Trophy here. Following an address by the tourney chairman, W. W. Jeffries, the visiting bowlers were welcomed by Mayor Max Swanston. Alex Sinclair, recreation director, congratulated the local club on staging the competition in sports centennial week, and J. D. Fitzpatrick explained that the greens were a little heavy due to Tuesday's rain. Results of the first round:

be plagued with difficulties all along the line in the months and years to come," Mr. Coldwell said. If the railways had shown more conciliation and less of a "dictatorial manner," he believed results would have been achieved.

Too Hasty

In the final analysis, the CCF leader said, the policy of the government was responsible for the situation, because of its "overhasty" elimination of beneficial controls over the Canadian economy.

All the government's bill would do, Mr. Coldwell said, was to "provoke further discontent and fear that the compulsory feature will be taken as a precedent for the future."

If the compulsory feature were removed, Mr. Coldwell said, he believed substantial support would be found for a return to work and resumption of negotiations from the basis where they were when they last broke off.

No Deadline Set

Mr. Coldwell said the Bill made no mention of the deadline for inauguration of a 40-hour work week. The same thing applied to wages. There was no real guarantee, except for a temporary period, that the wage increases offered by the railways would be continued. There was nothing in the Bill to say that with inauguration of the 40-hour week there would be no reduction in take-home pay from the 48-hour week.

He said the government should give an undertaking that the objectionable features of the Bill will be eliminated in committee.

He believed that out of this meeting of Parliament must come consideration of some permanent solution to the railway problem in Canada.

Blames Government

Canada needed a national transportation policy, a national transportation system — not necessarily entirely publicly-owned —but one that would give good srvice, fair and efficient rates to all parts of the country.

Mr. Coldwell said the government must bear the responsibility for what has happened. Its policies created a situation where one section of the population was trying to enhance its profits while another was trying to maintain or improve its standard of living. One price chased another price up until the whole cost of living spiralled.

He believed that the government's way of handling the dispute had delayed settlement and prolonged the strike.

are the main prize in the bloody battle.

The approximate 40,000 Communist infantrymen attacking in these two eastern sectors had powerful artillery support.

Threat To Taegu

A collapse in the Allied defence wall at either point could send the Reds flooding into Taegu.

While the decision hung in the balance, American intelligence reported that the Red commander apparently is throwing another division into the battle.

MacArthur's headquarters said evidence is increasing that a North Korean infantry division is side-slipping across the northern face of the perimeter moving eastward.

The MacArthur spokesman said Allied forces still hold the initiative on the east coast. The North Korean assault started Monday. It was halted and pushed back slightly Tuesday but was resumed Wednesday.

Make Six Attacks

The spokesman said six determined Red attacks have been thrown at Allied defenders west of Masan on the south coast during the last 48 hours. None of these was in great strength, he said.

MacArthur's war summary said two Red penetrations had been eliminated and previous positions had been restored there by counter-attacking Americans.

A North Korean force is heading for a point near Kusan from which it could leap into action in either of the eastern battles. When it goes into action, a third of the whole Red army will be pushing against the east wing of the line.

MacArthur called both Communist efforts major actions.

He said South Korean troops eliminated a road block set up by infiltrators three miles southwest of Pohang. Another road block was reported set up eight miles south of the port city.

"Minor Withdrawals"

The general reported "minor withdrawals" by the South Koreans defending Pohang but there was no indication of the distance.

A headquarters spokesman said the fighting was so furious that both sides were counter-attacking at the same time. The battle-line positions appeared to be changing almost hourly.

The spokesman said the Reds slashed into South Korean forces at Uihung under an umbrella of artillery and mortar fire. He said the defence line there, 18 miles north of Taegu, had been dented about two-thirds of a mile.

Following the usual Red tactics, the North Koreans sent an infiltrating party through to an Allied command post. Headquarters said the infiltrators were stopped.

Along the south coast, bloody "battle mountain" changed hands for the eighth time in two weeks. American and South Korean troops won back the kingpin of a group of ridges west of Masan port, 27 miles west of Pusan, after a day-long fight.

United States infantrymen were driven off the top of the mountain by the North Koreans.

Go Back Up

AP correspondent Stan Swinton said the Americans reformed and surged back up the slopes.

MacArthur's summary said "penetrations were reduced and positions were restored." But it did not specify whether the key peak was among them. The U.S. Eighth Army did not amplify reports of the progress of the American counter-thrust.

In all, the United States troops stopped four out of six enemy attacks in 48 hours.

Farther to the north the Communists were thrown back with bloody losses in a flurry of probing attempts to cross the Naktong river. They tried to put men across in small boats but U.S. artillery sank one of the craft and the rest turned back.

More boats were spotted on the river early Wednesday west of Chiryon and the artillery hit them too. Still another crossing was attempted and knocked out east of Tugong.

Unrelenting attacks from the air and sea put a steady drain on Communist material throughout Korea.

The air force listed 25 tanks and 87 trucks destroyed or damaged.

Prices Edge Higher On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP). — Prices pushed slowly higher with base metal stocks leading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity increased considerably from yesterday but gains were held to comparatively small amounts. The base metal list featured the market, climbing further into new high price territory.

Almost all base metal stocks trading pushed higher. United Keno Hill, a feature of recent markets, again held the limelight, climbing to a new high at $8.75. Consolidated Smelters also sold at a new high at 111¾ and International Nickel, Noranda and Quemont rose fractions.

Junior golds showed gains ranging up to about 10 cents.

Summer As Dead Swim Suit Adv.?

Quick and violent changes in weather have Peterborough people reacting as quickly as barometers. When the thermometer slid to a chilly 53 this morning, one young woman decided fall had arrived and donned a fur neck piece to keep her warm.

Most people believe that summer is as dead as a swim suit advertisement. But they wistfully talk about some "nice warm days" in September or even October.

In the meantime men have put on their suit coats and women fall top coats. It has been a cool summer and people fear they are in for a long cold winter, but they are trying to talk themselves out of it.

not compulsory arbitration in the "ordinary sense," but, said Mr. Drew, he had to confess that he did "not understand the reservation."

The bill would make the arbitrator's decision final and provided for no time limit on the agreement.

Hoped Not To Use It

He said it did seem to him that the arbitration section had been drafted "on the assumption" that it would not have to be enforced.

It was not enough to say that an arbitrator would not do certain things. Under the legislation, for example, he could order an agreement lasting for 25 years, establish any working conditions and wage scale that he saw fit.

Compulsory arbitration was a "mild term."

He did no believe any legislature would consider the introduction of legislation which gave no definition of its terms.

Mr. Drew said the federal government "must bear a grave measure of responsibility" for the strike.

Wrong Impression

Mr. Drew said the pattern of procedure followed in previous years had led railway workers and the public to believe that the government would enter the dispute at the last minute and effect a settlement.

If the government had intended not to intervene it should have informed the public so that they could have been prepared for the strike which began Aug. 22.

It was the duty of the government to act with recognition of the fact that there might be a strike. It was not an admission of an early expectation of death for one to make a will a good time before one died.

Mr. Drew said it is essential that action be taken without delay to end the strike.

Support Part of Bill

Mr. Drew said his party supports those sections of the Bill which are not inimical to rights that have been established over the years. It was for the order to the lines to begin operating again within 48 hours.

But no issue was so urgent that in the rush to solve it other issues would be created which would cause trouble for years. That was what would happen if the government's Bill became law.

His motion for an administrator would protect all the rights that had been built up over the years. It would not interfere with the rights of anyone or any group. It was too often forgotten, in the glare of the few strikes that did occur, that far more often issues between management and labor were settled quietly under the tried system of collective bargaining.

Government leaders had said they wished to see measures to prevent such disastrous developments in services vital to the country. Those measures could be studied calmly and dispassionately later. It was important, in the meantime, that the present urgency not be allowed to provoke actions which would make the future difficult.

It was impossible to over-emphasize the gravity of the situation, Mr. Drew said.

Brigade Delayed

Mr. Drew said that one of the things that served to emphasize the seriousness of the strike was the fact that the special force being recruited for Korea could not be brought together for training. The heavy equipment needed by the forces could not be moved.

The first duty of Parliament was to take steps to restore the railway service with justice to all Canadians. It was not possible for Parliament, meeting hastily, to pass judgment on the issues involved in the dispute.

The well-being and security of the whole Canadian people was Parliament's responsibility. But in meeting that responsibility, Parliament must not destroy any of the fundamental rights of any section of the community.

The passage of the legislation would not settle the dispute. Its one vital result would be to get the railways running. In doing that nothing should be done to make settlement of the dispute more difficult.

Forego Recesses

As the general debate brought sharp Opposition criticism of the government's measure; the Commons decided to forego lunch and dinner recesses today in an attempt to complete action by tonight.

Meanwhile, strike leaders said that, if Parliament acts by tonight, the first shift of workers could be brought back to work tomorrow morning.

This word came from Frank H. Hall and A. R. Mosher, joint chiefs of the 124,000 strikers, who said the unions could get instructions out to their men if Parliament issued a back-to-work directive before a late hour tonight. They estimated it would take eight hours to get the first shift on the job.

In placing the bill before an emergency session called to bring a swift end to the strike, the Prime Minister told the house that Canada's transportation system must be started again.

Emphasizing the urgency of the situation, he said that every passing hour increased the gravity of the crisis, and he asked the legislators to handle the legislation as quickly as possible, consistent with "due and serious consideration."

Prolonging the strike, he emphasized, could wreck the Canadian economy.

The Prime Minister said the bill, enforcing arbitration on both parties unless they come to an agreement in a specified time afonly at dealing with the current crisis and is not intended as a pattern for general labor legislation.

It declares that an arbitrator is to be appointed by the government to adjudicate on outstanding differences between railways and unions unless they reach agreement in 15 days after the return to work, unless this time limit is extended by cabinet at the joint request of the disputants. The decision of the arbitrator would be binding.

Four-cent Raise

Meanwhile, the employees would get a provisional four-cents-an-hour wage increase, which is the top offered by the company in the negotiations that collapsed finally Saturday night. The unions, holding out for seven cents, would get the four cents as soon as they got back to work, and any further wage increase determined by the arbitrator will be retroactive at least as far back as the return-to-work date.

The unions gained a point on the bill's provision that hotel and water-transport employees on the railway companies are to be included in the provisional four-cent increase.

The railways had refused to include them with other employees, offering them only two cents an hour in a separate contract. That refusal, and the unions' insistence that they be included, had been a major stumbling block in the negotiations.

World Voyage Dream Spoiled

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 30 (AP).—It was last Christmas that four 21-year-old Irishmen banded together to realize a long-time dream of far-away adventure.

There was Kevin O'Farrel of Dun Laighaire and Anthony Jacob and John Kenny of Tipperary and Desmond Dalton of Dublin.

They hoped to sail around the world, pausing in North America for one year of architectural study under the noted designer, Frank Lloyd Wright, in Spring Green, Wis.

The intrepid quartet pooled £150 ($465) to buy a 33-year-old 36-foot sailing craft, Ituna, once a prize-winning racing cruiser fallen on the plodding life of a shrimper.

For months they labored making her seaworthy, and that she proved in the tradition of her name, Ituna, which in the Greek means "Safety on the Seas." Aug. 1 the Ituna and her four adventurers sailed on their transatlantic Odyssey with a message from Dublin's Lord Mayor to New York's Irish-born mayor, William O'Dwyer.

Four weeks they were at sea. They saw only one ship and one whale. Once the skipper, Tony Jacob, was knocked overboard during a sudden squall on a pitch black night in mid-Atlantic. But his companions found him "swimming like a champion, looking like he would make Bermuda under his own steam."

From Dublin, to Brest, France, thence to Vigo, Spain, on to the Madeiras, the Canary Islands, and Tuesday the doughty little ship moored at the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club here.

The four bearded young Irishmen came ashore—joyful over a dream almost half-realized.

Today, the flag at half-mast on the Ituna signalled a heartbreaking disappointment. Waiting for Kevin O'Farrel was a cablegram that his mother had died and his father was seriously ill.

O'Farrel, abandoning his dream is flying home.

Dairy Cattle Holding Fair Spotlight

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP) — Dairy cattle and another heavy sports program held the spotlight today as Canada's largest fair moved into its fifth day.

But holding the attention of officials of the rain-hampered Canadian National Exhibition was the weather. Tuesday a light rain fell on the grounds for the second straight day, forcing cancellation of some attractions and hindering others. The weatherman, however, said skies should be sunny most of today.

Considering the rain, a surprisingly large crowd of 167,000 entered the grounds Tuesday compared with 178,000 for the fourth day last year. It boosted the total attendance to 713,000, a drop of 29,000 from last year's four-day figure of 742,500.

Cattle Judging

Today is "food products and merchants' day" but for veteran fair-goers one of the big attractions is the start of judging of dairy cattle in the Ex's agricultural section. Some of Canada's top Guernseys, Holsteins and Jerseys will be on display. Goats and sheep also will be paraded before the judges.

Bowmen from across Canada began seeking the Canadian and international archery championships after a one-day delay in the tournament because of rain. Play is also continuing in the Canadian senior and CNE softball championships.

Despite the rain, the CNE plowed right ahead with a big program Tuesday. The evening grandstand performance was held as scheduled as was a matinee attraction.

Union Opposes General Strike

WINDSOR, Aug. 30—(CP)—A spokesman for Canadian headquarters of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) here said Tuesday night the union's international policy is opposed to general strikes on any issue, including those in the Canadian rail strike.

He was commenting on the action of Toronto district UAW leaders who urged union leaders to issue a nation-wide strike call if compulsory settlement of the rail strike is forced on the striking unions.

The spokesman here said that UAW Canadian headquarters issued a letter to locals last week, asking support of the striking rail unions and opposition to compulsory arbitration of the strike issues.

UAW leaders here had "no intention of urging locals to talk up a general strike" when their support was asked, the spokesman said. The union's policy had always been opposed to general strike action.

Russian Firms Dumped

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 30—(Reuters)—More than $500,000 worth of Russian furs are lying on the docks here—unclaimed. Nearly 200 bales of furs were dumped here after their return from New York, where dock workers refused to handle them. No one here knows who owns the furs. They were moved by several shipping firms, and the owners are unknown to both dock officials here and the Cunard line, which returned the furs to Britain.

Rotary Carnival Helps Crippled

COBOURG, Aug. 30—(ENS)—In spite of the competition from carnivals held earlier in the summer by the other service clubs, the Rotary Club carnival held Thursday and Friday nights was a big success. The crowd came early and stayed late.

One of the feature attractions was the presence of Margaret Bradford, "Miss Canada" of 1950. Miss Bradford donated her services free in order to help the crippled children's fund and sang each evening of the carnival.

Miss Canada got her start during the Cobourg Civic holiday weekend of 1949, when she won the Miss Northumberland competition which eventually led to her winning the Miss Canada title.

The civic holiday celebration last year was under the chairmanship of Joe Smith, mayor of Cobourg at the time, who died suddenly last week. Miss Bradford dedicated one of her songs at the carnival Friday night to the memory of Joe Smith.

Cobourg residents took most of the prizes in the big draw on Friday night but the main prize, an electric refrigerator, went to Mrs. E. Mason of Baltimore. The draw was by Miss Bradford. Second prize, a combination radio-phonograph, was won by Mrs. C. Miller of Cobourg and the draw was made by Harvey Brent of the Kinsmen Club. The third prize, a vacuum cleaner, went to Mrs. E. Stone of Baltimore, the draw being made by Jack Parsons of the Kiwanis Club.

The mixmaster was won by Mrs. Bert Wright of Cobourg, Larry McCarthy of the Lions Club making the draw. Mrs. M. Hunter of Cobourg won the floor polisher which was drawn by Mrs. Margaret Jones of the B and P Club.

Start Annual Reunions

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 30 — (ENS)—About 50 relatives in the Oliver family of Campbellford met at the Villa Trent on Sunday to celebrate a family reunion.

Mrs. William Oliver, aged 86, was the oldest person present. Her daughter, Mrs. C. C. Howard of Windsor celebrated her birthday at the party.

Other visitors from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Waite, Oakland, Calif., Mrs. Ernest Tait and grandson of Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. C. M. Sinclair and her sons Roger and Peter, and Miss Anne Howard, all of Windsor.

Relatives from Peterborough, Hastings, Castleton, Norham and Warkworth joined in the celebration which was the first the family has held in several years. They now plan to hold a reunion annually.

Horsemeat Ring Working Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 30—(CP)—The Health Department indicated Tuesday that it is just about ready to swoop down on a ring of illegal traffickers in horsemeat who allegedly duped the public by offering it as hamburger beef at Ottawa's Central Canada Exhibition last week.

Tip-off came when inspectors sampled some of the hamburger sold at the fair and immediately seized a truckload of the meat.

Officials indicated that the horsemeat had been passed off as beef in various Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec centres.

Centre of the food fraud is said to be "somewhere in Quebec." A Health Department official said the investigation is "practically completed" and "charges will definitely be laid."

Get Clean Bill

TORONTO, Aug. 30 — (CP) — City Health Department officials said Tuesday night that there definitely is no horsemeat in hamburgers sold at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Commenting on a report that horse meat had been used at hamburger stands at the Ottawa Central Exhibition, officials said all food sold at the CNE is scrutinized by inspectors at least twice a day and that no horse meat had been found.

CANADA NEEDS MEN TO TRAIN AS ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUNNERS

A major requirement of Canada's defensive system today is men trained for anti-aircraft operations. Charged with the defence of vital areas, the men of the anti-aircraft units are equipped and trained in the use of modern scientific equipment — electronics, radar, radio and telephone.

There are very few more important jobs than service in an anti-aircraft unit for young men who want to make sure that Canada is well defended against any eventuality.

To enlist you must —

1. Be a Canadian citizen or British subject.
2. Be between 17 and 29 years of age.
3. Be single.
4. Meet Army test requirements.
5. Volunteer for service anywhere.

Railways Face The Setting Sun

The present railway strike rouses our curiosity about railway matters which go beyond the strike itself. Railways in Canada today are not big moneymakers. The Canadian National Railway, indeed, loses money as only a government-operated business can. There was a time when railways were prosperous; those were the days before motor transport, when the railways not only hauled passengers and freight, but also engaged in profitable land deals, using tracts of land which they received free from the government. But Canadian railways today are not the thriving industries which once they were, and if anything can save them it will not be increased passenger and freight rates.

* * *

Consider the kind of service which the railways are able to offer. Their main line service and their transcontinental service is good, but their branch service is, upon the whole, inconvenient and bad. Understandably, timetables are arranged to provide good service between large centres of population and travellers between, for instance, Toronto and Montreal are well served. But travellers between Peterborough and points in Western Ontario are not well served, and indeed the train service for this city on both lines is inferior to what the bus companies have to offer. It is an old grievance, also, that the stations in all but the largest centres are ancient, uncomfortable and ugly. Although Diesel engines are used to some extent, coal-burning engines are still in common use, and will remain so for many years; these engines are dirty, and when trains run through the middle of a city, as they do in Peterborough, they create a nuisance. If railways are to continue in existence, these things must be changed, and the changes will cost a great deal of money. The railways can get money only from the public, directly or indirectly, and the public is finding other means of transport.

* * *

Motor transport is not cheap, but it is convenient. For long journeys airlines are immeasureably more convenient than trains. Heavy freight, which once moved entirely by rail, now moves from door to door in huge transports as big as railway cars and vastly more adaptable. The completion of our transcontinental highway will take away the last great advantage which the railways enjoyed in competition with air and road transport. Can the railways meet equal competition with any hope of success?

* * *

We do not pretend to be able to answer that question. Big industries take a long time to die, and sudden changes in conditions occasionally give them renewed life. But at present it looks as though railways were moving toward the setting sun. Economic changes have brought about conditions which the railways have not been able to challenge, although they undoubtedly recognize them. Though still a mighty industry, the railways contain the seeds of their own destruction, and it will require engineering and administrative genius to save them from a sharp decline.

Illustrated London News, 1843: Racing And Betting

The racing columnist in The London Illustrated News of 1843 wrote without wraps. Apparently he felt free to write what he pleased about horse or titled owner, grossly derogatory about the former, rumoured malice about the latter. In one column, Maccabeus and Lord Westminster receive this treatment.

Of Maccabeus, the columnist declared that "after the exhibition of the recent second favourite for the Derby, the less one believes what one is told the better. Here is a horse backed for a large sum of money on the faith of his trial with a cocktail . . . And such a nag; a great lumbering brute, without pace enough down an inclined plane, with an allowance of two stone to boot, in a mile race—a four-year-old not worth £50 to a man of Midas's means." And of Lord Westminster, he reports rumours that his lordship's "Oaks lot is queer; but these will be settled by the Chester races, and so will other things and persons, as safe as the income tax".

The columnist then advises those inclined to wager on the outcome of the Chester Cup to take the precaution of watching the odds; if "they have done so . . . they will have seen that the backers of horses have been far from comfortable lately. Let them—if they must wager on it, being already in the hole—go to Chester and, make an effort to extricate themselves on the day. The more they flounder now, the deeper they are likely to sink. The betting market is in a troubled state . . ."

We are informed by a colleague experienced in such matters that some of the foregoing still applies today. Backers of horses are often far from comfortable and occasionally flounder about, increasing the likelihood of sinking deeper. And the betting market for horse races, we are assured, is in a troubled state more often than not, as far as the bettors are concerned.

An Anniversary Overlooked

Last Thursday the Russians and Germans paid no attention to the anniversary of an ominous event. On August 24th, 1939 the U.S.S.R. and the Germany of Hitler signed a non-aggression pact. It was the week before war broke out. It burst on the western world like an A-bomb. Germany greeted it as a major diplomatic triumph. Perhaps it was, at the time, a triumph stolen from Britain who had been trying to negotiate a similar agreement with Russia.

Russia did not get the immunity she may have played for; nor did she have the pleasure of standing on the sidelines of war watching Britain and Germany maul each other to bits so that she could later walk in and take the spoils of Europe. But Russia did get her first territorial acquisition as a result of the Pact, the first in a long series, which we in the west are determined to end: eastern Poland. Russia moved in almost as soon as Hitler did in western Poland. It was a macabre pact of two nations who had been sworn enemies. It demonstrated the uselessness of a treaty between nations who neither trust nor are to be trusted. Was Russia's seizure of eastern Poland the begetter of Hitler's invasion of Russia?

In the brief period of the treaty's life Russian propagandists declared that Germany was the real friend of peace, France and Britain the warmongers. Sir Gladwyn Jebb, British representative on the Security Council last week referred to the treaty and the 1939 Russian definition of the aggressor. One wonders how Russia expects the propaganda to be believed when it names the U.S.A. as the aggressor now in North Korea—since it has had the lesson of the German attack in 1941.

A Bill Of Animal Rights

We observe that a World Congress for the Protection of Animals which is meeting in The Hague is about to draft a Bill of Animal Rights. Such a Bill would be widely respected, we believe, and would be put into action in many countries. Man has always been readier to respect and pity animals than to respect his fellow-man.

Decent treatment of animals, on any very large scale, is a fairly recent development of civilization. In the Greek and Roman world valuable animals, like horses and elephants, were treated as costly pieces of property, but cheaper animals, like asses, were used with the utmost brutality; this attitude still persists in many countries. But among the northern peoples especially, cruelty to animals is justly frowned upon, and there is legislation to punish it.

Love of animals, like love of every other kind, is capable of abuse. Not long ago we heard a lady say to another: "Have you any children?" The reply was negative. "That is good," said the first lady; "you can love the dear animals all the more". There are people who are exceedingly tender in their care for animals of all kinds who fail to show much regard for the feelings and physical well-being of other humans.

An Animal Bill of Rights? Frankly, we think such a proposal silly. When all men are successfully guaranteed their basic rights we shall have little trouble in assuring decent treatment to the lesser creatures. But to ask for an Animal Bill of Rights now is to put, not the cart before the horse, but the horse before the man.

The Earth Quakes

Rumbles of the wars which humans make are terrible to hear, and we bemoan their destructive power. But the greatest thunder of all (we have not yet heard an atom bomb explode) is natural: an earthquake— terrifying, devastating, beyond the power of human agency to control. The recent earthquake in Northern India is said to have been one of the five most violent shocks recorded. Fortunately the loss of life has not been great—as reported thus far; nothing comparable to the Quetta quake in 1934 when 25,000 persons were killed. An earthquake two centuries ago (1755) was one of the most awful. Its epicentre was submarine and to the west of Lisbon, but it destroyed Lisbon. The shock was felt all over Portugal and Spain and in north Africa, and the disturbed area extended more than a million square miles.

British Association Meets:

The Gap In Science

By J. BRONOWSKI

THE British Association for the Advancement of Science opens its 1950 meeting on Wednesday evening (tonight) in Birmingham. The Association last met in Birmingham in the ominous summer of 1913, and the record of that meeting shows a fascinating picture of science on the eve of the first war. The president was Sir Oliver Lodge, whose address ranged widely over the new-fangled theories of relativity and of quantum physics, touched on the recent death of France's greatest scientist, Henri Poincare, and made a brief foray into the vexed field of physical research. Among those who read papers were Rutherford, J. J. Thompson, Bragg, and Eddington; there was an international discussion on radiation opened by Jeans, at which Planck had been expected and to which Lorentz came; and the Association announced a special grant for the study of radioactivity.

✧ ✧ ✧

CERTAINLY the physicists dominated the meeting. But it is interesting now to come upon, for example, the report of the committee on the influence of School-books on Eyesight. For the chairman of the committee, so solicitous to find a type-face bold enough for the under sevens, was the School Medical Officer for Birmingham, and his son, then rising seven, was to be the poet, W. H. Auden.

History alone will judge whether those who read papers at Birmingham this week will take fame by storm as did the generation of 1913. The British Association was already changing then, and it has changed more since. The days of the 1890s when major discoveries, such as those of Oliver Lodge himself in wireless, were first announced at a British Association meeting were already past. There has always been original work presented at the Association, and there still is. But it has long ceased to be major work. Instead, the function of the meetings has become to widen the interests and the appeal of science, among scientists and laymen together.

THE mere list of subjects which will be discussed this week is awe-inspiring. They include the voyages of Columbus, and the rehabilitation of open-cast mined land; synthetic rubber, and the mathematical problems of football pools; the use of isotopes in archaeology, and the social influence of the potato and the yam; and indeed—I am still quoting—everything from the structure of nerves to the meaning of time and space, and from the intelligibility of broadcasting to the design of a new town.

These titles, even the more academic of them, show a nice wish to glance at what is topical and practical. The British Association gets more newspaper-space than any other scientific conference in Europe, and even the gravest scientist may be forgiven if this week he looks over his shoulder from time to time at the headlines. But the British Association is not in any way popular science; it does not set out to present science in a simple form. What it does now, at its best, is to present the contribution of science to matters of wide practical interest.

IN this last respect, the meeting this week seems likely, alas, to fall short of the best. Birmingham as a city was created by the Industrial Revolution—roughly when Boulton brought James Watt there in the 1770s to make his steam engine. It is the very type and symbol of industrial Britain, which can live only by its technical achievement. This therefore was surely the meeting, of all meetings of the British Association, which might have been made into a great conference on technology. The odd lack of understanding which the academic sciences show for modern technology might for once have been put aside, and we might at least have tried to close the gulf of snobbery in this country between the Universities and the Technical Colleges.

And in fact an admirable beginning was made by the choice for president of Sir Harold Hartley. Though now known as a great administrator, Sir Harold took his first steps into public life in chemical engineering. This is the subject which of all others is the outstanding creation of modern technology, and it can itself be traced back to Birmingham and the James Watt circle. The title of the presidential address, which was to have served as a general heading for the whole meeting, is in keeping with this choice; it is "Man's Use of Engery." But the body of meetings shows little practical interest in the subject.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE is to be a symposium on atomic energy, and another with the forbidding title, "Sociopsychological Factors in Productivity." These two apart, the interest in technology is carried for the rest almost wholly by those concerned with education. They have planned a discussion on the dearth of science teachers; they have invited the President of Harvard, Dr. J. B. Conant, to describe an experiment in the study of science by non-scientists; and they have arranged that Sir Henry Tizard shall open the discussion of a paper whose title puts the issue starkly, "The Critical Importance of Higher Technological Education in Relation to Industrial Productivity."

✧ ✧ ✧

IT was Sir Henry Tizard who first put the technical needs of this country bluntly to the British Association in his presidential address at Brighton two years ago. As he stated then, the facts are simple. Great Britain has always been, and remains, outstanding in her scientific work in the laboratory. Her methods and standards in the factory also are at least adequate. But she is hopelessly slow and bumbling in taking the discovery from the laboratory to the factory.

This middle step, the pilot development of a process for production, calls for a kind of technical skill which we have neglected. It calls for a special education in technology. And we shall not survive in the industrial world unless we conjure up the skill and create the education.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE are, of course, large difficulties in creating any new kind of education. But in technology they have been sharpened by an unhappy quarrel about status, in which the Universities often give the impression that they want to keep the Technical Colleges to the rank of poor relations. Technology will flourish in this country only if those who take courses in it can look forward to a status as high as University graduates. How this is to be arranged has been the subject of several inquiries by the Ministry of Education, none of which in the past has found a way. It is to be hoped that the Ministry's new Council on Education for Industry and Commerce, whose first report may presumably be expected soon, will take a bold line, and will establish once for all a high status for technology in this country.

Meanwhile the British Association at Birmingham has, I think, missed the chance of showing that scientists do understand the needs and nature of modern technology, and can share in the work of creating it in Britain. The meeting will be interesting and amusing; we shall all enjoy hearing more about radar astronomy, or from Professor von Frisch about the language of the bees. But this week will not open the new chapter in British technology which a Birmingham meeting of the British Association might have been proud to do.

The wisest word on the subject remains that with which Sir Henry Tizard last month closed the report of his Council on Scientific Policy: that for this country "the conditions of prosperity will be fulfilled if, in the future, our technology proves adequate to our science, and if our scientists continue, as in the past, to lead the world in the originality and importance of their discoveries."

IT'S THESE SHOTGUN WEDDINGS MR. BARUCH OBJECTS TO

Improving The Purebreds

(CORNWALL STANDARD-FREEHOLDER)

JAMES HENRY, writing in the Ottawa Farm Journal, had something to say recently about purebred cattle that needed saying, and heeding too. The breeders, having established the superiority of the purebred livestock as a class, should now turn their attention to improving the average level of quality within the various breeds.

Registered purebred cattle now have a leading part in the dairy industry of Canada. They have been brought to the position they now occupy partly by the energy and enthusiasm of many men working toward that end, and partly because of the inherent good qualities of the well bred, high-quality animals themselves.

But as every experienced breeder knows the term purebred only means that an animal belongs to certain families with the characteristics of the breed in question, and registered in the records kept for the purpose. From there on, the prospective buyer must beware as much as when purchasing ordinary grade cows.

While the business was mainly in the hands of the few pioneers, there was less danger in this. Now the industry of breeding, raising and trading in purebred cattle is growing fast, spreading out into the hands of new people, some of whom are bound to be less competent and less reliable than they should be.

Mr. Henry suggests that the breed Associations could add to the specifications on appearance that have been in force for a long time, and set up a system of minimum production requirements. Unless a cow came up to a certain ordained level of milk and butterfat production, she would be dropped from the list of registered cattle.

This would be a difficult operation. But a great part of the machinery for doing this already exists, or could be adapted for the purpose. It is likely that it will have to be done, sooner or later.

When it does the term 'purebred' will mean a great deal more than it does now. A minimum standard will require that all breeders, not just the most skilled and conscientious ones, will be marketing cows that will measure up. When that happens the old-time grade cattle and scrub herds will be crowded out by better stock, and the industry will be the better for it.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The Lord is exalted; for he dwelleth on high: he hath filled Zion with judgement and righteousness. And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times, and strength of salvation: the fear of the Lord is his treasure....Now will I rise, saith the Lord; now will I be exalted; now will I lift up myself....

Hear, ye that are far off, what I have done; and, ye that are near, acknowledge my might ....He that walketh righteously, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil; he shall dwell on high; his place of defence shall be the munitions of rocks: bread shall be given him; his waters shall be sure....

Look upon Zion, the city of our solemnities; thine eyes shall see Jerusalem a quiet habitation, a tabernacle that shall not be taken down, not one of the stakes thereof shall ever be removed, neither shall any of the cords thereof be broken....

For the Lord is our judge, the Lord is our lawgiver, the Lord is our king; he will save us....And the inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people that dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity. (Isa. 33: 5, 6, 10, 13, 15, 16, 20, 22, 24.)

Letter To The Editor

THE NAKED TRUTH

Sir: You hit the nail on the head when you said in that article about Marriage in the Nude that daily papers give more spicy and detailed information than the scandal hush weeklies. That nudist colony marriage you talked about. I picked up an American paper when I was across the border two weeks ago and it told all about it. I didn't see anything in the Examiner about it. What's the matter, have you gone pure. Here are the details of the nudists' wedding in case you didn't know. The people being married in the camp were Frank Molnar and Miss Vicki Atlins, both 27 years old. He was crowned King of the Eastern Sunbathers' Association at their annual meeting at Mauch Chunk, Pennsylvania, the last week of July, and she was crowned Queen. They were to be married August 15 at the Pennsylvania nudist camp. They are both New Yorkers. All that guff about the naked minister and photographers is ballyhoo, I guess, put out by the cheap sheets trying to give their readers a cheap (7c) sensation. Yours,

PURITY.

P.S.: Your spiciest news is buried on inside pages: police court etc. I have to hunt hard for it. Why? Do you want me to read the ads while I'm hunting?

Couple Marks 50th Wedding

HARWOOD, Aug. 30 —(ENS)— Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooke celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday and received relatives and friends at their home on the lakeshore during the afternoon and evening. They were married by Mr. Ross, who was minister at Presbyterian Church.

The groomsman was Alex Johnston, and the bridesmaid, Miss O'Connor of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke have spent the greater part of their married life in Peterborough, and this spring, retired to Harwood.

Visitors from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Small of Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. H. Robinson, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lean, Oshawa; Mrs. G. A. Adams, Toronto; Mrs. S. Preston and family of Peterborough; Mr. Sutton, Peterborough; Mrs. Lizzie Cowling, Mrs. Ethel May, Mr. and Mrs. O. Lapp, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dynes, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Cullen, Springville; Mrs. Phyllis Sandercock, Camborne; Mr. and Mrs. Killenbeck, Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith, Trenton; Mrs. Delbert Johnston, Warkworth; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mallory, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. G. Lundy, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Myers, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Robinson, Mrs. S. Wood, Peterborough and neighbors and friends in the community.

Mrs. A. W. Smith and Mrs. S. Woods poured tea. The table was decorated with yellow roses, yellow lighted candles and a silver tea service. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Walter Johnston, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Cullen and Mrs. Gordon Cooke.

Floods Damage Hotels

LYTHAM ST. ANNES, England, Aug. 30 — (Reuters) — Floods caused by heavy rains and high tides damaged 23 resort hotels here Tuesday. Water rose to four feet in some hotels, and expensive furnishings were afloat in several hotel lobbies. One well-stocked wine cellar was flooded out. There were no casualties.

Guilty Of Sabotage

PRAGUE, Aug. 30—(Reuters)—Seven persons found guilty of 'sabotaging Czechoslovakia's five-year building plan' have been sentenced to prison terms ranging from 10 months to 6½ years by a state court in Northern Bohemia, it was learned today. The two main defendants were an architect and a building engineer, charged with building private houses with material allotted for the construction of miners' apartments.

Approve Plan

TORONTO, Aug. 30 — (CP) — A $179,000,000 plan for development of the city of Toronto was approved Tuesday by the Ontario Department of Planning and Development. The plan, covering the next 30 years, includes new traffic arteries, civic squares, a new courthouse and police headquarters and improvements to water and sewage facilities. The city will bear an estimated $145,000,000 of the cost.

Raid Federation

TOKYO, Aug. 30—(AP)—More than 100 police raided the headquarters of Japan's largest Communist-influenced labor federation today and the attorney general ordered the organization dissolved. The action was taken against the National Liaison Council of Labor Unions (Zenroren) under an ordinance prohibiting anti-occupation activities and terrorism.

Won't Be Candidate

LONDON, Aug. 30—(Reuters)—Earl Winterton, 67, known as the "father of the House of Commons" because of his 46 years as a Conservative member, will no stand at the next national election. Earl Winterton, a former undersecretary for India, said he was fit for his age but that the "strain" of parliamentary duties was "very great".

Wins Balloon Prize

PETERBOROUGH, England, Aug. 30 (Reuters)—Eleven-year-old Victor Jakes Tuesday won the £5 first prize in a balloon competition held here several weeks ago. The identification disc on a balloon that he released was returned from Slupsk, Poland, 740 miles from Peterborough.

Campaign Slow

SINGAPORE, Aug. 30—(AP)—Britain's Lt.-Gen. Sir Harold R. Briggs, directing operations against Communist-led rebels in Malaya, said Tuesday the campaign to end terrorism in this country is encouraging, but will be slow. Sir Harold reported at a press conference that in the period from July 15 to Aug. 25 the security forces under his command had killed or captured 92 terrorists and arrested 87 Communist agents.

Springbrook Lodge Decorates Graves

BONARLAW, Aug. 30 (ENS) —Members of Springbrook Lodge IOOF No. 429 held their decoration service at Mount Nebo cemetery, Springbrook, on Sunday. Flowers were placed on the graves and those buried elsewhere were also remembered.

Noble Grand Reg. McKeown was in charge of the ceremony and was assisted by Past Grand Frank Cosbey, who delilvered the oration; Chaplain Ralph Wellman, recording secretary P. S. Kitchener, and Thomas H. Prest, who acted as marshall.

Stirling Community Band led the parade of Oddfellows from the lodge room to the cemetery and back, and played during the ceremony.

Despite a heavy rain immediately before the hour set for the decoration service, there was a large attendance.

Too Greedy

ROCHELLE, Ga., Aug. 30 (AP) —A pig tried to make a hog of himself at the farm of Charlie Duncan and drowned in a bucket of swill. Returning home after a day's absence, Duncan found a pair of tiny hams protruding from the top of the bucket. The pig had fallen in head first and drowned.

Looking For Job

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 30 — (AP)—A 38-year-old shepherd and his dog arrived at a fire house here Tuesday night looking for work. The shepherd, Andrew Boehm, said he and the dog had walked 2,900 miles from Seattle.

Canada Facing Sheep Shortage

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP). — Canada may face a mutton and wool shortage before long because the Canadian sheep population has been reduced to a "dangerous" level a breeder said Tuesday.

Alex Salmon of Glanford Station, Ont., blamed careless dogs and the high cost of fencing for the sharp reduction in sheep flocks during the last few years.

The situation has been reflected in sheep entries at the Canadian National Exhibition, where entries this year have dropped almost 200 from a year ago.

Mr. Salmon, who is exhibiting sheep at the fair, said stray dogs chase the sheep and the cost of fencing material has made farmers hesitate to spend the money for the type of fence that will keep sheep enclosed.

"It's going to be bad if people keep on going out of sheep," he said, "before too long it will be felt in the food line, and in clothing as well because wool is needed and even now we aren't producing enough wool to go around."

To Fly UN Flag

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30—(AP) —The United Nations may proceed. Los Angeles is going to fly the UN flag after all. The county's board of supervisors Tuesday reversed its previous decision not to fly the emblem, reached after a citizen objected that Russia is a member of the United Nations.

MERCY TRAIN LOAD — Inspector Roy Henderson looks over part of a load of fresh milk bound for the northwestern mining town of Atikokan and other isolated communities. The special relief train left Port Arthur Saturday. More than 40 tons of foodstuffs and medical supplies were aboard.

Main Provisions In Strike Bill

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 — (CP) — Main provisions of the government's rail strike-settlement bill:

1. The railways and the unions must resume operations of railroads and subsidiary services within 48 hours after the bill becomes law.

2. Pending a final settlement, the workers will receive a provisional wage increase of four cents an hour.

3. If the railways and the unions do not reach a settlement within 15 days after the bill becomes law, the government will appoint an arbitrator whose decision will be final.

4. The government guarantees that no employee will be discharged because he has gone on strike.

5. Once the bill becomes law, the union must withdraw its strike orders.

6. The provisional, four-cent wage increase applies to hotel and water-transport employees of the railway companies, whose exclusion by the railways from the general terms of an agreement has been a stumbling block to strike settlement.

Hotel Employees To Be Included

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent Tuesday told the Commons that railway hotel employees, whose inclusion was a main stumbling block to general agreement in the rail dispute, will be included in the government's provisional settlement.

Moving second reading of the government's strike-settlement bill, he said it had been represented to the government that all of the unions had banded together in a "common cause" and any action which did not apply to all of them would appear to be a "betrayal" of some of them.

"That," he said, "was something which appeared to them to be wrong for any parliament to ask them to do."

To Export Pepper

PONDICHERRY, French India, Aug. 30—(Reuters)—French India is to export pepper again to the pepper-starved world, it was learned today. Exports will begin immediately as a result of a pepper glut on the local market. The French Government stopped exports in 1943. There is a world-wide shortage of both black and white pepper.

Profusion Of Flowers Seen Decoration Day

COBOURG, Aug. 30 (ENS).— Annual decoration day service of the IOOF was held Sunday afternoon when the graves of 137 were decorated in St. Peter's and Union cemeteries. Cantons from Peterborough, Trenton, Oshawa, Belleville and Cobourg, along with lodge members and Rebekah's of Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Orono, paraded from the lodge rooms to the cemetery, headed by the Cobourg Kilties Band.

An abundance of flowers decorated the graves to an extent never before equalled and the memorial service was held under perfect weather conditions. Edgar Stone of Baltimore headed the ritual ceremony for the lodge members and the Rebekah ritual was in charge of Mrs. Nettie Smith of Cobourg.

Washes Dishes To Pay Passage

VANCOUVER, Aug. 30 (CP).— An Ontario-born, trans-Pacific stowaway, who said he was forced to wash dishes three times a day between Australia and Canada was ordered Tuesday to pay $100 passage on the Australian liner Aorangi.

Percival C. Pyne, 35, a native of London, Ont., was ordered to pay within a two-month period.

When he appeared in court on Saturday, Pyne said he arrived in Australia last December with his wife and two children. He decided to return to Canada but said he had only enough money to pay passage for his wife and children.

He said he wanted to be with them and stowed away on the orangi. He testified that he washed dishes and slept in the crew's quarters during the Pacific crossing.

Locals Take Two Wins From Orillia

In their first start in Ontario lacrosse playoffs the local bantam all-stars trounced Orillia 22 to 2 in a game played at Miller Bowl on Monday. Return game will be at Orillia on Thursday. This is a home and home series, goals to count on the round.

The locals displayed fine passing with 17 assists being handed out on their 22 goals. Defensively the locals were strong at all times. On the other hand, Orillia were weak both on the defence and on the attack.

Switzer and Martin were the goal scorers for Orillia. McDougal led the local marksmen with seven goals and four assists followed by Cournyea with five goals and Sutherland with four and one assist, Pete Heffernan two goals and one assist, Board one goal and three assists. Kane, McGinnis and Murphy notched singles. Others who earned assists were Simmonds and Chambers with singles, Brooks with two and Davis with four. The game was clean with four minor penalties to Orillia and one to the locals.

Petes: Ketcheson, Simmonds, Heffernan, Hunt, Chambers, McDougal, Cournyea, Dorris, Board, Sutherland, Kane, McGinnis Murphy, Davis, Brooks.

Orillia: Hinds, Switzer, Russel, Earl, Seagram, Wilkie, Lehay, Martin, Garry, Nicklin, J. Curran, T. Curran.

Referees: Bun Hill and M. Bond.

Midgets Win

In the first game of a home and home series, goals to count on the round, Peterborough midget lacrosse all-stars defeated Orillia 21 to 4. Return game is at Orillia on Thursday.

James opened scoring for Orillia in the first quarter, this was their only goal until the fourth quarter. Petes outscored the visitors in every quarter, 4 to 1 in the first, 6 to 0 in the second, 5 to 0 in the third and 6 to 3 in the fourth.

For the locals, Bob Hobart led with six goals, Allen notched five, Jones had three, with Cupoli and Jack Hobart each netting twice. Allen led in the assist department with three while Jones, Bloom, B. Hobart, Art Batley and Delahaye each collected one. For Orillia, James notched three and Udell one. All the locals worked hard, passing the ball and checking well at all times.

Petes: Chapman, Cupoli, Delahaye, Hobart, Scriver, Sutherland, Batley, B. Hobart, Kearns, Allen, Bloom, Hunt, Jones, Mullen.

Orillia: Hawke, Thornton, Ley, Udell, Knight, L. Hawke, M. Belaya, G. Belaya, Pethicke, Douglas, James, Woodrow, Stamp.

Referees: Bun Hill and M. Bond.

1st Negro Girl In Tennis Tilt

By ED CORRIGAN.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP).—Can Althea Gibson, first Negro girl to play in the United States National Tennis championships, beat Wimbledon titlist Louise Brough?

Weather permitting, the answer will come today when they finish their rain-interrupted match with Miss Gibson ahead, 1-6, 6-3, 7-6, and Miss Brough serving.

The two were just getting warmed up to their task Tuesday when the skies erupted and the 6,000 spectators in the West Side Tennis Club were deluged by a thunderstorm.

One thing is certain, even before the final verdict is reached. Miss Gibson, a tall, angular product of the sidewalks of New York's Harlem section, has acquitted herself well. She's ready for the big time, and officials of the club made no mistake inviting her to compete.

Miss Gibson, who attends Florida A. and M. College, has a good service and backs it up by charging the net at every opportunity. Perhaps her main weakness is in ground strokes.

Norwood Triumphs

HASTINGS, Aug. 30 —(ENS)— Hastings juniors dropped a 10-9 decision to Norwood intermediates at Hastings Park in a well played exhibition tilt.

West, back on the mound after his recent injury, had his old fire and in his five-inning stint, held Norwood to a run on a lone hit.

Spencer replaced him in the sixth, and turned in a fine effort, but his support was woeful, and for two innings it took on the appearance of a football game.

Richardson went the course for Norwood, giving up but eight hits, but his support was shaky at times.

Tommy Farr, the plucky Welshmen who wasn't supposed to have a chance, baffled the experts by his 15-round showing against Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, at New York 13 years ago tonight. The champion won the decision but he couldn't knock out the rugged challenger.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

When it comes playoff time, you don't always get much notice. Word comes through one day that you're playing the next, and the series must be over within a week. So you have to really hump. The Petes meet New Toronto at 8.30 tonight under the arcs in Riverside—if the wretched weather behaves—in their three-of-five Viaduct Baseball League semi-finals. And again here on Friday p.m. Supposed to have a winner for finals by the end of the week and a loop champion a week later. Not much notice, especially with uncertain weather, but that's the word. Should be a swell series with the loser suddenly finished for the year.

Being a long-time fan of Detroit Tigers, we are watching with much interest the close American League race. One of our favorites on the Tigers is Dizzy Trout, the pitcher who made a grand comeback this year. He's quite a twirler but a dizzy dude, too. Says he got the nickname in '35 with Terre Haute. Says, "One day it started to rain and I ran under an awning in left field; when they revived me I found the awning was just an 'ad' painted on the brick fence." So he's been dizzy ever since. Claims he was first discovered by a scout as Trout knocked squirrels out of a tree with rocks thrown lefthanded. When told he'd be a great southpaw pitcher, Diz replied: "Oh, I'm really righthanded."

* * * * * *

He'll Just Change Arms

Now, the guy claims that when his right arm wears out in the majors he'll last another 10 years as a lefthander. Another tall tale he tells is of the time he banged one toward the left field fence in Briggs Stadium and the ball broke in half before it went over. The outfielder caught half and the other half cleared the fence. So, Diz says it was scored as half a homer and the Tigers won by 2½ to 2, a might close game! It's guys like Trout, Dizzy Dean, Rube Waddell and some more, who add the lighter notes to the saga of big league baseball. Of course, they all had plenty of diamond ability, too.

Oshawa plays Mutuals at the Bowl tomorrow e'en at 8.30, second of their best-of-three OASA intermediate "A" series, Mutuals taking the first. This was quite a jolt to Oshawa players and fans, as the Motor Citizens figure they can always take Peterborough teams in softball. Third tilt, if necessary, here Saturday night. Meantime, East City are in senior "B" playdowns down Kingston way tonight, having won their first here. Tossup for the third, if needed. Our junior men open playdowns here Sept. 7. East City and Mutuals may meet again this week in city finals, but at the moment we haven't the date—maybe word will come later today.

Then Came The Deluge

Even the king can't control the weather this odd year in Canadian climatic history. We had June in January, and winter in April. Mighty little summer till along about autumn, and heaven knows what may come up about October. Anyway, the King and His Court—that fabulous four-man softball team—was here last eve for the Kiwanis big show at the Bowl, but heavy rain cancelled it. Dozens of cars and a couple of hundred fans on hand an hour beforehand (even in the rain) but it was washed out. Should have been some 4,000 on deck, but you can't beat the weather. However Eddie Feigner agreed to return here at 8.15 Saturday night (after a trip to Quebec) for the game.

OLA senior playoffs won't likely start till next week, but there's a junior playoff here Friday at 8.30 p.m. in Miller Bowl. Lou Vitarelli's hustling young squad beat Toronto Maitlands 9-6 here to open their best-of-five OLA junior "B" finals, and they're into the second struggle tonight in Toronto. Thus, they could win a provincial championship right here on Friday, and they'd like a big crowd on deck. Elsewhere is a list of the bantam and midget players who will be off to Orillia tomorrow nursing nice leads in their OLA playdown rounds. PMLA playoffs are on this week, too, during the day time in Miller Bowl.

Rockets Count On Backfield To Carry Day In ORFU Campaign

WINDSOR, Aug. 29 —(CP)— Windsor Rockets are counting on a competent backfield, built on last year's stars, and a young, unseasoned line for this season's campaign in the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior series.

After a late training start, the team has not yet been whittled down to the 30-odd players who will be on the roster when the club opens the schedule at Sarnia Sept. 9.

The Rockets' potential ability is still pretty much of a mystery, and coach Art Massucci, working with a team which he describes as "pretty green," hedges on making any predictions of future success.

Not Satisfied

Massucci, an American coach who formerly led Sarnia Imperials to six ORFU titles and two Canadian championships, talks only of the team's present state. He's not satisfied.

"They need a lot of improvement," he said. "A lot of those kids aren't sure of their assignments yet."

The best of last year's backfield is back—eight of them—but there's a severe shortage of seasoned linemen. Eight linemen are holdovers, but the rest are young and inexperienced. There are about 20 prospects up from local minor league and collegiate teams.

With Detroit, a good football city, just across the river, the rockets will use a number of United States imports—probably up to permitted limit of seven.

The Rockets aren't a moneymaking team and the influence of Detroit is one of the reasons. Windsor's football—like its baseball—seldom gets sell-out crowds in Jackson Park here while competing against strong sports attractions across the river.

Officials of the Windsor football club, which holds the Rocket franchise, declined to give figures on costs of operating the team this year. The club, a non-profit organization of Windsor citizens, pays no big salaries to players and many men on the squad are amateurs in the strictest sense of the word.

Barring the rash of injuries which hit Windsor's hopes last fall, the team has plenty of backfield scoring power.

Jack Murphy, a fleet Windsor boy who led the league in scoring last year before injuries sidelined him, is performing well in practice. Other backfielders who starred last year are Ed Krause, Bob Hollup and Bob Wylupek. Hollup and Krause are now recovering from leg injuries received in training.

Others Back

Also back are two United States negroes, Sylvester (Sy) Mike and Ollie Owens. Mike, a powerful defensive player, and Owens, a fast and deceptive ball carrier were out with injuries much of last season.

Only quarterback hold-over is Jack Brown, 23-year-old Windsorite, who handles much of the kicking duties. Two of the three other probable quarterbacks are imports—Barney Laboe, former University of Detroit player, and Bill Snyder, a short, smooth ball-handler from River Rouge, Mich. They'll work coach Massucci's T-formation plays.

Minor Lacrossers Playing In Orillia

Bantam and midget lacrosse players going to Orillia for return OLA games are to meet at Miller Bowl Thursday. The following bantams will play and leave at five p.m.: Roberts, Ketcheson, Chambers, Board, Brooks, Murphy, Simmons, Cournyea, McDougall, Davis, McInnis, Hunt, Morgan, Kane, Sutherland and Wright.

These midgets will be on hand at six p.m.: Simmons, Chapman, Bloom, Delahaye, Allen, Mullins, Batley, Jones, B. Hobart, J. Hobart, Kearns, Cupoli, Hunt, Scriver and Sutherland.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Argonauts took the offensive Tuesday in an embryo player-war with Ottawa Rough Riders when they refused to release quarter-back Fred Doty to their rival International Football Union club.

In announcing the club's refusal, Argonaut president Bob Moran recalled that the Riders had refused to waive their rights to halfback Steve Karrys a few weeks ago when Karrys asked for his release in order to play in Toronto, where he had been shifted by his employer.

Doty, the tiny signal-caller who helped Argonauts to three Dominion championships in 1945, 1946 and 1947, couldn't make the club this season. Ottawa had sought him as a second-stringer behind Andy Gordon, a United States import who handled the team last year.

New York Rangers of the National Hockey League will open training Sept. 18 for their 25th season.

Thirty-nine players including all members of last year's team, which came within one goal of winning the Stanley Cup, will report to Neil Colville, the club's new coach, at Saranac Lake, N.Y.

Colville, former Ranger defenceman and for two seasons coach of New Haven Ramblers of the American League, succeeds Lynn Patrick, who is taking over coaching duties of Boston Bruins.

Among newcomers seeking berths of the 1950-51 Ranger squad are rightwinger Ed Kulman, of Winnipeg, former blueshirt who lately played for Providence in the American League; defenceman Norm Gustaven, of Timmins, formerly with Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League; Reg Sinclair, of Montreal, and Alex Kuzma, of Saskatoon, both forwards up from amateur ranks.

St. Paul Saints, of the United States League, a Ranger farm club, will join the Rangers at camp Sept. 25.

Germany and Japan will be permitted to come back into the Olympic Games fold in 1952 at Helsinki. The action favoring the two former Axis powers was taken on unanimous vote of the six-member executive committee of the International Olympic Committee at Lausanne, Switzerland.

Although the full committee must act on the recommendation at a meeting next May in Vienna, it was generally believed the two nations would be finally accepted.

The Greentree stable announced in New York Tuesday that Capot, the 1949 three-year-old champion and "horse of the year," is being retired because of an aggravated knee injury.

The brown four-year-old son of Menow-Piquet will be sent to the Greentree Farm at Lexington, Ky., for breeding purposes.

Capot, winner of the Preakness, Belmont Stakes, and Pimlico Special last year, and second in the Kentucky Derby, came out of a workout Sunday at Belmont Park with a swollen left knee.

Greentree had planned to send the colt to Chicago for the $50,000-added Washington Park Handicap Saturday.

Capot was kicked in the knee when a foal, and was under continuous treatment during his three years of racing.

Lumsden Takes 2nd Championship

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP). — A broad-shouldered, 19-year-old Toronto youth reigns unchallenged as one of North America's top marathon swimmers.

Cliff Lumsden earned that rating in convincing fashion Tuesday as he churned through Lake Ontario waters to win his second straight Canadian National Exhibition 15-mile men's professional swimming championship.

It wasn't so much Cliff's victory as the way he did it that opened swim experts' eyes and won him a wild ovation from 30,000 rain-soaked fans.

The barrel-chested, 200-pound youth swam his hottest challenger right out of the race and maintained a punishing 67-beat pace that brought him home in seven hours, 18 minutes, five seconds—11 minutes, 16 seconds ahead of runner-up Tom Park, Jr. of Hamilton.

Ben Gazel, 39, winner of the 1947 race and runner-up to Lumsden last year, was third with a time of 7:36:40. Of the 58 swimmers who started, only 10 completed the grind.

The victory brought Lumsden a whopping $5,950 in prize money. Park, 25, earned $2,750 and Gazel $1,000.

Makes No Difference

When Lumsden won the race—billed as the professional championship of the world—in frigid waters last year, some swim experts said he would probably not be able to match other marathoners in warmer waters where the cold would not take a heavy toll of contestants. Only three swimmers finished the 1949 race.

This year he proved that water temperature made no difference. The water was 71 degrees—considered "warm" by marathoners—at the start. Jerry Kerschner of Toronto took the lead in the early laps, but Lumsden forced such a pace that he went to the front just after the six-mile mark and minutes later Kerschner was pulled from the water suffering leg cramps.

Never In Danger

Lumsden was never in danger the rest of the way. He maintained his fast pace throughout and appeared fresh and capable of swimming at least another five miles when he hit the finish line.

Bill Goll, Hillsdale, Mich., broke the Canadian monopoly on the prize money by finishing fourth in 9.04:43. Other swimmers completing the course in order of finish were:

Jacques Amyot, Quebec City; Charles F. Grover, Dorchester, Mass.; Henry C. Pferr, Brooklyn, N. Y., John Jaremy, Toronto; Bill Sadlo, Jr., Whitestone, N. Y.; and Matthew Chrostowski, Providence, R. I. Prize money for the last six finishers ranged from $750 for Goll to $100 for Chrostowski.

Tigers Drooping Badly Bow 5-4 To Washington

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Are the Detroit Tigers finally cracking under the persistent pressure of one of the most gruelling pennant battles ever waged?

Has the terrific strain of pacing the pack for 82 consecutive days finally become unbearable?

The answer may come within the next few days. Then again, it may not be known until the waning days of the season. Up to now the Tigers always have been able to win the "big" ones.

This is certain, however. The Detroit picture was never darker than it is today. At least, not since the Tigers took over the American League lead last June 10.

True, they are still clinging to the top, but by the slimmest of margins. Following Tuesday night's heartbreaking 5-4 loss to the Senators in Washington, the Tigers once-comfortable 4½-game bulge was whittled to two percentage points.

The hard-pressing New York Yankees picked up a full game on the tiring Tigers by clipping Cleveland Indians 6-5 in 10 innings of the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed after 2½ innings because of rain. Detroit and New York are in a virtual tie, but the Yanks have won and lost more than the Tigers.

Overpower Chicago

Boston's red-hot Red Sox soared to a third-place tie with the Indians, overpowering Chicago White Sox 13-6. The victory moved them within two games of the top.

It was a dreary-looking Detroit squad that braced itself for a doubleheader today with the Senators. The team is in its worst losing slump of the campaign — six defeats in the last nine games. The once-vaunted pitching staff appears riddled and the hitting has fallen off.

In the National League, Jim Konstanty made his 58th relief appearance for Philadelphia to help the Phillies down St. Louis Cardinals, 5-3. The triumph kept the Phils 5½ games ahead of Brooklyn Dodgers, who whipped the Cubs in Chicago 8-2.

Boston Braves blanked the Cincinnati Reds, 4-0, and New York Giants slugged the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-5, in other games. St. Louis and Philadelphia in the American League were rained out.

Syracuse Takes Twin Bill From Giants

By The Associated Press

Syracuse Chiefs, going nowhere in particular, dealt Jersey City's International League playoff hopes a knuckle rap Tuesday night by sweeping a doubleheader from the Little Giants 7-2 and 6-1.

The Little Giants still hold a two-game advantage on Springfield for fourth place—the final playoff berth—but what was once a cakewalk for the Little Giants has, once more, developed into a battle. Two victories Tuesday night would have made Joe Becker's team a shoo-in for the Shaughnessy playoofs next month.

But as it is, Stan Hack's Springfield Cubs still have a chance, and a good one. They trail the Giants by one game in the important loss column and have two more games to play than Jersey City.

Rained Out

The Cubs had their game with Baltimore rained out. They'll play a doubleheader with Orioles tonight while Jersey City meets the sixth-place Chiefs again.

Bud Byerly stopped the Little Giants on two hits in winning his 15th game in the opener. Red Hardy was tagged with his 11th loss.

In the second game, Lefty Kent Peterson made it six Syracuse victories in seven starts with a seven-hitter, besting Alex Konikowski and two relievers. Benny Zientra, with a single and two doubles, helped Peterson hang up victory No. 10. He struck out nine.

A doubleheader between Rochester and Toronto and the Buffalo-Montreal tilt were postponed because of rain.

SHARE GOLF LEAD

Pat Fletcher, of Saskatoon, and Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, shared the lead after 18 holes of play in the Saskatchewan open golf tournament Tuesday. Both checked in with one under par 70s.

HERE is another "MRS. MINIVER" type of picture . . . the kind of entertainment you have asked us to bring to our screen
Dear Folks.—
I'd like to tell you about a picture we've made at M-G-M, "Stars In My Crown." It's what a newspaper friend of mine calls a human interest story . . . it's not the story of one man or one family—it's about all the folks in this town or any town . . . the good and the bad . . . the dramatic things and funny things that happen to them.
Like pretty Ellen Drew—she's my wife in the story. She sort of runs the whole shebang from the sidelines. And there's young Dean Stockwell as John. Watching him is like growing up all over again. Then there's Alan Hale, a man who loves a fight or a prank, and Lewis Stone who's the old Doc and handsome James Mitchell who's the young Doc. And well, there's characters like Uncle Famous and Chicroform and the bully—every town has them, for better or for worse.
It's different and it's real. I sincerely hope you like it.

Jane Russell Abandons Short Hair Cut

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30 (AP)—On her husband's insistence, Jane Russell has abandoned the short hair cut.

Nearly every Hollywood star succumbed to the bobbed-hair style that swept the female world a year or so ago. Jane was one of them. But when I saw her on the "Macao" set, her tresses were again falling to her shoulders. What about this?

"I had mine cut very short," she admitted, "but my man (Bob Waterfield, the pro football flash) didn't like it. I guess all men hate the short hair cut; It makes their women look like men.

"Robert used to draw me close to kiss me and then push me away. 'Ugh, you look like a him!' he'd say."

More Hair

And then there's Dorothy Hart, starting out a new Warners contract with a new head of hair. Until this point in her career, she had been a redhead, but now she has returned to her own shade, a golden brown. She tells why:

"The red color was to show up in the color pictures I was in. Now I'm in black-and-white in 'Raton Pass' so it doesn't matter.

"It's more trouble being a redhead. Men are more apt to get fresh with a girl with red hair. It's a strange psychology, but it's true."

Mr. 880

One of the more delightful pictures of the season is "Mister 880." I'll review it later, but I wanted to point out a couple of things worth noticing. In the picture are some splendid scenes of the United Nations machinery, with Dorothy McGuire playing an official interpreter. It made me wonder why Hollywood has overlooked such a worthy subject for a movie as the UN or is the town too busy with killing?

Also, in the picture Burt Lancaster says to McGuire: "Hurry up or we'll be late for the movie." How seldom does Hollywood advertise itself by such means! Movie characters seldom go to movies, and yet recent films have shown dozens of scenes featuring television, Hollywood's arch-enemy.

MILK IS SCARCE — Canned milk diluted with water was what Atikokan children drank after the crippling railway strike went into effect. A CNR mercy train was sent to the northwestern Ontario mining town when food ran short. Mrs. Clarence Rostie pours condensed milk into her children's glasses before adding water.

2 Oshawa Men Killed

AJAX, Aug. 30 — (CP). — Two Oshawa men were killed on Tuesday night in a car-truck collision on the highway near here. Dead are Elron Allan Tilk 37, driver of the car, and John Tarnawski. Police said the car crashed into the rear of a transport. Driver of the truck, Paul Beaulieue, of Cape De La Madelaine, Que., was uninjured. Ajax is 20 miles east of Toronto.

General Conference

MONTREAL, Aug. 30 (CP)).— General conference of the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, an association of more than 500 self-governing churches throughout the country, will convene in Saskatoon, September 14-19, it was announced here Tuesday night.

2,000 Workers Stage Walkout

DETROIT, Aug. 30—(AP)—Two thousand tool and die workers walked out at the Ford Motor Company's giant Rouge plant Tuesday "to find out what our local union is doing to get us wage raises like those given by Packard, Chrysler and General Motors."

All are members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO). A meeting with local union president Carl Stellato was called immediately after the walkout.

There was no attempt to picket the plant, which employs 65,000 on a three-shift basis.

Stellato said a recent voluntary increase by Chrysler, a cost-of-living boost in pay at General Motors, and a raise granted in Packard's new contract, brought tool and die workers for those three companies to an average of $2.50 an hour, compared with a rate of $2.12 an hour at Ford.

Ford's current contract with the UAW has until January to run, but union officials recently have asked that it be reopened to increase wages. The company has declined.

Senator Collapses

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 — (CP).— Senator William Duff (L-Nova Scotia) collapsed Tuesday night in the centre block of Parliament and was taken to Ottawa Civic Hospital for treatment. A hospital official said his condition is not dangerous.

Grain Stocks Up

MONTREAL, Aug. 30 (CP)— Deliveries by lake steamships have kept Montreal's grain stocks at a high level and grainmen said Tuesday they could hold out even if the railway strike should last another month.

Mrs. Southam Dies Suddenly At Portland

OTTAWA, Aug. 30 (CP)—Mrs. Henrietta Southam, wife of the late Wilson Southam, former president of the Southam Company, died suddenly Tuesday at Portland, Ont., in her 74th year.

Mrs. Southam, who was staying at her summer home, had been in excellent health and had gone upstairs to rest after lunch. She died quietly in her sleep.

Surviving are three sons, John of Calgary, D. Cargill of Montreal, and G. Hamilton Southam, on the Canadian Legion staff in Stockholm; two daughters, Mrs. Margaret Brinckman, Ottawa, and Lady Brinckman, London, England.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

34 Children Ill

TIMMINS, Aug. 30 — (CP). — Rolande Lescorbeau, 3, is dead, and 34 other children are reported ill with whooping cough at the nearby lumbering settlements of Connaught and Barber's Bay. Two of the Lescorbeau child's sisters, Collette 6 and Simone 5, and a brother Leonard 1, are in hospital here. Connaught residents said the disease spread from family to family during the last two weeks.

Recommission Nootka

HALIFAX, Aug. 0 — ((CP).— Tre destroyer Nootka was recommissioned for service Tuesday under Canada's program of armed forces expansion. Cmdr. Alexander Fraser-Harris is in command of the Nootka. Lieut. Charles Richardson, formerly of Galt, is her executive officer.

Begin Dock Extension

SARNIA, Aug. 30 — (CP). — Construction of a proposed $38,000 extension to the service dock at Government Wharf will begin shortly. The extension will form part of the $63,600 harbor improvement program for this area. Contract has been awarded the Blythe Construction Company of Toronto.

Alert Policeman Nabs 3 Youths

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 30—(CP)—Alertness of an off-duty policeman here Tuesday night resulted in the arrest 14 minutes later of three youths, from Windsor, Port Stanley and St. Thomas, on a car theft charge.

The trio, John Stoyanovich, of Windsor, Abel C. Conrad, St. Thomas, and William C. Clark, of Port Stanley, were taken to London to await the arrival of Windsor police who would take them to Windsor to face charges.

Stoyanovich, who police said was the driver of the car, reported stolen in Windsor earlier, said it belonged to his father in Windsor. Police said the car is registered to a man named Cveto Stosanovich, of Windsor.

The off-duty officer, Provincial Constable Robert French, of St. Thomas, was standing on a corner when he saw the car pass and recognized it as reported stolen.

Ottawa Pianist Gets Scholarship

TORONTO, Aug. 30 (CP). — Eric Stremer, talented young Ottawa pianist, Tuesday night was awarded a $500 scholarship as the outstanding pianist at the Canadian National Exhibition Festival.

The 21-year-old Ottawan gained the judges' nod with a near-perfect rendition of Chopin's Ballade in A Flat, Opus 47. Names of other contestants considered for the award were not made public.

Elizabeth Auld of Toronto was awarded first place in the class for pianists under 19 years. Norma Hoyt, Stratford, and Derek Oliver Bampton, Vancouver, tied for second.

Judging will start today in the violin classes.

Gail Mead of Port Credit, Ont., and Carole Deinhart, Cooksville, Ont., won the judges' nod in the duet class for pianists under 14 years. Diane Gibb and Brenda McKinney both of Port Credit, were second and Dorothy Cole and Nova James, London, Ont., third.

READY TO WORK

MONTREAL, Aug. 30 (CP). — Spokesmen for Canada's major carriers said in a statement issued here Tuesday night that they are prepared to resume operations immediately striking employees return to their jobs.

C.N.E. FREE FACIALS: "Is it true that Tamblyn's are giving free facials at the Exhibition for any woman who applies?" Quite true. The Tamblyn cosmetic booth is in the Coliseum, West Annex, Upstairs and just at the head of the steps. All day, and every day, trained Tamblyn girls revive weary women with free facials. Drop in and try it yourself.

STUDENT TRANSFER: "My son is in third year high school and is having a terrible time getting along with his form teacher. Can we move him to another school within 10 blocks of us?" Board of Education ruling is that a student must attend the school in his own locality. Why not have a talk with the principal of the school in which your son is now situated? Only under very special circumstances is a child allowed to transfer.

BLEACHED CELERY: "Our celery is almost ready for filling in so that the stalks will bleach. Here's the rub. My wife tells me bleached celery hasn't half the punch of the green stalks. Is this true?" Your wife is right this time, sir. The green celery retains its vitamin content, the white celery loses a great deal of its food value. It's the same with cabbage.

VOL. CI. No. 50 — WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 30, 1950

A BIG ROLL OF DOLLAR BILLS, 85 in all that spelled "God Bless You," was presented to the Rev. W. B. Greenwood by the congregation of the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church on Monday evening. After four years in Peterborough, Mr. Greenwood is being moved to Belleville where he is to be district superintendent of Eastern Ontario and Quebec.

Rail Strike Did Not Cause Any Great Hardship To Citizens and Industry

As Canadians listened for that first train whistle marking the end of the railway strike, the majority of Peterborough firms reported that the strike had not affected them seriously. Only a few plants wholly dependent on railways for transportation had real hardship to report. One of these is the Quaker Oats Co. of Canada, where layoffs have numbered almost 300, in accordance with a prediction made by president Reg. Faryon at the start of the rail strike.

Problems in transport also arose at plants such as the Canada Packers. Fresh and smoked meats usually shipped by rail to northern points—Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury—have been handled during the rail strike by refrigerator transport.

Lay-off In Campbellford

In Campbellford, 50 men were laid off at the Gair Company of Canada, a wood pulp firm. Supplies for the company are somewhere on a rail siding.

Most contractors in the city report no shortage of cement, although the demand had to be met by truck deliveries. Dealers, on the other hand, said the rail strike made a bad situation worse.

Fred Overend, manager of the Peterborough Lumber Company, said there had been a cement shortage as far as dealers were concerned long before the rail strike started. "But the strike didn't help any", he added.

Clarence B. Neal, vice-president and general manager of the Outboard Marine Manufacturing Co., said the end of this week would be his plant's limit. He reported only a few layoffs in the receiving department.

"We can't ship to the west; only to points that can be reached by transport," he said. But he added that the strike came right "at the tail end of our season" and did not hit the plant as hard as it might have.

At the Peterborough Co-op, Manager N. J. McMurchy said shipments of fertilizer and aluminum roofing due to arrive in Peterborough early this week were still stranded "somewhere."

As far as eggs went, the situation was even better than before the rail strike, he declared. People who normally ship by rail to the Montreal market were bringing their eggs to Peterborough for sale.

At Wonder Bakeries Ltd., Jas. Dutton Jr., said he had been worried about the supply of flour, but a shipment just before the strike deadline gave them enough for five weeks. Most of the other ingredients for bread come in by truck. All outbound shipping from the bakery is done by truck.

E. G. R. Clarke, general manager of Canadian Nashua Paper, stated the company had not been hit at all by the railway strike. "We could go on for a month," he said. Paper for the plant comes in by truck, and finished products are shipped out that way.

Officials at the DeLaval report they have been hit "the same as any other plant," being forced to ship by transport. The firm said there had been no shortage of materials "that would cut us off."

"The citrus fruit situation has worked out much better than we thought possible," said a National Grocers spokesman.

At first it was feared that oranges, limes, grapefruit, lemons, California pears and bananas—all imported from the United States and transported by rail—would almost disappear from the market.

Trucked To City

Special arrangements were quickly made to bring the fruit to the nearest possible rail point, and it was then picked up by truck.

The Michigan-Central railway brought some of it as far as Waterford and the New York-Central as far as Fort Erie. From these points the fruit was trucked into Peterborough.

No trouble was anticipated in hauling Ontario fruit and vegetables; and there was none. Moreover it is predicted that the price of Ontario produce will be "very economical."

"During the strike we have been able to persuade retailers not to let their stocks of fruit and vegetables get too low," said the spokesman. "When customers notice small supplies they are apt to begin panic buying and then a real shortage occurs."

A check with the retailers also showed that the worst fears of a shortage and panic buying were groundless.

Anthony's Fruit Market reported: "You would hardly have known a strike was on. We brought in our fruit by truck from the Niagara peninsula and it was sold in the normal manner. No, there didn't seem to be any increased demand by customers."

Supplies of anthracite coal were the chief problem for fuel dealers. Fuel oil was picked up, at ports such as Cobourg and Port Hope, and trucked in; but anthracite is too heavy and bulky to be handled in this way and it must go by coal car.

Week's Supply on Hand

A little more than a week's supply is the present stock of one of the biggest dealers. They expect fresh supplies to be in well before the present stock is exhausted.

And here's a tip to householders about anthracite—it has no connection with the rail strike. According to this local dealer Pennsylvania anthracite, now quoted at $25 a ton, will go up about a dollar a ton by the end of the next five months.

The graduations are expected to be 15-25 cents a ton each month.

Gasoline and oil supplies were also sufficient to see the strike through. Firms that generally received their gas and oil by rail simply switched to trucks. As Peterborough is located near enough to the refineries in Toronto and other lakeside ports it was not a difficult job.

Hold No Inquests Into 2 Deaths Shooting, Crash

There will be no inquest into the fatal shooting last Thursday of five-year-old John Edward Sandbach, Springville, nor into the death Sunday of Gerald McCullough, Manvers, who died after a car accident.

Young Sandbach darted into the line of fire of a 13-year-old companion who was aiming at a crow some distance away in a vacant field. He was struck in the upper part of the abdomen but managed to run about 100 feet before collapsing.

The bullet was of .22 calibre and struck him from a distance of six feet.

McCullough was driving home from the Peterborough Exhibition early Sunday morning. He ran off the Pontypool-Millbrook road in the dense fog and suffered a fractured skull and other injuries in the crash.

Dr. Herbert Young was the coroner. The Crown Attorney of Durham and Northumberland in whose territory the accidents occurred, decided that inquests were not necessary.

6 PCVS Students Awarded $1,575 Bursaries

Dominion-Provincial student-aid bursaries totalling $1,575 have been awarded to six PCVS students for the academic year 1950-51.

All the awards are of the A type bursaries, that is, for students who plan to enter an Ontario university, or Ontario normal school or Grade XIII general course or Grade XII vocational course this fall. Under student-aid program this year the bursaries will have a total value of approximately $260,000, the Dominion government paying towards the cost of the program $60,000.

Three of this year's awards at PCVS will be given to students planning to enter university, Samuel Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy, 339 London St.; Joan V. Seymour, daughter of Mrs. Mary Seymour, 221 Engleburn Ave.; and Margaret Capron, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Capron, R.R. 8, Peterborough.

Marilynn Hollingsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hollingsworth, Chemong Road, plans to enter Normal School this term and was awarded the normal school bursary. The other bursaries were awarded to James A. Liscum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Liscum, Apsley, who plans to enter Grade XII vocational, and to Lorna R. Stewart, daughter of Mrs. Jean Stewart, Bobcaygeon, who plans to enter Grade XIII general course.

Only one resident A type bursary was awarded, that to Miss Hollingsworth, valued at $175. The other six awards will be of the non-resident type, the university bursary valued at $400, the Grade XII vocational and the Grade XIII general course each $100.

$1,335,400 FOR VACATIONS

The vacations of its employees has cost the Canadian General Electric Company $1,335,400 as compared with last year's total of $1,022,541. The company's staff has reached an all-time high of 13,500 employees here and elsewhere.

City Unable To Keep Ahead Of Demand For Services

Plans of Montgomery brothers for a housing project on the land at the corner of Monaghan Road and Lundy's Lane "will have to take its place with the rest" on the board of works list of accumulated and unfinished business. Intention of the owners is to open a street called Noble Place extending southerly from Lundy's Lane, widening at the south end for turning facility, as it will be a blind street. Lots will average 5,000 sq. ft. in area, with an average frontage of 50 ft. and depth of 100 ft.

Four houses are to be built on Monaghan Road, six on Noble Place and one on Lundy's Lane. The present three-house terrace on the west side of the property, which was owned by the late Frank Montgomery, is to occupy the west side of the new street.

It was said at the board of works meeting Tuesday night that the road and sewer conveniences were to be provided by the city, and charged to the abutting property.

In the discussion of required work for Montgomery brothers, and also of other applications for municipal services, City Engineer Chalmers referred to the accumulation of jobs which the department has not been able to overtake.

Ald. H. Dodds chairman said there was "50 per cent more work required than can be done this year."

On that list are "a lot of walks that still have to be laid for Central Mortgage and Housing."

Mayor Swanston: "Are there any more contractors we can get?"

Mr. Chalmers: "We can't lay out the work for them. We got one contractor started on sidewalks, but he was no sooner started than he ran out of cement. We supplied him for awhile but we had to stop that."

Opinion of the board was that the Montgomery brothers' application would have to take its turn with the rest.

Charlotte St. Walk

The proposed sidewalk on the south side of Charlotte St. and Clonsilla Ave., from Monagnan Road to Sherbrooke St., is another project that may have to be deferred until next year.

Wm. H. Jackson wrote that the application was made to the Council a year ago, but there was no indication yet that the work would be under way this year. Concern for the safety of children, particularly, on that heavily travelled street was expressed by Mr. Jackson on behalf of the applicants. He wrote that with the opening of Civic Hospital traffic had increased.

Shortage of cement had been holding up concret work, and especially sidewalks, Ald. Dodds said.

The Jackson letter was turned over to the chairman and city engineer.

"If it can't be done this year we should write them and tell them the facts," Mayor Swanston said.

"There's no doubt it is necessary on that street," Ald. E. C. Braund remarked.

City Engineer Chalmers told the board there was a long list of sidewalk jobs to be done, but the department was hampered by lack of supplies.

It was recalled that some objection had arisen in the Charlotte-Clonsilla neighborhood as to where the walk should be laid in respect to frontages. The members of the board went out one evening and met residents, and it was understood then that everybody was satisfied.

"It would have been done long ago if it had not been held up by some of the people themselves," said Mr. Chalmers.

Power Boat Racing Meet

The newly-formed Chemong Power Boat Club are staging a racing meet on Saturday afternoon, the first event to start at 1 p.m. The triangular course, three miles in length, is already flag-buiyed in front of the boat livery. A clubman said today that they expect 40 district and out-of-town racers to enter.

There are eight racing classes in the following horse-power ratings: 5½, 7½ and 9.8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 22½ and an open class to include inboard boats. Cash awards in the amount of more than $200 have already been collected as well as such items as water skis, motor oil, an electric clock, and so forth. The events will be held regardless of weather.

The club executive consists of Norman Edgar, president, Bob Packard, vice-president, Ted Bryans, secretary, and Bernard Travis, treasurer. They hope Saturday's meet will be the start of an annual affair of this nature.

Bailieboro Builders Get Fire Hall Contract

Gray and Banks, Limited, contractors at Bailieboro, submitted at $15,162 the low bid for the rebuilding of the west wall at the fire hall, a one-storey addition, and other alterations, at the meeting of the property committee of the council Tuesday.

The only other bid was from J. K. Sheehy at $16,425. The committee with Ald. E. C. Braund presiding, recommended letting the contract to Gray-Banks.

The job of rewiring the firehall drew one bid of $1,950 from Grant and Loucks. They are proposed for the work.

Good-will Gifts For Bobbie

The Bobbie Clark Fund was increased today by receipt of thirteen dollars at the business office of the Examiner.

Mrs. E. R. Bradford and Mr. H H. Grubbe each gave five dollars, and there were three one dollar contributions from Billie Caccavella, John and Richard Chiles, and one anonymous.

Mr. J. A. C. Rogers, who has interested himself in Bobby Clark since the accident near his home resulted in the amputation of his left arm at the shoulder, reports a gift of $50 from the business men of the Churchill Coffee Club.

Among themselves they took up a subscription the other morning, and Mr. Fred Hills turned the money over to Mr. Rogers Monday with the stipulation that it was to go directly to Mrs. Clark.

The Big Brother spirit of the Coffee Club appreciated the mother's need for ready cash.

Mrs. Clark is staying on McDonnel St., to enable her to visit Bobby daily at Civic Hospital.

The Eaton Company provided Bobby with a radio in his room at the hospital, and Mr. Mel Johnston, sales representative for Murphy Paints, is giving a radio to take home when he is discharged from the hospital.

Mr. Rogers mentioned today that Bobby is quite a favorite at the hospital, walks about the corridors and visits some of the other patients.

Three Cars And Bus Involved In Accident

Three cars and a city bus were involved in an accident but only two of the cars were damaged Tuesday at Monaghan Rd. and Bolivar St.

The city bus going north on Monaghan Rd. stopped at the south-east corner at Bolivar St. Harold Wilson, RR 1, Peterborough, also driving north, started to go around the bus to turn right into Bolivar St. But the bus started up again and Wilson braked his car to let it go by.

Miss Helen Goodfellow, 583 Park St., driving behind Wilson braked when he stopped, but Lawrence Herman, 744 Stormont St., driving behind her crashed into the rear of her car.

The trunk door of the Goodfellow car was damaged and the front fenders and grill of the Herman car were damaged.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum reported it had been raining hard when the cars collided.

2.22 Inches Rain In 30 Hours

Within 30 hours ending early this morning 2.22 inches of rain fell in the Peterborough area For most of the farmers in the district it was a real help.

Most farmers are ready to start fall ploughing and the rain has softened the soil to make the job considerably easier. One farmer reported he had been unable to plough Monday because the soil had been too hard. Now he will have no trouble.

However a few grain men who still have their crops out and not combined will be delayed by the rains. They will have to wait until their grain dries out and dispose of it before they can begin to plough.

It was believed vegetables still in the ground would not be adversely affected unless more rain falls and the soil does not have a chance to dry out.

The rain started after midnight Tuesday morning. By eight a.m .72 inches had fallen and in the next 24 hours, 1.5 inches fell, most of it Tuesday before noon.

Given 10 Months To Get Off Streets

Dick Ouimet will be permitted to resume his potato chip business for ten months, "but under restrictions" to be set out explicity in a bylaw.

This finance committee proposal is intended to provide Mr. Ouimet with ample time to look to the future. The committee is also recommending that the council of 1951 grant no more licenses for that type of perambulating business.

"I wish to be excused from voting," said Ald. H. Dodds when the motion by Aldermen Sands and Braund was adopted last night.

Bert Duffus Patient St. Joseph's Hospital

"No improvement" is today's report on the condition of Bert Duffus, Peterborough funeral director who became ill suddenly Tuesday morning. Mr. Duffus collapsed while on a visit to Hastings for the funeral of Timothy Crowley.

In the hope that there would be some improvement in his condition before undertaking the journey to Peterborough, Mr. Duffus spent the entire day in Hastings. He was brought to the city by ambulance Tuesday evening and is now in St. Joseph's hospital.

Board of Works Approves New Traffic Regulations

Adoption by the council of the first recommendations of its new traffic control committee was proposed by the board of works Tuesday night. The report of the committee was accepted, for approval by the council, without change or comment other than expressions of hearty concurrence.

The first clause eliminates the bus stops at the southwest corner of Hunter and George Streets (southbound) at Elliott's drug store, and at the southeast corner of Hunter and George Streets, (Ashburnham bound) at the Bank of Toronto.

"It was agreed that the discontinuance of these two bus stops would not seriously affect the service, and would materially assist traffic flow at this important corner."

Text of clause No. 2: "That buses proceeding west on Hunter St. make a lefthand turn at Water St., and stop at the southwest corner of the intersection, making the turn to discharge passengers, rather than stopping at the northwest corner before making the turn This would permit a better flow of traffic along Hunter St., particularly the movement of cars desiring to make the righthand turn from Hunter north on Water St."

No. 3: "That the bus proceeding north on George St. will, in future, stop well back from the intersection of Park Hill Road, in order not to block cars desiring to make a righthand turn from George St.on the Park Hill Road."

Stop Eliminated

Clause 4 eliminates the stop at the southwest corner of Park Hill Road and Water St. North bound buses shall make the lefthand turn from Park Hill Road into Water St., "and stop some distance north of the northeast corner of Park Hill Road and Water St."

The next clause directs that northbound buses on George St. shall stop slightly south of the Public Library instead of at McDonnel St. "This change is made to improve the flow of traffic north on George St."

Traffic bylaw is to be amended stopping at Park Hill Road southbound traffic on George St., "and the necessary stops sign is to be placed at the northwest corner of Park Hill Road and George St."

Clearly Mark Stops

Clause 7 relates to the corner of Charlotte and Park Streets. "Buses shall not stop east of Park St. on Charlotte St., but shall proceed to the west side of Park St.; and buses turning south (Byersville) shall be required to make the turn and stop at the southwest corner of Park St. at Charlotte St., to receive and discharge passengers. The last bus stop on Charlotte St., east of Park St. (westbound) shall be at Reid St."

All bus stops are to be clearly marked with signs to secure the co-operation of the public in these changes, and City Engineer Chalmers is to be authorized to install "No parking from here to corner," "in order to keep the new bus stops free of parked vehicles."

Clause 9: "That the traffic bylaw be amended to make Armour Road a through street from the north side of Hunter St. to the north side of Swanston Ave."

Finally, the committee is to meet at an early date with Superintendent K. S. Wightman and C. S. Browne, principal of Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, "in an endeavour to improve bus services, the parking problem and transportation facilities at the Collegiate."

The members of this special committee are City Engineer Chalmers, City Clerk Outram, Chief Constable Thompson and Laurie Mitchell, of Peterborough Bus Lines.

"25c Life Saver Teas" To Be A Series In Aid Community Nursing Registry

Life Savers,—the candy kind—were passed around at a small business meeting and immediately gave the name to a series of social events that will embrace more than 5,000 ladies of the city and district in six weeks time.

The Community Nursing Registry of Peterborough is a service to the citizens provided by the doctors and nurses—"life savers" in the true sense of the word—and "Life Saver Teas" are the means by which it can be continued.

Financial statement of the Registry, at the moment, has a "red" figure balance, yet its business never slackens. On two days of last month 93 phone calls for doctors alone were handled. The average per day, through 24 hours, varies with the season. Each of these calls is from someone in distress and it brings the attention they need in the quickest, best possible manner.

There may be many who do not yet know that 2-0479 is the call for help in times of sickness and emergency. The phone is always answered by a trained nurse who can therefore understand the degree of difficulty in the situation. She then takes charge and sends the most suitable help.

The number of phone calls necessary to bring this medical and special nursing attention to the patient is often high—but that is the operator's business. The important fact is that the person in need makes one call only.

Surely such a service is worthy of the community's support.

Doctors and nurses are paying annual fees but these cover expenses for only six months of the year. Cut to a minimum by using phones in the operator's homes there are still telephone bills, stationery and stamps to be paid for, and salaries to the staff, Mrs. M. B. Pringle, Mrs. H. Grady, Mrs. E. Wellman and Mrs. E. S. Kingdon who supplies three days a week to give each operator one day free.

Registry president Mrs. E. Brackenridge is asking the support of this community by taking part in the extension of the 25c Life Saver Teas. To date she has received wonderful response and upwards of 100 hostesses are now planning for their teas. Their guests will then become the hostesses and plan teas of their own and so the circle will grow into a huge "Life Saver".

Mrs. Brackenridge opened the series with a tea at her own home on Tuesday afternoon. It gave every indication of some decidedly pleasant afternoons and evenings to come in the near future. Not only that—the ladies enjoying these affairs may be providing help for themselves—for who knows when sickness or accident may strike—and where.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston, wife of Peterborough's mayor, is giving support to the project and she presided at the tea table for the first hour, followed by Mrs. Allan Heideman.

Gladioli in delicate shades made the tea room most charming and the table, with beautiful lace cover, was lighted with tall slender tapers.

Lauds New Head B&P Women Caroline Haslett

TORONTO, Aug. 30. — Miss Margaret Hyndman, KC, who has just returned from London, where she was re-elected a vice-president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women at the congress held this month, was enthusiastic in her praise of the federation's new president, Britain's Dame Caroline Haslett. For the last 20 years Americans have held the presidency of the federation, which has a membership of 327,000 in 18 countries.

"Dame Caroline is one of Britain's outstanding women, and she has been in the forefront of the battle of equal pay for equal work for the last 20 years," Miss Hyndman said.

"Her title was conferred upon her by the King in recognition of her work as special adviser to the Ministry of Labor during the war.

"Her portrait, which hangs in the gallery of the Royal Society of Portrait Painters and was unveiled by Princess Elizabeth last year, was the gift of the Electrical Industries of Great Britain.

"And she is one of five people —and the only woman, of course, on the British Electric Authority (which corresponds to our Hydro Electric Commission), and which was the only nationalized industry of Britain which showed a profit in its first year of operation, which is something."

A JACKET-DRESS with a difference. This buttoned wool sheath has a reversible cape-stole. Worn tucked through the belt, the stole panels end in deep pockets.

30 Probationers Register At St. Joseph's

Thirty preliminary students were registered Tuesday in the St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, and are now making themselves ready for the classes which commence September 1st.

They were honored at afternoon tea, served in the residence by the sisters, and in the evening the student body, under convenership of Misses Marguerite Lamey and Catherine Naud, entertained with games, music and refreshments.

The girls all come from places in Ontario. Six from Peterborough homes are Misses Mary Braund, Catherine Farley, Helen Fitzgerald, Joan Gray, Eileen O'Brien and Sister St. Domonic. From Renfrew are Misses Anita Lyons, Rosemary Maloney and Georgia Mousseau and Miss Jacqueline Molyneaux is from Parry Sound.

The others are: Misses Gwenne and Ruth Joyce of Lakefield, Faye Butts of Kinmount, Doris Calberry of Hastings, Betty Crough and Anne Corkery of Ennismore, Marion Clysdale of Keene, Norma Graham of Havelock, Alice Hogan, Otonabee, Marie Hogan of Lindsay, Evelyn Jackett and Ethel York of Fenelon Falls, Shirley Lazier of Orillia, Rosenne Morrow of South Mountain, Bernadine Moher of Douro. Rose Quinn, of Campbellford, Jacqueline Rogers of Norwood, Linda Rohtla of Cobourg, and Noreen Stevens of Minden.

NEW AND DISTINCTIVE TOUCHES are added to the quilted housecoat. Funnel and collar, lined in contrasting shade, give a new look to an established fashion.

DOROTHY DIX

Widow at Age of Fifty Wants to Readjust Herself

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman of 50, a well-off widow. I am strong and healthy and young for that age. I have three children, all married. They are loving and considerate to me, but they are engrossed, as it is right and proper that they should be, in their own families and their own individual lives. I would not be willing to go to live with them, nor would they be glad to have me. My married life was not so happy as to leave me any illusions about marriage or husbands, yet I find it lonely and dull living by myself, and tiresome always having to hunt up someone to go out with of an evening, even to the movies. What to do?

WIDOW.

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: There is no problem greater than that of the woman who at middle age finds that the death of her husband has written finis to one chapter in her life, and who does not know how to even begin a new one. She finds herself in a new world in which she does not know her way about, and where she can discern no signboards that will point her to a pleasant road to travel for the remainder of her life journey.

Try Volunteer Work

Many such women with nothing to do find a vital interest and worthy occupation in going in for good deeds. Most of the philanthropies are not only supported but also run by women who find an outlet for their energies in directing the activities of causes and charities, and sitting on boards, and being officers of asylums and hospitals and reformatories and whatnot.

Other women take to globe-trotting and do the travelling they have always longed to do. More than half of the passenger list of every cruise is made up of rich widows who have been to every place under the sun.

Of course, the obvious remedy for the rich widow's loneliness would seem to be marriage, but this is often one in which the cure is worse than the disease. For while no woman whose husband is known to have left her a fortune ever has any trouble in getting another husband, he is not often a matrimonial prize. Successful men prefer debutantes. And so it is generally the man who has failed to make good who wants to hang up his hat in the widow's hall.

This is not always the case, however, and many a middle-aged widow does happily solve her problem by marrying a middle-aged man with whom she has a beautiful friendship and a companionship that makes her last marriage happier than her first.

◆ ◆ ◆

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young woman unhappily married to a man who tries to dominate me in every way. We don't see things from the same angle and he treats me as if I were a child. I have to ask his opinion about everything I do, but he does as he pleases without consulting me. I have met a married man who is having identically the same trouble in his home. Nothing he does is ever right with his wife. For eight years he has been trying to make her the kind of a woman he wanted her to be, but has failed. We have fallen in love with each other. What shall we do, continue unhappily as we have been, or divorce our mates and marry and be happy? We both have children.

UNHAPPY.

ANSWER: What makes you think that you will get along any more peacefully with each other than you do with your present mates? If you are imagining that you will not have to adapt yourself to a new husband and a new wife, even as you did to the old, forget it. Every living man and woman has his or her individual peculiarities and eccentricities of temper and temperament and general cussedness, and if you stay married you have to take 'em and like 'em.

So why not make the best of the life partners you have and preserve your homes for your children's sake? That a man is opinionated and likes to have his wife defer to him isn't a serious fault. It is just vanity. Why not cater to it and let him think that you think he is Solomon, if he gets any fun out of it? And if your friend would pay his wife a few of the compliments he is handing you, believe me, he could have her eating out of his hand. You can't reform a woman with a hammer, but you can with salve-spreader. And don't forget the children. They are the real ones to consider.

DEA RMISS DIX: Before we were married my husband took out a small insurance in the name of his parents. He thinks that because his father and mother helped him to receive an education they deserve that much. It is very little and wouldn't be much money in anybody's pocket, but I think the policy should be changed to his wife's name. What are your ideas on the matter?

A READER.

◆ ◆ ◆

ANSWER: I think that a husband should carry as much insurance for his wife as he can afford, but that she should not be so greedy that she wants to take away even the pittance he has provided for his parents if they are poor. A young wife would be better able to support herself and earn money than an old couple. Don't forget that your husband has obligations to his parents as well as to you, and that you do not show yourself a very alluring wife when you are trying to take everthing away from them.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Fruit Salad Good to Eat All the Year Around

Salads rate so high in mealtime enjoyment that you are sure to want the latest release of The Examiner series of twenty-four cookbooks, "500 Tempting Salads and Dressings." This wonderful volume is crammed full of inviting illustrations and recipes to spur you to new highs of ideas for colorful, nutritious, tempting salads.

The salad illustrated today uses alternate slices of fresh fruit. The Salad book has suggestion after suggestion of combinations that can be used in this way, such as avocado and orange slices, grapefruit and persimmon wedges, and many others. Almost any grouping can be set off with curly endive to give a dainty dressed up touch—and then—most important of all—a good dressing. You will find several good basic dressings in the Salad Book as well as many variations to suit your taste or the particular dish on hand. But for a particularly good and rich dressing for a light fruit salad such as the one illustrated you might try the following:

Whipped Cream Dressing

2-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons salad oil
3 tablespoons lemon juice
4 tables[illegible] orange juice
1 cup pineapple juice
½ cup heavy cream whipped

Combine sugar and flour in top of double boiler; add remaining ingredients except cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. When cool fold in whipped cream. Makes 2 cups. GINGER—Add 3 teaspoons chopped crystallized ginger.

The Salad Book, like the six previous books, Snacks, Leftovers Cakes, Poultry, Pies, and Soups, from page 2 of any issue of THIS NEWSPAPER—one coupon for each book, and presenting the coupons with 25c for each book at the Examiner office. Or you may obtain your books by mailing a coupon and 30c for each book (5c additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, Examiner, Peterborough.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

A St. Paul reader writes: "My wife and I like to play two-handed Canasta, and find that the most amusing game is the one in which you draw two cards when you draw from the stock. I wonder if you would discuss this game in your column and also answer a couple of questions.

"The first question is: do you get two cards to replace a red three? The second: What happens when there is only one card left in the stock?"

This particular variation of two-handed Canasta was invented by John Crawford and myself although there is no doubt that other people discovered it independently. It is much faster than any other form of two-handed Canasta, and although there is plenty of room for skill in the play, the game is never one-sided.

Each player is dealt fifteen cards and the thirty-first card is turned up. Play proceeds as in regular Canasta, except that when a player makes his draw from the stock, he draws two cards, not one.

When he draws from the stock to replace a red three, he gets only one card since that is a replacement, not a regular draw; while if there is only one card left in the stock when it is your turn to draw, you only get that one card as your draw.

Correct play in this game is similar to that in four-handed Canasta. You try to build your hand with the dual purpose of getting the discard pile and of melding out quickly.

Even though you may never get the discard pile, you will add one card to your hand at each draw, and if you simply throw what you don't want and keep what you do want, you should be able to go out in from nine to fifteen plays, depending on how well your cards match up.

It does not pay to take the discard pile too quickly in this game but it will pay well to grab it any time it holds as many as ten cards. After grabbing the first discard pile, do not let yourself be lulled into any feeling of security. Your opponent will be playing for out and the chances favor his being able to go out fairly soon.

So don't hang onto a great mass of cards with the feeling that the game is going to be all yours. If you do, it is probable that he will be able to splash his whole hand down and catch you.

Of course, there are some occasions when the two players will engage in an all out fight for the discard pile from shortly after the start of the hand, and will discard all, or nearly all of the twelve wild cards in the course of this fight.

In such a case, if you are the lucky one who gets the pile, you need not fear that your opponent will meld out. However, even in this case, it may pay you to go right out when you take the pile and catch him with all his cards unmelded.

CHILD'S SULKY SPELLS WORRIED HER UNTIL . . .

If your child has moody, cross, irritable spells for what seems to be no reason, watch for "hidden" constipation. Oftentimes, youngsters' bowels, altho moving regularly, do not move completely. As a result, harmful wastes remain in the intestines, making the child listless, peevish and not feeling like eating. What may be needed is Children's Own Tablets. They help give the thorough evacuation that quickly helps make most children feel like their usual happy selves. Pleasant tasting, small, easy to swallow, Children's Own Tablets are especially prepared for kids from 2 to 12. Only 75c at your druggist. Get a box today.

Model Pat Hall Reads Good Books But Shape Counts

By GLORIA YARBROUGH.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Pat Hall, probably California's most photographed model, has made herself famous with skimpy French swimsuits and one of the most enviable bodies in Hollywood.

A brown-haired, green-eyed gal, Pat has a nice but average face. She is of medium height, 5 feet 5 inches, weighs an ordinary 115. But it's the way those pounds are distributed that makes Pat distinctive.

The brief garb in which Pat poses artfully shows off her perfect proportions. The measurements? Bust 35 inches, hips 35 inches, and waist 24 inches.

Most Beautiful Legs

Pat's shapely legs have been voted the world's most beautiful by several photographers' associations ((all male, of course) and even her feet have been titled She has decorated thousands of calendars, millions of blotters and advertisements, and scores of magazine covers.

Just a little over two years ago, Pat could hardly get a job. They said she was too fat. Models were supposed to be lean and long. The first assignment handed Pat was modelling maternity wear.

But Pat is shrewd and she was determined to be a model. When a photographer asked her to pose in a swim suit, she brought along one of her own abbreviated suits. After that Pat was in constant demand. Now she has 150 suits as her working wardrobe.

More Healthful.

Pat has no false modesty about posing in such brief wear. She is convinced that the French suit will some day be standard beach wear.

"I think the French suit is more healthful," she said. "Those girdle-type suits hold a girl's figure in and give her a nice line but she isn't using her own muscles. In the French suit she has to rely on herself. Besides, she can get more sun."

Pat, who was born in Aberdeen, Wash., and admits to 23 years, has also established herself as a swim suit designer. She would like to become a movie actress, but so far has played only extra parts.

Pat makes considerably more money than the average secretary. She lives alone in a modest one-room apartment. She shares a kitchen and bath with a couple of other working girls. They take turns scrubbing. She does her own cooking, cleaning, and sewing.

Her figure just happened. She does not diet, even indulges in sweets. She almost always has a box of cookies beside her bed for a quick snack. Her exercise is walking.

Pat plays the piano, dances, and sings. She reads a great deal, most inspirational books. Pressed, she will even quote from them. Her favorite maxim: "Others cannot hurt you. Only you have the power to let them."

What's Right?

You are addressing a letter of condolence to a woman whose husband has just died.

WRONG: Send the letter to Mrs. Sarah Smith.

RIGHT: Use the name she used when her husband was living, Mrs. John Smith.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND RICHARDSON sign the register in St. James Anglican Church at Roseneath after their marriage on Saturday afternoon. The bride is Aureen Isabel Verda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Roseneath.—(Photo by Reid, Campbellford)

3 Sisters, 3 Pupils Assist At Aureen Brown's Bridal

Three sisters and three pupils of the bride, formed the bridal party at a lovely summer wedding on Saturday in St. James' Anglican Church, Roseneath, when Aureen Isabel Verda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown, Roseneath, was married to Mr. Raymond Richardson, only son of Mr. David Richardson and the late Mrs. Richardson of Dartford.

The rector, Canon C. R. Spencer, performed the ceremony. It was a candlelight service and the brass candle holders were brought from County Down, Ireland, in 1831 by the bride's great, great grandmother, Mrs. Joseph White.

Bass altar vases held late summer flowers and the Communion rail was banked with gladioli and asters, the work of the W.A. members.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. J. S. Atkinson, Dartford. The soloist, Miss Ruth Hardy, Dartford, a pupil of the bride sang, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden", preceding the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during signing of the register.

Owing to the illness of the bride's father, she was given in marriage by her god-father, Mr. James L. Timlin. She wore a gown of French lace over white slipper satin.

A Peter-Pan collar finished the neck line, long sleeves came to points over the hands, and the full skirt was gathered into a slim waist. Her finger-tip veil of nylon net with border of French lace, was held in place with a tiara of rhinestones and pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of deep red sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was a gold pendant and chain, an heirloom of the groom's family.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Wilbert Smith, Bailieboro, a sister of the bride, wearing a gown of gaiety blue taffeta, matching Juliet cap and mittens and carrying a nosegay of pink and white carnations and roses.

The bridesmaids were: Miss Nelda Brown, a sister of the bride, wearing American Beauty taffeta and Miss Reta Yule, Dartford, a former pupil of the bride's, wearin, turquoise taffeta, both wearing matching moonstone necklaces, Juliet caps and mittens and carrying nosegays of carnations and roses. Misses Anne Pollock and Rosella Campbell, Dartford, also pupils of the bride, were flower girls. Their dresses were styled identically of orchid and maize taffeta and worn with matching floral headdresses, moonstone necklaces and carrying nosegays of roses.

Mr. Harry Frost, Dartford, was groomsman. Ushers were Mr. Borden Campbell, Dartford, a cousin of the groom and Mr. Wilbert Smith, Bailieboro, brother-in-law of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, her mother receiving in a gown of navy crepe with matching accessories and wearing a corsage of red roses. The groom's sister Mrs. Charles Skinkle of Belleville, was assisting, wearing a navy crepe dress, matching accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

The bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake with pink candles in silver holders, and pink flowers in silver vases. Eighty guests sat down to a luncheon served by three cousins of the bride and three friends, the Misses Eleanor Brown, Roseneath; Audrey White, Colborne; Shirley White, Harwood; Clarice Atkinson, Roseneath; Eileen McCracken, Toronto; Helen Frost, Dartford.

For travelling, the bride chose a tailored suit of American Beauty gabardine with black accessories and wore a corsage of Better-time roses. After their trip the couple will live on the groom's farm near Dartford.

Women's Ward Feeds Panhandler

LLANDUDNO, Wales (Reuters) —The women's ward at Llandudno general hospital has reconciled itself to maintaining permanently a male out-patient—Charlie, a lame seagull.

Admittedly, Charlie is a good patient. In fact, the only things he is concerned with are regular meal hours.

At 5:30 a.m. when early-morning tea is served to all the women patients Charlie appears at the first window of the ward—just behind the bed where the first tray is regularly set down.

He announces his presence with a sharp tap on the window with his beak, and as cups of tea and biscuits are handed out at bed after bed, Charlie repeats his performance at each window in turn and gets his share of the biscuits.

Promptly at 7 p.m. he calls again, on the dot, for supper time and a share of the cake.

6—In Memoriams

HUNT—In loving memory of a dear husband, Bert Hunt, who passed away August 30th, 1948.

O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memories still,
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

—Wife Clara E.

HUTCHINSON—In loving memory of my dear mother, Florence Rea Hutchinson, who passed away August 29, 1949.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
The world's weary troubles and trials are past,
In silence she suffered, in patience she bore,
Till God called her home to suffer no more.

—Sadly missed by her daughter, Beryle Brick.

Could Not Prove Brakes Up To Regulations

Clifton E. Hartwick, McFarlane Ave., was found not guilty in police court Tuesday of a charge of having inadequate brakes, on the grounds that regulations stating what constituted adequate brakes not not been presented and proved during the trial.

The charge was laid as a result of an accident at Hunter and Queen Sts. in which Hartwick's car collided with a car driven by Garfield Baird, 749 Payne Ave.

Baird testified he was driving west on Hunter St. Hartwick, driving north on Queen St., entered Hunter St. and turned east. In turning his left front fender and bumper collided with Baird's left rear fender.

Hartwick said he stopped before entering Hunter St., but swung wide into Hunter St. to drive around a car parked on the Hunter St. near the south-east corner.

He said that before the accident the mechanical brakes on his 1930 model car were in good working order. But after the collision in which his left front wheel had been struck, the brakes were not as good. He said he fixed them himself the next day by tightening the screws on all four wheels two turns each.

Constable William G. Scott who investigated the accident, testified he tried Hartwick's brakes after the accident and found he could push the brake pedal to the floor with little effort.

He said he tried them twice later with a brake tester. On one test the brakes registered 20 per cent and on the second 22 per cent. Brakes which register 35 per cent, he explained, will stop a car travelling 20 miles an hour in 40 feet.

He said he also noticed the car didn't steer well.

Defending Hartwick, T. J. Carley K.C. argued there was nothing in the evidence to prove what the regulations were and what the proper stopping distance was. He said it had also not been proven a proper test had been made according to the regulations.

Duck Season Opens October 7

By NICK NICKELS

Ottawa has recently announced the duck shooting dates for fall sportsmen and, though old timers say that it is getting away to a far too-early start, a cool September may make the dates just about where they should be. No one can predict this fish and game business with any accuracy, so there is no use of getting fighty about any of it.

Very few district shooters will need to go far afield for their autumn sport and there seems little point in giving the various dates in the two bird-zone sections. The Southern section, which includes that part of Ontario south of a line from Parry Sound to Arnprior on the Ottawa River, will be governed by the following regulations.

October 7 to November 30 is the open season for ducks, geese, coots, gallinules and rails. Bag limits for each of the above will be: ducks, seven per day, of which not more than one may be a wood duck; 14 birds in possession at any time; geese, five per day, ten in possession at any time and a total of 25 per season; coots, gallinules and rails, 25 per day.

Woodcock season is from Oct. 2 to Nov. 8, eight per day and 16 in possession at any time. Wilson's snipe may be taken from Oct. 8 to Nov. 1 in the same bag limit quantities.

All migratory birds must be used or disposed of on or before Aug. 31, 1951.

Soil Conservation

TORONTO, Aug. 30 — (CP) — A national program of soil conservation was urged Tuesday by delegates to the conference of provincial agriculture ministers. Marketing, soil conservation and transportation were regarded by the ministers as agriculture's chief problems. Before adjourning, the ministers decided to hold next year's conference at Victoria.

Ex-Oshawa Man Dies

TORONTO, Aug. 30—(CP)—Joseph Milton Fisher, 89, formerly of Oshawa, died Tuesday. Born in Oshawa, he was a son of the late William Fisher, pioneer merchant of that city. Failed To Keep Proper Look Out Found Guilty

Found guilty of a charge of careless driving, Lionel Althouse, Norwood, was fined $10 and $21.60 costs in police court Tuesday.

Althouse was charged following an accident at the edge of Norwood at the junction of King and Mill Sts., with a car driven by George Buck, of Norwood.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., found that Althouse had not been "keeping a proper lookout while making a difficult turn."

Buck said he had been driving north on King St., a narrow gravel road which split just before it reached Mill St., turning east and west into Mill St. with a grass triangle between the two arms.

Just about opposite the south tip of the grass triangle as he started to veer right towards Mill St., Buck saw Althouse's car approaching from the east and start to turn toward him.

Buck stopped his car immediately, but the Althouse car didn't stop in time, the driver wasn't able to straighten out of his turn and hit the left front section of his car.

View Was Poor

He said Althouse could have driven up on the grass and gone past. He himself was as close to the eastern grass edge of the road as he could get. He said his view of Mill St. east of the turn was partly obscured by a group of bushes growing close to the east edge of the road.

Percy Buck, Norwood, a nephew of George Buck, a passenger in his uncle's car, corroborated his uncle's evidence.

Norwood's Constable William D. Parcels said the accident apparently occurred at a point some little distance south of the spot indicated by Buck and at that part of the road it was 20 feet wide, giving plenty of room for two cars to pass. He said a skid mark 61 feet long extended back from Althouse's car around the curve in the road to Mill St.

In his own defence, Althouse said he had been following another car throwing up considerable dust at a distance of about 50 to 60 feet. As he approached the corner, he testified, he was travelling about 25 miles an hour. He followed the other car around the curve in the road off Mill St. entering King St. but couldn't see much because of the dust and the bushes at the side of the road.

He said he was applying his brakes to some extent from the moment he turned off Mill St. and his wheels started to skid. He was half way around the bend before he saw Buck's car about 10 feet away. He jammed on his brakes and tried to turn but wasn't able to avoid a crash.

Warn UK Guard Lifeline See Sub Menace Deadly

By E. S. JOHNSON.

LONDON, Aug. 30 (CP) — The warning "guard the nation's life line" is being sounded again in Britain as it was in the critical days of 1914 and 1939.

Leading the challenge is Sir Arthur Salter, former parliamentary secretary to the ministries of shipping and war transport. He has called on the government for urgent action in building up the country's reserves of food and raw materials in case the present international situation engulfs the world in another war.

In a letter to The Times, Sir Arthur recalled that Britain was brought to the verge of starvation and danger of defeat by submarine blockade in two world wars of the present generation.

It was not only vital that the navy's anti-submarine strength should be increased, but vast stocks of raw materials and foodstuffs should be accumulated at strategic centres in the United Kingdom.

Admits Difficulties

Sir Arthur admitted that financial difficulties in acquiring the materials are greater today than in 1938. He contended, however, that the problem is not insuperable and that reserves stored away could be regarded as the equivalent of foreign exchange.

"If happily, the international tension should lessen, stocks of essential imports would be a safegaurd against our worst danger of unemployment—an inability to buy enough raw materials for our factories," he said.

Supporting the appeal, Earl De La Warr, former Lord Privy Seal, said that powerful drive and inspiration are needed in the country's preparations against the danger of war.

Greater Danger

It is well to remember, he said that Germany in 1939 had only 30 ocean-going submarines and not that many coastal submarines —none able to do more than nine knots. Today Russia had 360 submarines, of which between 100 and 200 could travel at 20 knots under the surface or faster than Britain's merchant ships.

What would be the country's position, he asked, if nad to face attack by more than five times the 1939 number of undersea raiders, many with greater range and double the speed?

"We must hope," he added, "that those responsible for our food and agricultural policy are making all possible preparations to meet this potential danger."

During the last war, buildings used to store Britain's food reserve suffered heavily from enemy bombing. Most of the storage accommodation was then concentrated around the country's principal ports, all priority targets for German raiders.

Those in authority say that the mistake will not recur. Long-range planning, they say, calls for storage plants to be strategically dispersed throughout the country.

Must Signal Intention To Turn Left

Gordon E. Bickell, 473 Mark St., was found guilty in police court Tuesday of a charge of failing to ensure he was not interfering with traffic by making a left turn and not signalling his intention to turn left which involved him in an accident with a motorcycle driven by Gerald Munroe, 17, RR 2, Peterborough. He was fined $5 and $17 costs.

In the accident which took place June 26 about midnight at Hunter and Mark Sts., Munroe received injuries to his head, and bruises on his arms and legs. Munroe's companion riding on the back, James Munro, 287 Park St., had his trousers badly torn but otherwise escaped.

Constable Douglas Farthing, who investigated the accident, said he found the car and motorcycle side by side in line with the west curb of Mark St. The car facing north east was north of the centre of Hunter St. The motorcycle facing south-west was also north of the centre of Hunter St. The right front fender and door of the car were damaged and the frame, front wheel forks and screen of the motorcycle were damaged.

Munroe, the motorcycle driver, said he had been driving west on Hunter St. Approaching Mark St., he saw Bickell's car 100 to 200 feet west of Mark St. He said Bickell gave no signal and he didn't realize Bickell was going to turn left across his path until the car driver was 15 to 20 feet west of Mark St. and he was about at the east crosswalk of Mark St. He realized Bickell was turning when the car's lights shone in his face. He tried to stop and go around the Bickell car, but hit the car's right side.

Bickell told the court he was driving slowly as he approached the intersection. Back about 100 feet he had turned out toward the center line to prepare to turn left. He said he looked both forward, and back through his rear vision mirror. He saw no traffic either way and therefore didn't signal his intention to turn left toward his home. He said he was just about to turn left when he noticed the motorcycle for the first time and jammed on his brakes.

Mediator Found No Confidence Between Parties

OTTAWA, Aug. 30—(CP)—The mediator appointed by the federal government to attempt to bring about a settlement of the railway dispute, reported to the government that there was "almost complete lack of confidence between the parties in the dispute."

This was disclosed Tuesday night in the Commons by Labor Minister Gregg while he was reviewing developments leading up to the railway strike starting Aug. 22.

Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, vice-principal of Queen's University in Kingston, was appointed by the government Aug. 18 to act as mediator and to attempt to bring about a settlement. He met with the unions and the railway Aug. 19, 20 and 21, but was unable to bring about an agreement.

Work Made Hard

In a memorandum to the government outlining what transpired at the meetings, Dr. Mackintosh said his work was made extraordinarily difficult by:

1. The almost complete lack of confidence between the parties to the dispute.

2. The number and variety of the unions—17 are involved in the strike—which were attempting to bargain as one unit.

3. The very low level of effectiveness of collective bargaining in the industry.

4. The fact that the rapidly approaching menace of the strike created confusion between genuine bargaining and attempts to make statements of positions before the work stoppage took place.

Mr. Gregg departed from his prepared text to pay tribute to the job done by Dr. MacIntosh. The fact that no agreement had been reached did not detract in any way from the work done by Dr. Mackintosh.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel — And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 35¢ at any druggists.

Russian States Fighting Shatter Church

By ROBERT PETTY

BERLIN, Aug. 30 —(Reuters)—A church vs. state battle is being fought in the Russian zone of Germany where the Communists are trying to wipe out Roman Catholics and Protestants alike.

Although the battle is being fought just as relentlessly as in Russia's other satellites, the spectacular blows are lacking.

Instead, the Communists are trying to undermine the two main churches, Catholic and Protestant, in much the same way as the Nazis used to:

1. Forcing the people to accept materialism as the exclusive state doctrine.

2. "Educating" schoolchildren in an anti-Christian doctrine.

3. Driving people, particularly the young, into mass movements where they are cut off from religious influence.

4. Confining religious life to services within the walls of the churches.

No Periodicals

5. Preventing the churches from publishing freely their own periodicals and from receiving similar periodicals from outside East Germany.

East-German politicians are trying to crush the power of the church by isolating the leadership and splitting the rank and file. Thus far they have had little success, though a highly-placed spokesman of the Evangelical Church admitted recently that "about 80 renegade parsons" have told the East-German government they are willing to co-operate with the new "democracy."

The church has attempted disciplinary action against these clergymen. But it has always been foiled by the government, which has announced it will protect, maintain in office and pay "from funds diverted from state subsidies" all "progressive" clergymen persecuted for their views.

This group of pro-Communist clergy is seen here as the nucleus of a state-controlled organization with which the government hopes finally to shatter the authority of the Catholic and Protestant churches.

St. Catharines Boy Best Public Speaker

TORONTO, Aug. 30 — (CP) — Patrick Schumacher, of St. Catharines, won the $35 first prize in a day-long public speaking competition at the Canadian National Exhibition Tuesday.

He spoke for three minutes on "The Home, Citadel of the Community." A total of 52 boys and girls competed.

Sandra Watson, Woodstock, won the $30 second prize and the $25 third prize went to Mary-Loue Elliott, Agincourt.

Those Taking Courses Want Higher Pay

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug. 30 (CP)—Teachers with university degrees who have taken extra courses should be entitled to pay increases, governors of the Ontario Teachers' Federation decided Tuesday at their annual meeting here.

The governors decided to make further tests in other parts of the province of an experiment initiated last year at Sault Ste. Marie, where representatives of the school staff met every month with school trustees, industrialists, trade union representatives and home and school clubs to discuss teaching problems.

Paudash Church One Year Old

APSLEY, Aug. 30 —(ENS)—St. John's United Church, Paudash Lake, held its first anniversary service on Sunday evening.

The bright new church was made beautiful with cut flowers and potted plants.

The guest speaker was the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church, Peterborough. Mr. Dalley of Toronto, who was the pianist during the summer months played the piano for hymns and special numbers. Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Dalley sang solos.

A quartette composed of Mesdames Dalley and Hassell, Messrs. Ross and Calquhoun, sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "Whispering Hope."

The United States National Anthem was sung in honor of the visitors from that country.

Mr. Henry Hunter had installed a loud speaker system to be used had weather been favorable for an overflow congregation. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. K. Gordon of Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. G. Young of Peterborough and a number from Apsley.

55 On Plane Killed Near Cairo

10 Others Missing On RAF Craft Over China Sea

CAIRO, Aug. 31—A Trans-World Airline Constellation plane carrying 55 persons, 23 of them Americans, crashed and burned today north of Cairo, killing all aboard.

The airline announced there were no survivors among the 48 passengers and seven crew members. Reports from the scene said the plane was so badly burned that only a small section of it remained intact.

The bodies of the victims, many of them notables and representing a dozen countries, were so badly charred that identification at once was impossible.

Officials of the district governor's office in Behaira Province placed the scene of the crash near Etay Baroud, about 75 miles northwest of Cairo. Eyewitnesses said they saw the big four-engine "Star of Maryland" plummet to earth in flames.

Hope Dashed

Earlier the district governor's office had held out hope that six of those aboard had survived, but this was dashed by messages direct from the scene, to which rescue teams had been rushed as soon as a TWA search plane spotted the wreckage in the Nile delta area. TWA said the bodies are being removed by plane to Cairo.

Five of the crew of seven aboard the plane, bound from Bombay, India, to Rome, were Americans, and the remainder represented 11 other nationalities.

Two passengers were Indian nationals en route to a United Nations meeting in Paris. Another passenger was the Egyptian movie star Lilianne Cohen, whose screen name is Camelia. She is known as "The Lana Turner of the Middle East."

Reported Overdue

The plane left Cairo for Rome at 1:30 a.m. today. It was last heard from at 1:57 a.m. First indication that it had crashed came

Aussie Troops Reach Japan

TOKYO, Aug. 31 (AP).—Australian infantrymen, on their way to join United Nations forces in Korea, flew into Japan today.

They are the first contingent of the Australian expeditionary force. Their number was not reported.

A spokesman for the commonwealth occupation forces declined to comment on when they would go to the front.

In the Philippines, where the party stopped enroute from Australia, the group was described as the third section of Australian units, indicating two others already had reached Japan.

Rule Deaths Accident On Burning Cruiser

TADOUSSAC, Que., Aug. 31—(CP).—A coroner's jury Wednesday night deliberated but briefly before returning a verdict of accidental deaths in the cases of six and possibly seven victims of the Aug. 14 fire aboard the cruise ship Quebec.

The verdict exonerated the 150 member crew of the St. Lawrence river ship that was razed by an afternoon blaze while sailing 20 miles west of this town at the mouth of the Saguenay river.

Eight witnesses gave lengthy evidence during the five-hour inquest.

Dead aboard the ship were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Shapiro of town of Mount Royal, a Montreal suburb, and their son, Leonard; Mrs. Pickens Smith McCollum of Clemson, S. C., Gertrude Taub of Tarryton, N. Y. Missing and presumed dead are Dr. P. S. McCollum, Mrs. McCollum's husband, and Eva Taub.

Believe Britain Ready To Join

LONDON, Aug 31 (Reuters)—Britain has softened her attitude on the Schuman plan to merge European coal and steel industries and now is prepared to discuss preliminary details, usually well-informed quarters said Wednesday.

These quarters said the government is hoping for an invitation to the Schuman plan conference opening in Paris today.

Since Britain's original refusal to take part in the scheme, official opinion here has, it is understood, undergone a significant change.

The government still feels unable to become a full member of the merger and to surrender sovereign control of the coal mining and steel industries to a supra-national authority.

Practical Proposition

But now it is clear that the creation of a merger is a practicable proposition, and plans to set up the organization are going ahead, British official opinion has become willing and anxious to have some link with the new organization.

It is believed Britain feels there might be scope for co-operation on the marketing side.

Red Occupation Forces To Quit East Germany

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 31—(Reuters)—Draft of a peace treaty between Russia and East Germany, said to have been handed over by the Soviet envoy in Berlin Aug. 14, was published today in detail by the newspaper Die Welt. The draft provided for the withdrawal of Soviet occupation forces within six months of the conclusion of the treaty.

Validity of the treaty would, according to Die Welt, extend to the whole of Germany, Russia thus joining the East-German zone in demanding withdrawal of Western occupation forces and the end of the occupation of Berlin.

According to the paper, work on the draft started a year ago. Its text has been approved by the council of ministers of the Soviet Union, and it was handed to the East-German foreign ministry by Soviet Ambassador to East Germany, Gregory Pushkin.

Walter Ulbricht, deputy East-German premier, received the German text Aug. 16.

Main Provisions

Main provisions of the draft were listed as:

Mothers Fail 3 Soldiers Hang

FAYID, Suez Canal oZne, Aug. 31 (Reuters)—Three young British soldiers were hanged today as the first flush of dawn appeared in the desert sky.

As their mothers, 100 miles away in Cairo, watched the dawn through red-rimmed eyes, they knew that their fight for the sons' lives had ended in failure.

All night long they had hoped some last-minute miracle would save their boys—a pardon for at least one, perhaps two of the condemned youths, but none came.

The mothers were flown from Britain to see their sons before the execution. They will be flown back today.

The three condemned men Gnrs. R. E. Smith, 37, and J. L. Golby, 29, and Driver F. E. Hensman, 22, were convicted by an army court-martial of murdering an Egyptian watchman at a car garage in Cairo April 9.

Juliet, Child-Bride Elephant In Rome Tries For New Record With Second Baby

ROME, Aug. 31—(AP)—Juliet, the child-bride elephant of Rome's zoo, is expecting her second baby any hour.

She stands on the threshold of setting another animal world record—but she's getting no sympathy from her family.

Her giant mate Romeo romps blissfully in the next pen, grabbing every peanut he can from 1,000 daily visitors to the zoo.

Their record-breaking, two-year-old daughter Roma, frivolous to the point of disrespect, is carrying on a flirtation with a hippopotamus.

Juliet, alone now in her hour of trial, began setting records when she gave birth to Roma at the tender age of 14. Most elephants wait at least until they are 18.

Daughter Roma made her parents famous merely by staying alive. Of 15 elephant babies in Europe in the last 120 years, only Roma survived.

Continued Wet Spell Threatens UK Crops

LONDON, Aug. 31 (CP).—Incessant rains within recent weeks accompanied by unseasonably cold weather, have raised fears of crop failure in many sections of the British Isles.

Rains have turned fields into quagmires and halted harvesting operation. Earlier in the season thousands of acres of grain were flattened by rain, hail and wind.

In some districts the situation was described as the worst in 15 years. Conditions are worst in southwest England, where even the hay is ungathered.

Farmers said only a long stretch of sunny weather could save the harvest in many districts.

Lift Controls On Long Import List

New Relaxations Become Effective Beginning of October

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—(CP)—Canada today announced a sharp reduction in import controls on United States goods, restricted because of a dollar shortage. The new relaxations become effective Oct. 1.

Canada will open the door to the unrestricted flow of such items as pulp and paper products, office machinery and appliances and passenger automobile tires. They have been banned since the beginning of 1948.

Included in this list also will be such items as domestic water heaters, cigaret lighters, ash trays, vases, pencil sharpeners, dry cell batteries, and watch straps and bracelets.

Pork and pork products, allowed into Canada on a government permit only, will become completely relaxed December 31. The plan is a two-way affair and will mean that the United States will lift the embargo against the import of Canadian bacon and other pork products at the same time.

In the joint announcement by the Trade and Finance Departments, a group of items which previously had been allowed into Canada on a limited quota basis, now also will be able to move into Canada completely unrestricted on October 1.

Most Important Items

The most important items in this group are textile fabrics, soaps, polishes, glassware, kitchen and household hollow-ware and cooking and heating equipment.

Another relaxation move, from the completely-prohibited category to the quota group, also was made. This will mean imports in limited amounts of such items as cut flowers, perfumery and toilet preparations, electric light fixtures, flashlights, electric irons and dry shaving machines, jewellery, fountain pens and pencils, and electric mixers, heating pads and fans.

In a departure from government policy, the department announced that 5 of the current 93 capital-goods items under quota will be removed entirely from control.

The capital-goods items absorbed the biggest part of Canada's dollar expenditures in the United States.

Free of Controls

Made free from these controls are such items as certain chemicals, building stone, road-paving machinery and railway equipment. All of these items are needed in Canada's construction program.

Also included on this list of relaxations are the fire engines,

CCF Questions Korean Effort

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP).—The CCF threw a series of probing questions at the government on Canada's Korean War effort today.

In a buildup to Commons debate on a Bill to authorize the raising of the special force for Korea or elsewhere, three CCF members placed questions on the order paper, one of them seeking information on what sort of army aid Canada was asked to give.

The questioner, Percy Wright (CCF-Melfort), a war veteran, said he figures Canada's Korean effort has been "pretty slow." He told a reporter his questions are designed to find out as much as possible of the background for that effort.

The Army's special force has already recruited its complement of men—more than 8,200—except for some specialists and tradesmen. Informed quarters say it should be ready to fight in five or six months and that it may well finish its training in Japan.

Mr. Wright asked if Canada has received any requests for graund aid in Korea, how many troops were asked, who made the request, when and what Ottawa replied.

11 Hurt On Train

LAMPASAS, Tex., Aug. 31 (AP)—A speeding Santa Fe streamliner left the rails in the pre-dawn darkness near here today. Deputy Sheriff Henry Cunningham said eleven were hurt. Cunningham said no one was killed and that it appeared none of the injured was in critical condition. The Deputy said two sleepers and three or four coaches left the tracks, and that only the engine and baggage car held to the rails.

U.S. Tanks Help Throw Back Reds At Pohang

TOKYO, Sept. 1 —(Friday)—(CP)—U.S. tanks and troops today threw back a Communist offensive against Pohang, east coast anchor of the Korean battleline.

Reuters News Agency said that the Americans, fighting alongside South Koreans, won back three miles of territory which the North Koreans had acquired in the bloody battle north of Pohang.

Another report of the advance came from a U.S. army photographer who accompanied the Allied attack. He said it had carried beyond an enemy road-block which had held up the counter-attack Thursday.

To the east of Pohang ,however, North Korean troops were reported by Reuters to have knocked a hole in South Korean defences around Uihung, and pushed south about three miles.

The Pohang fighting highlighted activities along the 120-mile defence line, which has thwarted the Communists' efforts to drive United Nations forces out of Korea by midnight Thursday—the deadline set by Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea.

Planes Slow Drive

Huge American tanks, supported by aircraft and the fire from Allied battleships, helped check the desperate drive of 26,000 North Koreans on Pohang.

The Americans threw 26 tanks of 43-ton size into the fray, pushing the Communists from hill positions into a deep valley where aircraft bombed them and raked them with machine-gun fire.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early today said Allied forces had advanced within 500 yards of the point where the enemy attacked toward Pohang Aug. 30.

A thousand North Koreans were killed or wounded in eight hours in a desperate Red effort to grab mere inches of the wrecked outskirts of the port city on the Sea of Japan.

The Air Force alone claimed 1,200 Communists killed in two days.

Reckless spending of men's lives moved the Communists within three miles of the city. But they were far behind schedule—to kick United Nations troops clear out of Korea by the target time of midnight tonight.

A staff officer at Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters said stout resistance by South Korean units balked the Reds before Pohang, the Allies' No. 2 port and supply city.

St. Laurent Introduces New Amendments To Soften Provisions For Labor Groups, Arbitration Modified

OTTAWA, Aug. 31—(CP)—The rail strike is over. Canada's trains are rolling again. Transportation on 40,000 miles of steel and the clicking of the country's telegraph keys are heading back toward normal after the official end of the nine-day paralysis of these vital services. The crippling stoppage of the trains and other railway services, called Aug. 22 to enforce wage-hour demands of 124,000 employees, was ended at 10.15 p.m. EDT last night after parliament passed a government back-to-work bill at its emergency session.

At that hour, Frank H. Hall and A. R. Mosher, co-leaders in the strike, delivered a radio broadcast to their members across the country to get back to work as quickly as possible and definitely within the 48-hour deadline set in the parliamentary measure.

Back On Service

Regular passenger and freight trains in Canada were back in operation by noon, EDT, today, Montreal headquarters of the two major rail lines reported.

That was less than ten hours after Federal legislation directed an end of the nine-day paralyzing strike.

Throughout the night hurried preparations were put in smooth working order to get traffic moving again.

Railway and commercial telegraph offices were manned by operators soon after union officials announced the end of the strike. In railway yards locomotive boilers were fired and switch engines shunted cars about to line them into trains.

Canadian National Railways reported all its regular trains operating into and out of Montreal were started on schedule.

Transcontinental trains on both systems began normal operations. Those that were on their runs when the strike was called remained at the divisional points where they had stopped until their regular departure time from those points.

Many trains will run in extra sections Friday and there will be the usual increase in service for the Labor Day holiday.

Move Quickly

End of what was perhaps Canada's most costly strike came, not unexpectedly, just 19 minutes after the government measure directing the workers to get back on the job had become law through vice-regal assent.

Think Malan Winning Overwhelming Victory

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Aug. 31 (AP)—Incomplete results from Wednesday's elections in the territory of Southwest Africa indicated today that the Nationalist Party of South Africa's Prime Minister D. F. Malan was sweeping to an overwhelming victory.

Of 13 constituencies reporting in the southwest legislate assembly race, the Nationalists won 12

Four Soldiers Killed By Mortar Blast

PETAWAWA MILITARY CAMP, Aug. 31 (CP)—A mortar bomb explosion at the big weapon range here today killed four soldiers and injured four others.

Three were members of the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, one of the battalions which form part of the special brigade which may see action in Korea.

Names were withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

Army official said the explosion occurred about noon. Members of the First Battalion of the R.C.R.'s were training Second Battalion soldiers in two-inch mortar drill when the explosion occurred.

The bomb was believed to have exploded prematurely when inserted in the barrel.

Orders Inquiry

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, officer commanding Central Command which has jurisdiction over Petawawa immediately ordered a court of inquiry. Petawawa, one of the biggest army camps in Canada, is about 100 mile snorthwest of Ottawa.

The four soldiers, three of them privates of the Second Battalion and the other a corporal of the First Battalion, were believed killed immediately.

The other four, who had been kneeling and lying near the weapon, were taken to Petawawa Military Hospital. Hit by flying shrapnel, one of them is believed to be in critical condition. Two others are considered seriously injured. The other was only slightly hit.

Three Injured Near Brighton

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 31—(CP)—Three Galt residents were injured and admitted to hospital here Wednesday following a highway collision near Brighton.

The injured are Leslie Voinich, 32, John Armstrong, 26, and his wife, Ruth, 20.

With Armstrong at the wheel, the westbound Galt car crashed into the rear of a second vehicle which had stopped for a highway construction company flagman. The three persons in the Armstrong vehicle were thrown into the windshield by the impact.

Occupants of the other car, driven by Archie Gillies of Timmins, were uninjured.

Bribe Guards, Prisoners Live Life Of Ease Get Liquor, Narcotics In Chicago Jail

CHICAGO, Aug. 31—(AP)—Some prisoners at the big Cook County (Chicago) jail, says State's Attorney John S. Boyle, have been getting women, liquor, narcotics and fine food—by paying a few dollars to the right person.

Boyle termed the jail "rotten from top to bottom," and said a grand jury will investigate the "shocking conditions." Boyle had received a report from an assistant, James Condon, who has been investigating jail conditions since an escape plot was thwarted last month.

Col. Chester L. Fordney, the jail warden, said "conditions are not as bad as the state's attorney thinks." However, it was "no secret" that narcotics and other items, knives, razor blades and hypodermic needles—have been smuggled into the jail. He denied that prisoners held trysts with women.

Boyle, a Democrat, said Condon told him that prisoners, by paying $3 to a guard or a trusty, have entertained women visitors in a "consultation" cell near the main entrance.

Porter Orders Contract Of Teacher Continued

TORONTO, Aug. 31—(CP)—Education Minister Porter has directed that the contract of Margaret Rodd as teacher at Mallorytown Continuation School is to be continued in force.

He acted on the report of a Board of Reference which considered whether a letter of dismissal Miss Rodd received from the eastern Ontario school was legal. The Board of Reference decided unanimously in favor of the teacher. The Minister directed that the School Board pay the costs of the case.

Judge D. E. Lewis of Brockville was chairman of the Board of Reference. W. H. Herrington of represented the School Board and F. R. Rutherford was the teacher's representative.

Rival Port To Hamburg Built By Reds On Baltic

BERLIN, Aug. 31—(AP)—East German Communists, envious of the bustling western port of Hamburg, are building up a rival shipping centre on the Baltic coast. The government's slowly-unfolding five-year plan for the Russian zone, it is learned, calls for 100-per-cent expansion of the city of Rostock.

New shipyards and a chain of industrial enterprises are contemplated within the next two years. Rostock now has a population of 115,000. The goal for 1955 is 250,000.

Rostock, first German city to be hit by British bombers when the Second World War broke out, still bears the scars of Allied attacks. The rubble-clearing job is completed but little new construction has been undertaken since 1945.

The East German ministry for construction, which will bear much of the load of the five-year plan, has approved plans for the pretentious expansion.

Plan Huge Harbor

According to East German authorities, a huge harbor is to be constructed along with the Warnow shipyards where pre-war German freighters were built.

Ocean-front mills, cranes, furnaces and repair shops will stretch more than five miles down to the suburb of Warnemuende, a former peacetime play spot for wealthy East Germans.

The Communists, following a pattern set by their Soviet overlords, propose to preserve the Warnemuende beach and resort facilities for party faithfuls and specially selected "activities" from industrial plants.

Hard work in the factory and loyal attendance at party meetings will yield a high class vacation at Warnemuende at working-class prices.

Gulf Hurricane Quiets Down

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31 (AP)—The New Orleans weather bureau Wednesday night reported a Gulf hurricane moving inland about 30 miles northeast of Mobile, Ala., but hours later observers in the area could find only small evidence of powerful, battering winds.

Chief known damage was at Apalachicola, Fla., and that was from tornado—apparently an offshoot of the hurricane. The tornado injured two persons and wrecked 12 homes.

The weather bureau's early advisory this morning said "the remnant of the Gulf hurricane is moving rapidly northward about 25 m.p.m. over Western Alabama."

At that time the disturbance was reported by the bureau as about 70 miles southwest of Birmingham, Ala.

The advisory said the wind was accompanied by rain squalls which will spread to Northern Mississippi and Alabama today.

Vessels off the extreme northwest Florida coast were advised to exercise caution during the next 12 to 18 hours.

"There isn't any explanation for the fact the hurricane did not do as would be expected," said a forecaster, "except that hurricanes are by nature freakish things."

Investigators were dispatched to the scene at once, by the airline and the civil aviation department. The civil aeronautics bureau in Washington also dispatched two investigators to the scene.

The loss of 55 lives would make the crash one of the most disastrous in world commercial aviation history. The heaviest death toll in American commercial aviation was exacted last June 24, when 58 persons died in a Northwest Airlines plane crash in Lake Michigan. The heaviest toll in commercial airline history was March 12 this year, when 80 persons died in the crash of a transport near Cardiff, Wales.

Plane Missing

SINGAPORE, Aug. 31 (Reuters).—R.A.F. headquarters here tonight said an R.A.F. DC-3 Courier aircraft with 10 persons aboard is missing over the South China Sea.

The plane left Singapore early today for Saigon, Indo-China, 525 miles away, and was last in radio touch with her base 90 minutes after takeoff when she reported all well.

Headquarters said there was a crew of five and five passengers.

British and French planes searched the sea area where the plane was thought to have come down.

Russ Writer Finds London Gloomy Spot

LONDON, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Ilya Ehrenburg, one of Russia's leading journalists, has returned to Moscow with some gloomy impressions of his recent visit to London.

Describing his experiences in an article appearing in Pravda, Community party organ, he says he found London streets dim, the shops drab, the people shabbier and still living on their ration cards.

"This," he says, "gives no credit to the government which would prefer to supply bombs on the heads of the Koreans and Malayans rather than sugar to the ordinary Englishman.

munists had set 6 a.m. Wednesday as a new deadline for taking the city which they won and lost again 10 days ago.

Jellied-gasoline bombs, rockets and machine-gun bullets were poured into the Pohang besiegers by United States and Australian planes.

The crucial battle gained impetus at 2 a.m. Thursday (noon EDT Wednesday) by an attack by 26,000 Red troops.

It took them all day to gain only a few yards against the weary South Koreans and Americans.

Only a few hours before big American Pershing tanks and United States infantrymen helped the South Koreans push back the Communists a mile or more. The Communists had been within rifle shot of the port.

A companion drive from the north-west was bogged at Kigye, nine miles away from Pohang.

No Gains at Kigye

In hours of bitter fighting the Communists had not gained at Kigye.

South Korean forces weathered a smashing artillery attack to stave off the northwestern approach. They still held the hills outside of Kigye which control the roads to Taegu, prize city to the west along the 120-mile-long front.

The Far East air forces said 700 dead North Koreans were found heaped west of Kigye by advancing troops.

Five hundred more were killed by planes Wednesday.

The battle was so close and so bitter that an advance of a few yards, gained behind constant strafing planes, was a margin in favor of the advancing infantrymen.

Magnificent Stand

The magnificent stand of the South Koreans was particularly galling to the Communists. Their commander-in-chief, Premier Kim Il Sung, told them two weeks ago to wipe out the allies by the end of August.

Fighting flared at three other points along the nearly-square perimeter in southeastern Korea.

American troops swept forward from defence positions at Waegwan and Changnyong, northwest of Taegu, in the heart of the fighting country.

On the southern coast ridges they smashed ahead.

Only in the Waegwan fighting did the Americans falter There, AP correspondent Don Huth reported, they stalled after smashing up a steep hill.

The United States Eighth Army assessed the whole war situation as sound. But it did express concern over the Pohang battle, which could loose heavy Red force against Taegu or Pusan, the principal southeastern seaport 65 miles below the east-coast city.

Supreme Effort

Hour by hour it became more apparent this was the supreme Communist effort. Their forces built up along the battleline to 150,000 men.

Allied reinforcements trickled in. A batch of Australians flew into Japan Wednesday on their way to the front. British infantrymen—1,500—landed in Korea on Tuesday. Other U.N. members have promised forces.

While the battlefields roared, the Peiping Communist radio once more accused America of sending planes on bombing raids into Manchuria. The charge was denied emphatically by the United States Air Force.

Order Men

This came after it had received a stormy passage through the Commons, where it was amended to make its terms easier on the union men, and then had been whipped through the Senate.

Earlier, the unions' negotiating chiefs had announced that they would obey a work directive and, with the bill in its late stages Wednesday, said they would call off the strike as soon as it became law. This they did.

The final action authorizing Mr. Hall and Mr. Mosher to get the 124,000 strikers back to work came at a meeting of heads of 15 international unions—with 90,000 members—and two Canadian unions—with 34,000 members—held just after the Commons had given final passage to the government's bill.

Get Amendments

Final passage of the bill left the labor chiefs relatively happy, since new amendments introduced by Prime Minister St. Laurent during the day softened provisions as far as labor is concerned.

And in their broadcast, they told members that they had made "distinct gains" in the legislation from the point at which negotiations with the railways were broken off Saturday night last.

Impact of the strike was growing each hour, Prime Minister St. Laurent told the Commons yesterday, and other members said prolongation of the stoppage could bring on national disaster.

The government's legislation, introduced Tuesday night after the opening of the special emergency session to deal with the situation, called for the strikers to go back to work within 48 hours after passage.

Modify Compulsion

It contains a clause calling for compulsory arbitration of differences between the railways and unions, but this was modified considerably from its original form, going along to some extent with the views of the striking unions.

In its final form, the measure ensures that the employees and the railways must go at least as far in their final settlement offers as they offered in the negotiations that broke down last Saturday night. Also, the workers get a four-cents-an-hour wage increase on their return to work, which cannot be scaled down by the government arbitrator who might be called in later.

The four cents is applicable to hotel and water-transport employees of the railway companies, who were excluded in the railways' bargaining from the general terms of settlement offered to the men in negotiations. An increase of two cents an hour was proposed for them by the companies, against four for the other and larger group of employees.

The Prime Minister indicated to the Commons Wednesday that the government view would be that the hotel-water employees should be in the general settlement, and he pointed out that the bill gives them the four-cent increase anyway, without the arbitrator having power to scale that figure down.

Points Left

As the disputants are left now they are to negotiate these major points:

1. The railways offer the five-day, 40-hour week as of Sept. 1, 1951, with no loss in the take-home pay of the present 48 hours. The unions want that set-up as of June 1, 1951, though they would concede a three months' "transitional period" in which no overtime would be paid up to 48 hours a week.

2. Railways offer an increase of four cents an hour starting tomorrow. The unions want seven cents, going back to June 1 last.

3. The question of inclusion of the hotel and water-transport employees in a general settlement which apparently is not yet settled.

Wednesday's Commons manoeuvering on the measure saw a variety of amendments tacked on or proposed for the government emergency bill in a day of confusing developments.

P.C. Amendments

Two Progressive Conservative amendments were beaten back.

One of these would have scrapped the government bill altogether and substituted a measure putting in a national administrator of the railways pending a settlement through free collective bargaining.

A second would have knocked out the clause in the bill laying down compulsory arbitration in the event of failure of the railways and the unions to reach a settlement in the prescribed period. This period, as finally decided by the House, is 30 days, though it may be extended by the government at the joint request of both parties.

A CCF amendment which was defeated would have gone along with the Progressive Conservative idea of a national administrator but circumscribed the area of negotiations into the field left when railway-union talks broke off.

Perhaps the first train to roll in Canada following the strike's end was the CPR's No. 348 which left Moose Jaw, Sask., 10.35 p.m. MDT, two hours and 20 minutes after the Hall-Mosher broadcast. It travelled the 30 miles east to Regina in an hour. It had one paying passenger. Other travellers were railway men bound for Regina to work on trains leaving that city later.

Surprising Speed

The speed with which the railways got back into their stride surprised many. It had been widely predicted that 24 hours would be the minimum time required to get trains into operation. But by midnight in the Eastern Time zone, earlier in Western regions, the great rail yards hummed with activity as locomotives were made ready for service and cars hooked together.

Veteran railway men vied for the honor of being the first back on the road. Engineer M. J. Taggart claimed to be the first in Eastern Canada. He piloted "Big Bertha," a great 12-wheeler, out of a Toronto roundhouse at midnight EDT in readiness for her regular morning run to Buffalo. But other engineers possibly could make similar claims; there was no way of telling, so swift was the return to work.

An official said the relaxations likely will spark the flow of millions of dollars of additional goods into Canada. They also will act as an anti-inflationary move. The greater availability of goods would lead to a greater scramble for the consumer's dollar.

Reserves Improve

Finance Minister Abbott, commenting on the relaxations, pointed out that the Canadian gold and US dollar reserves—now well over $1,200,000,000 — have improved steadily during the last six months.

If this improvement continued, he said, and barring other unforeseen circumstances, he could look forward to further relaxations, or indeed to the complete suspension of all remaining emergency import controls.

He also noted that the current easing of controls would mean that there no longer would be any complete prohibitions of any United States goods and that the scope of those allowed in on quota would be reduced by about one-half.

Not Completely Prohibited

Still remaining on Schedule I —prohibited list—would be comics and "pulp" magazines, printed or manufactured soft synthetic sheeting, pleasure boats with inboard power, ornaments, punch boards and pinball games and coin-operated vending and amusement devices.

"Even these, however," said Mr. Abbott, "will not be completely prohibited but will be importable freely from non-scheduled (non-dollar) countries, and may also be imported from scheduled (dollar) countries by those who have quota permits."

The government also announced that 1951 quota permits covering the 50 capital-goods items still remaining under permit-control will be increased throug. these means:

1. Unused balances of 1950 allotments may be carried over into 1951, if a request is made to the trade department and the reason given is considered good.

2. Allotment permits to dealers in 1951 will be increased by 20 per cent.

3. Consideration by the trade department to any request to increase permits for production materials and component parts for manufacturers. Otherwise permits in this category will be issude at the 1950 rate, that is, about 75 per cent of the value of the U.S. imports in the 1946-47 base year.

Suspension of practically all fabrics from the quota list leaves under permit regulation only such items as wearing apparel, blankets, knit goods, hats and caps, floor covering, furs and fur garments.

Prices Roll Upwards On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Aug. 31 —(CP)—Prices rolled upwards for a fourth successive session on the Toronto stock exchange today. The market opened on an easier tone but support appeared quickly and market leaders were carried well ahead. Volume for the first three hours was 1,055,000 shares.

Leading industrial stocks climbed further into new high price ground on gains ranging from fractions to two points. Traders were wary during the country-wide rail strike but the end of the strike gave them renewed confidence and demand increased.

Papers, continued leading the advance with steels, foods, utilities and banks following. Liquors turned lower. National Breweries dropped $7 at $22 following news that the company's had cut the dividend in half.

Base metals also continued ground. Consolidated Smelters their climb into fresh price ground. Consolidated Smelters boomed to a new high at 114⅝ and International Nickel, Steep Rock Iron Mines and Waite Amulet were under heavy accumulation.

Western oils firmed in irregular dealings. National Petroleum slumped sharply. Junior golds added pennies and seniors were mixed.

Veteran Communist Army Commander

TOKYO, Aug. 31 (AP). —A veteran North Korean Communist was identified by one of Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officers today as the field commander of the Red army in Korea.

He is Marshal Choi Yung kun. The 47-year-old marshal holds his field position under Premier Kim Il sung commander-in-chief of the Red forces.

Between 1941 and 1945 he served with the Korean volunteer army under the Chinese Communists, fighting Japanese in Manchuria.

He returned to Korea with the Russians at the end of the Second World War and became head of the "Department of Public Safety." He was given his present job in 1947.

Stone Age Village

BORGHOLM, Sweden —(CP)—Excavation near here of a stone age village about 4,000 years old is the first trace of communal habitation of that era found in this district. Relics include ceramics, necklaces, fish hooks, stone axes, etc.

Wheat Flour Drops

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP). — Canada millers produced 20,303,871 barrels of wheat flour during the 1949-50 crop year ended July 31, a little below the 20,379,997 barrels produced the previous year, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

Child's Leg Broken When Car Reversed

Five-year-old Vernon Girard, 532 Brioux Ave. had his left leg broken when he was hit by a car backing out of a lane, driven by S. J. May, 23 Elm St., Stoney Creek, Wednesday about six p.m.

The youngster also received internal injuries but St. Joseph's hospital authorities said this morning they were not very extensive and his condition was better.

Police reported the youngster was apparently playing with another child in a puddle in the road near his home.

May was backing his car out of the laneway beside 513 Brioux Ave. when he hit the boy.

Constables Sherman Keliele and Moore-Gough investigated.

Britain's New Plane Most Powerful Jet

LONDON, Aug. 31 (AP)—Britain told the world today about her new Sapphire, the most powerful jet engine yet unveiled to the world.

The manufacturers said the Sapphire is as powerful as four 3,500-horsepower piston engines.

A test pilot said a Meteor jet fighter equipped with two of the engines could "outclimb any other fighter in the world—British, American, or Russian." It is reported the engine can make a fighter climb straight up.

Correspondents saw the engine in action at London airport Thursday but low clouds prevented any such demonstration.

The test pilot said, however, that with only one engine running a Meteor would top 600 miles an hour.

Malik Finishes Term As President

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 31 (AP).—Jakob A. Malik's month as president of the United Nations Security Council ends today.

For the 31 days of August the Russian delegate has used the presidency to hamstring council consideration of the Korean war and explode propaganda blasts against the United States and the other western democracies.

Observers expect him to fire his biggest gun at today's session, but they don't know what he'll use for ammunition. They are sure, however, that Malik will not turn over the chair to Britain's suave Sir Gladwyn Jebb, September president, without one final propaganda barrage.

Malik has indicated he will continue to attend council meetings after his presidency ends. But informed quarters point out that his freedom to obstruct council business will be curtailed with a westerner in the chair.

Two New Items

The Russian Wednesday asked that two new items—"unceasing terrorism and mass executions in Greece," and Red Chinese charges of American bombings in Manchuria—be put on the agenda.

Malik, as council president, is expected to give the floor to Malik, the Soviet delegate, for an elaboration of these charges at today's meeting.

The ensuing wrangling probably will keep the council again from getting down to business on the resolution it is ostensibly discussing—an American motion aimed at localizing the Korean war.

Malik's move to have the council discuss the situation in Greece, where the government suppressed a four-year, Communist-led rebellion last year, took diplomats by surprise.

Will Bring Buckoski To Toronto In 10 Days

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Stanley Buckoski, 27, is expected to be brought here from Los Angeles within 10 days to face charges of murdering Alfred Layng during a holdup of a Toronto groceteria a year ago.

Toronto police said a deportation order probably will be issued within a week.

Buckoski was arrested recently in Los Angeles on charges of housebreaking and of escaping custody.

How We Came to Have Our Alphabet

Human civilization would not be possible if parents and teachers could not transmit to children the knowledge they had gained during their own lifetime. Civilization is built on the accumulation of knowledge acquired through long generations of progress. Man's special genius lies in the fact that he can make symbols which will preserve and transmit the most varied types of knowledge.

In the earliest times his devices for assisting memory were notches in a stick. Later, as with the American Indian, certain arbitrary arrangements of beads were employed—as in wampum—to recall battles, treaties, and other events of high importance to the tribe. There followed a period in which more definite symbols were used for words. These words were called ideographs. For example, if such ideographs were done in English, a drawing of the human eye would represent the word "I". And the language of Egypt, ordinarily known as hieroglyphic, was built on this principle.

It remained for the Semitic people, Hebrews or Phoenicians, to invent an alphabet. The alphabet itself is a testimony to their contribution to human progress. In the Greek language, the first letter of the alphabet is alpha; the second, beta. In the Hebrew the first letter is aleph and the second, beth — and anyone who will compare these alphabets will find that the Greek letters have quite obviously been derived from Hebrew sources. With the alphabet came books —first in manuscript, later in printed form.

More than 80% of our knowledge is derived through the eyes. Without good vision we are cut off from most sources of individual improvement.

Charge: Drunk Dies In Hospital

COBOURG, Aug. 31 —(ENS)—Death disposed of a drunk driving charge against William Rose of Buffalo.

Rose, charged with being intoxicated while in charge of a car on August 20, was rushed to a Toronto hospital with cerebral hemorrhage the next day and died during the weekend.

Brighton provincial police, investigating an accident which occured August 20 north of Brighton, found Rose's car in the ditch and Rose in the car.

Next day before his case could be disposed of in court, the accused complained of feeling dizzy. He was examined in Cobourg General Hospital and was transferred to Toronto.

Recruit For Army

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 —(ENS)—The Canadian Army will have a mobile recruiting team in Campbellford on Tuesday, to recruit for the army active force and also for the Special Force for service with the UN fighting forces.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Albert Ash Celebrate 70th Anniversary

ROSENEATH, Aug. 31—(ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. F. Albert Ash, former residents of this community, will be celebrating their 70th wedding anniversary on Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Fred Gabelman, 18 DeForest Rd., Toronto. Four generations are expected to be present at the quiet family gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Ash are both 91 and are still enjoying a life of activity.

On September 3, 1880, Lucy White, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs. George White of White's Island, Rice Lake, three miles from Roseneath was the bride of Francis Albert Ash, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Ash, Cold Springs. The Rev. M. Moray was the officiating clergyman and the wedding took place in Frank St. Methodist Church, Rochester, New York. They now live with their daughter, Mrs. Fred Gableman. They also have a son, Samuel A. Ash, 504 Annette St., Toronto, whose summer home is at Rolling Banks Rice Lake.

Still "On the Go"

Mrs. Ash is always on the go and likes to crochet in her spare time.

Mr. Ash is a radio fan and follows world news closely. A carpenter by trade, he retired 16 years ago. When a young man, he was a member of the Heavy Battery of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Ash have five great-grandchildren and three grandchildren.

Communist Party Head Arrested In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 31 (AP)—Steven Nelson, chairman of the Communist party of Western Pennsylvania, and two men identified by a former Federal Bureau of Investigation undercover man as his aides, were arrested today.

Nelson, Andrew Onda and James Dolson, all of Pittsburgh, were charged with sedition.

Matthew Cvetic, who was on the FBI payroll for several years while posing as a Communist, has testified that Nelson was an atomic spy on the west coast.

Pinned By Car Woman Dies

WINDSOR, Aug. 31 (CP)—Mrs. Robert Rennie of Windsor was killed today when she was pinned against her auto by another car five miles south of Windsor. Two occupants of the second car, Donald Kelly and Leo Johns, both of Leamington, were injured when their car went into a ditch following the crash.

The accident occurred after Mrs. Rennie had failed to start her car. A tow truck pulled her car onto the highway and she was getting into it when hit by the Leamington car.

Council Dismisses Citizen's Complaint

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 —(ENS) — The town council dismissed a complaint challenging the efficiency of Constable Fred Cargin, Wednesday after debating the contents of a letter from Joseph Brethour of Campbellford.

Mr. Brethour's complaint arose after he reported to the police Aug. 6 that a man had broken into his house and assaulted himself, his wife and daughter.

Constable Cargin took the message but he failed to make an arrest.

After discussing the incident, the council decided to take no action in the matter.

Constable Cargin had been alone on duty when he received the call from Mr. Brethour. Chief Constable George Hardy had taken a day of his holidays, with the consent of the chairman of the police commission, to go out of town.

2 Sudbury Judges Have Been Appointed

SUDBURY, Aug. 31.—(CP).—Two new district judges have been appointed to succeed Judge Edmond Proulx, who is retiring at the age of 75 after almost 21 years of service.

James M. Cooper of Sudbury and Albert St. Aubin of Kirkland Lake, have been appointed senior and junior judges respectively.

Judge Cooper at one time represented Sudbury as a Liberal member in the Ontario Legislature.

Judge St. Aubin practiced law in Windsor and Kirkland Lake for some years. He has lived in the North since 1934.

Chef Drowns

Windsor Strikers Back At Midnight

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 31.—(CP)—Striking railway men of the Canadian National Railways' Windsor-Fort Erie Division went back to work at midnight. C.N.R. trains rolled out of Windsor and Fort Erie at 3 a.m.

The first Wabash railroad train left St. Thomas at 9.30 a.m. for Fort Erie over the C.N.R. line. Freight on this United States railroad regularly operates over the C.N.R. line but during the strike it used the New York Central lines in southwestern Ontario.

"We are really rolling now, and will be back 100 per cent within 24 hours," said one railway official.

Campbellford Wins 9-8 Over Wooler

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 —(ENS).—Al Taylor, who has been out of the Campbellford softball lineup since June 26 due to a foot injury, returned Wednesday night to become a hero. He scored the run which broke an eight-all tie in the ninth inning to give Campbellford a 9-8 victory over Wooler.

Barney MacColl of Wooler hurled against Bruce McComb. Paul O'Sullivan was the most consistent hitter for Campbellford.

This win allowed Campbellford to grab a playoff position.

Not Much Time

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Joseph Laderoute, New York tenor formerly of Sault tSe. Marie, Ont., was scheduled to sing here tonight though he underwent an operation only three days ago.

The singer who had an appendectomy performed on him Monday will wear seven yards of three-inch elastic tape wrapped around him. The tape is to help him with a Mozart Aria at a symphony concert.

Firing The Boss

There is something very amusing about the resolution passed by a meeting of 500 railway employees at Ottawa on Tuesday; they have, it appears, lost confidence in Mr. Donald Gordon as president of the C.N.R. and as a negotiator in the railway strike, and they call upon the Prime Minister to remove him.

• • •

This, of course, is an old employees' dream. Firing the boss! Who would not like to do it? Of course, no single employee can bring it about, but as a gang, with a suggestion of a threat to the government that votes might be made or lost by listening to the gang voice—then it might be achieved. Five hundred people, not one of them capable of doing or perhaps even of comprehending Mr. Gordon's job, want him fired because he will not do as they wish.

• • •

Unions are necessary and often excellent bodies. But there is something childish in their belief that weight of numbers can make up for all other deficiencies. And it is very childish indeed to think that the Government should discharge the head of a national railway because some railway workers do not like him.

• • •

The railway employees who call for Mr. Gordon's dismissal have lost sight of the fact that Mr. Gordon does not run the C.N.R. for a few thousand railway employees, but for the fourteen million people of Canada; it is the people's elected representatives who are Mr. Gordon's employers, and they are the ones who will decide whether he will lose his job or keep it. If the five hundred who dislike Mr. Gordon had said that they would throw up their jobs rather than serve under him their protest might have carried some weight. But a demand for Mr. Gordon's dismissal is just hot air, of the sort which strikers manufacture with the greatest ease.

Airing Propaganda

On Tuesday our front page had a box story: "Russia Opens New Propaganda Drive". It was an account of the blare the U.S.S.R. is making at Lake Success, charging American aggression in Formosa. Next day, on the front page and in the same space, we had another box story: "E.R.P. Balloons Penetrate Iron Curtain". That was an account of the tactics which Americans running E.R.P. are using to get the gospel of western democratic freedom across Communist Europe's borders. It seems that a hundred thousand of these balloons have been sent up from Denmark and Western Germany to drift down on eastern, Red-controlled countries. So while Russia shoots off a lot of hot air which rises and disappears uselessly at Lake Success, the Americans use warm air rising naturally to float their propaganda into forbidden territory. The ways of propaganda are strange, but if balloons can bear messages which will give Communist-dominated peoples of Europe a better opinion of the West, then more power to the balloons. At least the American balloon methods is quieter than the Russians—and more fun.

The 38th Parallel

Barring a major set-back, the U.N. forces in Korea will some day reach the 38th parallel dividing North Korea and South Korea. The United States made war when the North Koreans crossed the 38th parallel. It was invasion by the Reds. When the U.S. troops (now under U.N. aegis) reach the imaginary line, what will they do? If they cross, will they be invading North Korea? Will U.N. continue to authorize their action? If they stop, will the U.S.A. (and U.N.) have to maintain a standing army forever in Korea? How can they stop and at the same time restore South Korea to the South Koreans?

The division of Korea into two parts is unnatural, unfeasible and untenable. It is improbable that the U.S.A., having put its boot in South Korea, can keep out of the North. When the time comes for it to stride across the line, a very complicated diplomatic situation will confront the U.S.A. and U.N.

The Strike Bill

An Act of the Parliament of Canada has been required to get the railways operating again. That in itself is a very serious matter. Seldom is Parliament specially assembled for other reasons than the crisis of war. It indicates the importance to the nation of the railway strike.

Parliament is doing what was immediately needed. Its legislation is opening the rails (and telegraph wires and ship service to island centres like P.E.I.). But is that enough? Has it not a duty to legislate against the recurrence of a stoppage in rail services in the future? Has the whole machinery of Parliament been brought into operation to deal temporarily with one strike? Is Parliament to be called every time there are other such major strikes? It is within the province of Parliament to pass legislation which will prevent future stoppages. Parliament has not done this. No legislation has been brought down which protects the public in the future. It is even possible for the railway union leaders to declare another strike in a month or two.

The Government is understandably disinclined to sponsor laws which would put railway workers in a special labour class, laws which would restrict them more than others. Nor has it introduced in this emergency bill any principle which would change the pattern of labour laws. For instance, compulsory arbitration is not being imposed, except on this one occasion. The facts are, however, that railway workers are in a special category.

Railway men operate an essential service of national importance, unlike, say, button-makers. To deny them the right to strike, or to force on them compulsory arbitration, may seem unfair, but when people accept employment with the railways, they accept special obligations. Their obligation to keep the railways operating is perfectly clear, but since they, through their union leadership, have failed to recognize the obligation, Parliament would not be iniquitous if it made it legally compulsive.

Parliament has acted with speed to get the railways operating again. If it has fallen down in its duty to the people of Canada, it is because it has not forthrightly legislated to prevent future stoppages. Union leaders say that they are disappointed in the strike bill. It is the people of Canada who should be disappointed that the bill has not gone far enough.

Poet and Economist

It is with keen pleasure that we read that Douglas Valentine LePan has been appointed to the post of special assistant to the Minister of External Affairs. He has qualities which should be invaluable in such a position, for he is a poet, an economist, and a scholar. It may appear to some people that an economist is, by definition, a scholar, but we hasten to assure them that this is not the case. A man who is an economist and nothing else is in grave danger of falling into the errors which lie in the path of one who thinks of people as abstractions, and who expects them to conform to rules. But LePan is a man of wide humanist training; his particular specialty is English literature, but he reads French readily, and he has a good classical background. Nobody who has read much in Greek and Latin and English is ever likely to think that men are simple or predictable.

As for being a poet, nothing could better qualify a man for the upper reaches of the civil service, and particularly for External Affairs. Poets who are worth their salt are intuitive by nature; they know things without being told. What is more, they have more than common ability to see what lies in the hearts of other men. Most first-rate diplomats have a touch of poetry about them; in Shelley's words they are "the hierophants of unapprehended inspiration—the mirrors of the gigantic shadows which futurity casts upon the present". To put it more simply, they are wise guys, in the literal as well as the generally accepted sense of that term.

An economist, unilluminated by other information, is a dreary creature. But an economist who has read something besides economics, and who has the spirit of a poet, is an acquisition to any government. And such a mingling of astonishing elements is D. V. LePan.

NOTE AND COMMENT

President Truman wants to find ways to keep older people working. Well, what about a good big increase in taxation?

Restaurant owners are complaining that television hurts their business. Indigestion among the customers?

In the past ninety-four years only five persons have had to be confined in the jail on the island of Sark. Surely the island government should be asked to give special advice at U.N.?

"On or off stage", says a magazine article, "Danny Kaye prefers small audiences". He seems to have set his prejudice aside in the matter of the Canadian National Exhibition.

Unbelieving

By NAOMI LEWIS

UNBELIEVING, as anyone who has experienced the operation knows, is entirely distinct from disbelief. Your disbeliever comes into the world complete, proof against illusion. He it was who first coerced us ordinary believers into accepting the fact, against our instincts, that the Earth is not flat but round. Unbelieving simply cannot be done by disbelievers: they do not possess, and so cannot discard, those comfortable assumptions with which most of us are upholstered, from King Alfred and the cakes outwards.

✧ ✧ ✧

THESE assumptions, indeed, are as much a part of ourselves as our bad temper or the expression we reserve for ourselves in the mirror; we cherish them no less; we would not lose them without resistance. Beware, then, of the disbeliever when he approaches us with his malicious smile and prods the air with his bony finger. Our thin protests are of no use; our armour is all too easily penetrated; we know that we are harbouring a Vulgar Error.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE been made to realize how fragile are our defences by a book called "Popular Fallacies,"* compiled by a veteran disbeliever, Mr. A. S. E. Ackermann. It is in front of me at this moment—a stout volume of reassuring, rather conservative, appearance, bound in a dignified shade of red. Inside, to a casual glance, it looks not unlike a manual of cookery or household hints—rich, gossipy reading for the dilettante. Do not be misled. It is a manual of unbelief, exposing over 2,000 illusions on a range of subjects from Astronomy to Weather, by way of (among other topics) Food, Law, Mammals, Music and Our Senses. Nothing, in fact, is spared.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT is a consolation that we are not at every joint vulnerable. On the subject of Engineering, for instance, on which as far as I know I have collected no beliefs, I am personally immune; and pretty well so on Reptiles, Statistics, the Mineral Kingdom, and some other of Mr. Ackermann's headings. I can manage without distress not to believe, say, that the Limit given by Euler's Formula for Struts implies Failure of the Strut.

✧ ✧ ✧

FREQUENTLY, too, I have to assume a quick belief on other matters before I can correctly non-accept them—such fallacies as, for example, that Toadstools are so named because Toads are supposed to sit on them; that Senior Wranglers never make a Mark in Later Life; that Flora Macdonald was a Poor Wandering Lassie (her husband, we learn, became a brigadier-general in the British Army); that Puré Mathematicians glory in the Uselessness of their Work; or that Matthew Arnold formed one of a Dinner Party of twelve who dined with Sir John E. Millais (making thirteen in all) in August, 1885, and that he died six months after. No, the really painful attacks are on such articles of faith as Diogenes' tub, Godiva's ride, Raleigh's cloak, the armour of the Black Prince, Disraeli's primrose, the apple of William Tell, and the very existence of Robin Hood. These are serious losses.

✧ ✧ ✧

NOT, indeed, that Mr. Ackermann has the air of a typical disbeliever. His manner, far from being sinister, is genial, confiding, mild. "This is a touching story, and well worked up," he says with a light false laugh of the tale of Essex and Queen Elizabeth's ring, "but it cannot be passed for all that." "The author's readers may have difficulty in believing that iconoclasm is not per se a pleasure to him," he remarks before setting about Nell Gwynn and the Chelsea Hospital, "especially when so picturesque a woman is involved, but we have set our hand to the plough to assist in uprooting all that is not truth, so the unpleasant must be done." Again, "'Tis indeed sad," he laments over Horatius's defence of the Sublician Bridge "to see all these pretty stories picked to pieces, and the author — though he doubts whether his readers will believe him! — is really dropping a tear over this one, for in his childhood he had a great love for anything Roman." Or, "it is a great p ty," he says mildly, "that so pretty a story cannot be true....", and proceeds to demolish the pretty tale of Alfred and the reading book.

✧ ✧ ✧

AND yet, if we can face the book with stoicism, there is something wonderfully nourishing to the fancy about many of its refutals. "Fancy that!" we exclaim, or "Who would have thought it " on being told not to believe that the Bride walks down the Aisle; that Robert Bruce was a Scot; that Historians are always Trustworthy; that Beau Brummel was a Mere Fop and dressed extravagantly; that People cannot be made Sober by Act of Parliament; that Doves are always gentle and peaceful; that the word "Girl" always implies a Female; that Lucretia Borgia was guilty of many almost Indescribable Iniquities; that Exercising the Body Rests the Mind; that a Permament Squint may be suddenly caused by Voluntary Squinting; that Fresh Air, entirely per se, is good, for us.

✧ ✧ ✧

SOME of these facts I find difficult to unbelieve. Some, I know, I have learnt too late. Of one thing I am now sure—that the poet Coleridge has been wrongly quoted as speaking of the willing suspension of disbelief. Even so confirmed a non-disbeliever could never have supposed such a combination of impossibles. Unbelief, of course, most of us would only too willingly suspend. It is not unlikely, I admit, that Mr. Ackermann may succeed in his mission to make us cease (willingly or no) suspending our unbelief. But success has its danger. Will some new evangelist of unbelief refute the refuted fallacy? Is Cinderella's slipper finally of glass or vair?..Doubt has entered; crept in; we can never be certain what to unbelieve again.

Forced Labour In Russia Proven

(U.K. INFORMATION)

THE existence of forced labour in the Soviet satellite countries has been further confirmed. Important new evidence has come into the hands of the United Kingdom Government, and has been made available to the Canadian and other delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council, presently sitting in Geneva, Switzerland.

Britain has for some time been studying from official Soviet sources the existence of inhuman labour practices in Soviet Russia. In a debate in the House of Commons on 21st July, 1949, the then Minister of State, Mr. Hector McNeil, announced the United Kingdom Government's intention to offer "irrefutable evidence" on the subject. This, he said, would show "Something we have previously maintained, and which is quite shocking to everyone who remotely thinks as we do, namely, that by arbitrary decree people are removed from their homes and jobs and committed to forced labour or forced labour in exile in Soviet Russia".

This preliminary evidence was produced, and the Soviet Government has since entirely failed to refute it.

Announcing at Geneva Britain's further researches into the subject, the United Kingdom delegate said that his Government "would have been most willing to disbelieve the earlier evidence which had been submitted at the Council but their further investigations had unfortunately merely produced further serious documentation from Soviet sources".

The main source of evidence of Soviet slavery is given in the current edition of the unabridged Soviet Encyclopedia, Volume 29 (published by the State publishing house of the Soviet Union), in which it is stated that "....with the entry of the U.S.S.R. into the period of socialism, the possibilities of using coercive measures of corrective labour have immeasurably increased". Forced labour is shown as one of the basic disciplinary measures of Soviet administration.

The United Kingdom delegate also revealed that other Soviet legislation deals with the rights of the Soviet Secret Police to enforce "administrative deportation", i.e., without trial in a court of law. Some of the "crimes" mentioned in articles 58 and 59 of the Soviet Criminal Code, such as being the innocent and unwitting members of the family of a service deserter, would hardly be considered as criminal and punishable in any civilized country.

Additional evidence now produced also contains examples of Soviet legislation against what are regarded in the Soviet Union as dangerous religious criminals, who may be subjected to the armed supervision of common criminals.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE last item of additional evidence on the Communist forced labour system, now in possession of the United Kingdom Government, consists of recent legislation and regulations of the Czechoslovak Government. Even though the Czechoslovak forced labour system is perhaps the least inhumane of those at present practised in the Soviet satellites, examination of the "legal" basis of the working of the system shows a total lack of regard for human rights and liberties. The labour force in Czechoslovak industry has been increased by the use of the forced labour system, regularized by Law 247 of the 25th October, 1948.

"All this evidence", the United Kingdom delegate said, "confirms the existence in the U.S.S.R. and the Soviet satellite states of what amounts to a whole province of law and administration concerning the establishment of the system of 'forced' or 'corrective' labour (both expressions are used in Soviet terminology)."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now when he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, he entered into Capernaum....And it came to pass the day after, that he went into a city called Nain; and many of his disciples went with him, and much people.

Now when he came nigh to the gate of the city, behold, there was a dead man carried out, the only son of his mother, and she was a widow: and much people of the city was with her. And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and said unto her, Weep not.

And he came and touched the bier: and they that bare him stood still. And he said, Young man, I say unto thee, Arise. And he that was dead sat up, and began to speak. And he delivered him to his mother. And there came a fear on all: and they glorified God, saying, That a great prophet is risen among us; and, That God hath visited his people. (Luke 7: 1, 11-16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God; who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began, but is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel. (II Tim. 1: 8-10.)

Unconsidered Trifles

Having offered a double feature, both pictures definitely of the Class B variety, the manager of the neighbourhood movie said to the glum-looking patron belatedly emerging from the theatre, "Well, sir, do you feel that you got your money's worth tonight?"

Countered the customer, "When you want soup, do two bowls of dishwater satisfy you?"

✧ ✧ ✧

"It was the sweetest hat," gushed Mrs. Penn, "and when the milliner told me I could have it for a mere song I ordered it at once."

Mr. Penn said nothing until he saw the bill. Then he spoke.

"A case of mistaken identity," he said, quietly. "The woman evidently thought you were a famous singer."

Russia's A-Bombs

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

The vulnerability of Russia to bombing is the subject of a long article in this week's U.S. News and World Report. The article points to the obvious quick exhaustion of the Soviet stock-pile of atomic bombs, and shows that the Baku oilfields and the great steel factories could be reached in three hours flying time from North Africa; the steel plants in 5½ hours; the munitions plants in nine hours, and the Urals heavy industry factories producing tanks and guns in nine hours, all from bases in the British Isles. The writer asserts that all of Russia's 81 cities of 100,000 population and over could be atomic-bombed on the very first day of the war.

Mr. Churchill has openly predicted that the free-world has two years in which to prepare for the Russian attack. Even at that rate Russia would exhaust her stock of bombs in one day, whereas the ever-growing American pile could rain atomic bombs on Russian targets for weeks, or even months.

If these statements are correct they make both pleasant and unpleasant reading.

More Training Urged In Fight On Delinquency

PENETANGUISHENE, Aug 31 —Further education of teachers to combat juvenile delinquency in schools was recommended on Wednesday at the closing session of the Ontario Teachers' Federation board of governors. The group has been meeting here for three days, the regular annual session.

With the recommendation, the board of governors felt newspaper reports of crimes combined with many radio and screen plays were contributing factors to the problem.

Dr. John McIntosh charged broken homes, irresponsible parents, inadequate housing and poor community facilities were all direct factors causing juvenile delinquency.

Go On Record

The board went on record advising special classes for the backward child. They said it had been found a large percentage of juvenile delinquents were children who had difficulty in grasping their school work after about eight years of age.

Community centres were not considered effective means of stopping delinquency. Unless well directed, the board declared community centres only provided a meeting place for groups who rapidly became juvenile gangs.

At the closing session, the executive for 1950-51 was elected, with Norma Hacket of Windsor as president. Dorothea McDonell of Ottawa was named first vice-president with P. W. Dibel of Hamilton and Arthur Savard of Ottawa, respectively, second and third vice-presidents. Secretary-treasurer is Nora Hodgins of Toronto.

BOX-CAR PRISONER — Jack MacDonald, 19, of Toronto, recovers in hospital after being locked in a strike-bound refrigerator car on a freight siding in Calgary. He was without food or water for more than 100 hours. MacDonald said he was travelling from British Columbia to the Prairies to get a job and was sleeping in the box car when it was locked and shunted into the siding. Children playing nearby heard his cries and brought aid.

Canadian To Film Fighting In Korea

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP). — The nephew of a former Canadian film commissioner is on his way to Korea today to do a documentary film on the Korean War for the United Nations.

He is Grant McLean, National Film Board cameraman recently granted leave to take up duties with the U.N. The National Film Board said Wednesday McLean, nephew of former Film Commissioner Ross McLean, now with the U.N. in Paris, already has taken off from New York for the Far East.

This is the second assignment for the Canadian cameraman. Two years ago he produced a documentary film on relief work in China for UNRRA.

Memorial Day

BONN, Germany, Aug. 31 — (Reuters). — The West German Government has declared September 7 a "National Memorial Day for the German people" to honor all victims of the Second World War who sacrificed their lives "for the higher welfare of mankind." September 7 was chosen because it is the first anniversary of last year's inaugural meeting of the West German Parliament.

State Hard Hit

GAUHAUTI, Assam, India, Aug. 31 — (Reuters). — About 15,000 square miles of Upper Assam—more than one-quarter of the state — have been damaged by recent earthquakes and floods, it was announced today. One and a half million people have been affected and more than 1,000 are believed to have been killed. Officials estimated that nearly 100,000 cattle have been destroyed and $11,200,00 damage done to property.

Exceed Grain Delivery

LONDON, Aug. 31 — (AP) — Russia's state farms exceeded their grain deliveries plan and completed it ahead of time, the Soviet Food Industry Ministry reports. Minister D. Pavlov wrote Prime Minister Stalin that the state farms would deliver not less than 1,500,000 poods of grain above their quota under the current five-year plan. A pood equals 36 pounds. The letter was broadcast last night by Moscow radio.

Oppose Legislation

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 31 — (Reuters)—The Australian Labor Party will continue to oppose legislation for the dissolution of the Communist Party, the federal labor advisory committee decided Wednesday night. The party's opposition to certain clauses of the bill led to its rejection last session by the Labor-dominated Senate.

Larger Power Station

LONDON, Aug. 31 — (AP) — Moscow radio said today that Russia will build one of the world's largest hydro-electric power stations and irrigation projects on the Volga River near the war-famed city of Stalingrad. The Soviet Council of Ministers has approved a decree ordering construction of the station to begin in 1951, the broadcast said. Scheduled to go into full operation in 1956, the power station will have a capacity of at least 1,700,000 kilowatts.

Roseneath Women Plan Annual Bazaar

ROSENEATH, Aug. 31—(ENS) —Plans for the annual bazaar to be held September 23 in Roseneath township hall were laid at a meeting of the Centenary W.A. in the church Tuesday.

Miss Hilda Arthur, president, presided.

A bank balance of 68.42 was reported by the treasurer, Mrs. Reginald Timlin. This included receipts of $30.45 from a recent sale of home baking.

Plans were made for a quilting to be held at an early date on the church lawns. These quilts will be sold to swell the funds of the society.

Miss Blance Arthur and Mrs. Dawson Timlin were the program committee.

The program included readings, a vocal solo by Mrs. Willis Dowler, Port Hope; a bean guessing contest won by Mrs. Arnold Elder. A quiz conducted by the convener concluded the program.

Lunch was served by a lunch committee.

China Reported Willing To Hold Tibet Talks

By R. SATAKOPAN

NEW DELHI, Aug. 31—(AP)— A reliable source said Wednesday the Chinese Communist Government has informed India it is willing to settle the question of Tibet peacefully through negotiations in New Delhi.

The informant said Peiping had replied to India's informal note earlier this month which urged that the status of Tibet be settled in friendly talks.

The reply was said to have been that Red China has authorized its newly appointed ambassador, Gen. Yuan Chung Hsien, to carry on talks here with Tibetan representatives. Yuan is expected to arrive Sept. 10. A seven-man delegation of Tibetan priests is also due here shortly from Kalimpong, Northeast India.

Would Be Pleased

An Indian Foreign Office spokesman said on Aug. 17 that his government would be pleased if Tibet was allowed to continue in the position it held under the Nationalist Chinese government—autonomy under nominal Chinese rule.

The reported Chinese reply, offering to negotiate on this basis, was seen here as an indirect denial of recent press reports that Communist troops had launched their oft-threatened invasion.

Recent reports have said the Chinese Government already has offered Tibet "regional autonomy" if Tibet would join the Communist regime peacefully.

To Hold Inquiry

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier announced Wednesday that a two-man board has been established to make a preliminary inquiry into the death of five persons when an Ontario Provincial Air Service plane crashed and burned near Timagami, 50 miles north of North Bay.

Will Stand Trial

WINNIPEG, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Henry Malanik, 48-year-old Winnipeg plumber, today was committed for trial on a charge of murder after a three-day preliminary hearing. Malanik is charged with the July 16 shotgun slaying of 42-year-old Detective-Sergeant James E. Sims, who was investigating a stabbing in a north-end Winnipeg home.

Mexico Boosts Pan-American Highway Dream

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—Picture a Pan-American highway — one continuous ribbon of hard-surfaced road to stretch more than 15,000 miles from Alaska to the Straits of Magellan.

Mexico has given this concept a big boost this spring. The neighbor republic's current road-building progress was dramatized effectively by a government-sponsored automobile race from border to border, showing fast time to be possible over the 2,170 miles of Mexico's newly-completed Pan-American Christopher Columbus Highway.

Overall, the Western Hemisphere route is known as the Pan American Highway System.

Its Middle American reach is often called the Inter-American Highway, notes the National Geographic Society. Perhaps a dozen sectional names could be compiled, like Christopher Columbus Highway in Mexico, Simon Bolivar Highway in Venezuela, Franklin D. Roosevelt Highway for the Guatamalan section and again for the coastal route in Peru and Northern Chile.

Running south from the U.S. border at El Paso, Texas, Mexico's Christopher Columbus route passes through Chihuahua, Durango, and Zacatecas. At Mexico City it meets the older and shorter Pan American route running south from Laredo. The joint highway continues southeast 857 scenic and mountainous miles through Puebla and Oaxaca to a present dead end at Ocatal on the Guatemalan border.

Then No Roads

For the next 30 miles into Guatemala, no auto road exists. For another 70 miles or so, the road is poor and likely to be impassable in the May-to-October rainy season. For the rest of its 330-mile Guatemala length, however, and for its 530 miles through El Salvador, Southern Honduras, and Nicaragua, it is nearly all paved or hard gravel surface.

In Costa Rica, the highway is paved or gravel-surfaced for a few score miles each side of the capital, San Jose. It is dirt road for about 90 miles at the Nicaraguan end, and unsurveyed trail, impassable for automobiles, for 90 miles at the Panama end.

Panama continues the Costa Rica gap in the motor road for 28 trail miles from the border to Hato de Volcan, then provides good road for 340 miles east to Panama City. East of the canal, however, lies the unsurveyed wilderness of Darien, one of the world's least known areas. A road link here is perhaps years in the future, and tourists to South America must ship their cars to Colombian or Venezuelan ports.

In South America alone, some 13,000 miles of main road and branches are identified with the Pan American Highway System. Starting from the Caribbean port of La Guaira, the route is generally good through Venezuela and Colombia. After a gap in Southern Ecuador, bypassable by ferry, it is good through Peru and Northern Chile, crossing the Andes into Argentina by 12,800-foot Uspallata Pass, site of the famous Christ of the Andes.

New Toronto Takes First With 2-1 Win Over Petes

New Toronto yanked out a 2-1 verdict over the Petes at Riverside Park last night to open their best-of-five Viaduct Baseball League semi-final series. A big crowd saw a tight tussle, with the locals having the tying and winning runs aboard in the last of the ninth when the third out was made. These teams tangle again here Friday night and then move to Toronto for the next one or two games, the fifth if necessary being played here on Monday.

Rene Bouchard hurled six-hit ball and fanned six—though issuing half a dozen walks — for New Toronto and he had some solid hitting by his mates. Bill Edger had a few bad innings, but allowed only one earned run as he whiffed five and walked two, giving up a dozen hits. Several times he worked out of holes nicely with good flinging and neat support, two double-plays helping a lot. Catches by Cabot, Rogerson, and Lowrey were features.

Led the Way

Ron Hastings led the way at bat for the winners with three for five, and Ralph Hosking came through with two in three tries. Don Rogerson hit a long triple for them. None of the Petes got more than one safe blow, but Paul Estlick got a hit in two official appearances. Bud Harrison drove in the locals' lone marker. On earned runs it should have been 1-0 for New Toronto.

The visitors scored in the first when Rogerson walked, was sacrificed by Cabot and raced over the plate on a single to left by Hastings. Their other one came in the sixth when Rogerson tripled to left sentre and scored on a bad throw to third. The Petes got their only counter in the eighth when Al Menzies singled and took second on a fumble in centre, scoring later on Bud Harrison's hard drive to centre. Bill Dadson, as a pinch-hitter, walked and went to third on Dalton's single in the ninth, the latter stealing, but both being stranded when Menzies rolled out.

East City Gets The Series Over Kingston

Ken Guilfoyle's snappy East City men softballers downed Kingston Alcans 6-3 in the Limestone City last night to sweep their OASA Senior B first-round playdown series in two straight. They had defeated the Alcans 10-4 here in the opener, and will next go against Oshawa in provincial playdowns, the date of the first game not being announced as yet.

Last night's number was a fine flinging duel with Haddy Eakins and Joe Deasey, on the rival mounds, each yielding but three hits. However, Kingston kicked in with five costly errors to spell the difference. Red Sullivan and his infield buddies for East City turned in a sparkling defensive performance, reeling off the outs with machine-like precision, and the gardeners roamed far to rope in long flies.

East City built up a three-run lead in the first inning and had it 5-0 in the top of the eighth, but the homesters came through with three in their half of the eighth to make it closer. However, the visitors shoved another over in the ninth and then held Alcans off the score-sheet in the last frame to earn the decision in handy fashion.

Score by innings:

East City ... 300 000 021—6 3 1
Kingston ... 000 000 030—3 3 5

Batteries—Eakins and Scriver; Deasey and Nourry.

Tigers Edge Petes To Open The Finals

Tigers edged out the Petes 14-13 in a thrilling peewee lacrosse match yesterday afternoon at Miller Bowl. It was the first of their best-of-five city finals for the title, the Tigers previously rubbing out Lions to go into the big series. The winners staged a hard drive in the fourth to outscore Petes 6-1, coming from behind to earn the close decision.

Ketcheson paced the winners' attack with six goals and three assists on fine work, while Jay was almost as good with four goals and four assists, Pace coming through nicely to aid the cause with four markers. Davis banged home five counters for the Petes, while Ferguson had two and an assist, Hawthorne two, Coombes a goal and an assist, and Kent a marker. Teams:

Tigers— G. Heffernan, Ketcheson, Jay, Barrie, Pace, R. Anthony, Heard, Murduff, Randall.

Petes— F. Heffernan, Coombes, Davis, Mountney, Hunt, Ferguson, Kent, Pearse, Hawthorne, O'Neil, Ronco.

Referee—J. Fitzgerald.

Tigers Gain Finals

Tigers eliminated Lions in peewee lacrosse semi-finals yesterday, beating them 15-11 to win the series in two straight and qualify to meet Petes for the championship. It was a good game all the way with the losers putting up a great scrap, as Ketcheson starred for the victors with a swell showing. He scored nine of their goals and aided on two more, while Jay got two and helped on five more for Tigers and Anthony counted four. Reid had four and an assist for Lions, Ruth three and an assist, Parry and Ellis each two markers and one assist.

Tigers: G. Heffernan, Murduff, R. Anthony, Ketcheson, Jay, Barrie, Maniece, Heard.

Lions: Chapman, Reid, D. Parry, Turner, Ellis, Ruth, Trudeau.

Referee: J. Fitzgerald.

St. Alphonsus Wins

St. Alphonsus kept in the race for the Parish Softball League title at Trojan Field last night by yanking out a 15-14 win over St. Peter's. It was their first win in three starts of the best-of-five finals. The winners scored two each in the first, seventh and eighth innings, with three in the second, five next time up, and one in the fourth. The losers scored two each in the first and fifth, five in the second, one apiece in the fourth, sixth, and seventh, and a pair in the ninth-inning drive. Teams:

St. Peter's— Marrocco, Cupoli, Ferrin, Garvey, Russelle, Hayes, O'Rourke, Foley, Driscoll.

St. Alphonsus—Corkery, Heath, Hamblin, Gordonier, Williams, McDonald, Griffin, Romanhi, Forestell.

Woollens Lose To Toronto In PWSU Fray

By DON GRANT

Sherrin of Toronto should teach his girls to be more lady-like Wednesday night at the Danforth Stadium they were far from the perfect hosts as they whitewashed the local Dominion Woollens 20-0 in the first game of a best-of-three series in the Ontario junior girls' softball playdowns. The return game, and third if necessary, will be Saturday at the Bowl.

Marion Simpson, the Sherrin hurler, sizzled throughout the nine-inning game as she whiffed 17, made two outs on popups and assisted on another out. Hits were at a minimum for the Woollens, only three, and walks for them totalled two.

While Simpson was enjoying the life of Reilly, two of Woollens' pitchers, Lorraine Derry and Shirley Harris, were in the depths of despair. Both were touched frequently and failed to have the full support of the fielders who bobbled just as frequently.

Trouble Starts

Derry started in the first and trouble for her started in the first. Five runs crossed the plate on four hits and two errors. In the third Sherrins added a single on a freak out. They matched their first inning score in the fourth as Derry gave up two homers, one with none aboard, and the other with two aboard.

Harris rushed to put out the fire but a fifth run, bringing the total to 11, scored. She ran into trouble in the fifth but but thanks to a snappy double play by Dotty Dunk, the shortstop, the Sherrins only added a single run.

The Sherrins' bats struck the ball fast and furious in the sixth. The Woollens fielders did little to help their pitcher as they seemed to have a case of fumbleitis. No less than eight runs zipped across. The Sherrins went through the motions of batting in the seventh and eighth, one, two, three.

The Woollens nearly broke the goose-egg in the third when Rita Naylor was caught at home plate after she received a free passage and was advanced by a sacrifice hit. The Sherrins' catcher, Alma Fewster, was shaken by the crash. They placed two runners on in the seventh but both were caught.

Sherrins' centrefielder, Sonia Willis was tops at the plate with four for five while teammates Joan Pegg and Ann Bexpollack each had four for six. Joan Walling for the Woollens had two for four.

Lineups:

Dominion Woollens: J. McIlwain, cf; R. McInroy, 2b; J. Walling, 3b; C. Ferguson, lf; S. Harris, rf, p; D. Dunk, ss; L. Derry, p; S. Dafoe, rf; J. Lawson, c; R. Naylor, 1b.

Southenders Capture Peewee Baseball Title

Southend peewees won the championship of their class in the Peterborough Minor Baseball Association, defeating East City in two straight of the finals. They won last night 16-6, scoring three runs in the first, one in the fourth two in the sixth, four in the seventh, and running wild to tally six in the eighth. The losers counted three in the first and one each in the second, third and seventh frames.

Manager Bill Post's squad played good ball behind neat flinging by Cairns and Dugan to earn the duke in decisive manner. They hit in timely style and cashed in on walks and errors, especially in the late innings. The fray went eight innings before darkness interfered. Teams:

Southend — Cairns, Orr, Mahoney, Dugan, Beggs, Rowe, Masterson, Wade, Parnell, Halcrow, Curtis.

East City — Towns, Dorrington, Ayotte, Garvey, McCarthy, English, Kelly, Foley, Fitzgerald, Baptie.

Shrimps Get Second

Shrimps took a 6-3 tadpole lacrosse win over Hurricanes yesterday afternoon to lead their best-of-five final series two to nothing. Walling got both goals in the first frame and both in the second for the Shrimps, while Parry aided on one. Anthony counted in the second for Hurricanes, and he hit the mark twice in the fourth for them after a scoreless third heat. Walling again shone for the winners with two more counters in the fourth. Teams:

Shrimps—Reid, Walling, Parry, Sutherland, Coughlin, Crough.

Hurricanes — Trudeau, Davis, Stickle, Bell, Anthony, eHard.

Referees—R. Jay and R. Pace.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Junior lacrosse is on tap tomorrow night at 8.30 in Miller Bowl when Toronto Maitlands meet the young Petes in an OLA junior "B" final. These senior stars of tomorrow turn it on all the time, and should serve up another swell playoff scrap before a goodly gallery. Our seniors are idle this week-end, awaiting word on group quarter-finals next week. Local bantams pull out for Orillia at five this eve and the midgets go an hour later, each having pretty hefty leads in their two-game OLA playdown series. PMLA-ers are in daytime playoffs, too, this week here. Peterborough is quite a lacrosse town now.

* * * * * *

Oshawa and Mutuals mix it tonight, weather permitting, at 8.30 in the Bowl, second of their two-in-three OASA intermediate "A" playdowns. Third, if necessary, will be here Saturday p.m. Johnny Russelle's classy crew, holders of the Geo. Dormer Trophy, have a game lead on the surprised Motor Citizens, George Hunter hurling 'em to a 6-1 triumph right in Oshawa last week. Bob Greenlaw may be the mound selection for this struggle, and the Mutuals would certainly like to wrap the series up in two straight and prance further along the playdown path. But Oshawa teams have always been tough onions in softball.

Those Fitba' Fellows

Soccer won't be played tonight at Riverside under the lights, as part of the program for sports centennial week in this borough. The Cobourg vs. UEW exhibition was cancelled for some reason or other. By the way, the draw for the intermediate soccer championship of Ontario (and the Norman Howard Trophy) has Camp Borden playing No. 6 RCAF Repair Depot, whilst Peterborough UE meets Kingston United. First game of the semi-finals will be Sept. 9, and return match on Sept. 16, with the finals staged Sept. 30 and Oct. 7. Kingston will be here a week from Saturday.

New Toronto and the Petes tangle again at 8.30 under the lights tomorrow night in Riverside Park. The second of their best-in-five Viaduct Baseball League semi-finals. And the Petes have to win this one, after losing 2-1 here last night. It should be another grand scrap, the teams then shifting to Toronto on Saturday and Sunday, fifth if needed here Monday. The visitors jerked out the win last eve before a big crowd behind some fine flinging by Rene Bouchard, the Petes being unable to shoot with ducks on the pond. Bill Edger went well most of the way but ran into a few rough spots. It was a fine ball fray to watch, though it would have been much better had the Petes pulled it out in the ninth instead of leaving two runners to die on base.

The Over-Flowin' Bowl

Ashburnham Bowl is kept busy these nights by the girls and men. OASA intermediate "A" tilt there tonight at 8.30, and we imagine the girls will resume round-robin playoffs tomorrow, CGE and Ashby's having another number. Woollens lost 20-0 in Toronto last eve to open their best-of-three PWSU junior sawoffs, second one being at three Saturday aft in the Bowl, third if necessary around 6.15 p.m. there. The local lasses were held to three hits as 17 struck out in the opener. Mutuals hope to make it two straight tonight so they won't have to go Saturday, as the King and His Court—that four-man team—is slated to play the local male all-stars at 8.30 Saturday night here. Haven't the latest on East City at the moment but expect it in shortly.

* * * * * *

A fourth-frame drive in Toronto last night netted Lou Vitarelli's good junior lacrosse pack a 7-6 win to put them two up in OLA junior "B" finals, and they could take the title here on the morrow. Batley scored three goals and Killingbeck two in a neat fray. In peewee play, Tigers eliminated Lions to go into the finals, and came right back to edge the Petes 14-13 in the first of their best-of-five playoffs. It'll be cleaned up this week in daytime play. Shrimps twice turned back the Hurricanes to take a two-game lead in their three-in-five final series, and that also will be finished up this week, mayhap today.

TORONTO GOLFERS WIN

Four sharpshooting amateurs from Toronto's Scarboro Club took the provincial golf team championship away from Kitchener Rockway Wednesday.

Sonny Adams, Bob Fair, Phil Farley and Bill Givens, Jr., combined their 18-hole rounds for a total of 301—one better than the Kitchener club which has won the title two years running. The Kitchener team was Gerry Kesselring, Tony Matlock, Milt Plomski and Moe Norman.

Junior Petes Two Up In OLA Finals

By DON GRANT

For the first time an Ontario minor lacrosse championship may be brought to Peterborough on Friday night. The chances for this historic sports event are good. Lou Vitarelli's junior "B" Filter Queens made a terrific comeback in the fourth quarter Wednesday night in Toronto to defeat Toronto Maitlands 7-6.

This win for the junior Petes gives them two straight victories over the Toronto club. A win Friday night in Miller Bowl would clinch the best of five series and the Ontario junior "B" championship for Peterborough.

The Vitarelli-coached juniors lost no time in trying for the all-important Toronto win as they sank three goals in the first quarter while holding the Maitlands scoreless. This attack didn't last however. The Maitlands tied the score in the second half 3-all. They went on to outscore the Petes in the third 2-1.

Started To Roll

After the Maitlands went up 6-4 in the third the locals started to roll as they did in the first. Three goals were hammered home in close checking lacrosse to give the Petes the nod.

From goalie, Bill Nicholls, to the centres and rovers, the Petes earned the win. Nicholls was on the bit several times to earn applause from the few fans. Brian and Garry Robinson, Bill Killingbeck, Bob Batley and Al Beavis gave their all for the win.

Batley with his hot drives led the Petes' scoring with three goals while Killingbeck had two. John Bond performed the hat trick for Toronto.

Killingbeck opened scoring in the first with a snap pass from Brian Robinson. Batley later sent the juniors two up as he went in alone. He again five minutes later slipped around his check to drift home a long, low shot. Bond duplicated Batley's scoring play for the Maitlands early in the second. Davidson snared a long pass from Nickle for a 10-fot break on which Nicholls hadn't a chance. Little, two minutes later, edged his way close to the Petes' net and finally got away a short shot to tie the score.

Ahead In Third

Nickle sent the Maitlands ahead in the third when he slipped around two checks to go in alone. Batley blasted a shot at the Toronto net which Al Stewart allowed to slip away. Killingbeck picked up the loose ball to score from a practically impossible angle. A quick break by Bond and Little, ended in Bond whipping home the ball to send the Maitlands ahead once again 5-4.

Bond rolled in a backhander to open the fourth. Batley notched his third when he outguessed his check. Gar Robinson tied the score when given a free ball in front of the Maitlands' goal after he was dumped while in the clear. Heffernan ended a Petes' rush at the seven-minute mark with the winning tally.

The lineups:

Filter Queens — Goal, Nicholls; defence, Killingbeck and Beavis; forwards, Burns, Whitnell; centre B. Robinson; rover, G. Robinson; alternates, Batley, Wyatt Heffernan, Morrissey, O'Reilly, Shearer.

Toronto Maitlands — Goal, Stewart; defence, Jones and Nickle; forwards, Bond and Powell; centre, Woods; rover, Davidson; alternates, Little, Parkinson, Forbes, Corekk, Cheeseman; Richards, Barton Powers.

The summary:

Shrimps Get First

Shrimps blanked Hurricanes 7-0 yesterday at the Bowl to open the best-of-five tadpole lacrosse finals. Walling and Reid scored in the second heat after a scoreless first frame, and Walling, Reid and Parry tallied in the third, the latter and Reid each having an assist also. Parry and Reid aided on one, this pair playing good lacrosse throughout in the neat tilt.

Shrimps: Heffernan, Walling, J. Parry, Reid, Chambers, Coughlin.

Hurricanes: Chapman, Patterson, Crough, Stickle, Heard, W. Anthony, Parks.

Orfuns Arrange A Hookup With Ottawa Rough Riders

The Peterborough Orfuns Football Club, of the ORFU senior "B" category, has arranged a working agreement with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four, Manager Dave Wilson announced yesterday. This means that the local club will obtain seven or eight players from the Riders for competition here this autumn.

Three Ottawa players are in now and drilling nightly at the Ex. with the Orfuns under Coach H. L. Bamforth. They include Gord Peachy, 19-year-old backfielder who scales 200 pounds, an Ottawa youth who starred in hockey for St. Pat's juniors; Merv Bonney, 205-pound middle, aged 21, who comes from Toronto originally; and Gord Huntley, another 200-pound back, who is 22. The latter, who catches ball for a pro Iowa club—a Dodger farm team—is a two-year college man, who played for Balmy Beach as a regular last year in the senior ORFU. He has obtained his release from the Tigers to go on the Riders' list.

More Coming

Four more Ottawa senior candidates are due in today for tryouts with the Orfuns, another outstanding player is expected shortly, and Chuck Paul — who plays pro ball for Ottawa in the Border League—will arrive on Sept. 9. He is a backfielder and a first-class kicker. Frank Fitzgerald is back with Peterborough after a good year with the Hamilton Wild Cats, and the pick of last year's Orfuns are among the 32 working out hard nightly now. The squad was cut to this and will eventually carry 30.

Coach Harvard Bamforth believes that he will field a stronger senior "B" team than the senior "A" one he coached in the ORFU in 1940. But he realizes that Orillia Bombers, Oshawa Raiders and Cobourg Ghosts are all building considerably, too. The team will dress in new black and gold uniforms and have the latest equipment. Quite a few fans are watching the stiff practices nightly in Morrow Park.

Senior "B" football is expected to have a real revival this fall under Dr. Chenoweth, energetic president, and a strong executive, and with a capable coach and a bolstered club in a fine grouping. The Booster Club is selling season tickets good for entrance to all games, free parking and all the draws. The schedule will commence in another two weeks, with all home games being night affairs under the lights at Morrow Park.

Giants Capture 13-Inning Tilt With Chiefs

By The Canadian Press.

Jersey City Little Giants turned back Syracuse Chiefs 4-2 in a 13-inning International League game here Wednesday night.

Joe Bracchitta set the stage for the victory, which required three hours and five minutes when he led off the 13th with a triple. He scored the winning tally on Pete Pavlick's outfield fly. An insurance run followed when Stan Jok singled, stole second and was cashed on Chet Laab's single.

Rochester Red Wings edged Toronto Maple Leafs 6-5 in the first half of a twin bill then dropped the second game 6-1 before a 12-hit Leaf barrage.

At Montreal, the Royals defeated Buffalo Bisons 7-3 to move within nine games of the league-leading Red Wings.

Springfield Cubs won the nightcap of a doubleheader in Baltimore's final appearance of the season in Springfield 7-0 behind Bill Voiselle's two-hitter. The Orioles took the opener 2-0 on a four-hit job by Tommy Fine.

Attendance of 3,199 pulled Springfield over the 200,000 mark, first time this has been accomplished in professional baseball in that city. Total attendance to date is 201,443.

Stengel Plays His Hunches Yanks On Top of League

By JOE REICHLER,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

If Casey Stengel fell into a sewer he would probably come up owning an oil well.

The puckish pilot of the New York Yankees (who incidentally owns several oil wells) is one of the canniest managers in the business. He also is a great guy for hunches.

Hunches that clicked helped the Yankees sweep a doubleheader from Cleveland Wednesday and boosted them to the top in the seething American League race.

The Yankees needed some clutch hitting by Johnny Mize, Phil Rizzuto and Tom Henrich. The fine pitching of Tom Ferrick and Ed Lopat also played a large part in the 4-3 and 3-0 victories that gave them a one-game lead over the Detroit Tigers.

But if Casey hadn't followed his hunches those things might never have happened.

Until an hour before play began, Stengel wasn't sure whether he was going to play Mize at first base. Then Stengel recalled that Mize had hit a couple of homers off Bob Feller who was due to pitch for Cleveland.

Does His Stuff

All the former Giant slugger did was slam a pair of homers, one in each game. He also collected two singles and drew the walk in the eighth inning that eventually turned out to be the winning run.

Hunch No. 2 came in the eighth inning of the first game. Eddie Ford, the little lefthander, was shaken up in a collision with Cleveland's Luke Easter. Stengel thought Ford was favoring his right side, so he promptly replaced Ford with Tom Ferrick. The veteran reliever proceeded to stop the Indians cold the rest of the way.

Split Twin Bill

The Yanks' one-game margin was accomplished when Washington Senators held the slumping Tigers to a split in their doubleheader. The Senators won the opener in 11 innings, 3-2, when Sam Dente singled off Fred Hutchinson to score Sam Mele. The Tigers had to tally three runs in the ninth to come from behind and win the second game, 10-8. Successive hits by Johnny Groth, Johnny Lipon, Gerry Priddy and Don Kolloway produced the runs.

It marked the first time the Tigers had been out of first place since June 10.

Boston Red Sox stormed into third place, a game and a half in front of Cleveland, by whipping Chicago White Sox 6-1. It was Boston's 15th win in 16 starts.

Philadelphia's pennant-hungry Phillies increased their lead in the National to 6½ games over Brooklyn. The Phils rallied for three runs in the ninth to come from behind and nip St. Louis Cardinals 9-8. Meanwhile Chicago Cubs downed the Dodgers, 6-5.

Vern Bickford coasted to his 17th triumph as Boston Braves pounded out a 9-4 win over Cincinnati. Sal Maglie pitched the New York Giants to a five-hit, 4-0 shutout over Pittsburgh.

The St. Louis Browns shoved Philadelphia Athletics into the American League cellar by taking both ends of their doubleheader, 2-1 and 7-6.

Kingston Pair Wins Black Trophy

By HERB MARTIN

The Black Memorial Trophy was captured last evening at the local lawn bowling greens by Mr. and Mrs. D. Edney, Kingston, winners of the same trophy in 1948—Mr. and Mrs. W. Wiggins, Campbellford, were runners-up. So completely did the visitors dominate the play that only two Peterborough rinks won their three games.

The fourth annual mixed doubles tournament was one of the most successful with 200 bowlers representing 25 clubs in the province, competing, and many entries refused.

Presents Trophy

The Black Memorial Trophy was put up by the members of the Black family in memory of their father, the late Peter Black, and it was presented to the winners by Mr. A. Black.

Mr. Black, on behalf of his family, thanked all who had taken part in this tournament and hoped they would all be back again next year.

Mr. W. Jeffries, tournament chairman, paid tribute to all for their fine co-operation.

After Mr. P. Rouleau, Cornwall (representing Calverts), on behalf of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club, presented Mrs. A. Black with a basket of flowers, one of the most successful tournaments held on the greens here came to a close.

Winners:

Kingston—Mrs. D. Edney and D. Edney, 1st and Black Memorial Trophy.
Campbellford—Mrs. W. Wiggins and W. Wiggins, 2nd.
Peterborough—Mrs. W. Hepburn and W. Jeffries, 3rd.
Campbellford—Mrs. B. Brady and B. Brady, 4th.
Cornwall—Mrs. Reid and P. Rouleau, 5th.
Belleville—Mrs. C. Mott and J. Davidson, 6th.
Peterborough—Mrs. J. Coursey and R. Hopkins, 7th.
Belleville—Mrs. G. Edwards and G. Edwards, 8th.
Kirkfield—Mrs. L. Reburn and L. Reburn, 9th.
Campbellford—Mrs. B. Taylor and B. Taylor, 10th.
Cobourg—Mrs. F. Bell and F. Bell, 11th.
Toronto—Mrs. Dr. Brereton, and Dr. Brereton, 12th.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Brian Kelly of Niagara Falls had Billy Tremblett of London on the canvas Wednesday night but couldn't keep him there and had to settle for a five-round decision in the main event of a Hamilton boxing card.

Kelly is Canada's amateur bantamweight champion.

In the semi-final, Gene Poirier of Niagara Falls knocked out Russ Barko of Hamilton with a right hook at 1.40 of the second round.

Former champion Louise Brough ended the challenge of Althea Gibson, first Negro ever to perform in the United States amateur tennis champions, by reeling off three games to win her second-round match 6-1, 3-6, 9-7 at Forest Hills, N. Y., Wednesday.

But the unheralded New York newcomer, who had the highly-touted Californian on the ropes when rain halted play Tuesday, has stamped herself as a top-flight star in future years.

Suffering from the jitters in her first big-time appearance, Miss Gibson committed errors under pressure that nullified her booming service and effective net play.

An order to report for a United States Army medical Sept. 5 awaited centre Doug Brightwell of Edmonton Eskimos when the team returned from its first Western Football Conference road trip.

Brightwell is one of seven American imports signed by Eskimos for this season.

Expert Guidance For New Writers At U.S. College

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. —(CP)— The century - and - a - half - old building of nearby Marlboro College are echoing with the problems of serious new writers.

The answers are being supplied by such literary figures as John Farrar, Charles Jackson, Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Edmund Fuller, Ludwig Lewisohn, Shirley Jackson, Mavis McIntosh, and others.

The occasion for their two weeks' presence at Marlboro is the second annual Marlboro College fiction writers conference. John Farrar of Farrar, Straus and Co. Inc., New York, who originated the conference, was also the first director of the bread loaf writers conference, established at Middlebury, Vt., a quarter of a century ago.

Discussion the aims of the gathering, Farrar said:

"In these dangerous times the writer's job is growing harder and harder. Our American writers and publishers must nevertheless continue to make books and stories the citadel of freedom serious fiction has always been. Every single one of us has come here to work. If it weren't for the conference's intent, none of us would feel that he could afford to take the time called for to discuss with young writers their individual experiences and difficulties.

Words Being Traduced

"Words are more important right now than they have ever been before," he continued. "and they are being traduced. Our obligation is to emphasize the new words and the new combination of words to give strength and emphasis to the free ideals."

In addition to Farrar and Dr. Walter Hendricks, founder of the college, the staff of the conference includes Margaret P. Farrar of Farrar, Straus and Co. Inc.; Edmund Fuller, author of "A Star Pointed North" and director of the conference course on the novel; Mavis McIntosh, author's agent, who heads the short story session, and John Brick, author of "Troubled Spring."

Visiting lecturers address the conference. The first was John Hooper, editor of the Brattleboro Reformer. Other speakers include Dorothy Canfield Fisher, Ely Culbertson, Charles Jackson, Dorothy Thompson, and Ludwig Lewisohn.

The conference members include many who already have made names for themselves in various branches of fiction writing. Among them are Lawrence Lariar, author of the Dodd, Mead prize mystery novel, "The Man with the Lumpy Nose," and Laura Harris, author of the forthcoming novel, "Ring in the New."

"I have no doubt that among those at this year's conference there are some whose work will be widely recognized," Farrar said.

Swallowed Penny Small Child Dies

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 31 (CP) —Two-year-old Bobby Stratton who swallowed a penny last Friday, died today. He was rushed to hospital here from Stratford Wednesday in what doctors reported to be "very serious" condition.

The coin lodged in the boy's stomach, causing high temperature and severe stomach pains. An operation was not considered advisable because of the baby's serious condition, a Stratford doctor said.

Bobby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Stratton of Stratford, was not troubled by the coin until Sunday night. The pains became steadily worse until Tuesday he was taken to hospital in Startford for observation. He was then brought here.

"Custom-Built" Car

EDMONTON (CP).—Possibly the largest convertible in Edmonton is the 4,635-pound automobile of the Juchli brothers. The car, a hybrid, incorporating parts of other vehicles, is seven feet, two inches wide and can accommodate five passengers in the front seat. The Juchli's built the 16-foot-long auto in five months at a cost of $1,300.

Slow Change

FERNIE, B. C. (CP).—Crow's Nest Pass Company has put into operation at its Elk river colliery the first Diesel locomotive ever to be used in underground coal mining in this province. The hauling of coal cars by horses still is, however, the general procedure in the industry here.

Called To Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (CP). — Miss Clary Elfving of Stockholm has been appointed secretary-general of the Pakistan YWCA. She will train woman leaders and assist in the country's social reform and educational work.

Bears Menace In Rainy River

LAVALLEE, Ont. — (CP) — Irene Hnatiuk, 16, rounded a clump of bushes on her path to the pasture to bring in the cows.

Two feet away was a huge black bear. It reared up on its hind legs and roared. Irene fled for home.

Search by her father, George Hnatiuk, failed to find the animal.

Several hundred bears have been killed in this Northwestern Ontario area during the last few years. Sheep and cattle have been killed but there is no report of an attack on human beings.

Try To Teach Fur Trappers Great Value of Agriculture

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) Fur trappers of Northeastern Saskatchewan are being schooled in agriculture.

The experiment is in the area of Cumberland House, historic trading post 150 miles northeast of Prince Albert.

The fur trade, on which Cumberland House thrived in its heyday, has fallen off over the years. Soon there may be insufficient fur to support an exclusively trapper community.

The Saskatchewan government has developed a long-term plan for a more diversified economy in the northern settlements. Three years ago it set up an experimental farm at Cumberland House to point the way.

Cumberland House district is a 24,000-acre island, encircled by Cumberland Lake and the Saskatchewan and Bigstone Rivers. Its residents are 500 Metis, 120 treaty Indians and 40 whites.

The idea of the experimental farm was to show the northern settlements the value of utilizing soil resources as a way of providing food. Gardens would furnish vegetables. Grain would feed livestock.

Farming Prospects

Although only 385 acres so far have been brought under the plow, government officials estimate that possibly half of the Cumberland House district, or some 12,000 acres, is suitable for cultivation. A substantial portion of the remainder might be used for grazing.

The concept of farming has taken root slowly. In addition to the experimental farm, seven families have turned to the land for a living. The Saskatchewan government furnishes power equipment for the breaking and cultivating of new land.

Today crops of oats, barley, wheat, alfalfa, clover and crested wheat grass may be seen where formerly there was only the marshy native growth.

Sponsors of the plan believe that in time, when the self-sufficient stage has been reached and communications have improved, the area will have grain and livestock to sell.

The provincial government also is seeking to help those who prefer to stay with trapping. To build up the muskrat population, dams are being built to flood the elm marshes southwest of the settlement.

This spring 101 trappers harvested 33,002 muskrat pelts which brought $1.46 apiece. An additional source of revenue for the community is commercial fishing on Sturgeon and Suggi Lakes and the Birch River. This kept 34 natives busy this year.

Practical Joker

CHESTERVILLE, Ont. (CP).—Practical jokers are blamed for the loss of 4,000,000 gallons of Nation river water from the Chesterville dam recently. Timbers of the tail race had been removed and the water level dropped 24 inches before the damage was discovered.

Peaceful Green

SALE, Cheshire, England (CP) —Cheering, shouting and other boisterous demonstrations have been banned on the local bowling green.

24 At Windsor Lose Citizenship

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 31 (CP). —The Federal government's commission on revocation of citizenship finished its hearing of 58 cases here yesterday. It was the first session of the commission in Windsor.

The commission recommended that 24 naturalized Canadians lose their citizenship rights. Ten persons kept their citizenship and 24 cases were adjourned.

Most cases where citizenship was revoked involved persons absent from Canada for six years or more. A small number of charges resulted from disloyalty of naturalized Canadians who served with enemy forces during the Second World War.

St. Pierre Island Leads Many Lands In Social Aid

ST. PIERRE (CP).—This little island, last remnant of the great French empire in North America, is old world in lots of ways, but in social services it is well to the fore.

Family allowances in Canada are meagre compared with the system in use here. The allowances are based on the number of children in a family on a ratio with the salary of the head of the family.

Under the scheme a man with four children gets an amount in family allowances equal to his own salary. That is a man earning $100 a month gets another $100 in family allowances.

Now an expansion of social services is being carried out. New legislation is being drawn up which will provide generous pensions for the aged and infirm in the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon. Other allowances will be provided for widows, orphans and crippled persons.

All the pensions will be paid for out of taxes levied in St. Pierre and Miquelon and from grants in aid from the French government.

Another new development in the social services here is the construction of a new, modern hospital under the supervision of the French government. It is being built through a grant from France, and will be maintained by further annual grants. When it is completed the present hospital will be turned into a home for the aged and infirm.

Friendly Town

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP). — Tourists in this northern Manitoba town are given a card which reads: "Park as long as you like here . . . But try to follow local parking regulations and it will be appreciated." The card says tourists need have no fear of receiving a parking ticket from "The Friendly Town."

SITUATION IN MEDICS' HANDS — A wounded U.S. Marine, gaunt and bearded after front line duty, is helped to a rear line hospital by Marine merical corpsmen.

Many MP's Rap Donald Gordon Of CNR For Conduct

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP)—The Commons fought a side battle over the big, controversial figure of Donald Gordon Wednesday night in the midst of its non-stop debate on the rail strike bill.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, brought the issue to the fore when he virtually called for Mr. Gordon's resignation as president of the Canadian National Railways because of his handling of the rail dispute negotiations with the unions.

Prmie Minister St. Laurent and several other members of his cabinet were in the chamber at the time, but none rose to reply either then or when members of two other parties, including one Liberal, joined the attack. One lone Progressive Conservative came to Mr. Gordon's aid.

Mr. Coldwell said Mr. Gordon's "period of usefulness as president of the CNR has come to an end." Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) said it would take a generation of good labor relations to undo the harm the wartime prices czar has done in his few months as rail head.

Not Much Skill

David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina), a former Ontario Labor Minister, said Mr. Gordon handled negotiations with "something less than skill and dexterity. . . He carried the ball and, unfortunately for us, he fumbled it."

Two Social Credit members Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—MacLeod) and C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River), said it would probably be wise to replace Mr. Gordon as a negotiator in future discussions with the unions.

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) said he was disappointed in Mr. Gordon if reports of his conduct were true, but he suspected that the whole story might not be known.

The crux of the statements revolved around reports that Mr. Gordon broke off negotiations last Saturday night when he came back to a recessed meeting with a prepared press statement and said it was no use to go on.

(In Montreal, Mr. Gordon denied the reports.)

A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) regretted the attacks. He could not appreciate an attack on anyone who was unable to answer in the Commons. He was against condemning anyone on the basis of the loose reports received by members.

He held no brief for Mr. Gordon. In fact, he said jokingly, he had once had to suffer the agony of listening to Mr. Gordon sing.

Mr. Gordon may have broken off the negotiations with the unions but the members did not know. But they did know that the negotiating unions refused the request of the Prime Minister for a 30-day respite in the strike.

The two key union officials, Frank Hall and A. R. Mosher later told reporters that they had no comment on the House references to Mr. Gordon.

Wholesale Price Increase Record

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP)—The wholesale price index during July climbed to the highest level in history, the Bureau of Statistics reported Wednesday.

Moving up on its seventh successive monthly climb, the bureau's wholesale price index stood at 166.9 at the end of July—1.9 points above the previous high of 165.0 in June and 10.3 points higher than the 156.6 level in July, last year.

The bureau's index is calculated on the basis that 1926 prices equal 100. Since the beginning of the year the index has climbed from 157.1.

On Aug. 4 the bureau announced that the June retail cost-of-living index moved up 2.1 points to a peak of 167.5. A survey of living costs for July is expected to be made within the next few days.

Rail Strike Good If Encourages Understanding

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Press Business Editor.

Well, that's over—the railway strike.

It is difficult to say that there's anything good in such a situation, but, just maybe, there are some really good things.

For instance, if we have a little better understanding of the problems of both the railway workers and the railways, that should be good. It should be good if we realize that those great systems don't run day by day and tie our country together without a lot of brawn and thinking, of conscientious work and goodwill; if we stop taking for granted the various smooth operations of everyday life, and give a thought to the people, in whatever capacity, who do them.

In brief, if it brings us all a little closer together in human understanding, that is very good.

A lot of hard things have been said and there have been a lot of hard thoughts by both sides, and, if one may express it so, by the side in the middle—the public.

Wiser To Forget

We can continue those hard thoughts if we like, but it would seem that we will be further ahead if we forget them. Not that the matter can be finally settled by only sweetness and light. But settled it must be, and probably much has been gained by the hearing.

On the whole we may think we are very lucky people; and, though it may sound boastful to say it—lucky because we are reasonably intelligent.

Just as an example:

At no time in the bitter dispute did we expect any physical trouble. We virtually took it for granted that there wouldn't be any, and that is a sign of national maturity.

Remember Public

During one stage of the proceedings this writer, along with other newspapermen, paced the corridors of the Windsor Hotel in Montreal for some 70 hours virtually without a break while mediation efforts were in progress, and we saw a lot of both sides coming and going.

They were the most "no comment" characters one could run into; but one had a terrific sympathy with them in their problems; one side responsible to thousands of fellow union members; another side worrying about sheer economics; both sides with a responsibility to the railway industry; and both trying, I think, to remember their responsibilities to the public.

In between them, at that stage, was the mediator, Dr. W. A. Mackintosh of Queens University Kingston, and he was one man at least who worked harder than the newspapermen. Yet, whether he looked tired, cheerful, or just desperately hopeful, he was unfailingly courteous and always kept a sort of smile which just barely appeared, but was there nevertheless. I think we were all cheering him on and felt deeply regretful even for his sake alone that he couldn't accomplish what was apparently an impossible task at that stage.

One Afterthought

The country can't get along without railways; but, and this is not good from the point of view of either side, things have been learned.

For people learn quickly under adverse conditions. They learn that some things they have been accustomed to do in certain ways can be done in other ways.

The net national effect of people thinking is good. But in this instance, as in so many others, railways and their employees have the job of winning back territories which may be endangered for them.

GASOLINE BOOM — This picture was snapped just as a gas tank exploded at the Crystal Flash Petroleum Co. plant in Indianapolis, sending up an atomic-like mushroom of orange flame and smoke 1,000 feet into the air. The fire, which started when a spark from the truck alongside the tank ignited the gasoline, swept four fuel tanks and injured five persons.

Army Transfers

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Army headquarters Wednesday announced the appointment of Col. D. K .Todd, 43-year-old commanding officer at Camp Borden, to head Petawawa Military Camp, where Canada's special brigade will undergo training. He will be succeeded at Camp Borden by Lt.-Col. R. C. Clark, 47, now acting commander of army headquarters at Regina.

Manitoba Thanks Local Red Cross

A thank you from the Manitoba division of the Canadian Red Cross Society was received by Mrs. Charles Ray, president of the local Red Cross branch, and other branch presidents across the dominion for the help they gave to Manitoba during the Manitoba flood in May.

About 40,000 persons were helped by money contributions amounting to $500,000 and goods of all sorts with about the same value.

In the letter of thanks, R. G. B. Dickson, president of the Manitoba Red Cross, said: "It has been a source of much gratification to those affected by the flood, as well as to our division, to know that the people throughout the dominion are interested in their welfare and have given so generously during this time of need. You may be assured that your gifts have very greatly assisted flood victims."

MP's In Good Humor As Strike Settled

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 (CP)—Members were in good humor Wednesday night while waiting in the Commons for a summons to the Senate for Royal assent of the government's bill to end the rail strike.

Dr. E. A. McCusker (L—Regina City) led members in a couple of choruses of "I've been working on the railroad."

Members roared with laughter when A. L. Smith (PC—Calgary West) sang out with "O'. Donald wont you blow, Oh! Donald won't you blow your horn."

Funeral Held For W. Wellman

Britain Still Can't Decide On Tipping In Hotels

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, Aug. 31—(CP)—After an official inquiry which lasted nearly a year, official Britain still can't decide what to do about tipping in hotels and restaurants. The problem was described as urgent when the war ended. Now, a government-appointed commission which has been studying catering wages has submitted its report. It says the whole question of tipping should be referred to a national committee—as a matter of urgency.

Trade reaction was indignant. The Caterers' Association of Great Britain said the Commission had just "shelved the whole problem." An association of restaurateurs took the view that another committee would merely mean further delay.

Service Charge

The commission, which was headed by Sir John Forster, KC, had one positive point to make about tipping. It said it didn't like the idea of a statutory service charge, which would replace the tip and which would be divided among the staff.

There was no evidence, the commissioners said, to indicate that a statutory charge reduced the flow of gratuities. Often it just meant the public paid twice.

Factory Whistle Act

Another matter considered by the commission was the government's Catering Wages Act, a massive set of regulations known in the trade as the Factory Whistle Act. Many hotel managers have claimed that it is ruining the industry. One of the chief complaints has been that the new wages structure makes it difficult for hotels to provide normal service in abnormal hours.

Catering establishments can still serve boiled potatoes and greens at regular eating hours, it was contended, but late-night snacks and a cup of tea with an early call put a strain on hotel services.

The commission acknowledges that the act is not perfect.

In some respects, it said, conditions laid down by the act cannot be attained except at a cost the hotel management can not always stand.

"The cumulative effect of these increases has resulted in a reduction of standards of service not in the best interests of industry, the workers engaged in it, or the public which the industry ha: to serve."

BIG REUNION—Paul DeRoy, 104-year-old resident of Summer Falls, N.H., visited his native Quebec, and the first person he looked up was his daughter — the first time he'd seen her in 66 years. DeRoy and his daughter, Mrs. Philamene MacKay, interrupted celebration long enough to pose for this shot in Quebec City.

Requests 139 Million For Emergency Centres

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31—(AP)—President Truman Wednesday asked Congress for $139,800,000 to set up United States government office facilities outside of Washington for use "in event of emergency."

Apparently part of long-range plans for dispersal of the government to guard against atomic attacks, the proposed program would provide for buildings at four sites within commuting distance of Washington.

It also contemplates setting up emergency communications facilities and highway construction.

Request Controls

MONTMORENCY, Que., Aug. 31 (CP)—The National Syndicate of Textile Workers of this centre near Quebec has unanimously adopted a resolution seconding a move by the 90,000 member Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor, to which it is affiliated, asking the re-establishment of price controls.

Archbishop Dies

NEW YORK, Aug. 31—(AP)—Archbishop Christopher Contogeorge, 56, Primate of the Alexandrine Greek Orthodox Church in the United States, died Wednesday night. His full title was Metropolitan of Pentapolis and Exarch of the Patriarchate of Alexandria. He was stricken in the rectory of the Church of Sts. Constantine and Helen.

Guilty of Assault

MONTREAL, Aug. 31 (CP).—Michel Ferland Wednesday was found guilty of assaulting a 19-year-old art school model by "dunking" her fully dressed into the St. Lawrence river. He was ordered to pay court costs. Jeanette Lefebvre said Ferland threw her into 20 feet of water damaging her watch and tearing her skirt.

Driver Jailed

SUDBURY, Aug. 31 (CP). — Anatole Jacques, 21-year-old taxi driver, was sentenced Wednesday to one year and had his driving licence suspended for three years. He pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. The charge arose from an accident May 5 when Alderman T. George Thompson was severely injured.

Wins Cello Prize

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Charles A. La Pointe, Port Colborne, was awarded first place in the 'cello open class Wednesday night at the Canadian National Exhibition music festival. Toronto violinists made a clean sweep of four other classes. Arthur John Petrie, Hamilton, placed third in the class for violinists under eight years and Elain Keillor, Wallacetown, Ont., was second in the under 13 class.

Rev. F. Vanderburgh Baptizes Roy L. King

HAVELOCK, Aug. 31—(ENS)—The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh baptized Roy Lyle King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle King, of Belmont Lake, at Victoria Church on Sunday. Mr. Vanderburgh conducted services at holy communion at the three churches on the Belmont Lake area mission, Rush Point, South Lake and Victoria.

He was assisted by Morley Hodder, of Newfoundland, student minister on the mission for the summer months, and Ralph Watson, of Montreal, who was on the field last year. Mr. Watson is serving this summer at Norwood United Church, Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Watson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vanderburgh over the weekend.

Navy Fights To Keep Bell Bottom Trousers

JOHANNESBURG, Aug. 31 — (Reuters). — South African sailors are not going to lose their bell-bottom trousers and jumpers without a fight.

The government wants to abandon what Defence Minister Francois Erasmus recently called woman's jumpers silly bell-bottom trousers, and soup plate hats of the present British-type uniform.

But Wednesday, the Naval Officers' Association asked Erasmus to receive a delegation to talk over the proposed changes.

Vote To Strike

OAKVILLT, Aug. 31 (CP).—Employees of Oakville Wood Specialties voted Tuesday night to strike Friday unless their demands for a 20-cent wage increase are met. Kim Cooper, president of Local 95 of the International Woodworkers Union (CCL), said 128 workers were affected. They are also asking that the work week be reduced from 48 to 45 hours.

Consider Licences

OTTAWA, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Applications for licences for two new radio stations and for one experimental television station will be considered by the CBC board of governors at meetings in Vancouver Sept. 19-20, it was announced Wednesday night.

Find New Brace Aids Children

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Child sufferers of congenital hip dislocation can thank Dr. Gerald Burke for relief from months in clammy, waist-high casts.

The chief of orthopedics at the Children's Hospital here has invented a brace which is hailed as a major advancement in treatment of the ailment. Officials at the hospital said the brace "completely corrects the condition, usually without surgery if applied early enough."

One hospital spokesman said, in early treatment with the brace, patients who could not hope to walk before their fourth or fifth birthdays, are taking their first steps in the time normal for any healthy child.

The brace consists of a padded metal abdomen and back plate with cross bars that secure the thighs, yet allow the patient complete freedom of movement, even to walking.

Prior to the invention, children spent uncomfortable months in heavy plaster casts up to their waists. To relieve their discomfort, nurses had to turn them in bed at regular intervals.

Unscheduled Walkout

TECUMSEH, Ont., Aug. 31 — (CP).—About 40 non-union employees of Fine Foods of Canada Ltd., walked off their jobs for a short while Wednesday in a wage dispute. They later returned to work after deciding to form a committee to meet with the company on the question.

Ask Certification

WINDSOR, Aug. 31—(CP)—A request for certification of United Automobile Workers (CIO) as bargaining agent for employees of the General Motors Corporation Diesel Plant, London, has been made to the Ontario Labor Relations Board, the union announced here Wednesday.

See Loch Ness Monster Tourists Not Frightened

STRATHPEFFER, Scotland, Aug. 31 — (Reuters). — Scotland's famous Loch Ness monster which has been maintaining coy seclusion since before the Second World War, obligingly rematerialized this week for the benefit of tourists.

A party of 15 tourists here claimed excitedly that they watched the fabulous marine curiosity. Some boast they photographed him, but that the negatives did not turn out.

They said the monster was spotted somewhere near Urquhart Castle, on the lochside, putting up a great foam and travelling fast.

But their descriptions, if accurate, suggest that the monster has shrunk and has swapped his original reputed 30 feet and eyes like car headlights for a drab utility garb.

When, in 1933, the uncanny denizen of the loch's dark depths first shook the world, his alleged fearsome aspect caused strong, bewhiskered Highlanders to bar their doors at night and oil their shotguns.

The latest reports of the monster are lacking in the hair-raising detail associated with his former manifestations.

"We could not see too clearly," one onlooker said, "but it definitely was not frightening."

Capture Trophy

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 31 (CP) —A smart-stepping precision drill team selected from various parts of Western Canada won the Gen. Beau International Challenge Trophy Wednesday by besting a team of cadets of the United States Civil Air Patrol in the third annual international drill competition.

60 Freights Move By 7 A.M.

TORONTO, Aug. 31 (CP). — A total of 60 Canadian Pacific Railway freight trains were rolling in eastern Canada by 7 a.m. EDT, the railway reported today.

During the night 31 pilot trains with reduced loads moved over lines from Saint John to Fort William. Regular freight trains took over soon after. A railway spokesman broke the total down: five in the Maritimes, 18 on Quebec lines, 20 in southern Ontario and 17 in northern Ontario.

Canadian National Railways officials said all Ontario trains will operate out of Toronto on schedule except No. 27 to Stratford and No. 8 to Montreal. These will probably start Friday.

CPR Great Lakes boat service resumes to day when the S.S. Keewatin leaves Port McNicol for Fort William. Sailing light, she will begin regular passenger service Saturday from Fort William.

Crab Fishermen Reap Big Profit From Lucky Find

CORDOVA, Alaska —(AP)— Fishermen of this Alaska coastal town have struck a crab leg bonanza.

With their daily earnings running up into three figures, it looks as though the strike is as rich as any of the lucky oldtime sourdoughs' early day gold findings.

"A yarn that a couple of men were making $300 a day in a new placer gold strike would arouse terrific excitement," wrote Clarence Martin, Cordova Times publisher. "Yet the crab fishermen are making that kind of money—and it is just as good as if it came in nuggets."

Cordova is one of the big producers of canned and frozen crab. The species is known on the Pacific coast as the dungeness. But until recently all of the Cordova area catch was taken from Prince William Sound, adjacent to the town.

Tries His Luck

Because the Sound's crab beds always supplied enough of a catch to make a good living for the fishermen, few of them ever ventured outside.

It was during the closed season in the south that a venturesome fisherman decided about a month ago to try his luck in the Gulf of Alaska—the vast body of North Pacific water that washes the breadth of Alaska's southern coast.

He put out his traps and brought in a first days haul of 3,000 crabs. A Cordova packing plant paid him 15 cents a crab—$450 for his day's efforts.

Big Catches

Soon a half dozen fishermen were working in the same area, each with from 100 to 150 traps. After several weeks of fishing, the boats continued to bring in from 1,800 to 2,500 crabs each. Small boats are manned usually by a man and a boy, or by two men at most, so the daily take has been running $150 to $200 each.

Since the fishermen already had the traps for their Prince William Sound fishing, just about the only additional expense is for the bait and the boat operation.

The fishermen like it because they can leave early in the morning, run out to the gulf, pull their traps and be back in town by evening. The town likes it because it is the biggest flow of steady money it has seen for a long time.

The men and women who process the crab meat are making big pay cheques too. The packing plant crab "shakers"—they literally shake the meat from the shells—are the elite of the packing crews. A skilled "shaker" can remove about 450 pounds of meat a day. At 9½ cents a pound, that's $42.75 for a day's leg shaking.

The crab meat is either canned or quick-froken in gallon cans and shipped to brokers in Seattle and San Francisco.

All this is happening in a season when the crab catch has been slim in such normally happy hunting grounds as Washington State coastal waters.

Happy Cordova fishermen believe they have tapped a vast storehouse of crab meat, and that they have only touched the edges.

South African Sunday

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa —(CP)— There is nothing quite so dull as a South African Sunday, says Mr. and Mrs. A. Sulzberger, honeymooning here. Mr. Sulzberger, the son of Arthur Hays Sulzberger publisher of the New York Times, says: "We get on fine with South Africans during the week, but on Sundays everything closes up, including people."

ITALIAN STOWAWAYS—An unidentified RCMP officer leads two handcuffed stowaways from the Italian freighter Maria Paolina G., which docked in Montreal on Sunday. Six stowaways — all Italians — were found on the vessel, boarded by RCMP in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Immigration officials are trying to determine if an international smuggling ring was responsible for trying to get the men into Canada.

Ohio Youth Catches 14-Pound Channel Cat

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 31 —(ENS)— Eighteen year old Jack Taylor of Wellsville, Ohio, landed a 14 pound channel cat, measuring 34 inches while trolling with a small jointed pikie minnow at Percy Boom on Bradley Bay Monday.

Many channel cats, a species of overgrown catfish, have been landed in these waters, and those catching them say they are excellent eating.

Mr. Taylor has been coming to Campbellford for the past eight years, and says he never fails to take home all the fish he can use—big ones.

Hailed Police Cruiser Man Lands In Court

COBOURG, Aug. 31 —(ENS)— Gerard Martineau of Montreal was remanded for a week when he appeared in court Tuesday on a charge of false pretences by not paying his hotel bill.

Martineau was soliciting business for an outside photographic firm and police said he didn't have any credentials. Chief W. J. Carey said that Martineau was trying to hitchhike out of town but hailed the police car by error and landed back in Cobourg.

Three juveniles, remanded from last week on a charge of breaking into a local plant, were further remanded pending the results of mental examinations for two of them.

Pakistan Parks

KARACHI, Pakistan —(CP)— Six national parks of about 2,000 acres each will be established in the north west frontier province this year and next. Improved roads and picnic areas will be developed. The provincial forest department will establish game reserves in each park.

End Of Pelican

SYDNEY, NS —(CP)— The once-proud wooden flagship of the British fleet, the Pelican, which has protruded from Halifax harbor since 1923, is going to be removed. The harbor board announced that divers will seal the hull and it will be towed out to sea and sunk.

EXECUTION ROCK — This is execution rock, believed used by the Algonquin Indians to kill people. Legend says that one brave predicted before his head was battered against the rock that the strength of his spirit eventually would move the rock over a nearby precipice into the Ottawa River and free the spirits of all those killed. Residents claim the 2,000 cubic foot rock moved 14 inches this year.

Bagg Brothers of Edgeley Take Eight Cattle Prizes

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — The Bagg brothers—James and Alfred—of Edgeley, Ont., did all right for themselves Wednesday when some of Canada's finest dairy cattle were paraded in the show ring for the $28,000 in prizes at the Canadian National Exhibition's livestock show.

Between them the veteran cattlemen and CNE exhibitors garnered a grand championship, two reserve championships and five first-place ribbons as well as several lesser honors.

James Bagg's prize bull, Brampton Medalion Basil, was judged grand champion Jersey bull in the show. It was the fourth GC ribbon for the four-year-old bull, which won the same ranking at last year's show.

In all four grand champions, all bulls, were declared today. Other cattlemen whose animals took the prized GC awards were: H. V. Howell, Welland; George J. Spring, Thornhill, Ont.; and J. M. Fraser, Streetsville.

Only bulls, calves and non-milking females were judged today. Female grand champions in the four classes will be declared after milking cows are judged Friday.

Their Chance Later

There were no entries from Western Canada in the dairy cattle class. However, western entries are expected to make a good showing in the beef cattle judging later in the show.

Results included:

Sewage Plant Progress Report Made To Council

Primary treatment section of the sewage disposal plant is 95 per cent completed in the present contract of enlargement and alteration that is being carried on by George Hardy Construction Co.

The secondary treatment is 25 per cent completed and sludge disposal 20 per cent, as reported to the Council Tuesday by J. G. Powell, Toronto, of the consulting engineers, Gore and Storrie. Their letter was read by the chairman, Ald. H. Dodds.

The primary treatment includes installation of the four main sewage pumps, the rack house, the grit chambers and the primary sedimentation tanks.

The report on that branch of the work follows: "We have been in touch with the contractors and they have assured us that primary treatment will be put in operation on or about Sept. 1. The four main sewage pumps will be ready to operate by the end of this week (Aug. 21). When the primary tanks are put into operation, it is proposed to pump the settled solids into the outlet sewer until such time as delivery of the sludge to farms can be arranged or until the digestion tanks are in operation.

"Secondary treatment, including the alterations to the aeration tanks, repairs to the air blowers and alterations to the final settling tanks. We do not expect that this secondary treatment will be in operation until sometime in October.

"There is approximately six weeks work in placing new walls in the existing aeration tank. The blowers are to be overhauled and the mechanism in the final tanks reconditioned. All equipment and materials for the installation are now on hand at the site.

"Sludge disposal: The excavation and the foundations of the sludge digestion tank and control building are completed. The wall structures are being delayed approximately ten days because of the lack of cement, and also some of the reinforcing steel is not delivered. We do not expect that the digestion tanks will be completed before the 1st of December, and in operation much before Jan. 1.

"All equipment for installation in the digestion tanks and the tanks control building are on hand except two pumping units and sludge heater. These we understand are in transit. The underground pipes connecting the digestion tank to the various pumping stations have been installed and only short lengths remain to be completed. This will be done after the concrete work is finished."

The Council has already considered disposal of the sludge. One offer has been tentatively received for removal and distribution presumably for fertilizer.

SOFTBALL FOR SOCCER

A softball game between the Mutuals and Oshawa, the second in their OASA series, will be played at the Bowl tonight at 8:30 as part of the centennial sports week. This game will replace the soccer game which had to be cancelled.

DIES IN ST. THOMAS

W. E. Little, former chief clerk in the uptown ticket office of the CPR in Peterborough died yesterday in St. Thomas where he had retired less than two months ago. Mr. Little was in the Peterborough office shortly after the First World War.

Trains In And Out Of City Resume Operations Few Hours After Strike Ends

"The 6.10 will leave on time," said the ticket agent at the CPR depot. It was one of the first opportunities he'd had to say so in nine days. The rail strike ended Wednesday night, and this morning trains left every terminal across Canada. Like the 7.10 DST to Toronto, most of the trains left when they were supposed to. There was a local exception. At 8.30 a.m., the CNR train from Belleville pulled in, 17 minutes late. On board were no passengers, two bags of mail and one express parcel.

At the CPR station onlookers gathered to shake hands with the workers and congratulate them on their return to work. It was a happy occasion.

Awaked By Whistles

Some citizens woke this morning to the sound of train whistles. Normally, these citizens would curse the trains, roll over and go back to sleep. This morning, they probably smiled and stayed awake to hear more railway sounds.

After the inter-city trains had gone out, there were still sounds of activity from the tracks. Workers were out at level crossings, clearing dirt away, and yard engines were busily pushing freight cars on and off sidings.

Twenty-four hours from the time the 125,000 strikers reported back for work, all Canadian trains will be running on schedule, railway officials announced this morning.

But officials warned that all trains would not arrive on time. They pointed out that during the nine-day layoff, switches will have rusted and this will slow up many runs.

In the next 24 hours, the pressure will come off the trucking companies. The railway strike has meant much more work for them than they usually handle. They have carried everything from packages of silver dollars to heavy loads of cement.

Express Trucks Busy

In the city, express trucks made their sounds for the first time since the start of the strike.

What happened to the bales of hay for the Peterborough Exhibition that were stuck in an express office is not known.

Campbellford has its alarm clock back again. For nine days, the people of Campbellford have missed the 6.30 train that normally wakes them up. As a result, a lot of people have been late for work. But today, the train was back to call them out of bed.

For some of the Peterborough railway workers, today was the end of a fishing trip. For the past week, they have been out fishing the Cavan trout stream.

And as the trains pulled out of the two Peterborough stations today, there was a hiss of steam that sounded much like a sigh of relief.

Extra freight trains are running to cut down the backlog of freight built up during the nine days of the strike. One of these passed through the city at 8 a.m.

Car drivers will have to be especially careful at level crossings, as these extra freights will be passing through at unscheduled hours for the next few days. Officials in Toronto estimated last night it would take 10 days to ship the extra freight stockpiled because of the strike.

Four Remanded In Belleville On 22 Charges

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 31 — (Special) — The four youths charged with the August 20 robbery of a Madoc service station were today remanded for sentence one week by Magistrate T. Y. Wills.

They pleaded guilty a week ago to 22 charges including attempted armed robbery. The attempted armed robbery occurred at Rossmore, south of Belleville.

They are: Orville King, 18, Toronto; Thomas Henry, 22, Toronto; John DeSeno, 18, Oshawa; and William Balley, 18, Kingston.

Arrested Near Marmora

They were arrested early in the morning of August 21 by provincial police after an eight-hour search in the vicinity of Marmora. They abandoned their car one mile east of Marmora after provincial police sighted them.

Provincial Corporal John Hatch of Madoc testified the four had taken $15 from a Belleville service station, money from a Picton gas station, and money and milk tickets from a Kingston dairy.

In the attempted armed robbery at Rossmore, they tried to hold up service station operator Elmer Osterhout with a revolver. In addition, King and Henry are charged with breaking and entering the Bata Shoe Company plant at Picton and stealing money there.

53 Boys Leave To Sing At CNE

Fifty-three boys from the Legion boys' choir left Peterborough early today to appear at the Canadian National Exhibition, one of three boys' choirs from Ontario chosen to attend. The boys were accompanied by Charles Foster, secretary of the Trojan boys' club, and director, Walter Bent.

The choir made appearances this afternoon at the art gallery court, the Ontario government building, the horticultural building, the band shell and the main grandstand. Friday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. the entire choir will be at the Fairex theatre.

Boys' Concert Adds $150 To Clark Fund

Receipts at the Trojan Club concert at Warsaw Tuesday night amounted to $150 for the Bobby Clark Fund.

Contributions received today by the Examiner were:

Employees of Unit Repair Department of the Canadian General Electric Company, $13.71; Mr. D. Clement, $2; Miss June Gunn, $1; Mrs. Harriet Kidd and family $10.

Warsaw people turned out in large numbers Tuesday night in spite of rain, to greet the Trojan Boys' Choir, and they were entertained with an interesting program by the youngsters from the south west end of the city in the vicinity of Turner Park.

The club members wish to thank the following men for providing their cars for transportation to Warsaw and back: Ed Simmons, Richard Hocking, Harry Hartle, Ronald Bassett, Angus Bradley, Max Fowler, Arthur Murphy, Tom Atkinson, Lloyd Long.

The Women's Institute of Warsaw, sponsors of the Bobby Clark Fund, served refreshments for the Trojans after the concert. Reeve Stewart Clysdale congratulated them on their abilities, and thanked them heartily for putting on the concert for such a good cause. He said Warsaw would welcome the Trojans back any time they could come.

Wally Bent, director of the choir, was in charge of the program, and Mr. Lloyd Long, Trojan Club president, said the members were glad to co-operate with the Women's Institute in their effort to collect a fund for Bobby Clark.

Mrs. Kenneth Hogg, 191 Brock St., badly fractured her right knee when she fell while hanging out her washing Wednesday.

The clothes line pulled out from the spot where it had been anchored in the house. She lost her balance and fell. She was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Parcels Congest Post Office As Trains Return

Parcels and second class mail accumulating during the nine-day railway strike arrived at the city Post Office today as trains came to Peterborough from east and west. But there is no storage space at the Peterborough Post Office, which the city has long outgrown, and the result is heavy congestion.

It'll take the remainder of the week to clear the bags of parcels, 57 bags of second class mail and 10 bags of third class mail.

On the ready for the heavy deliveries, the Post Office staff started sorting as soon as the first load came in today. Some of the backlog was sorted and has been delivered already, but it will take a day or two to clear everything.

There were no serious difficulties or holdups of first class mail during the strike. The special mail trucks operating between Peterborough, Ottawa, Port Hope Belleville and Toronto via Lindsay were able to keep the first class mail moving efficiently. They are not required today, since train 63, from Belleville, arrived in the city at 8:45 a.m. with its load of mail.

During the strike Post Office men were sent to two of the industrial plants in the city to sort the parcel post, with the result that it was sent out directly today without any further delay.

"The splendid co-operation of the public was a major factor in the efficiency with which the Post Office was able to carry on during the strike," officials said today.

Bags Seven Skunks In Past 2 Weeks

Three skunks in three days and seven skunks in two weeks is the record of the combined operations of city police and Superintendent Bill Stanbury of Martin-Hewitt Containers Limited.

Constable William G. Scott despatched a skunk this morning using a shot gun. It was the third in as many days shot by the police. Mr. Stanbury had set traps for them and called police to deal the final blows.

Mr. Stanbury said they had been bothered with skunks for some time around the plant. The skunks were prowling around outside and inside when they could get in. No one was safe.

He decided to do something about it and scouted around for the skunk's home. He found it in an unused drain pipe in a field behind their plant.

He set up traps and soon was catching almost a skunk a day. Now they are wondering how long the supply of skunks is going to last.

Increase In Milk Price Sought By Dairy Farmers

Overtures for an increase of one cent a quart in the retail price of milk reflect the firm market for both beef and dairy cattle. Present price in Peterborough is 18 cents a quart. Milk producers in the Toronto market are asking for an increase of 17½c per hundred pounds, from $4.07½ to $4.25. Negotiations have been opened between the dairy farmers who produce milk and the distributors who process and deliver it.

Current price in Toronto is 19 cents a quart. If the application of the producers is accepted by distributors the price there would advance to at least 20 cents.

The retail price in Ottawa moved up one cent a quart Friday from 18 to 19 cents. Negotiations are under way in Vancouver, Winnipeg and Quebec.

Ontario Whole Milk Producers including the dairy farmers of Peterborough, have asked for revision of the present prices in their markets at a meeting to be held in Toronto Thurs., Sept. 7.

Eddie Butler, president of the Peterborough Whole Milk group, said today that agreements between the producers and distributors are usually made on a yearly basis. Present contract was drafted for the year ending Sept. 30. But, in the meantime discussions may be reopened, and that is the purpose of the meeting to be held next week.

Wiliam J. Ovens, manager of Campbell's Dairy, said today that actually the retail price could be amended one week after any change in agreement was concluded.

Milk distributors are naturally concerned about the reaction of consumers to the market conditions as they ultimately affect the public. The dairies have to sell the milk after they buy and pasteurize it, and consumers are inclined to associate the distributors with any price advance. That is the experience of the trade.

"There is no surplus of milk in the province today," Mr. Ovens said. "Dairy farmers have had a consistently good market for their cows, and have sold a lot of them for export.

Further depletion of dairy herds has been caused by sale of many animals in the meat market."

Dairy farmers have been advised to cull their herds, get rid of the low producing animals when the opportunity was before them, as it has been in recent years, and especially since beef prices moved up substantially as an effect of the heavy exports of beef cattle and meat to the United States.

Those two factors, Mr. Ovens said, were plainly reacting today on Ontario's volume of milk.

There are fewer dairy cattle in the country because dairy farmers have been thinning out their herds. The general market for their profitable producers has been attractive, and the culls draw a good price for the meat trade.

Higher prices for milk sold to processors of concentrated milk were also urged Wednesday at the semi-annual meeting of the Ontario Concentratad Milk Producers' Association in Toronto.

John Welburn of Caledonia said farmers should strike for higher prices instead of "dilly-dallying."

He told delegates representing 14,500 members: "We should set our objective, go after it, and if we don't get it we should do what the others fellows do: Strike."

MISSING for eight days now, Chester Vipond, 55, Toronto, is being sought in the Peterborough district by police. There is no suspicion of foul play. He was last seen entering a Coe Hill restaurant on August 24 accompanied by a short, heavyset man. He recently underwent a nasal operation and his family fear he may be suffering loss of memory. (Police Department photo).

3 Students Win $100 Bursaries

Three St. Peter's High School students will receive $100 dominion-provincial student-aid bursarise as they go into Grade XIII.

The Ontario student-aid program this year calls for bursaries totalling $260,000 of which the dominion government's share is $60,000.

Recipients of the bursaries are Rita Casey, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Casey, 211 Rogers St.; Arthur Jones, 17, son of Mrs. Gladys Jones, 371 Wolsley St.; and Harold O'Neill, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Neill, 588 Charlotte St.

All three students were graduated this year from Grade XII at St. Peter's and are going back this fall term for the Grade XIII general course.

100 Laid Off Go Back To Work At Quaker Today

Company officials and the 600 employees of the Quaker Oats Co. can breathe a deep sigh of relief now that the railway strike is over.

Just before news came of the return-to-work order, some 300 employees — approximately half the payroll—had been temporarily laid off. Quaker Oats was the hardest hit of any large local industry, because it is almost totally dependent on rail service.

Lewis H. Ingram, vice-president estimated that 100 more employees had returned to work by 9 a.m. today.

"By Tuesday they should all be back and production will be going full swing," he said.

The CPR took away some loaded cars early today and the CNR shunter took some more at noon. Both left a number of empty cars. It is expected that 50 carloads will have been shipped by noon Saturday.

Storage space has been a key problem since the strike began and the flour, feed and cereals that have accumulated in that time are being replaced by incoming ingredients necessary to maintain production.

"We've lost a lot of business that we can't expect to pick up," was Mr. Ingram's final remark.

Telephone Relieved

Another local company that is more than glad the tie-up is over is the Bell Telephone Co. Telephone "traffic" was not as heavy as feared but it required the hiring of extra help and overtime by the regular switchboard staff.

When telegraph service was cut off it meant the telephone lines had to do double duty.

A priority system was set up so that in case of delay long-distance calls, dealing with perishable food orders as well as public health and safety, would be completed first.

2,500 Calls A Day

On normal days there are anywhere from 2,500 to 2,600 long distance phone calls but last Thursday and Friday more than 2,900 were put through. The catch is that the extra calls mainly came at peak hours, when the girls on the switchboard were already hard pressed.

This meant a prolongation of the peak periods—generally 10-10.30 a.m. and 7-9 p.m. Several times the rush lasted till nearly midnight.

There was no CNR way-freight pulling into Campbellford early today so there will be a delay in attaining full production at the Gair Co. At present 50 men are laid off.

Twenty to 30 cars (each with a load of 17 cords of wood) are reported on their way to Campbellford. If the shipment arrives by Friday full production should start Monday midnight.

A car and a half of processed woodpulp is waiting on the rails to be shipped.

Railway Strikers Back To Work Within Few Minutes Of Order

By R. J. ANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Slowly at first, then with gathering power, life came back today to the arteries of a nation. Canada's railway strike was over

For the moment, which side had won the greatest, single labor dispute in the country's history was an academic question. Across the land, all energies were bent upon a quick return to work of the 124,000 men and women whose walkout 10 days ago brought home forcibly to Canadians how dependent they are upon the slender threads of steel which span a continent.

Without hesitation railroad and telegraph workers responded in their thousands Wednesday night when emergency legislation passed by parliament in special session directing them to return to work became law at 9:56 p.m. EDT. They waited only for their leaders' directive: "Return to work." That came at 10:15 in a coast-to-coast broadcast from Ottawa.

Union Order

The order from union leaders Frank Hall and A. R. Mosher ended for the Dominion's 14,000,000 people nine days of near-paralysis in transportation and telegraph communications, services vital to a land of broad forest and bushland, much of it inaccessible except by railway. There was no doubt that the wages-hours strike against the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways was the costliest in the country's history.

Forty thousand miles of railroad were tied up when members of 15 international and two Canadian union—all non-operating employees—struck at 6 a.m. local time Aug. 22. Thousands of other non-striking railway men in the running trades were thrown out of work because the trains could not run without telegraphers, clerks, express workers and other skilled employees. Additional thousands in industries dependent upon rail services were laid off.

Move Fast

The story was the same across the country. Calgary reported railway men on duty 45 minutes after the back-to-work order was given. Almost as fast was Vancouver's show-up—and Saskatoon's, and Montreal's and Moncton's. At 10.27 p.m. EDT, a laid-off foreman reported for duty in Mimico, Toronto suburb, to unlock a roundhouse.

On most divisions it was not necessary to send pilot trains over the rusty rails before passenger trains could use them. Throughout the strike lines were patrolled by supervisory officers. The first freight train out of the CNR's London, Ont., yards, however, was to carry 75 per cent of its normal load to test tracks, switches and safety devices on the main line out of that city.

In industry in general, too, the pulse of business life quickened. Many firms which had laid off employees as a result of the rail strike prepared to resume full operations. The International Nickel Company of Canada, anticipatoing the strike's end, Wednesday recalled 690 of the 2,250 men it laid off a week ago. The company's operations at several Northern Ontario points had all but ceased because of the rail walkout.

But though the rail strike had ended, British Columbia still was without coastal shipping. The only major steamship line operating there during the strike halted service last Friday when the Seafarers' International Union (AFL) struck for higher wages. The union then prepared to strike CPR and CNR steamship services when the rail tie-up ended and Wednesday night the railways announced that no ship service would resume until negotiations with the SIU were completed.

Members Give Blood Needed By President

ROSENEATH, Aug. 31 (ENS)—Members of Roseneath Agricultural Society donated blood for their president, who underwent a serious operation in Toronto General Hospital Monday.

F. J. Slade, president of the Agricultural Society for 24 years, required blood transfusions after his operation and the members went to Toronto to give their blood.

Under Mr. Slade's supervision, Roseneath fair has developed into one of the major fairs in Ontario.

Those who donated blood were: Perry Brisbin, Flex McMillan, Clarke Mouncey, James Waldie, and Fred Ferguson.

Mr. Murray Thackeray provided transportation.

No Pipes, Medals For Welsh Bards

CAERNARVON, Wales (CP)—The Rev. A. E. Jones, the new Welsh arch druid, has ideas of his own how bards should comport themselves.

During the Eisteddfod, the Welsh drama and music festival, he will insist on rigid observance of the following rules:

Iron out the creases after bardic robes have been stored away in the cupboard for months.

March smartly in processions, don't slouch.

Pass up the pipe or cigaret while on parade.

Don't wear medals—they are an irregularity and an eyesore.

Said Mr. Jones: "I will tolerate no slovenliness."

Found In Tut's Tomb Seeds Grow In West

CALGARY—(CP)—Seeds from an original pod of garden peas taken from the tomb of King Tutankhamen in Egypt after 4,970 years of neglect have been planted in the Calgary gardens of J. G. Molstad and James Doherty.

The seeds have yielded stalks about seven feet tall and at last report they were still growing. The stalks grew one-quarter of an inch a day during rainy weather.

The original peas were found in King Tut's tomb during Lord Carnarvon's Egyptian Archaeological expedition in 1922-23. They were found in a hermetically-sealed jar, exactly as they had been left 4,970 years before.

One of the expedition's archaeologists brought a pod of the ancient peas to England where they were planted. The seeds were later planted in various centres of the United States.

Judge Lewis L. Fawcett of Brooklyn, N.Y., sent some of the seeds to Mr. Doherty in Calgary.

Elephant In Britain Dollar Earner

THAXTED, Essex, England —(Reuters)— Jeannie, an eight-feet-high "elephant" which carried a party of children through this little village recently, has bones of steel, gasoline-filled arteries and a gear-shift behind her left ear.

Jeannie, who from a few yards away looks exactly like an elephant from the Malayan jungle, has an eight-horse-power engine inside her grey felt hide. She is Britain's biggest toy.

Her Scottish creator, mechanic Frank Stuart, who spent about $25,000 in experiments during the last six years now sells models for $3,360, spare parts included.

He began work on Jeannie (named after his wife) because he though live elephants too expensive to buy and keep.

Legs Ripple

Secret of Jeannie's life-like movement is her legs, operated by compressed air, like the struts of airplane under-carriages around them the inch-thick hide ripples realistically as she ambles along.

Weighing one ton—about a third of a normal elephant's weight—Jeannie reaches 27 miles an hour in top gear. She carries 12 children at a time in her howdah, plus a "manhout" handling the controls behind her big ears.

United States buyers have already ordered five, Canada two and Africa and Australia one each.

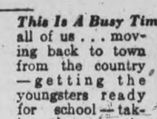
This Is A Busy Time Of Year for all of us . . . moving back to town from the country—getting the youngsters ready for school—taking them to the C.N.E. But you'll find that the rush and bustle won't bother you if you take "time out" for tea, at home or at the Blue Ribbon booth in The Food Products Building at the Exhibition. The most refreshing tea I know is BLUE RIBBON TEA! It should be good for it's made from some of the very finest India and Ceylon teas. It's made of tea leaves picked in the "full-flavour" months at the peak of their quality. So make a relaxing habit of "Blue Ribbon tea time"—at any time of day! So delicious—yet so economical! In half or one pound packages or the convenient two cup size tea bags.



And Back To School they go! But, mothers, may I suggest right now while you're busy outfitting the children for school opening, that you insist on seeing the NEOLITE mark on the soles of all shoes you buy. Economy-wise Neolite outwears leather over 2 to 1—it's light, pliable and needs no "breaking in". Neolite does not cause itchy feet, perspiration, foot odours or foot burning . . . and, how much you'll appreciate the fact that these sturdy soles help prevent colds arising from wet feet, for Neolite is completely waterproof. Buy Neolite for all the family—you really can't get a more healthful shoe sole.

You Might Find A Needle In A Haystack, but you'll never find anything to equal the new 1950 FRIGIDAIRE "Thrifty-30" ELECTRIC RANGE! It's the biggest little range in the world . . . with a giant oven that stretches clear across the range! Has new, faster-cooking, 5-Speed Radiantube Units, new counter-balanced shelf-type door, High-Speed, Waist-High Broiler. Yet this new Frigidaire "Thrifty-30" Electric Range is just 30 inches wide to "fit" small kitchens—and at its price it's a typically outstanding General Motors value! Quiet Confidence Keynotes German Occupation Force

HEIDELBERG — (Reuters) — Occupation forces in West Germany are calm in the face of the present international situation.

Visitors from the United States say the occupation forces are much less jittery than plain citizens back home.

Quiet confidence is the keynote, despite the Korean war and the fact that the occupation troops represent hardly more than a corporal's guard compared with the Communist forces which could confront their positions along the Iron Curtain borders.

This spirit is prevalent not only among the soldiers but among their wives and the civilians working with them.

There has been no reshuffling of the thin screen of United States troops in line with events in Korea. Security measures have been only slightly tightened and training is continuing normally.

If the United States has plans to reinforce its troops in Germany, there are no signs of such a step at present.

News Centre

The only outward indication of concern over the fighting in Korea is a Korean news centre which has been established at European Command headquarters. A ticker has been installed and the latest bulletins on the Korean fighting pour in over 24 hours of the day.

The morale of the average army family was probably never higher. Army recreation centres at the Henren Chiemsee Lake and at Berchtesgaden, in Bavaria, are doing a roaring trade.

Nevertheless, the watch on the American-Soviet zonal border is becoming increasingly vigilant. The Russians are estimated to have about 300,000 troops in Germany, most of them in combat units. They are supported by 50,000 Germans organized into "ready squads," said to have been drilled with tanks and artillery.

Facing the Russians are about 50,000 American troops in combat units and another 40,000 in administrative organizations.

A favorite topic of speculation where Americans meet is how long it would take the Russians to sweep across Germany.

Estimates vary from two days to two weeks.

WOMAN GOLF WINNER—Dot Kielty, right, of Los Angeles, Calif., won the Canadian Women's Open Golf championship when she defeated Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., 5 and 4 in a 36-hole final. Miss Kielty was two up on the defending champion when this photo was taken at the half-way mark, of the par-72 St. Charles Golf Club at Winnipeg.

Three Big Bottlenecks Plug Aussie War Efforts

SYDNEY, Australia — (CP) — Korea has made Australia look to its resources and estimate how quickly they could be switched over to war needs.

Overall there has been an increase in population and industrial potential since 1945.

But the three big bottlenecks of 1943-45 still remain—coal, steel, transport, with coal the key to the whole set up.

For lack of steel railway tracks and rolling stock are in poor shape and the steel shortage is almost entirely the result of lack of coal.

Steel making in Australia is concentrated at Newcastle and Port Kembla (New South Wales) with a small works at Whyalla (South Australia).

Not Enough

New South Wales coal output is about 11,000,000 tons a year. Industry needs at least 15,000,000 tons.

Steel-plants get first priority for coal after the needs of railways, gas-making and power generation have been met.

That first priority is not enough. The steel industry gets only 2,500,000 tons of coal in a year when it needs 3,300,000 tons.

Steel output as a result runs about 1,300,000 tons a year instead of an estimated capacity production of about 1,750,000 tons.

Coal Imported

Coal is being imported from India and Britain to meet the position but it is dear and the quality not entirely satisfactory.

About 500,000 tons of steel will also be imported this year at high prices.

The railways—key to Australia's transport system—are hampered by lack of coal for steaming and steel for rolling stock and tracks.

Services have been reduced because of shortage of coal and of rolling stock.

On the main line from Sydney to Brisbane—a strategic base in an Asiatic war—the track is in such poor condition that speeds have been reduced [illegible] heavy engines withdrawn.

Deterioration of the railroads has led to a big increase in road haulage hitherto discouraged by a prohibitive tax on freight carlic owned railways.

ried in competition with the pub-

As a result the main highways never designed for heavy loads hauled at high speeds have begun to break up.

Recent floods have done immense damage to the roads.

Sweden Has Rejected Insulting Red Note

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 31 — (Reuters)—The Swedish Foreign Office today rejected outright a Russian diplomatic note accusing her of illegally imprisoning a Latvian subject and deporting two others.

Sweden's reply, handed to the Soviet Embassy here, said:

"As this note contains accusations against the Swedish authorities which are without foundation and, therefore, insulting in form and content, the Swedish Foreign Office has no reason to consider it.

"The note, therefore, is rejected."

Cannon Shots Fired At Beecham Concert

LONDON —(CP)— Sir Thomas Beecham, Britain's noted music-maestro, who normally insists on absolute quiet at his concerts, will give free rein to noise when he wields the baton at the Edinburgh Festival this month.

Sir Thomas, known to have reprimanded his audiences for insufficient attention, or a distracting cough, has agreed to conduct massed bands at an open-air performance of Handel's "Music for the Royal Fireworks."

The score calls for 101 cannon shots as a prelude and 18 shots during the playing of the music. Normally, the booming background effects are omitted, but when Sir Thomas was asked if he minded including it, his unexpected answer was a mild, "not at all."

Halifax Cathedral Raised To Basilica

HALIFAX — (CP) — St. Mary's Cathedral, built in 1820, has been raised to the rank of a basilica. It stands at the corner of Barrington Street and Spring Garden Road, in the heart of Halifax.

The church announcement said: "While this is little more than an honorary title, it bestows special distinction on the cathedral church of Halifax.

"It is an ancient title, coming from Roman uses even before Christ, and adapted to early Christian worship, especially after liberation of the church by the Emperor Constantine. The name is derived from the Greek word basilikos, kingly."

Press Club Meets

HALIFAX, Aug. 31 (CP).—C. R. McElhiney, president of the National Press Club of Canada, said today the club's first annual meeting will be held as scheduled this weekend in Toronto. McElhiney's announcement came in the wake of the end of the rail strike. The meeting originally was scheduled for Labor Day weekend but the date was in doubt while railway operations were halted across the country.

THE SHORT-CIRCUITING of fish worms carefully brought from Toronto here provides Sam. Hunter, the cartoonist, the subject for a bit of the gentle raillery that added to the zest of camp life at Stony Lake. The box of worms labelled "E.L.R." belonged to Edmund L. (Ned) Roberts who for many years was secretary of the old Metropolitan School of Music, in Toronto. W. O. Forsythe, then the school's musical director, also was a cottage guest.

THERE WERE HOUSING PROBLEMS, too, at the turn of the century, when the above was drawn by Sam. Hunter, the eminent cartoonist, at his cottage, on Stony Lake. Houses now are usually too small. The reverse side of the equation is pictured here. The footgear was that of "C. C.B." (Charlie C. Brayley, brother-in-law of the artist, who then spent his summer at the cottage). The prospective feathered tenant's remark: "It's a larger house than I really need but I'll take it," is not often echoed these days.

Stony Lake Beauty Will Ever Live On In Cartoonist Sam Hunter's Drawings

By RICHARD F. CHOATE

A Beauty Show of about 50 summers ago is recalled to mind by a collection of eight drawings by the late Sam Hunter, for many years the greatest and best-loved of Canadian cartoonists, which remained until recently in their cut-out frames of birch-bark on the walls of his cottage, at McCracken's Landing, Stony Lake.

The participants in the show, all feathered beauties, represented Kawartha's glorious summer colony of song birds, believed to be the largest and most varied of its kind on the continent. No artificial glamor; no cosmetics or "falsies"; no borrow plumage were needed in this show of beauty unadorned.

The Examiner is fortunate in finding it possible to reproduce herewith two of these drawings which give us an intimate glimpse of a little known side of the temper and genius of the artist, whose daily cartoons exerted a powerful formative, or corrective, influence on the political life of his time. A lively time, it was, indeed,—that of Macdonald; of Laurier; of Borden and King; and of Mowat, Ross, Whitney, et al, in Provincial affairs.

Withdraw To Stony Lake

For three months each summer, let the heathen rage never so horribly in the political camps, Sam Hunter withdrew to "Pepacton", his camp on the Stony Lake shore. Here he was attuned to the spiritual world of Thoreau, of Richard Jefferies, of John Burroughs and their kindred. Rain or shine, he rambled daily in woods and fields, usually carrying binoculars and a home-made birch-bark basket which he would bring home laden with raspberries or mushrooms, topped, perhaps, with sprays of seasonal wild flowers.

But it was in the birdland of the forested Dummer shore that his enthusiasm reached its highest pitch, mounting to a veritable incandescence if a hermit thrush was toward and disposed to lead the rocky way through miles of primeval bush country.

About the turn of the century Sam Hunter began work on his "Beauty Show". The learned judges were the Owl and the Crow seated upon a stump. About them were perched members of all the local bird families which were within the ornithological ken of the artist.

Beautifully drawn in pen-and-ink and water color, it is of a type with the other jeu d'esprit pictures which were called into being at the moment, for the moment, in the sheer joy of a summer interlude of leisure and recreation. The all - embracing Beauty Show ended as another "Unfinished Symphony". Perhaps it was better so. Drawn on a full-sized sheet of Whatman paper it had grown bit by bit, as color washes widened. But as the work progressed vision widened, also, and bird figures, accurately sketched in, remained without the final touches. Looking at it today the writer is reminded of an old friend who was wont to carry in his pocket for months some dearly loved book, resolutely refusing to read the concluding chapter which would bring him to the extremity of imagination and a poignant sigh of "It is finished!"

Bits Of Drollery

The other drawings are in the main bits of dollery, depicting the contribution of the birds to a happy camp life. Shafts of gentle humor are directed at times toward the artist's boon companions, Charlie Brayley (brother of Mrs. Hunter) and E. L. (Ned) Roberts, secretary of the old Metropolitan School of Music, Toronto, then directed by W. O. Forsythe. One of the caricatures introduces the night-capped head of the genial "Charlie" protruding from an upper window and hurling maledictions upon an early-rising woodpecker which was striving mightily to puncture a tin-pipe chimney.

Not so gentle were depictions of the woodland ghouls who aimlessly chopped down trees, leaving a litter of wasted decaying wood which created a fire hazard in the midst of noble groves. Conservation lessons, these, of an earlier day—yet the world needs them still and plenty of them.

Every morning, coming as regularly as the sunrise, was Sam Hunter's before-breakfast walk down the woods path to get his pail of water from the cold depths of the old McCracken's spring. Bounding along beside him was his mettlesome collie. But equally regular, too, was the gathering of a knot of the early-rising local residents, including perhaps (in earlier years) the redoubtable red-bearded "Bob" McCracken, about to set forth on his round of island cottages with his canoe-load of lamb (fresh-killed) and milk and eggs: or perhaps Dick Crowe, the genuine artist whose adze hewed out wharf timbers with the smoothness of a planer; or, again, Jack Hunter who seemed to have a speaking acquaintance with every 'lunge or bass in the lake; or some of the guides from the hotel. In the midst of such a galaxy of story-telling talent who would move hurriedly in any direction, even if breakfast beckoned? Certainly not Sam Hunter, who was at home among the real people who counted.

Born In Millbrook

Sam Hunter, born in Millbrook, son of Captain John Hunter, established his Stony Lake summer camp in the nineties in a large tent on the point at McCracken's, the site which was occupied later by "Eko Camp" a lively, congenial group of Peterborough's budding young business men. But, as Kipling put it, "that is another story".

The Hunter cottage, built in the same year, 1897, as the hotel and store at McCracken's, soon became the centre of a group of art and literary workers. The changing personnel included figures who had won, or were destined to win, national and international distinction. So quiet and informal were these unplanned gatherings that few other Stony Lake sojourners became aware of their presence unless they noticed by chance the inordinate outcropping of liberty ties.

In a large tent near the cottage might have been found in one year "Jack" Innes, later the virile "Cowboy Artist" of Western Canada, and Boer War artist-correspondent of the Toronto Mail; and with him as tent-mate perhaps C. M. Kahrs, of Toronto, who came to renown as a sketch artist and illustrator for a leading San Francisco daily.

In another midsummer, the casual visitor would have found probably Carl Ahrens, enigmatic genius, who for a time became a member of Elbert Hubbard's celebrated band of Roycrofters at East Aurora, N.Y. (near Buffalo), remaining until the time when the inevitable temperamental differences with "Fra Elbertus" revealed that life could proceed smoothly only with Ahrens at one end of the village and Hubbard at the other. Through many vicissitudes, Carl Ahrens continued his work as a landscapist in oils and water-colors, provoking endless controversy, until his whole production came under the monetary sponsorship of an admirer of his art (Malcolm S. Mercer, I believe).

Ahrens Humor

The writer recalls a typical specimen of the wry and taciturn humor of Ahrens in his Stony Lake days. Chancing to notice a particularly unseaworthy canoe owned by the writer and laid aside with a gaping hole in its side, Ahrens, forthwith borrowed it to carry out a sketching reconnaissance. Recurrently he would return with the inquiry: "Will you be good enough to lend me again that canoe that you keep for your particular friends who come to ask favors?"

A fast and prolific worker, Ahrens in later years produced many paintings, most of them woodland interiors which were assured of a future as a collection. Through the years talented artists, writers and musicians were among the sojourners at "Pepacton".

Sam Hunter who died in Toronto in 1939 began his career as a cartoonist in the days when reproduction facilities were slow and precarious. For many years he and J. W. Bengough, of the old Toronto Globe and the weekly "Grip", who gave witty "chalk talks", were the best known of the few Canadian caricaturists. Sam Hunter, after some preliminary work with the Toronto Daily News, began his long association with W. F. Maclean (one-time East York M.P.) of the Toronto World. Here he took an effective part in the heat and burden of the fights for such causes as those of Sunday street cars and more stringent public control of railways and their rates. On the demise of The World he joined The Globe (under Stewart Lyon), which long before had sought his services; and through his latter years was with the Toronto Daily Star, to which he was welcomed by J. E. Atkinson.

In the years round about 1903, Sam Hunter, aside from his daily work, contributed to The Moon, a Toronto comic weekly started under the editorship of Knox Magee. For the Moon he produced many drawings of which a large number were inspired by the drolleries of the life and times at his beloved Stony Lake.

The talented son of Millbrook, who drew and painted well, who wrote well, and who observed well in the outdoors, gave to his thousands of black-and-white pictures an indigenous Kawartha quality which shone out especially in his mirroring of bits of the ineffable scenic charm of Birdland.

IPPC-New Chemical Aids Spuds

LONDON —(CP)— Birth control for potatoes is the latest idea of British scientists.

A new powder, IPPC or isopropylpyhesylcarbamate, inhibits the "motherly instinct" in a potato and stops it from prouting.

Annually, nearly 500,000 tons of potatoes start sprouting during storage and become useless for eating.

"If potatoes are sprayed with the powder dissolved in water before storage, sprouting can be ended," manufacturers claim.

Wives of the scientists volunteered to test the treated potatoes Report: No effect on flavor.

Pre-Nuptial Events

Many friends have honored Miss Peggy Houghton in the several weeks previous to her marriage to Mr. Rowland Burley of Port Hope which took place Wednesday. A number of entertainments were also given for her. Mrs. Owen Amundsen, Charlotte St. W., entertained at a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. W. Jones Jr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones were cohostesses at the Cambridge St. home of Mrs. Jones Sr. to relatives and friends, who were received on the attractively lighted lawn. Girls of the Westclox balance wheel department where she had worked gave a supper party in the cafeteria and honored Miss Houghton with a shower of gifts. Employees of the department also presented a floor lamp. Lakefield Cubs, for whom she was the organizing Akela, were joined by their Mothers' Auxiliary in a surprise party at which the bride received two lovely gifts.

Peggy Houghton Bride of Rowland Burley

Miss Gertrude (Peggy) Houghton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Houghton, 545 Murray St., on Wednesday afternoon became the bride of Mr. Rowland McCullough Burley, son of Mr. Frederick Burley and the late Mrs. Burley of Port Hope, in a quiet ceremony which took place in St. John's Anglican Church. Their vows were pledged before Venerable Archdeacon W. P. Robertson.

The petite bride was lovely in her shorter length dress of white embossed satin and small hat of matching satin with ostrich plume, and she carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white gladioli petals.

Given in marriage by her father she was attended by her sister Mrs. Thomas Rosebush who wore ice blue satin with hat in claret wine shade and accessories the same. Her flowers were yellow roses in a corsage.

Mr. Samuel Morgan of Peterborough, formerly of Port Hope, was the groomsman.

After an informal reception at the bride's home the couple left by motor for a trip through Algonquin Park and northern Ontario. When going away the bride was wearing a grey taffeta dress with hat and short coat in fall red shade and grey accessories.

Before her marriage, Miss Houghton was a very popular Akela in the Cub Association of this city and district and during several years stay in England identified herself with the Girl Guides and the Cubs and represented Canada at gathering outside Buckingham Palace which was reviewed by the Royal Family.

Mr. and Mrs. Burley will live at 101 Walton St. in Port Hope.

Holidayer Hopes To Win Parcel For British Lady

Anticipated events of hometown life are remembered even while following a busy schedule several thousand miles away.

Mrs. F. J. Parson of 588 Sherbrooke St., who is holidaying with relatives in England, has written about the parcel draw which takes place at each monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion. She is hoping to be the lucky winner next month so that her parcel may be sent overseas and bring joy to an 80-year-old lady who has few pleasures. She gives the address for sending it in a letter to Auxiliary president Mrs. A. Mason.

Mr. Parsons, who accompanied his wife on the plane trip over, has returned to the city, but Mrs. Parsons is remaining until late September.

Male Opponents Don't Frighten Business Women

TORONTO, Aug. 31 — (CP) — Canadian business women took a look Wednesday at their male competition and decided they needn't be too worried:

The occasion was a get-together at the Canadian National Exhibition of a group of 11 Ontario career women. Here are some of their comments about men:

Miss Louise Girvan, Toronto travel service owner: "I am not at all worried about male competition and I prefer women to do business with. They come into the office and get all steamed up about a trip. Then they come back with their husbands and we end up by making the arrangements just like the ladies wanted in the first place."

Ella van de Mark, Toronto interior decorator: "I don't find men any competition at all. I would rather do business with men than women. Men are more likely to know what they want."

Violet Keene, Oakville, photographer: "As customers, women are usually more generous than men. They order larger photographs of themselves than men do."

Peggy O'Neill, Grimsby, hotel owner: "Male competition can be tough. Men are like animals and have to be softened up."

Mayor Harold Cleave, Georgetown, and one of two lone males at the gathering, replied meekly to the barrage: "We men are very scared here today."

HonorNewlyweds In Norwood Home

Horticulture Hints

SUPPORTS WILL HELP

Winds, rains, and sometimes just the weight of their own blooms or fruits, will play hob with big plants. Unless supported often they will be toppled over when just at their best.

For bushy flowers like peonies, wire bent in the shape of a hoop and supported about a foot or so from the ground, is excellent. For slender, taller plants such as tomatoes, dahlias, delphiniums, three to six foot stakes are recommended. These can be stained green or brown and won't be noticeable. In tying plants to these, very soft twine or special raffia or ties are used. The main thing is to support firmly without binding the soft plant too tightly, and to do this early so that growth will not be cramped and look unnatural. Once they start growing quickly staked tomatoes will require pruning (nipping off all side shoots) and tying once a week.

DOROTHY DIX

No More Risk In Adopting Child Than in Having Own

DEAR MISS DIX: I have applied to a child-caring agency for adoption of a baby girl to raise and care for as my own, but I am bewildered by advice to the contrary. My friends insist that I am making a mistake in taking a child I know nothing about on the old theory that what is born in the bone cannot be whipped out of the hide.

Dorothy Dix

Naturally, I can't agree. My husband and I believe that a child raised in a good home and educated in the right way will be a blessing to us in the years to come. Please advise me. MRS. J. D. L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: My earnest advice to you is to disregard the croakings of your friends and go along and adopt your baby. I do not think that any one can do a finer thing than to take a poor little homeless, loveless, nameless baby and give it a chance in life.

Of course, as your friends warn you, there is an element of danger. So there is in having a child of your own. You don't know how an adopted child will turn out. Neither do you know what your own will grow up into being. All that parents can do is to give their children love and understanding and do their best to instill good principles in them and trust to God for the outcome.

Wrong Assumption

People who harp on the danger of adopting children because you do not know their family histories go on the assumption that they are all the offspring of criminals. This is very far from being the case. Most of even the doorstep babies are the children of weak and unmoral, rather than immoral, men and women.

Such children need only the background of a good home with its restrictions and conventions against which to grow up, with wise and strong parents to teach them to control their passions, and to strengthen their weaknesses, in order to develop into fine men and women.

Which is the stronger influence upon a child— heredity or environment — no one really knows, but certainly there are mighty few children who are not what their homes and their parents make them.

So don't be afraid to adopt your little girl. With the kind of rearing that you will give her there are ninety-nine chances out of a hundred that she will turn out an honor and a blessing to you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a young man who is working hard and denying himself everything so that he can buy things for our home, but there are times when he is so cross with me it makes me very blue and unhappy. After he has said cruel things to me he will came back the next day and say he is sorry, that he is tired from overwork or his nerves are shot to pieces or that I drove him to say what he did by being unhappy. This has happened so many times that I am beginning to think I am getting on his nerves or something, and wondering what he will do after we are married. Will he treat me differently then?

PUZZLED.

ANSWER: No. Marriage doesn't change a man. It just makes him more what he is. If he is cross and fault-finding and hurts your feelings before marriage, after marriage you will be the scapegoat on which he will take out all his temper and irritability, and he will find his chief indoor amusement in saying to you the things he wouldn't dare to say to any man who could resent an insult.

The thing a wife has to live with is her husband's disposition. It is not his virtues, but his temperament that makes or mars her happiness. It is whether he is a grouch or a little ray of sunshine around the house, whether he is pleasant and easy to get along with or as difficult to handle as a sore-headed bear that matters to her.

And for a man to say he is sorry for having wounded your feelings doesn't heal the hurt. Nor does it keep him from doing it another time.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Assuming one is equally fond of both, it is better to marry the man to whom one is physically attracted but of lesser education, or marry the man who is mentally your equal?

ANSWER: I confess I cannot understand how it is possible for a woman to be equally in love with two men. I would think there surely must be some preference one way or the other that would tilt the scales for her. But assuming that this marvel is possible I should say that she would have a better chance of happiness if she married the man to whom she was physically attracted, even if he were a lowbrow, than she would if she married the highbrow who comes up to her ideal, but does not fire her fancy.

To marry a man just because he has physical attraction for you is a dangerous business because that does not always last. But to marry a man who repulses you physically is also to court disaster because it turns wedding cake into dust and ashes on your lips.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

Tangy Hot Potato Salad Good Dish With Weiners

If you haven't yet become acquainted with the Culinary Arts Institute series of 24 cookbooks being released weekly through this newspaper, there is still time to catch up on the series and to obtain the new titles as they are released each week. So far the following titles have made their appearance: Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, and now, the seventh book in the series—"500 Tempting Salads and Dressings."

Each book covers completely one phase of cooking and the tempting illustrations combined with unusual and tasty recipes make each one a necessary addition to your library of cookbooks. The recipes are simply given for the inexperienced cook but they are so planned that even the most seasoned homemaker will find plenty of new ideas and suggestions.

The recipes in the Salad book range from light appetizer salads to salads that can be considered the main course of a meal. There are individual service salads, large bowl salads, salads using any combination of fruits, vegetables, fish, meats, poultry or gelatine, and to top them all off there are any number of suggestions for dressings to be served separately or as part of the salad.

Here is a tangy accompaniment for frankfurters which can be the main course of a Sunday night supper or a lunch.

Hot Potato Salad

6 new potatoes
6 slices uncooked bacon, diced
1 small onion, minced
¼ cup vinegar
¾ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ cup sour cream
Watercress

Boil potatoes in their skins, peel and slice. Fry bacon until crisp; remove and brown onion in bacon fat. Add vinegar, salt, pepper and sour cream; add potatoes and bacon. Serve hot; garnish with watercress. Serves 6.

All you need do to obtain your copy of the Salad Book or any of the preceding cookbooks in the series is clip a coupon from any issue of The Examiner and present it with 25 cents to The Examiner office, your Examiner carrier or at Braund's Food Markets. If you would rather obtain your books by mail, send a coupon and 30 cents for each book (5 cents additional for postage and handling) to Cookbook Department, The Examiner, Peterborough.

Youth Workers Alarmed by Gangs

JOHANNESBURG —(CP)— Alarmed by increasing reports of juvenile delinquency in South Africa, branches of the International Child Evangelism Fellowship are launching an intensive campaign to reform these young gangsters.

Working on the principle of "setting youth to get youth," the Johannesburg group has sent out many teen-age workers—or "reformers"—and is busily training more.

"It will not, of course, be an easy job," Miss Fay Butler, chief organizer of the Transvaal Child Evangelists, said.

"It's happening all over the country. We must get these children before they go too far. Most of them haven't had much of a chance. The examples they get in their homes are often to blame."

Miss Butler said that reports of juvenile rackets had come from prosperous areas as well as from poorer suburbs.

SCOTS GIFT

GLASGOW, Scotland —(CP)— The Scottish North County Sheep Society recently advertised a free, one-way passage from Glasgow to Canada. The catch: the successful applicant must be "able and willing to look after 34 North County Cheviot sheep en route from Glasgow to Quebec.

Hydro Failures Bring Out Oil Lamps and Memories

By MRS. ROSS CARR

Bethany has had two failures of hydro power in the last few days. Sunday evening just as church services ended the village was plunged into darkness for 15 minutes and everyone had to grope his way home. Again, on Tuesday morning the power was off from 2:30 a.m. until 7 a.m., the power lines apparently being affected by the storm which had continued through the night.

How quickly we become accustomed to new conveniences. At our home we have to arise at the unearthly hour of 5:15 a.m. so that the head of the house arrives in Peterborough for his daily work on the 7 to 5 shift. When the alarm clock sounded Tuesday we reached for the electric light switch and found no power, so we dressed wihout light and then groped around in the darkness of a back kitchen for an old coal oil lamp. It had collected a lot of dust, but shed a glimmer of light in the darkness and somehow we got breakfast, after a scramble for kindling and lightwood to light the wood burning stove.

In a short time the kitchen was hot enough for the tropics. We don't remember the stove throwing that much heat in the winter!

A trip down cellar was a hazardous affair, with the aid of matches—for we possess only one lamp, left over from the days when we had no hydro. We had almost forgotten what it was like, not to have lights blazing all over the house.

Another match session for some forgotten articles in the bedroom. A second excursion down cellar, for we had only one hand to hold things with on the first trip. But finally, lunch was packed and breakfast eaten by the dim light of the lamp. Some more matches helped to find the path out to the garage and finally our wage earner got off to work. The village was in darkness—not one light did we see anywhere, and the rain was coming down in torrents.

At 7 o'clock the power came on. Those few hours of darkness took us back to childhood days and the early morning scramble. There were seven in our family, and not enough lamps to go around so there was always a squabble over who had the light. Mother admonished us to "Be careful...hold the lamp straight." We thought in turn, that we were almost grown up when we were allowed to carry a lamp from one room to another.

It is just 20 years since hydro came to Bethany and most houses now have all the advantages and conveniences that come with it. Our own children know nothing of lighting a lamp or caring for one.

We remember the arduous tasks of cleaning those old coal oil lamps every day. First thing after the breakfast dishes were washed, the lamps had to be cleaned and polished until they shone themselves, so that every bit of light could shine through. The bowl of the lamp had to be filled with coal oil and the wick trimmed straight across, slightly rounded at the corners. We never did learn to do it exactly right—one corner was always longer than the other, or else there was a hump in the middle which would cause it to smoke.

There was one lamp though, that we never minded cleaning. It was a gorgeous affair with a hand painted china shade and a fringe of crystal prisms hanging down below. It was a hanging lamp, which was suspended from the ceiling over the dining room table by brass chains, and even those chains had to be kept shining.

It had a much larger wick than the ordinary lamps and threw a fairly good light down on the table where we sat to eat and gathered to do our homework when the dishes were cleared away. Another one of similar style, but with more trimmings, hung in the living room.

We remember those lamps especially, for once when the entire family was quarantined with scarlet fever, our mother, at her wit's end to amuse us in the getting-better stages, carefully took the "prisms" off those lamp shades and strung them on a wire across the window, where they caught and reflected the sun's rays, making a rainbow of them on the opposite wall.

Later, of course, we had the more modern Coleman and gasoline lamps, which did throw a good light.

Bethany now has electric lights at intervals along the streets and there are no dark alleys anywhere, but there were none in our childhood and there was no trouble as to knowing when bedtime had arrived, for we had to be in before dark. And that wasn't daylight saving time either.

About 30 years ago the local branch of the Women's Institute bought 12 lanterns to be used as street lights, kept them in repair and supplied the gasoline used in them. Charles Davis was employed to hang those lanterns up only on dark nights and take them down at eleven o'clock. Moonlight nights it was not deemed necessary to put them up. They were wonderful in the minds of everybody, but we can still remember some of the parents complaining that it was harder to convince children of bedtime.

7:30: It's still a dull rainy morning outside...but our home is bright within. The radio has come to life and we've listened to local news and the strike reports. The weather forecaster promises sunshine later in the day. The heat from the woodstove is gradually dying down. The lunch will be prepared with electricity and the week's ironing will be done with an electric iron after all.

Truly, hydro is one of the most used modern conveniences, but maybe it would be a good idea to keep that lamp cleaned and filled with oil in case of another emergency.

Soot Increases Washday Blues

SASKATOON —(CP)— Women here have an additional burden to carry along with the usual Monday "washday blues."

Ald. Marjorie Walker told city council that soot from bonfires of residential garbage is playing havoc with the washing.

She attempted to have a bylaw passed to prohibit refuse burning on Monday between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Ald. A. H. Bence said he was "afraid" of passing bylaws that "go to extremes." He speculated that once the trend got started "council might be passing laws to prevent people sneezing on streetcars."

Besides, added Ald. Bob Hunter, "some people wash on Monday, some on Tuesday, some on Wednesday."

"And some people don't wash at all," interjected Ald. S. E. Bushe.

The predominantly male council turned down the motion.

Chicago Fairs Handled Neatly By Little Lady

CHICAGO —(AP)— Running a show with a cast of 150 is a man-sized job. But a slender woman has handled it neatly for three years.

The woman is soft-voiced, sunbrowned Helen Tieken Geraghty. She has bossed the huge pageants at the Chicago Fair of 1950 and at the Chicago Railroad Fair in 1948 and 1949.

It has been a tough task. She lost 23 of her 125 pounds the first season. But she has managed to regain the weight despite a 13-hour daily stint.

This year's pageant, "Frontiers of Freedom," was new. Mrs. Geraghty, as producer and director, put in five months of work to get it ready. She mobilized a company of 250—150 actors, singers and dancers, plus drivers (auto and horse) locomotive engineers, riders, stagehands and musicians.

Tons of Props

She assembled 150 horses, sheep, goats and steers. She marshalled tons of props—buggies, wagons, automobiles, railroad trains, fire engines, bicycles, threshers, tractors, two planes, a horse car, a canal boat and an oil derrick.

All were needed for a series of scenes that portrayed life and events at 14 periods in the nation's history, from the signing of Penn's treaty to the building of the jet plane.

Traffic Problem

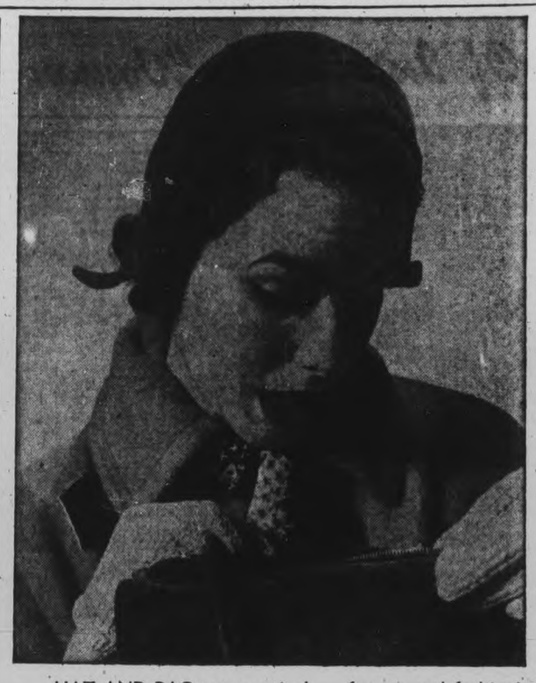
But getting the men, women, animals and contraptions on and off the 450 foot open-air stage four times a day raised a ticklish traffic problem. It was solved by precise, split-minute timing.

But Mrs. Geraghty shudders when she recalls what happened during a rehearsal. This was the setting: Abraham Lincoln was speaking at Gettysburg. On the stage were costumed actors, a train waiting to take Lincoln back to Washington, and horse-drawn caissons and carriages.

Six horses hitched to a caisson bolted. They brushed by the train and veered into a carriage pulled by a pair of hackneys. The hackneys galloped off stage into a herd of 50 Texas longhorn steers. The steers stampeded for the stables, climbing over a line of antique automobiles on the way.

"I could see bodies flying," Mrs. Geraghty says, "but nobody was hurt badly."

She hasn't had a day like that since then, but none of them has been dull.



HAT AND BAG are practical — fun — and fashion! Rhinestones are sprinkled on the band of a velveteen helmet, worn with matching double-strapped handbag.

MOVIE COLUMN

Edgar Bergen Planning Enter TV Field

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31 (AP)— Edgar Bergen, who plans to enter television this fall, was asking for advice from his friends, Kay Kyser, a TV veteran for all of a year.

"Well," drawled the old professor, "take everything you have learned about show business, throw it out the window and start over."

But, contrary to what most other stars believe, Kyser finds TV the easiest of all mediums. And he's been in them all.

"Television is easier because I can be myself. In radio you have to keep jabbering to get the point across and naturally you have to exaggerate. In TV I can act more natural and do with a look or a shrug what used to require a lot of words."

Charming Sir L.

Sir Laurence Olivier charmed the press corps at his first mass interview last week. The talented Briton was friendly but firm in answering the questions thrown at him.

The actor was dressed in a handsome turn-of-the-century suit and greying hair for his role in "Carrie." He is playing his first part as an American and said he is trying to keep the accent right.

Comparing his two recent successes, he said that "Henry V" was more difficult to make than "Hamlet." "We were feeling our ground on the first one," he said. "It was in color, which is more difficult. And we had great trouble filming the battle scences in Ireland, which was drenched with rain.

"However, Hamlet was a much more grueling role for me."

Olivier's last picture in Hollywood was "That Hamilton Woman," which he remarked was Stalin's favorite picture.

Espionage Trial Ends For 5 In Belgrade

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Aug. 31 (AP).—The trial of four men and a woman charged with spying for Russia—one with working out atom problems for the Soviets—ended today.

The public prosecutor asked that all five be given stiff sentences. The court will deliver its decision Friday night.

The main defendant, Rista Ilic, physics professor at Belgrade University, confessed after questioning that he worked for the Soviet intelligence and handed over the results of his own atomic energy researches to members of the Russian embassy here.

Plane Crashes Seconds Offter SOS Sent

NORTH BAY, Aug. 31 (CP)—A few seconds after he had radioed "Mayday", code word for extreme emergency, Pilot Sidney Hutnick and four other men crashed and died Wednesday in the flaming wreckage of their forestry seaplane, 50 miles northwest of North Bay.

Hutnick was less than 200 yards from the safety of Maille Lake when his heavily-loaded Norseman coughed, then pancacked into the ground and exploded in flames.

Searchers found the charred bodies of the 36-year-old, Windsor-born pilot; Engineers W. E. Geddes, 25, of Sault Ste. Marie and C. W. Tyrrel; 33, of Sault Ste. Marie; and Foresters C. D. Perkins, 31, of Fonthill, Ont., and R. P. Phillips, 27, of Hamilton.

Radio receivers at North Bay and Temagimi picked up Hutnick's last frantic message.

Worst In History

The crash, worst in the 26-year history of the Provincial Air Service, was believed caused by engine failure at low altitude.

George Hutchings, who witnessed the crash from Temagimi Country Club on the shore of the lake, said the plane suddenly lost its forward momentum as it skimmed close to the ground then plummeted like a brick. One wingtip tore a corner from the porch of an empty cabin. The tail assembly gouged a crater 10 feet from the main lodge.

Hutchings said he tried to fight the flames with a small hose but the heat drove him back. He said the occupants burned in their seats.

The forestry men were on their way to Temagimi with a 250-pound "summer toboggan." It was to test its caterpillar treads in the transport of packs and equipment over rough terrain.

Two federal transport department officials left to investigate the crash today.

Expect 300 Boys At Rover Moot

Rover Scouts from Ontario, Quebec and New York State will head into the wilds of the Blue Mountain region, near the Nepheline mines, Kosh Lake, this weekend for the 12th annual Ontario Rover Moot.

The more than 300 Rovers will have the opportunity to work the moot theme, conservation, to the limit. In response to many requests for rough country the Ontario Rover Round Table chose the Kosk lake site after the Peterborough Boy Scout Association invited the Rovers to hold the moot in the Peterborough area. According to L. Peter Dominik, assistant district commissioner, the Kosh lake area will meet the desired rough conditions.

To reach the 1,000-foot frontage on Kosh lake the Rovers will have to hike with their light camping equipment about two miles through bush and rock. There they will spend Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Up to Wednesday 187 Rovers from London on the west to Montreal on the east to Buffalo, New York, on the south hard registered for the moot. By Saturday Mr. Dominik expects the registration to be well over the 300-mark.

Flag break Saturday at 3 p.m. will open the moot and a period of wood carving, orienteering, sports and visiting will follow before supper. The Department of Lands and Forests officer will give an address and demonstration of fire prevention. Films on forestry by the Lands and Forests department and a song period will close the first day's activities.

Following mass or communion Sunday morning the Rovers will leave the camp on a ramble to the mine. When they reach the summit of the mountain, they will hold the Rovers Own, an interdenomination service.

Sunday's lunch will be held at the mine after which the Rovers will be taken on a tour. J. Main of the Department of Lands and Forests will lead a discussion period in the afternoon. During the evening campfire the Hon. Harold R. Scott, minister of Lands and Forests, will be the guest speaker.

After flag break Monday morning discussion groups will be held on Rover training, future plans for Rover scouts and the national moot which will be held for the first time next year. The camp will break after lunch.

5,000-Mile Trip To Japan Routine To RAF Fliers

By ALAN ROGERS

McCHORD FIELD, Wash., Aug. 31 (CP)—A month ago Canada joined the Korean air lift, and to the men of the RCAF Thunderbird Squadron today the 5,000-mile trip to the brink of Korean battleground is still "just another job."

Six times daily groups of 34 American soldiers board fleet, four-engined transports. The soldiers are bound for Japan and eventual combat. One of every six air-lift aircraft that leaves the runways of this sprawling, growing air mecca, in the shadow of towering Mount Rainier, is a North Star of the RCAF's 426 Squadron.

The Thunderbird Squadron—100 air crew and 350 maintenance men—is an integral part of the giant air lift of Military Air TransportService. The squadron's 12 crews fly eight speedy North Stars over the 10,000-mile round trip from here to Haneda air field, near Tokyo. But the RCAF men say the 26-hour trans-Pacific flight is routine, even though they fly within sight of Russian territory on the last lap of the three-stage jaunt.

"Great Circle" Route

All aircraft in the air lift—72 planes are American C-54s—take the "Great Circle" route. They fly from McChord Field to Anchorage, Alaska, to Shimya in the Aleutian chain, and then on to Haneda Field in Tokyo's suburbs.

Canadian crews are stationed at Anchorage and Haneda so the transports keep moving, but the crews shift, giving weary pilots time to relax from exhausting hours of flying.

Thunderbird pilots like Sqdn. Ldr. Howie Morrison of Lauder, Man., the unit's second-in-command, say the Aleutian weather is tough, "but then the weather on the North Atlantic route is no soft touch."

The planes are guided through swirling Arctic fog by a radar network which so far has brought each flight to safe landings at the northern fields—often blanketed. Officers told visiting Canadian newspapermen that not one plane has been lost on the trans-ocean flight.

Weather conditions cause variance in the distance lift planes travel from Russian territory. At times planes have flown within 25 miles of Siberia, fully aware that their presence was known to Russian army bases.

So far not one aircraft has reported either sight or contact with Russian planes. The planes are all unarmed.

Amy Evelyn Perritt, wife of William Henry Perritt, of R.R. 4, Omemee, died Tuesday in hospital after a long illness, in her 57th year.

Born and educated in Emily township, she lived in Cavan before moving to Omemee, where she lived for the past 17 years. She was a daughter of the late George Windrum and Margaret Fitch. She was a member of Omemee United Church.

She is survived by her husband, three daughters, Berdine, at home, Marie, of Peterborough, Mrs. Ray Fee (Helen), R.R. 4, Peterborough, four sons, Milbourn, Stanley, Cameron and Orville, all of Peterborough; two sisters, Mrs. L. H. Burns (Annie), of Brecken, Mrs. Elizabeth Eggleston, Springville, and three brothers, Gilbert, of Peterborough, Elmer ,of Omemee, and Walter, of Ida.

Funeral service will be held Friday at 2 p.m. in the Nisbett Funeral Home. The Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt will officiate and burial will be in Emily Cemetery.

SIDNEY RENDELL

A former market gardener, Sidney Rendell, 107 Aylmer St., died Wednesday in hospital after a lengthy illness. He was in his 75th year.

Mr. Rendell was born in Crewkerne, Somerset, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rendell. He was educated at Yeovil High School, Somerset.

For the past 40 years he has been a Peterborough resident; previously he lived in London. For 20 years he was a market gardener at Monaghan Rd. and Lansdowne St., but for the last 10 years he was employed at the Peterborough Lumber Co.

Mr. Rendell was a member of All Saints' Anglican Church.

Left are his wife, the former Florence Clara Ireland; a daughter, Mrs. Lewis Blackwell (Marjorie), an da son, Leslie of Peterborough.

The funeral will be Friday at 2.30 p.m. in the chapel of the Comstock Funeral Home, the Rev. William Kibblewhite, All Saints' Anglican Church officiating. Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

ARTHUR PATTERSON HAINES

Arthur Patterson Haines, 69, a guide for 48 years, died Wednesday at his home in Buckhorn.

Born in Kinmount, Mr. Haines lived in Cavendish township and at Gooderham before settling in Buckhorn. He was not married.

Son of Stephen Henry Haines and his wife, Mary Jane Hicks, he leaves two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. Levi Morris (Bertha), of Buckhorn, Mrs. Albert Davis (Elizabeth), of Peterborough, Harry Haines, of Toronto, and Herbert Haines, of Stroud, Ont.

A funeral service at 2.30 p.m. at the house Friday will be conducted by Canon F. J. Fife, and burial will be in Lakefield cemetery.

Fire On Rioters In Bombay Area

BOMBAY, Aug. 31 (Reuters).—Two persons were killed today and 22 injured when police opened fire on crowds demonstrating in four places in North Bombay's mill area.

Thirty-one others were injured by stones hurled by strikers.

Earlier police had fired tear gas shells at strikers stoning streetcars and buses.

Groups of workers collection at street corners in pouring rain and booed police who chased them with bamboo sticks when they tried to hold up traffic.

By noon police had rounded up 80 strikers accused of violent behavior.

Seventy-five per cent of Bombay's workers today ignored the one-day token stoppage in support of the city's 250,000 striking textile workers.

Buses and streetcars running through the mill areas in North Bombay were stoned and a few passengers were slightly injured.

The token strike was called by the Socialist party. The textile workers have been on strike for 18 days for a special bonus.

Musical Therapy

NEW DELHI —(CP)— An Indian vocalist, Panit Omkarnath Thakore, is heading a research group to determine what effect music has on sick persons. Pandit Thakore believes that music — "the art of expressing or stirring emotion by melodious and harmonious combination of sound" — can definitely produce psychotherapic effects.

Crux Of The Matter

CHRISTCHURCH, NZ (CP)—A witness at a supreme court hearing claimed his christian names were Robert John, not Richard John as entered in court documents. When asked in what name any property he owned was registered, he said: "In my wife's name."

Say Reporter Assaulted By Buffalo Men

FORT ERIE, Aug. 31 (CP)—Two Buffalo men, George Baltz, Jr., 18, and Carl Kelly, 19, are out on bail today charged with assaulting George McLean, 21, Ontario correspondent for the Buffalo Courier Express.

McLean, a resident of Niagara Falls, Ont., told police he was assaulted in a parking lot at Crystal Beach as he was leaving there to return to Niagara Falls Tuesday night. He had been assigned to cover the annual dinner of the Crystal Beach Property Owners' Association, and had telephoned his story from a Crystal Beach hotel.

The two Buffalo men, apparently overhearing him talking on a public telephone, accosted him and asked him if he was a reporter for the Buffalo paper. The men made some remarks during which they called McLean a Communist. They then beat him up and he suffered face and internal injuries.

The men were arrested shortly after the assault.

Milk Price Unchanged In Hamilton Area

HAMILTON, Aug. 31—(CP)—No increase in the price of milk is in the immediate offing for Hamilton district, T. H. Ward, spokesman for the Hamilton and district milk distributors, said today.

Toronto and Hamilton families pay 19 cents a quart for milk at present. Negotiations are under way in Toronto to boost the retail price there at least another cent.

Farmers in the Hamilton district are not planning any immediate price increase of raw milk, G. G. Callon, president of the Hamilton Milk Producers, said.

Changing market conditions of feed and other farm needs could easily alter their present position, Mr. Callon said.

Truckmen To Maintain Organization Intact

TORONTO, Aug. 31 (CP). — "Operation Lifeline" the emergency truck transport system set up during the rail strike, is going into moth-balls, but it will not be discarded nor forgotten.

J. O. Goodman, general manager of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, said today in a statement that chairmen of the district co-ordinating committees are being urged to maintain their organization intact and offer their co-operation to local Red Cross district committees.

"With the cessation of the railway strike," Mr. Goodman said "the emergency transport plan program established by the ATAO in some 175 Ontario communities has come to an end."

Exchange Students

OSLO, Norway —(CP)— When a huge back-log of students who were denied an education during the war, applied for admittance to university in 1944, they threatended to swamp the education system. The University of Oslo appealed to the United States to take some, and it announced recently there now are 1,200 Norwegian students studying in the US.

41 Polio Cases

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 31 (CP)—Two patients suffering mild symptoms of poliomyelitis were admitted to isolation hospital here last night, medical officials reported today. The two cases ran Essex County's polio total for the summer to 41.

Playground Programs End This Week

This year's nine-week summer program on the eight city playgrounds will draw to a close Friday night. On several of the grounds the program will end with parents' night. This week's activities stress the participation of parents on the playgrounds and special games, shows and other competitions have been held.

Friday will also see champions declared as the various lots complete tournaments in softball, horseshoes, paddle tennis, tether tennis, basketball and volleyball. Handicraft work will be completed also.

Races and tests in swimming will be held at Inverlea Park to close the swimming program. Instructors Lynn Davidson and Mary Rutherford will conduct the events.

17 New Homes Cost $140,000

EDINBURGH— (CP)— At the age of 13, William McKay lost his hoop up a tree. Recently the tree was cut down and Mr. McKay —now aged 78—was there to get his hoop back.

Montreal Trains Lined Up In Quick Moves

By JOHN D. HAMILTON

MONTREAL, Aug. 31.—(CP).—Coal smoke rolled odorously today over sections of this railway hub as railroaders fired locomotive boilers, shunted switch engines and got tracks ready for resumption of strike - paralyzed traffic.

In telegraph offices, wires were clicking out across the country and express workers were preparing boxes and bales of good for far-flung travel.

The first passenger and freight trains from Montreal—headquarters of Canada's two major rail lines—were scheduled to clear the yards at 6:30 a.m., EDT. Section hands and maintenance workers were cleaning switches and inspecting tracks by 1 a.m.—only three hours after the nine-day-long strike for higher wages and shorter hours was called off by the leaders of 17 unions representing 124,000 employees.

Waste No Time

In the Canadian Pacific Railway's big Glen yards in lower Westmount here, the yard foreman had trains ready to roll at 6 a.m. for Ottawa, Quebec and Sherbrooke.

Firemen and boiler helpers at the Turcotte yards of the Canadian National Railways system reported for work 18 minutes after union leaders gave them the green light.

With steam up, big locomotives sat puffing smoke in the CPR's Glen yards. Within the Glen roundhouse sat giant express locomotives, polished, oiled and ready to go. On the nose of one somnolent monster hung a sign: "Boiler full."

High officials, meanwhile, worked out the complex schedules on which freights and passenger trains move. The CPR's Ocean Limited and Scotian — crack Maritime expresses—were scheduled to leave here for Halifax tonight. Service between Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa was to be resumed even more quickly.

Towed To Drydock

CORNWALL, Aug. 31 (CP)—The 90-foot tug Laviolette which sank at her berth at the Cornwall Canal during the week-end was raised and towed into drydock Wednesday. There was no one on board the vessel when she sank in 15 feet of water. Cause of the sinking has not been determined.

Fertile Field

HALIFAX — (CP) — Nova Scotia with its gripping history and diverse Celtic, English and French temperaments, should prove a fertile field for authors, says United States Army Chaplain M. D. Morrison. On a visit here Mr. Morrison said it was regrettable that more of the provinces' writing lore was not developed

GOING FISHING?

Now the fishing season is in full swing. Now, too, is the time to remember, and observe, the fishing regulations. There's a reason for them.

The number of fish available for each season is estimated. The authorities then balance this against the expected number of fishermen to establish catch limits. This is done for your protection to provide a continuing supply of game fish for the future. To permit full growth, minimum lengths are set for various species of fish which may be taken.

Take Black Bass, for example. The maximum catch allowed in Ontario is six per day and the minimum legal length is 10 inches. Only by observing regulations like these will you be sure of enjoying this sport in the future.

Ten-Year-Old Traveller Protests Lot Of Indians

By JACK SCOTT

OTTAWA — Any you readers without 10-year-old daughters might just as well go away because today we'll be just sorting through some of the impressions and reactions of a little girl very busy discovering Canada.

Driving today from North Bay to Ottawa we picked up a man and woman and their daughter, just about Judy's age. At this time of writing, this was the second day of the railway strike and they'd been stranded. In fact, there were hitch-hikers all along the road, looking very sheepish indeed.

Well, anyway, this little Ottawa girl began asking Judy about the trip so far and, eavesdropping from the front seat, I was surprised to hear what Canada looks like to the very young.

At first the conversation revolved about swimming holes and dime stores, the two reigning passions of our girls. There was a pretty graphic description of what it's like to swim in Rushing River and the astonishing fact that every town, big or little, has a dime store. In fact, she confided, sometimes it's pretty hard to tell one place from another, a very true observation.

The other little girl asked Judy if she was ever homesick. "I was homesick at North Bay," was the response. "There were big waves on the lake. When we looked through the trailer window it was just like looking at the ocean at home. I only get homesick when something like that reminds me of home."

The other little girl said yes, wasn't it the truth.

"The best way to stop being homesick is to go out and play," Judy opined. "One thing, there's always lots of kids wherever you go."

Sad Indians

The trivialities over with, she began to make a new convert to her favorite crusade, the improvement in the lot of the Canadian Indian.

Everywhere we've been, she pointed out, the Indians are living under very bad conditions without proper clothing or proper homes. The children all look as if they were hungry and getting no fun out of life.

"We were at a place up in Northern Ontario getting gas when a bunch of little Indian kids came over to look at the car. They were very shy and they had sores on their faces and they were dressed in old rags. One of the kids put his hand on the bright metal stuff on the front of the car and the man who was giving us gas shouted at him not to touch. it. They all looked scared and walked away. These Indians aren't at all like the ones we read about in school. Everybody should send food and clothing to them, especially the kids."

She has a pretty sharp eye, too, for the way people live in the poorer parts of the country. We've seen thousands and thousands of people living in funny little shacks by the road, she informed her new friend. Some of them are just built of tarpaper and board and sometimes there are six or seven or eight children in one room.

She said we'd visited some people in Winnipeg who had about 20 rooms and just two kids and it didn't seem fair that some people had so much and others so little.

The other little girl said we'd see a lot of that in Quebec and told very seriously about one particular family in which the girls had no dolls. They agreed that something should be done about this.

The conversation, it seemed to me, was a good deal more graphic in describing the inequalities of living in this country than any statistics or politician's speech.

One thing this trip has given the kid that I don't think she could really get in school is a feeling for Canada. The size of the country continually stuns her and so does its emptiness. There is probably no stronger advocate in Canada for wideopen immigration.

We'd been naturally worried about how she would react to the gypsy life after a suburban sheltered life, and it may interest some of you parents to know that it's all been to the good.

Travel is broadening even for the 10-year-old. We pass no historical sites without her demand to get out and read the inscription to find out what happened there. In meeting other Canadian and American kids who are on the road she finds out what life is like in far-flung places and develops an interest in them that books alone could never equal.

I suppose, too, it's made the familiar things at home seem more precious (as it does to any traveller) and, indeed, she is almost as insufferable as her parents in boosting her home town to anyone who will listen.

As for Jill, who is two, none of this holds true. If she remembers anything from this trip at all it will be merely an endless series of swings and wading pools.

What really worries us is that she'll never be able to settle down to a life of being rooted to one spot. There aren't many mornings when she doesn't climb up into the front seat of the car with an expectant look and an invitation to "Let's go, daddy."

Vancouver In 1910 Bad For Painters

VANCOUVER — (CP) — The west coast was no place for portrait painters 40 years ago, recalls 85-year-old George Southwell.

Fresh from earning his painter's spurs in London, Paris and other European centres, Mr. Southwell arrived here in 1910—his wife and six children behind in London. He took up a studio but citizens were too busy building homes and sidewalks to have their portraits painted.

Finally in partnership, he began painting large murals for the provincial government, roving to capture scenic flashes eventually sent throughout the world as advertisement for the province.

That's what he's doing today.

This summer he exhibited 43 paintings including 33 landscapes and three marine, all in oils.

Socialism Lessons From Baby's Antics

CAMBRIDGE, Eng. — (CP) — Addressing the Liberal Summer School here, Frank Byers, chairman of the Liberal party, got this one off his chest:

"If you want a lesson in socialism just watch the antics of my 16-months-old son.

"If he wants anything he will go to all kinds of length to get it. But when he has it he does not know what in the world to do with it.

"How like the Socialist government which has nationalized certain industries before really thinking what it was going to do with them when they were nationalized."

Won't Renew Boycott Malik Reports

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 31 —(AP)—A Uited Nations Security Council decision to stir the Formosan question brought assurance Tuesday from Russia's Jakob A. Malik that he will not resume his boycott of council meetings after his August term as president ends Thursday.

Malik said, in effect, that he would remain in the council to fight for the seating of a Chinese Communist representative who would accuse the United States of aggression against China in Formosa.

The council agreed to put the Chinese Communist charges on its order of business, after Korea. The United States voted for the Russian proposal after the council toned down Malik's language. The council voted 7 to 2 to investigate the "complaint or armed invasion of Taiwan (Formosa)."

China and Cuba opposed the consideration of Formosa. Egypt abstained and Yugoslavia did not participate.

To Call Meeting

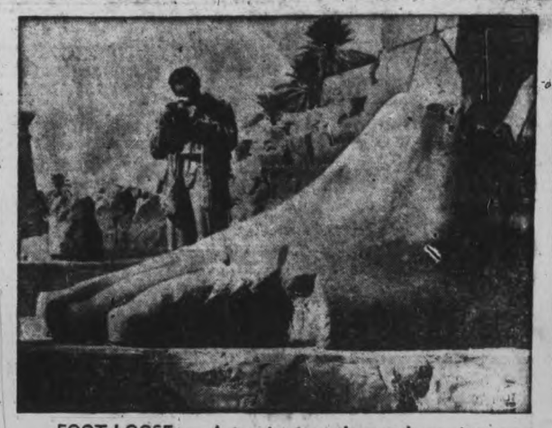
Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb, who succeeds Malik as council president Friday, said later he would call a meeting on his first day in the chair. He added he plans as many meetings next week as other council members will agree to.

Delegates expect Malik to uncork his strongest propaganda speech in days at Thursday's meeting, the last of his term. With the Korean conflict entirely sidetracked Tuesday he has in reserve at least one more weapon. It is a 12-page memorandum from the North Korean government charging the United States Air Force with new bomb attacks on the North Korean countryside.

The council is in recess today. Malik plays host tonight at the president's usual monthly party. The Chinese Nationalist delegate, T. F. Tsiang, whom Malik earlier in the month tried unsuccessfully to oust from the council, was not invited.

Gets Forty Winks

LITTLE CURRENT, Ont. (CP) Truck driver Allan Turner was sleepy. So when he drove his truck aboard the Tobermory ferry he got out and went to sleep on a bench. When he woke up, the ferry had been docked, the cars unloaded and it was on the return trip. Oh yes, someone drove off in Turner's truck. It was found abandoned the next day.



FOOT-LOOSE — A tourist toes the mark or vice versa as he snaps a picture of the world's largest foot, recently excavated by the Egyptian government at Karnak. The foot is a size 12 — 12 feet that is — and is part of a 70-foot-high granite statue of Pharaoh Rameses II. It is rumored that when the statue developed a bunion, the ancient Egyptians called in a local dynamiter, thus accounting for the missing tie.

J.P. Asked To Perform Marriage Ceremony

As a sergeant of the city police force, Gordon Puffer gets some strange requests, but Wednesday in his role as a Justice of the Peace he got one to top them all.

At noon a man phoned him while he was on duty and asked the sergeant if he would marry him and his fiancee.

Sergeant Puffer said Justices of the Peace perform marriage ceremonies in the United States, but in Canada it is still ministers, priests and other recognized church leaders sorry, but he had no such power, who may legally join man and woman.

TRY HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL CUTICURA SOAP & OINTMENT TO RELIEVE PIMPLES RASHES • ITCHING ECZEMA DISTRESS

'Syntona Surely Surprised Me' Says This Grateful Man

Those Awful Attacks Of Indigestion Are Relieved. I Am Free of Pains In My Back and Muscles; My Nerves Are Calmed And I Sleep Soundly Once More.

MR. EARL PEARSON

All over Ontario people are talking like that about Syntona, the grand herbal compound that is bringing relief from suffering and distress to thousands of grateful men and women. Here, for example, is the recent report of Mr. Earl Pearson, Mount Hope, Ontario.

"For fully 10 years, I suffered with a weak, nervous stomach. I had many treatments available to me, but no one seemed to understand my trouble, and nothing I tried gave me any real relief. Food just seemed to ferment in my stomach and cause gas, bloating, nausea and cramps. The gas pressed up into my chest so badly I could hardly draw a full breath and I was subject to spells of dizziness and palpitation. Later, pains developed in my back and muscles.

"But I wasn't taking Syntona long before I could tell it was helping my stomach and now, after a few weeks on this medicine, I can say it has done wonders for me. My appetite has picked up and my food digests without all that former suffering and distress. I got relief from the pains in my back and muscles. I sleep soundly once more and I don't become fatigued so easily as I used to. Syntona surely surprised me and I am glad to have others know about it."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

Around the Home...

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

One of the best things about going away for awhile is coming home. Roughing it in the wilds or with fussy relatives sure makes you downright appreciative of your own comfortable furnishings... and you see your dwelling with more discerning eyes. When you live with your things continually they seem to fit like an old shoe and you do not see their shortcomings. As I came up the front walk I decided I just had to get busy and finish up those boxes for the veranda pillars. Artistically planted, they will take away the bareness of the front steps.

Sit In The Shade

Is shade at a premium in your yard? One solution to the problem seen on our holidays was a portable canvas shade. Inch water pipe joined by standard fittings had been used and painted dark green. Bright awning material covered the top and was held in place by short tie strings. This particular shade was moved from place to place to avoid wear on the grass and to catch any breeze that was blowing. By covering the sides with the same material the shade could double as sleeping quarters for the young fry.

Dual-Purpose Barrel

Of all the things that puzzle a gardener, possibly more are confused by the statement, "Give liberal applications of liquid manure" than any other. This is not a difficult procedure when handled properly. Bury a water-tight barrel in the ground to the rim. Fit a tight lid to the barrel and place a strong hook near the top from which a burlap bag can be hung. Fill the bag with well-rotted manure (preferably sheep manure) and place it on the hook. Almost fill the barrel with water and allow it to stand for 24 hours before it is used on your plants. Place the barrel directly under the down spout from the eaves or in a secluded corner of the garden if you don't mind carrying the water a little further. Refill the barrel as the liquid is used.

Coconuts

Empty coconut shells can be put to many uses. The best one I have seen lately was helping overcome the housing shortage—for robins. Placed in the right spot, half a shell makes an ideal base for a robin's nest.
